CATTLEMEN

We don't spend very much time "showing cattle" or attending "purebred events" but we do try to pay attention to what is going on at the sale barns, feedlots and packing plants because that's where you make your living and where we find our reason for existence as Seedstock producers.
For 2005 we have For Sale powerful Registered Black Angus yearling bulls from the following AI Sires: Bon View New Design 878, TC Stockman 365, Hoff Limited Edition, Hoff Marbeler, New Horizon, Lead On, Connealy Forefront, and Something Special. Come early for best selection.
Our Bulls are performance & fertility tested

Hallock Council dedicates $80,000 to attract soybean crushing facility

Hallock - An interest has been expressed in the Hallock area to expand a Manitoba, Canada, soybean crushing business southward. The Hallock Economic Development Authority (EDA) requested that the city of Hallock be prepared to get in the running with passing a resolution to help secure land for a potential facility site.

Businessman Todd Johnson presented some information to the Hallock City Council at the meeting last Monday. He said that as part of the research towards a possible soybean refining in the county, it was discovered that the business in Manitoba was looking for a business site in the United States.

The EDA realized there were many reasons the business could choose the Hallock area.

The council agreed and unanimously passed the resolution to make funds available to purchase the land. According to the EDA, with the incentives it can offer for the business to choose the Hallock area, it feels that even if Hallock is turned down, it still had the means to make a good offer. If chosen, construction would commence this summer. - Kittson County Enterprise, March 16, 2005, by Louise Money

School Board has hard time finding areas to trim costs

Warren - Another round of budget cutting got started Monday night at the Warren/Alvarado/Oslo School Board meeting, with several members commenting to the effect that all the good ideas for cuts have already been used in previous years' exercises in belt-tightening.

Most significant cost savings identified for the 2005-06 budget is the proposal to not replace elementary physical education (PE) teacher Susan Beving. Her retirement this spring was approved at an earlier school board meeting. The proposal made by Superintendent Ken Henry is that elementary classroom teachers take over the gym classes for their assigned students.

Eliminating the full-time elementary PE position will save $57,966, Henry said. The upside of this proposed cut is, if it were made, no other staff cuts will have to be contemplated for next year, said Henry. The major downside is that the quality of PE for the elementary school students will decline. - Warren Sheaf, March 16, 2005

Proposed changes to keep schools viable

Plummer - On Monday, March 7, a joint school board meeting was held for Red Lake County Central.

Superintendent Jim Guetter started by handing out information on budget deficits, reorganization of grades one through six and seven through 12, and transportation issues, along with the pros and cons of consolidation to the board to open discussion on these issues. - The Oklee Herald, March 17, 2005

TRF man faces criminal sexual conduct charge

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

A Thief River Falls man has been charged after allegedly engaging in sexual contact with a boy he was babysitting.

Anthony Allen Perfecto, 32, has been charged with first degree criminal sexual conduct. More charges are possible for other alleged incidents involving children, according to the Thief River Falls Police Department.

Anthony Perfecto

Perfecto made an initial court appearance Thursday in Pennington County District Court. Bond was set at $10,000 cash or $30,000 surety.

The criminal complaint alleges that Perfecto openly admitted to touching and engaging in oral sexual activity with a boy's genitalia "approximately 20 times during several months." The boy is under the age of 5. At the time of the alleged incidents, Perfecto was babysitting the boy at Perfecto's former residence in the 200 block of Arnold Ave. N. The complaint indicates the alleged incidents occurred between April 2003 and February 2004.

The charge stems from an investigation involving Perfecto and another alleged incident of criminal sexual conduct, according to the complaint. As of press time, he has not been charged for that alleged offense. Based upon information received during that investigation, police found Perfecto allegedly may have had sexual contact with other children.

As a result, more charges are possible against Perfecto. The investigation continues.

The maximum penalty for a charge of first degree criminal sexual conduct is 30 years in prison, a $40,000 fine or both.

Perfecto has a 2004 conviction for second degree criminal sexual conduct in Thief River Falls. That charge stemmed from a Dec. 25, 2003, incident in which he inappropriately touched a female under the age of 10. In March 2004, Perfecto pled guilty to that felony offense, and he was sentenced in May 2004. He was given a 25-year stay of imposition and was ordered to serve 25 years of supervised probation. As a condition of that stayed sentence, he served 93 days in jail. Perfecto was also ordered to register as a sex offender.

Students performed a skit they wrote Tuesday in the "Bag and Dress for Story" workshop at the Young Authors Conference. During the workshop, students created a skit based on items they picked out of a bag. Then they performed the skit with costumes provided by workshop leader Anne Dunn, a playwright, storyteller and author. The students were among 495 students from 32 schools in northwest Minnesota who participated in the annual conference held at Northland Community and Technical College.

TRF, Viking and RLF receive state grants

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Three local communities have each received over $470,000 in state grants for housing and/or infrastructure.

The communities of Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls and Viking are among the 35 Minnesota cities receiving Small Cities Development Program (SCDP) grants worth an approximate total of $19.5 million.

"Helping communities develop and preserve the kind of infrastructure they need to flourish and grow is an investment that pays dividends for all Minnesotans," said Gov. Tim Pawlenty in a press release. "These grants contribute to the quality of life and pave the way for economic growth."

Thief River Falls

The city of Thief River Falls received a $532,500 grant to rehabilitate low-to-moderate income owner-occupied and rental housing along St. Paul, Conley and Markley avenues between Third and Nora streets.

"It's certainly needed, and we're excited about it," said Thief River Falls Community Development Director Mike Moore.

Approximately 18 owner-occupied and 18 rental units will be rehabilitated through the program. Based on pre-applications for the program, the total estimated project cost is expected to be $849,783.

Under the rental portion of the program, a SCDP deferred loan will be provided for 50 percent of the project's bid cost and a low-interest loan will be provided for 25 percent. The owner will be required to contribute 25 percent of the project cost.

For the owner-occupied homes, a combination of low-interest loans and deferred loans will be provided dependent on the homeowner's income level. Financing will also be required from another source.

The remaining money would come from homeowners, the Inter-County Community Council, the Federal Home Loan Bank, the U.S. Department of Agriculture Rural Development Program, and program income from prior grants.

Moore said he expected the rehabilitation work will begin this summer after requirements have been met and formal applications have been submitted.

Red Lake Falls

The city of Red Lake Falls received a $475,000 SCDP grant. City leaders will use the grant to buy and demolish houses affected by the landslides in 2003.

Viking

The city of Viking received a $488,600 SCDP grant. The grant

Hallock Public Library raises money for remodeling project

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

If all goes as planned, patrons may soon see an improved Hallock Public Library.

Plans call for the library, located at Hallock City Hall, to be remodeled. It will also expand into the Hallock Police Department, said Kristen Eggerling, Hallock Public Library Board chairperson. The police department, which is also located at the city hall, has one police officer and will no longer have an office.

"We need more room desperately," said Peggy Pearson, branch librarian. She noted the library needs more space for a research area as well as an area for young adults.

Computer desks are scattered everywhere, said Pearson, who added the library needed more space in order for the public access computers to be located in one area. The library is planning to add more computers for public access. She also noted a need for a private area when she proctors tests.

Technology advances have led to a lack of space at the library. When the library first opened, CDs and tapes did not exist. As a result, there weren't any books on tapes or CDs.

"We're just bursting at the seams," Eggerling said.

Books and videos are "packed in" on shelves, Pearson said.

> "We're just bursting at the seams." – Kristen Eggerling

The library will be gutted and more functional as a result of the remodeling project, Eggerling said about the estimated $130,000 to $160,000 project.

"We'll have two bathrooms, and the library will be handicap accessible," Eggerling said.

Currently, there are no bathrooms located inside the library. Library patrons have to go outside and into City Hall when it is open to go to the bathroom, Eggerling noted.

The library board has been raising funds for the project for about a year. The board has raised over $90,000 so far, Eggerling said.

"It's amazing how supportive people have been of the library," said Eggerling, who noted it was nice to see that people other than library board members see the value of the library.

"I think it's been wonderful," said Pearson about the support from throughout Kittson County, including donations of time, money and food to the fundraisers being held for the library remodeling project.

Kittson County isn't the only location providing support to the library remodeling project. "We're getting support from all over the U.S.," said Pearson.

Besides seeking donations, the board applied for grants. The board has applied for a $60,000 accessibility grant from the state of Minnesota, Eggerling said. This summer, the library board will discover whether it received the grant. Construction work may start as early as August if the board receives the grant and is able to have contractors work on the project.

Former Viking resident shares son's story of survival

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Jill (Melvie) Thompson, is the daughter of Erv and Vi Melvie of Viking, a graduate of Marshall County Central High School in Newfolden, 1987, and Northland Community College (now NCTC) - Thief River Falls, 1989. This is a two-part story about her only child, Adam, who survived drowning and hypothermia in late 2004.

Since Adam Thompson, 5, learned how to walk he was reminded by his mother to stay away from the water. The water she spoke of was a large, dingy farm pond located near the back of Kevin and Jill Thompson's rural Menahga (near Park Rapids) property.

The pond supported little more life than cattails and reeds. It presented little value for swimming or fishing during summer months, but winter months were a different story.

During the winter months of 2004, Adam learned that the pond made a great course for snowmobiling. He would sled as often as possible.

Adam received his snowmobile, a Ski Doo Mini Z, as a Christmas gift from Santa Claus in December 2003. He noticed the previous day that a pond in the backyard was frozen and was eager to ride his snowmobile on the pond's surface as soon as possible. But the pond's ice was surely too thin and Jill's response to her son's request was the same, no, its not safe yet.

Thin ice

Jill Thompson picked up her son Adam, 4, from daycare on the way home from work on Monday, Nov. 22. Like most nights, they arrived home between 4:45 and 4:50 p.m.

Like her typical routine, Jill let the family's three dogs out of their kennels and went to get the mail. Adam had just recovered from a cold, and badly wanted to go outside, after being cooped up all weekend.

Adam Thompson

Jill recalled that it was getting dark when they got home. But she agreed to Adam's polite request saying that he could stay outside for just a little while, until she was finished feeding the dogs.

Adam was wearing a hat, thin stretch gloves, zippered camo insulated coat with a hood, sneakers, sweatpants and a sweatshirt to battle the chilly weather, while still recovering from a cold. He started walking with his mother to get the mail, but when Jill turned around to head back to the house, her son was nowhere in sight. She didn't see Adam, but thought he couldn't have run off too far.

After getting the mail, Jill continued with her typical evening routine. She dropped off the mail and headed back outside to feed the family's three labrador retrievers. Jill began filling a five-gallon bucket with water. She had only been home for a few minutes, but started wondering where her son was.

"Where did that kid go? He wasn't with me when I got the mail," she thought. "He wasn't in the house. He wasn't in the garage."

She poured the water into three bowls, noting that two of the labs, Belle and Dixie, were acting more excited than usual. She then began searching for her son. She figured or at least hoped that he was playing on the swing set in the backyard.

Jill was worried about her son. He was nowhere in sight and he was not answering her calls. She had told Adam many times that he needed to come when she called because it worried her when she couldn't see him.

She walked around the corner of the house, her calls for Adam becoming more urgent. Her calls were not answered, but she heard something, a faint scream of "Mommy."

The scream was coming from the backyard, from the pond, located at the bottom of a steep hill, with layers of brush and cattails partially blocking its sight lines.

"I took off running, and when I got to the clearing where I could see the open water, I just froze," Jill said. "My heart just stopped and I started screaming to him as I ran down the hill."

Jill said her son had managed to get between 15 and 20 yards onto the pond's thin ice before falling in. Adam, who had no formal swimming training, was fighting tooth and nail to stay above the water's surface. At that point, Jill had only one thought - getting to her son.

"I just took off," she said. "I ran for all I was worth. I didn't know how I was going to get to him."

Trying to get to her son as quickly and efficiently as possible was Jill's first goal. She knew if she fell in, too, it would be much harder to get to her son.

She first tried to run to her son, but became stuck in the muddy cattails and bog. After regaining her footing, she made an attempt at running on the thin ice, but instantly fell through into shallow water. She tried pulling herself out, attempting to crawl and distribute her weight more evenly over the ice. That plan failed, too, and Jill quickly joined her son in the frigid water. The water was cold enough that it instantly stole her breath, piercing her skin like a series of small knives.

"I realized I wasn't going to be able to walk or crawl to get him," Jill said.

She tried pulling herself back to the surface, but again fell into the icy water. Her only choice to reach her son was to punch her way through the frozen surface, advancing at a deliberate pace.

Jill could touch the bottom of the pond for the first couple feet. She was hopeful that the pond had a shallow bottom that would allow her to walk most of the way, but she quickly found out otherwise. The pond's water was over her head. She now had the combined duty of treading water and punching away at the ice, which varied between one and two inches in thickness.

She stayed afloat using just her legs, while she used her arms to break the ice. Some areas of ice were thicker than others, and wouldn't break on the first try. But she continued fighting her way through the ice, noticing that her son was beginning to tire.

"Every time I saw him go under I yelled, 'Just keep kicking honey,'" she recalled. Jill recalled that her son's efforts to stay above the water's surface were becoming more futile. His head would

Tesoro rewards blood donors

In response to an increased need for blood donors, Tesoro has donated 1,500 $2 Tesoro giftCards[SM] for all people who donate blood March 28 through April 2 at Minnesota and North Dakota blood drives and centers. The promotion, "Give a Pint – Get a Gallon" hopes to exceed 1,500 blood donations in one week.

"The timing simply could not be better for this promotion," said Denise Hanson, United Blood Services donor recruitment director. "In the past two months, we've not met our necessary number of donations, and we hope this generous campaign with Tesoro will entice new donors and previous donors to come back and roll up their sleeves."

Donors can donate at UBS centers located in Bismarck, Minot, Fargo and West Fargo, N.D., as well as at any of the 25 blood drives scheduled around Minnesota and North Dakota that week.

Locally, blood drives are scheduled:

• March 29 – Middle River School. Contact Tammy Johnson at (218) 222-3403.

• March 30 – Greenbush/Middle River High School. Contact Mara Gust at (218) 782-2232.

• March 31 – Fosston Baptist Church. Contact Sue Balstad at (218) 435-6646.

Donors have to be 17 years of age or older (if not yet 18, a parental consent form is required), weigh at least 110 pounds, provide a picture ID, and feel well and healthy.

Moe Lutheran Church to host women's conference

Excitement is building among the women of Moe Lutheran Church as they prepare to host the Third Annual Area-Wide Women's Conference on April 8 and 9. The nondenominational conference is open to all women in the area and will provide a mix of garden and spiritual "growing" opportunities to blend with the conference theme of "I Come to the Garden."

The conference will be held at the church's new building located on the east edge of Roseau, along Pack Road (11th Avenue NE). The cost for the two-day event is $10.

Together with volunteers from several area churches, the ladies at Moe Lutheran have coordinated many programs and events for weekend. The conference includes a Friday evening dessert experience, complete with more than 40 tablescapes.

Guest speaker Marilynn Moe, who will help attendees relive the Bible story of a woman who went from "religious" to finding real life and freedom in Christ, and teaching attendees how they can do the same through her presentation of "Lydia: Knowing and Growing."

Breakout sessions feature two presenters: Eric Bergeson, owner of Bergeson Nursery in Fertile. He will explain the best way to grow annuals and perennials. Cyndy Goulet from Pine Ridge Hollow will speak about "Rooms with a View."

Guest speaker Mary Vandewege will explain how the greatest spiritual growth can come through adversity in her presentation of "Garden Tools: Cultivating Growth Through Suffering."

Entertainment will be provided by the Hewitt Sisters, as well as Joyful Noyz Praise & Worship Team of Messiah Lutheran Church and the Moe Lutheran Bell Choir.

Guests are encouraged to register by March 28. Registration forms are available at area churches and at various businesses in Roseau, Warroad, Badger, Greenbush and Wannaska. Guests may also register by calling Shirley Mitterling (218-463-2434) or Dean Haugen (218-424-7362).

For more information, or to volunteer, contact Moe Lutheran Church (218-463-2069) or Karrie Rugland (218-463-3775).

Warroad City Council approves participation in drug task force

Warroad - Police Chief Lawrence Wright requested that the city approve participation in the Paul Bunyan Drug Task Force. Participation would enable the city police force to enlist the resources of Lake of the Woods, Clearwater, Beltrami and Cass counties in efforts to curb illegal drug activity. Wright said that the increasing problem with methamphetamine production and use in the area has precipitated the request.

The council approved a one-year trial membership of the task force at a cost of $3,000. - Warroad Pioneer, March 16, 2005, by Bonnie Nordvall

Easter is early this year and right around the corner. Here are some Easter recipes you might like to try this year.

This recipe has less fat, sugar and salt, but tastes great - easy to make in your bread machine. (If using fresh herbs, use 1 tablespoon of chives and marjoram and 2 teaspoons basil.) If you want to make buns, use the dough recipe and then form them and let rise until doubled. Bake at 350 for 18-20 minutes until browned as desired):

HERB BREAD

1-1/4 cups water (70-80 degrees)
2 tablespoons butter, softened
3 cups bread flour
2 tablespoons dry milk powder
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon minced fresh chives
1 teaspoon marjoram
1 teaspoon thyme
1/2 teaspoon basil
1 teaspoon salt
3 teaspoons active dry yeast

Place all ingredients in machine in order suggested by manufacturer. Select basic bread setting. Check dough after 5 minutes of mixing to add water or flour if needed to make a soft, satiny dough. Recipe makes 1 large (1-1/2 pound) loaf - 16 slices.

(Nutritional Info: 1 slice is 98 calories, 1 g fat, 4 mg chol, 165 mg sodium, 19 g carb, 1 g fiber, 4 g protein. Diabetic Exchange is 1 starch.

This is an old-fashioned fruit salad that's been brought to many a pot luck - great for Easter. Bet you could use those little multi-colored mini marshmallows too:

MARSHMALLOW FRUIT SALAD

1 (16 ounce) package large marshmallows, halved
3 egg yolks, beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/8 teaspoon mustard
1 cup heavy whipping cream
2 teaspoons powdered sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 (20 ounce) can pineapple, drained
1 (15 ounce) can mandarin oranges, drained
3 cups sliced fresh strawberries
1 cup fresh blueberries
1/2 cup chopped pecans

Place marshmallows in large bowl and set aside.

In saucepan, whisk egg yolks, milk and mustard. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture reaches 160 degrees and coats the back of a metal spoon. Cook 5 minutes, then stir into marshmallows.

In bowl, beat cream, sugar and vanilla until soft peaks form. Fold into cooled marshmallow mixture. Gently add fruit and toss lightly. Cover and refrigerate at least 3 hours. Stir in pecans just before serving. Serves about 18 people.

All of those colored eggs will make a pretty yummy snack plate of these:

DEVILED EGGS

24 hard cooked eggs
1 cup (4 ounces) crumbled bleu cheese
2/3 cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons minced fresh parsley
1 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
1/2 teaspoon celery seed
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Finely diced celery

Slice eggs in half lengthwise. Remove yolks and set whites aside.

In bowl, mash yolks with fork. Add cheese, mayonnaise, parsley, Tabasco sauce, celery seed and pepper and stir until blended. Evenly fill the whites. Refrigerate until serving, then sprinkle with celery.

Here's a pretty pink dessert to top off that Easter meal:

STRAWBERRY CREAM DESSERT

2-1/4 cups graham cracker crumbs (36 squares)
6 tablespoons sugar
10 tablespoons melted butter
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese, softened
1 cup powdered sugar
16 ounce and 8 ounce cartons frozen whipped topping, thawed (divided)
1 (3 ounce) package strawberry gelatin
1/2 cup boiling water
1 (8 ounce) cups strawberry yogurt

In bowl, combine crumbs, sugar and butter. Press in ungreased 9x13 inch pan. Refrigerate 15 minutes.

Meanwhile, heat cream cheese and powdered sugar smooth. Whisk in 1 cup whipped topping and spread over crust.

In large bowl, dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Whisk in yogurt, then cool to room temperature and add 6 cups of whipped topping and blend. Pour over cream cheese layer and refrigerate 1 hour.

Spread remaining whipped topping over, then cover and refrigerate overnight. Just before serving, combine topping ingredients and sprinkle over whipped topping.

Serves 12-15 people.

Topping:
2 tablespoons graham cracker crumbs
1-1/2 teaspoons sugar
1-1/2 teaspoons melted butter

Combine and sprinkle over dessert before serving.

Don't discard those cookies - crush them to make this delicious dessert - for Easter:

TOFFEE CREAM DESSERT

3 cups crushed butter cookie crumbs
1/2 cup butter, melted
1 cup cold milk
1 (6 ounce) package instant vanilla pudding
1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened
1 (8 ounce) container frozen whipped topping, thawed
1 Heath candy bars (1.4 ounces each), crushed

Combine cookie crumbs and butter and press in 9x13 inch pan. Refrigerate.

In bowl, whisk milk and pudding mix for 2 minutes. Fold in ice cream and spread over crust. Top with whipped topping, cover and refrigerate at least 2 hours. Sprinkle with crushed candy bars before serving.

A tangy spring treat will top off your meal with a burst of flavor:

LEMON TART

1 cup sugar
1/4 cup cornstarch
1 cup milk
3 egg yolks, beaten
1/4 cup butter
1 tablespoon grated lemon
1/3 cup lemon juice
1 (8 ounce) cup sour cream
1 (9 inch) pastry shell
Whipped topping

Combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Gradually add milk and mix smooth. Cook and stir over medium-high heat until thickened. Reduce heat and cook and stir 2 minutes more. Remove from heat and stir a small amount of this liquid into the beaten egg yolks. Return all to milk mixture and bring to gentle boil, stirring constantly. Cook 2 minutes more, until mixture is very thick.

Remove from heat and stir in butter and grated lemon peel. Gently stir in lemon juice. Cover and cool completely. Fold in sour cream.

Pour into pastry shell and refrigerate at least 2 hours before cutting. Garnish with whipped topping.

"Hot Topics in Nutrition" presentation set for April 6

What a person eats makes a difference to his or her overall good health. What does that specifically mean to a person? On Wednesday, April 6, at the Red Lake Falls Community Center, the Red Lake County Health Promotion Coalition is sponsoring a presentation by Dr. Cathy Breedon entitled "Hot Topics in Nutrition."

Two sessions are scheduled that day. The first session will be held for Continuing Education Unit (CEU) credit from 1:30 to 4 p.m. Pre-registration is required by calling (218) 681-0876. The second session, which is scheduled 7 to 9 p.m. at the same location, is open to the general public. No pre-registration is required for that session. Both sessions are offered for free except for those individuals who are applying for Dietitian CEU credits ($10 fee).

Breedon works for MeritCare Hospital in Fargo, N.D. She is recognized nationally for her workshops on nutrition issues for patients with complex medical conditions and chronic illness. Breedon will address some of the latest scientific recommendations on vitamin and mineral intake as related to health and certain diseases. The relationship between the amount of vitamin D in young children and the risk for diabetes will be addressed. In addition, the relationship between the amount of vitamin D in adolescents and multiple sclerosis will also be addressed. Other research-based topics will be discussed as well.

The presentations are sponsored by the Red Lake County Health Promotion Coalition (RLCHPC) as part of its year-long, positive health promotion campaign. Business sponsors of the RLCHPC include Altru Clinic - Red Lake Falls, Brent's Food Pride, Paradis Inc., the Red Lake County Economic Development Corporation, Red Lake County State Bank, Sunview Center and Wilcox Plumbing & Heating.

Local residents can view 2005 Children's Summit

People in the Crookston area interested in the 2005 Children's Summit can get a front row seat without traveling to the Twin Cities.

How policies impact families will be explored during "Minnesota Children's Summit 2005: Smart Policies, Strong Families" from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday, March 28, in Minneapolis. The summit will be broadcast live in Room 106, Sahlstrom Conference Center at the University of Minnesota – Crookston campus. The event is free.

To register to view the summit at this location, call (612) 625-7865 or e-mail cyfc@umn.edu. Those with questions about the Crookston broadcast can contact Deborah Zak at dzak@umn.edu.

The Minneapolis Foundation is joining the University of Minnesota in hosting this year's summit, which is part of University President Robert Bruininks' Initiative on Children, Youth and Families.

The summit will focus on how decisions made at all levels – from the legislature to the workplace and from the church to the community center – impact diverse families and their ability to support and sustain their members, said Dr. Catherine Jordan, executive director of the Children, Youth and Family Consortium and assistant professor of pediatrics at the university.

"I think that most of the time, policies are not put in place to intentionally cause families difficulties. It's the unintentional impact we want to look at during this summit," Jordan said.

During the summit, university and community leaders throughout Minnesota will come together to share models of understanding the family unit and to learn skills necessary for effective action to strengthen families.

"Minnesota has an opportunity to take a leadership role in responding to the needs of families and the policies that influence them," Jordan said.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Celebrate agriculture in our lives

In the last edition of the Northern Watch, we included a section on agriculture. It was our hope that this would help readers to reflect upon the importance of agriculture in their lives, witness the changes that have and are taking place in the industry, and participate in discussions that will help shape the future of agriculture.

National Ag Day and National Ag Week are organized by the Agriculture Council of America (ACA). American agriculture celebrated its first National Agriculture Day in 1973. Since the beginning, Ag Day (March 20, 2005) has been a chance for the general public to say "thanks" to the hard working men and women of agriculture.

I think its fascinating to look at some of the general statistics regarding agriculture in the United States. Though not showing a complete picture, they provide us with an interesting snap shot of agriculture.

- Today's average farm is 417 acres compared to 147 acres in 1900.
- Today's farmer feeds about 129 people in the United States and abroad. In 1960, that number was 25.8.
- 42 percent of U.S. total land area is farmland.
- U.S. Farmers account for 42.7 percent of the world's soybean production and about 34.4 percent of the world's corn production.
- Almost 90 percent of U.S. farms are operated by individuals or family corporations.
- More than 15 percent of the U.S. population is employed in farm or farm-related jobs.
- U.S. consumers spend roughly 9 percent of their income on food compared with 11 percent in the United Kingdom, 17 percent in Japan, 27 percent in South Africa and 53 percent in India.
- Farmers and ranchers provide food and habitat for 75 percent of the nation's wildlife.
- Plant breeding has resulted in crops better able to handle the environmental affects of drought and disease and insect infestations resulting in higher yields at harvest and lower costs to the consumer.
- Today's combines can harvest 900 bushels of corn per hour. In the 1930s a farmer could harvest (by hand) about 100 bushels of corn in a nine-hour day.
- Ethanol accounts for the largest industrial use of any commodity crop.

Among the pages we have dedicated to agriculture, we hope you'll find reason to enjoy and admire the wonders of American agriculture.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Congratulations to the MCC Basketball Nordics

To the Editor:

Congratulations to the Marshall County Central (MCC) boys basketball team for bringing home the 8A Sectional Championship and qualifying for a trip to the 2005 Class A Boys State Basketball Tournament.

The Nordics earned their first-ever trip to the state tourney in grand style. The commanding victory over a previously undefeated Clearbrook-Gonvick plainly shows that MCC is a great representative for northwestern Minnesota battling for top state honors. Clearly, the Nordics are playing their best basketball at the right time of the season.

Best wishes to Coach Jake Rantanen and the entire Nordics team.

Sincerely,
LeRoy Stumpf
State Senator, District 1

Is cat gut still used in tennis rackets?

Next month, the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources considers a proposal which would enable small game hunters to shoot free-roaming feral cats. The thought is that the burgeoning population of domesticated/wild cats, approximately 1.8 million at last count, is responsible for killing somewhere between 80 and 140 million migratory and native song and game birds across the state each year.

Needless to say, the proposal is raising the hackles of cat lovers everywhere, many of whom feel that not only are cats furry and adorable, but that reasonable alternatives to the cat crisis have not been considered. As a matter of fact, a Web site (http://dontshootthecat.com) has even been established to hawk their cause. (Really – I'm not that clever.) High-rise buildings and power lines, they claim, kill far more birds each year than do the felines. And while they're probably correct in that assessment, it seems to me that it would be politically incorrect to establish a season for firing at tall apartment complexes and power poles. Didn't Lee Harvey Oswald and that guy out in Berkeley a decade or two back get in pretty big trouble for those sorts of things?

Dontshootthecat.com (I'm serious, that's their name) also suggests this problem could be more humanely solved through a trap and neutering process. This way, they argue, vacant territories for new, fertile cats don't become available and the population explosion of feral felines slows. Once again, logical to a degree, but don't live, sterile cats still have to eat? And isn't there some sort of biological precedent suggesting that "fixed" animals trade "sexual appetite" for simply "appetite"? If you need some evidence, take at look at the two sterilized labs that presently adorn my living-room couches. It'd take a whole slug of sparrows to fill those guys up.

And besides, haven't we, as a country, pretty much recoiled in horror from that castration thing? If we haven't found it in our legal selves to fix a serial rapist, I'm not betting anytime soon the courts are going to let us have our way with a bird-eating cat. The math itself is too overwhelming, anyway. Bait the trap. Set the trap. Check the trap. (Hopefully) remove the cat. Fix the cat. Release the cat; 1,799,999 to go. Bait the trap. Set the trap. Check the trap. Remove the (hopefully) unfixed cat. You get the idea.

The fact that even the people at dontshootthecat.com (yes, really) offer ideas for addressing the feral cat problem suggests that there really is a problem. There are a lot of cats out there nationwide, upsetting a delicate ecological balance. The shooting of free-roaming cats, while perhaps the most obvious and efficient of control systems, makes the public uncomfortable for understandable reasons. We've all owned cats, held cats or played with cats at some time. We've laughed at their kitten clumsiness, let them sleep at the foot of our bed or grown frustrated with their unflappable arrogance. The thought of shooting a creature capable of stirring such emotion and leaving it to rot in the woods makes us a little queasy. I know I'd have a hard time doing it, but acknowledging my soft side doesn't make the problem go away.

Perhaps the Wisconsin DNR could consider taking the shooting of feral cats a step further than a dreary, grim-minded, social responsibility. Maybe they've got to sell this a little bit. You know, make it appealing to pull that trigger. If you've got to possess a small game license to shoot these cats, then maybe a limit is in order as well. How about five cats a day with a 10 in possession bag limit? Something to brag up at the local watering hole. "Filled up on feline in five shots this morning. That RoboMouse decoy is amazing!"

And then the Wisconsin DNR could develop a booklet of recipes for cat to make the whole thing more digestible both emotionally and gastronomically for the public. C'mon, get into the 21st century! Europeans got over the horse thing generations ago, and Shackleton said his lead sled dog, Balto, was the best thing he ever ate. If "cat burger" is just a little too specific for your taste, perhaps it's easier to think of it more as "Meow Mix."

The furs would certainly carry value, being so soft, cuddly, and warm. I can see sweaters, mittens and socks gaining popularity in northern areas. And the long-haired angoras could be woven into quite convincing wigs and toupees. Heck, you could even name that thing on top of your head, "Excuse me, I've got to go comb Frisky."

And if, after all this, the potential for a "cat harvest" still doesn't tickle the public's fancy, perhaps the Wisconsin DNR could disseminate some rumor claiming that a feline gall bladder enhances sexual stamina and that the trade in such items is strictly prohibited. I imagine the feral feline population would be under control soon, then.

It's all about salesmanship.

Town hall meetings set for March 21, 22

The Center for Rural Affairs (CFRA) wants to hear what rural farmers have to say, and it is coming to Minnesota to hear the answer.

It will participate in a meeting scheduled for Crookston on Monday, March 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Golden Link Senior Center. On Tuesday, March 22, the meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. at Handy Farms in Thief River Falls. Wally Sparby from U.S. Rep. Collin Peterson's office is scheduled to speak at the Thief River Falls meeting.

"The listening sessions are designed to encourage rural Minnesotans to let their voices be heard," said Kim Leval, organizer for the CFRA, a private non-profit organization that works on issues that concern rural areas and small towns. "These meetings help us to define the most pressing policy and legislative issues affecting farmers in and around Minnesota."

The meetings are sponsored by the CFRA and the Minnesota Agri Women.

"We need to hear from farmers on local issues," said Leval. "How can rural communities and the farm economy be strengthened? What are issues facing young farmers?" The discussion will likely include trade, farm profit, consolidation in agriculture, development of new markets, "Main Street" small business, and other economic development strategies.

The question and answer session will look at current policy and potential ideas, said Leval, with items like the Farm Bill, farm and rural development grant programs, and the current budget all on the table.

The CFRA encourages the participation of everyone living in rural areas – business owners, farmers, ranchers, educators, clergy, laborers, town officials, school board members, youth, seniors and all other concerned citizens.

Kittson County FSA announces LDP application deadline

The Kittson County Farm Service Agency has announced the final date to apply for a 2004 marketing loan or loan deficiency payment (LDP) for wheat, barley oats, canola and flax is March 31. The deadline for corn, soybeans, sunflowers and field peas is May 31.

Producers are encouraged to file applications as soon as possible if they intend on taking a loan on 2004 crop. Producers are also reminded that when applying for a loan, there is a four-day turnaround from the date the application is signed to the date the loan note is signed and the proceeds are disbursed.

Loans requested after the established deadline for the crop will be denied. LDPs will also be denied if requested after the established deadline for the specific crop. However, producers who have outstanding marketing loans may buy the commodity back at the posted county price any time prior to the loan's maturity.

Producers who are interested in a marketing loan or LDP or have any questions about the price support program should contact the Kittson County FSA Office at (218) 843-2173.

Karlsson art exhibit set for April 1 to May 25

Frances Karlsson

The Headwaters School of Music & Art, downtown Bemidji, invites the public to "A Journey into Art," a show and sale of Frances Karlsson's recent paintings. The exhibit will be held April 1 to May 25. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The public will be able to meet Minnesota watercolor painter Karlsson, a Roseau resident, at the opening reception Friday, April 1 from 4 to 6 p.m.

Her journey into art began when she was an active, impatient toddler. Each Sunday, her mother carried a small red notebook to church. To keep Karlsson quiet, her mother encouraged her to draw the backs of people's heads, from bald ones to ladies with flowered hats. Soon Karlsson took over the notebook, testing her skills on Mickey Mouse, Dick Tracy and Betty Boop. Her interest in art took her on a journey through art school and eventually to the farm where she did illustrations for Sunday school papers, coloring books and curriculum. When her models left home, she turned to fine art.

In a fresh realistic watercolor style, she has painted for over 30 years, focusing on landscapes and still lifes, scenes of family farms, flower gardens and lake sunsets, recording memories of life in rural Minnesota. Karlsson's work can be found in numerous corporate and private collections.

AFTER

The sun comes up,
but it must also go down.
We see a child smile,
but we also see a frown.
We see the flowers bloom
but after, watch them fade, for how else are other ones made?
We see the sky so clearly blue,
but after, watch the clouds form too.
We must remember
there's always the rainbow
after it rains, and there's always an answer to all life's pains.
There's always something to learn in everything that goes bad, there's always a time to be happy, after you've been sad.

Nordics in two overtimes!

■ MCC wins state tournament debut 64-62

A fourth personal foul with 1:09 left in the third quarter put Jay Maurstad in the danger zone. One more and the 6-3 Marshall County Central senior guard was done. And maybe, so were the Nordics, who began the fourth quarter of Wednesday's Minnesota Class A boys state high school basketball tournament quarterfinal game trailing Sleepy Eye St. Mary's 34-29.

But Maurstad, after sitting out those final 69 seconds of the third period, was back on the floor after only 1:22 of the fourth quarter. He did pick up his fifth foul, but with just 29.5 seconds remaining – in the second overtime. And all he did during those eight minutes of four-foul playing time was score 16 of his game-high 28 points as the Nordics pulled off a 64-62 upset of the Knights – a team many figured to be a contender for a state title.

Maurstad's fourth quarter return produced immediate results as he scored nine points on three consecutive Marshall County Central possessions. Back-to-back 3-pointers from the corner ignited his late-game outburst. Another attempt from behind the arch on the next trip down the floor drew a foul and all three free throws were dead-on.

In addition to lighting it up on offense, Maurstad was busy on the other end defending against Sleepy Eye St. Mary's standout Matt Gangelhoff, who added 25 points to his school career scoring record.

"That Jay was able to play that long with four fouls was huge for us," said Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "He scored some big points, and he was guarding one of the best players he's ever seen. If he would have picked up his fifth foul earlier, who knows what might have happened."

The end of regulation time and both sets of four-minute overtimes produced a never-ending sequence of dramatic plays that had the Williams Arena crowd on its feet more than in the seats.

When Maurstad's backcourt partner Dustin Monsebroten made both ends of a bonus free throw opportunity with 10.1 seconds remaining in regulation time, the Nordics were sitting on a 46-43 lead. But the countdown to victory was shattered when the Knights' Jacob Bohnen hit a 3-pointer from the top of the key with a mere 2.6 seconds on the clock.

That produced overtime No. 1, and had Rantanen more than just a little concerned. "Yes, I was worried," he admitted. "Obviously momentum is big in overtime, and when they hit that shot, they had all the momentum."

Rantanen's fears appeared to come to life when two free throws by Bryan Millhard and one by Andrew Woitas gave Sleepy Eye St. Mary's a 49-46 edge. But that was erased by a Monsebroten 3-pointer with 2:33 left.

Dustin Monsebroten of Marshall County Central worked against Sleepy Eye St. Mary's defender Alan Woitas during Minnesota Class A boys state high school basketball tournament quarterfinal action Wednesday in Minneapolis. The Nordics pulled off a dramatic 64-62 double-overtime upset against the Knights.

A free throw by Monsebroten put the Nordics up 50-49. The Knights were back in front, however, when a put-back by the 6-4 Millhard and two free throws by Bohnen made it 53-50 with 20.1 seconds showing.

Maurstad duplicated Bohnen's game-extending 3-pointer at the end of regulation time by hitting a trey from out front that went through the netting with 5.2 seconds showing to force a second overtime.

Two very tired basketball teams regrouped and went at it for another four minutes.

"I was surprised we had enough left to finish it," said Rantanen.

But they did. Monsebroten gave the Nordics a big lift when he kicked off the second overtime scoring with a 3-pointer. Moments later a Sleepy Eye St. Mary's turnover was converted into a fast break layup by Maurstad for a sudden 58-53 spread with 1:47 left.

A free throw by Andy Brons made it a six-point difference with 1:34 to go.

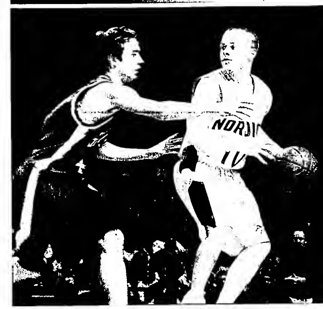
That's when things got a little dicey. Gangelhoff went through traffic in the middle for a basket that made it 59-55 with 1:18 remaining. He missed a free throw that would have completed a three-point play.

With 44.1 seconds on the clock, there was a scramble for a loose ball that went out of bounds off one of the Knights. The Nordics appeared to have possession with a four-point lead. But instead, a foul was called against Monsebroten on the play. The scoreboard said it was his fourth, and so did the Marshall County Central books. The official score book, however, listed it as his fifth.

The Nordics argued. And all five remained on the floor when the ball was readied to be put back in play by the Knights. In a confusing scene, the officials whistled play dead and assessed a technical on the Marshall County Central bench for playing someone (Monsebroten) with five fouls.

"There was a mix-up in the books," explained Rantanen. "They thought Dustin had five fouls; we had him with four."

What could have been a disastrous turn of events for the Nordics simply added to the anxiety when Gangelhoff made both technical foul free throws, but the Knights turned the ball over on the ensuing inbounds play.



Maurstad made two free throws to rebuild a four-point difference, 61-57, with 34.6 seconds left.

In fact, the two teams took turns shooting 14 free throws in the last 44 seconds. Two by Gangelhoff sliced the Nordics' lead to 62-60 with 20.7 seconds still on the clock.

While Nick Haven made only one of two free throws on back-to-back opportunities that still added up to a 64-60 lead with just 7.9 seconds left, and that was enough to withstand a Gangelhoff basket with one second to play.

"That was a great basketball game," said Rantanen, confirming

Andy Brons protected the ball as the Marshall County Central guard ran the Nordics' offense while being closely guarded by Alan Woitas of Sleepy Eye St. Mary's Wednesday in Minnesota Class A boys state high school basketball action. The Section 8A champions from Newfolden advanced to the Friday semifinals with a 64-62 double-overtime victory.

MCC extends tournament stay

by Mike Lundgren
Sports Editor

If there is a flaw in the four-class, metropolitan area-based Minnesota state high school basketball tournament format, it's the fact that 16 of the 32 qualifiers are done after Day 1. Lose, you go home. There is no consolation round. The emotional high of winning a section title and advancing to state evaporates in a hurry with a quarterfinal setback.

Winning a first round contest means you get to stay around for the duration of the tournament and play two more games: a semifinal and then either a championship shot or a third place encounter.

Section 8A champion Marshall County Central, the smallest school in the 2005 boys state tournament, got a length-of-stay pass Wednesday when the Nordics won a 64-62 double-overtime quarterfinal thriller against Sleepy Eye St. Mary's.

Class A State Tournament
■ Quarterfinals Wednesday, March 16 - Marshall County Central 64, Sleepy Eye St Mary's 62 (2 ot); Russell-Tyler-Ruthton 66, Mountain Iron-Buhl 43; Rushford-Peterson 50, Battle Lake 41; Cass Lake-Bena 74, St Agnes 67
■ Semifinals Friday, March 18 - Cass Lake-Bena (24-6) vs. Rushford-Peterson (16-11), 1 p.m.; Marshall County Central (22-8) vs. Russell-Tyler-Ruthton (26-3), 3 p.m.
■ Finals Saturday, March 19 - third place, 10 a.m.; championship, noon

It made for a memorable state tournament debut.

"We didn't want to drive all this way and go home after one game," said Marshall County Central coach Jake Rantanen. "We wanted people to know we play good basketball in northwestern Minnesota."

The Target Center, site of the semifinals and finals in all four classes, is newer, bigger and fancier, but few players, coaches and fans would pass up the opportunity to be part of the action at the University of Minnesota's Williams Arena, where the Nordics and Knights duked it out. The place has history. It's special.

The Marshall County Central fans were amused, but at the same time a little irritated by the public address announcer who insisted on calling their team the Nordiques – aka the old Quebec National Hockey League team – instead of the Nordics. The fact that he also pronounced it NEWfolden, with heavy emphasis on the first syllable, also produced a few cringes.

Russell-Tyler-Ruthton, the Nordics' Friday semifinal foe, is the defending Class A state champion. Like first round foe Sleepy Eye St. Mary's, R-T-R is also the Knights.

Saturday third place games in all four classes will be played at Concordia University in St. Paul.

what everyone already knew. "Sleepy Eye has a great basketball team. They've dominated their opponents this year. But our kids stepped up and found a way to win."

The Nordics found themselves trailing 19-9 when Millhard opened the second quarter with a short turn-around jumper. But they cut the difference in half by intermission, 23-18.

"They (Knights) were more physical on the inside in the first half than we were," pointed out Rantanen. "Our kids didn't understand how physical it is at the state tournament. And it's not the officials – they do a great job. It's just the style of play that you have to get used to. We came back in the second half and played physical, too."

Monsebroten scored 21 points while center Andrew Johnson contributed with 14 rebounds and seven blocked shots.

Millhard had a 19-point, 10-rebound double-double. Bohnen netted 10 points.

The Nordics shot 41 percent from the field (17/41) and had a busy 21-for-32 free throw night. The Knights shot 32 percent from the floor (20/62) and were 18-for-26 at the line. Sleepy Eye St. Mary's finished with a 40-38 rebound edge. Turnovers were even at 18 apiece.

It was a 26-3 season for the Section 2A champion Knights. The Section 8A champion Nordics took a 22-8 record into the semifinals.

Former Viking resident shares son's story of survival

momentarily drop below the surface, but each time he would scratch and claw, managing to pull himself up.

Jill got to within a few feet of her son before reaching him with one final lunge.

Getting back to shore

Adam's body had gone limp. He appeared to have no pulse and was not breathing.

Jill knew she needed to act fast as she battled to keep both her body and son's body above the water's surface. Jill was wearing a three-quarter length, fully-lined leather coat, and gloves for the first time that season. The extra layers may have provided beneficial insulation. But the coat, which is naturally heavy, felt like it was made of lead once it was wet.

Jill recalled feeling exhausted just from the trip out to her son. She had no idea how she was going to reach shore.

The Thompson's property, like most in the area, is secluded. The nearest neighbors live a few hundred yards from the Thompson house, but they didn't usually arrive until after 6 p.m. A young couple, whose backyard shares the pond with the Thompsons, appeared to be home. Lights were on inside the house, but unless they were outside, there was no way they would hear Jill's cries for help.

"I thought, I have to scream. I' have to try to scream. I'm going to die out here and nobody's going to hear me, but I've got to try," she said.

There was no response to her cries for help. Jill began calling for Jet, Belle and Dixie. Each dog is trained for hunting and is subsequently a good swimmer. Jill's hope rested on the shoulders of the three dogs.

"You always hear about these dog rescue stories," Jill said. "They jump in, and they save people."

Jill thought if she could get one dog to come into the water, she could grab on and be rescued.

She called for all three dogs. Dixie, a yellow lab, and Belle, a black lab, showed up first. Dixie, the youngest, swam out to Jill and Adam. Jill tried to grab onto Dixie, but she lost her grip on the dog's fur. Jill yelled for Dixie to come back. Dixie turned around and swam back to the middle of the pond. This time, Jill tried grasping the dog around her neck. But again that grip was too slippery, and when Dixie began paddling, the weight of Jill and Adam began to push her underwater.

Time was running out. Jill figures her son had not taken a breath in more than two minutes.

She recalls screaming to God to please help her. She said she didn't know what to do and asked for the strength to get to shore and to not let Adam die, as he had gone limp the minute she got to him.

Jill felt like she wasn't getting any closer to shore. She said she went under a couple more times before hearing a voice. She could barely make out a shape standing at the shore. The shadowy figure was calling out for her. It was her neighbor, Rusty Uscola.

Rusty tried to jump in himself and help, but was immediately turned back by the thick mud on the edge of the pond. Sunk up to his knees in the mud, Rusty assumed the role of coach. He continually encouraged Jill to get closer. Jill recalls that she kept kicking, somehow getting close enough to shore to regain her footing.

With her footing intact, Jill's thoughts turned to her son, who hadn't moved in over five minutes. She tried shaking him and blowing in his mouth to give him some air, but there was still no response. When she was close enough to shore, she handed her son over to Rusty. He had already dialed 911 and medical help was on its way.

"When you're there by yourself, you don't know where the strength is going to come from," Jill said. "Knowing he was there, gave me that little extra boost, knowing that someone could help."

Typically Rusty, a science teacher in the Nevis School District, does not return to his home in rural Menahga until around 6 p.m. But on Monday (Nov. 22) he arrived much earlier than usual, because he picked up his dog from the vet before the business' 5 p.m. closing.

Rusty arrived at his home shortly after 5 p.m. While letting his dog out, he heard screams coming from the Thompson property. Rusty grabbed his cell phone and drove over to the Thompson property immediately. He dialed 911 at 5:11 p.m., approximately 15 minutes after Adam had fallen through the pond's surface.

Rusty, who was CPR certified in January 2004, began treatment as soon as he got Adam to the floating bog. Crowding Rusty's efforts, Jet, Belle and Dixie also attempted to revive Adam by licking him. A few minutes after Rusty began CPR, Adam began making gurgling noises. There was hope. Adam was still struggling to breathe, but he had a pulse.

Part two of Adam Thompson's story of survival will appear in next week's edition of the Northern Watch.

will be used toward sanitary sewer work and the rehabilitation of owner-occupied housing. U.S. Rural Development will also provide funding for that project.

About SCDP grants

SCDP grants are awarded for a variety of projects, including residential and commercial rehabilitation, sewer and wastewater treatment, flood recovery and prevention, and lead paint abatement. Cities and townships with populations under 50,000 and counties with populations under 200,000 are able to receive grants through the SCDP. This year, grant applications were submitted by 105 eligible cities and counties.

The SCDP is administered by the Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development.

Northland offering golf classes that start March 24, 28

Two spring golf classes will be taught at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls.

Golf I, a class for beginners, will start March 28 and will be held Monday nights for seven weeks, through May 9. Deb Jacobson, athletics director at Northland, will be the instructor.

Northland head golf coach Tom Williams will be the instructor for Golf II, an intermediate class that starts March 24 and will be held on Thursday nights for seven weeks, through May 5.

Those who are interested in registering for the classes should call Northland at 218-681-0701, or toll-free at 1-800-959-6282. Cost for each one-credit class would be approximately $150.

Northwestern Mutual named "Most Admired"

Northwestern Mutual has again been recognized as "America's Most Admired" life/health insurance company, in FORTUNE magazine's annual survey of industry professionals. The 2005 survey rankings mark the 22nd year that the company has led its industry since FORTUNE introduced the survey in 1983. In recognition of this achievement, Northwestern Mutual and all industry rankings are featured in the magazine's March 7 edition.

CALCIUM-25

Calcium Mineral Supplement. Increases crops yields 20 to 40% & more over the past 21 years. Works equally well in both calcium rich and calcium deficient soils. Increases plants ability to absorb nutrients more efficiently. By foliar feeding this to any plant, it increases the cell structure. By doing this it increases the growth & yields to the plant. I know I have proved it for 5 years with excellent results. Last year my soybeans did not freeze.

Board wary of 11th hour alternative jail plan

Roseau - Although three commissioners agreed to consider a competing jail plan hastily prepared by a Grand Forks, N.D., architectural firm that had been enlisted by dissident Jail Committee member Jon Jenson, Commissioners Alan Johnston and Russell Walker angrily refused to hear the 11th hour effort and sent it back to the Jail Committee instead.

Jenson, who insists that he represents no special interest group, had contacted Icon, a Grand Forks architectural firm, the Friday before the March 15 board meeting, and asked the firm to to prepare a $3.5 million jail plan that he felt would save the county $1 million to $2 million in construction costs for the proposed new jail complex. - The Tribune of Greenbush, March 23, 2005

Building permit fees for city under scrutiny

Red Lake Falls - At its March 14 regular meeting, the Red Lake Falls City Council held a discussion regarding the current system of issuing and charging for building permits.

Prompted by the loss of the city's current building inspector, Robert Tuseth, other avenues of keeping track of building projects within the city will be explored.

One suggestion was to adopt a plan similar to that of Fosston, which was reported to have eliminated the permit fees altogether.

Under this type of plan, only licensed contractors would be permitted to do work within the city limits and all work must conform to the Uniform Building Code.

Additional discussion is planned for upcoming regular meetings in order to expedite approval of a new plan or to retain the services of a new inspector and use the existing permit system. - Red Lake Falls Gazette, March 23, 2005, by Don Johanneck

Court denies request to kill Agassiz Valley water project

Warren - An effort by some affected landowners to obtain a judicial declaration that the Agassiz Valley Water Management Project (AVMP) is illegal has failed, and the process of determining compensation for land taken for the project will resume.

Ninth District Judge Donald J. Aandal signed an order March 8 denying the landowner effort. Landowner attorneys had sought, in a motion filed Jan. 24, to have the AVMP declared to be lacking a public purpose, which under law would effectively kill it. The multipurpose project, which is designed to temporarily hold floodwater, would provide some flooding relief for areas west of the impoundment.

Initially and informally called the Helgeland Project or holding area because of its location in Helgeland Township of Polk County, the AVMP has been pursued for years by the Middle-Snake-Tamarac-Rivers Watershed District (MST).

The most recent court ruling is part of rather complex litigation that started with MST's determination of damages to the landowners through a formal appraisal process under Minnesota watershed law. MST's order setting the AVMP in motion and awarding damages was appealed by several of the affected landowners, who, in general, claimed the compensation for their losses was not sufficient. - Warren Sheaf, March 23, 2005

Beating the Odds

Adam Thompson was eble to calebrate his fifth birthday with his family on Dec. 17, just 25 days after felling through the thin ice of a pond located in the Thompson's backyard. Pictured are Jill, Kevin and Adam Thompson.

Part II:

Jill (Melvie) Thompson is the daughter of Erv and Vi Melvie of Viking. Kevin Thompson is the son of Marv and Margie Thompson of Perley. This is the second part of a story about their only child, Adam, who survived drowning and hypothermia in late 2004.

▶ Adem Thompson remeined in critical condition for 10 deys, following his hospitelization for cold weter drowning end hypothermia. His breething wes laborad for much of his stey in MeritCere's Pediatric Intansiva Cere Unit.

A story of survival

Cold waters: an unfriendly nod

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

An ambulance was on its way and Adam had a pulse. At the suggestion of her neighbor, Rusty (Uscola), Jill headed up the hill toward the house to change into dry clothes.

Rusty stayed behind to care for Adam, who was non-responsive for more than five minutes. Earlier Adam made it to the safety of a floating bog after his mother swam through the frigid water to rescue him. He was exposed to the chilling water for approximately 15 minutes after falling through the pond's thin ice.

Like her son, Jill was suffering the effects of hypothermia, a condition described by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention as the lowering of the body's core temperature below 95 degrees Fahrenheit.

With her son somewhat stabilized, Jill began to climb her family's steep hill, intent on changing into warmer and dryer clothes. She hoped to return to her son before medical help arrived. But walking was much more difficult than she first expected and her ability to navigate the steep slope was compounded by the fatigue she suffered from treading water.

"I felt like I had cement blocks tied to each arm and leg," Jill said. "That's how slow I was walking. My heart felt like it was going to explode, it was beating so fast. It felt like knives stabbing in and out it hurt so bad."

While Jill was struggling to make it to the house, the ambulance was heading south towards the Thompson's house on 159th Ave. The ambulance's arrival was delayed slightly, because Rusty, feeling the stress and urgency of the situation, gave 911 dispatchers his own address, about a quarter-mile from the Thompsons. Jill tried to get the attention of the ambulance drivers, but they still drove past her driveway before she could redirect them.

After directing first responders and EMTs, Jill went into the house to change, discarding her wet clothing piece by piece.

She was essentially going into shock. Her skin was bright red and she was shivering violently.

With EMTs attending to Adam, Rusty headed up to the house to check on Jill.

She responded to his calls, saying that she needed help. Jill had no balance and was getting sick. Her shivering became more violent and she started vomiting in the bathroom.

Heeding their call for help, first responders also began attending to Jill while she was in the bathroom.

A different perspective

When Kevin Thompson arrived at his Menahga home, he thought his house was on fire. Two ambulances, several first responder vehicles and Hubbard County Sheriff Deputy cars lined the front yard, creating a brightly lit, chaotic setting, that was the first thing he saw as he approached the house.

When Kevin left his business for home on Nov. 22, he took his typical route out of Park Rapids, south toward Menahga. Strangely, he was passed at high speed by several cars and an ambulance on the way home.

One by one each of the cars that passed him would make the same turns he typically would. He continued following the convoy from a distance, arriving at his home along with the frantic mob of responders.

By the time Kevin had parked his car, one of the ambulances that was in the front yard had moved to the backyard by the garden. Seeing where the ambulance was parked, he knew instantly that someone, probably Adam, had fallen through the ice. He ran toward the ambulance, where he was stopped by first responders saying, "We've got to go, we've got to go now."

"He really didn't know anything," Jill said. "How had Adam was or where I was."

Kevin was informed that his wife was in the house and that his son was going to be transferred to St. Joseph's Hospital in Park Rapids. Inside the ambulance, Adam was in critical condition, with a body temperature of 65 degrees Fahrenheit.

Kevin found his wife and told her that they were taking Adam to the hospital. She started explaining that Adam had fallen through the ice and that she went out to get him, but Kevin interrupted, again saying they are taking Adam to the hospital. Jill responded, just go with him, just go.

"I felt like he was going to blame me for this...that I wasn't watching him, that it was my fault," Jill said. "Every year you hear about someone's kid going through the ice and you shake your head and point your finger at them and say, 'That would never be me. That would never be my kid, because I would be watching him closer than that.'"

A ride in the helicopter

Jill was taken to St. Joseph's

Hypothermia

Warning signs

- Lethargy
- Weakness and loss of coordination
- Confusion
- Uncontrollable shivering
- Reduced heart or respiratory rate
- Hypothermia is defined as the lowering of the body's core temperature below 95 degrees Fahrenheit.

While it may heva just seemed like fun and games to tha 5-yeer-old, Adam Thompson made remarkable progress in respiratory, occupational, physical and speech therapy.

Remembering a TRF leader

Former TRF mayor killed in traffic accident

by April Scheinohn
Reporter

Orin Green will be remembered for being a cheerful, smiling person and also remembered for the good he did in this community, said Thief River Falls Mayor Dale Wennberg. "He certainly will be missed in the community."

Green, 74, a former Thief River Falls mayor, was killed Tuesday afternoon after a traffic accident on Highway 10 near Wadena. His wife, Marge, 76, was injured in the crash and transferred by ground ambulance to Mercy Hospital in Coon Rapids. Marge Green was discharged Thursday, according to a Mercy Hospital media specialist.

At the time of the accident, Orin Green, who resided in Thief River Falls, was driving a car westbound on Highway 10 west of Wadena. According to the State Patrol report, his car then crossed the centerline and collided with an eastbound sport utility vehicle. The other driver was also killed.

Many area residents knew Orin Green as the owner of a Thief River Falls funeral home. For almost 40 years, Orin Green operated the Green Funeral Home. He purchased the funeral home with his father, Olger, in 1954.

After his father retired, Orin Green continued operating the funeral home with Gordon Peterson. Peterson bought 40 percent of the funeral home in 1977. Two years later, they bought the Petterson Funeral Homes in Red Lake Falls and Oklee. Upon his retirement in 1992, Orin Green sold the remaining 60 percent of the business to Peterson. Eric Johnson purchased the Petterson Funeral Homes at that time. Johnson and his brother, Erling, now own the Green Funeral Home, which is now known as Johnson Funeral Service.

Besides operating the funeral home, Orin Green served as Thief River Falls mayor from 1960-68.

Bob Carlson, now a Pennington County commissioner, served as a council member while Orin Green was mayor.

"He was willing to be a part of the good interests of the city of Thief River Falls," said Carlson, who also referred to Orin Green's work for and support of Northland Community and Technical College, Valley Home and the Thief River Golf Club.

"Like everybody says, he's going to be sadly missed," said Carlson.

For his part, Wennberg remembered the support he received from Orin Green. When considering a run for mayor, Wennberg received a phone call from him, and he encouraged Wennberg to run for mayor.

"In every aspect of his life that I have seen, he's lived out his faith," – Rev. Phil Schmidt Orin Green had an impact on many people's lives. "It's a terrible loss for the community," said Jim Haugen, former Thief River Falls police chief.

"Orin will be a hard one to replace as a friend, mentor, leader of a lot of things," said Thief River Falls Police Chief Kim Murphy.

A member of the Police Civil Service Commission since 1972, Orin Green had a say in who would become a Thief River Falls police officer. Up until the present time, he was the commission's chairman, a position he held for a number of years.

"There's not one person in this department, not one, where he hasn't had almost the final say in if they were hired," said Murphy, who noted no one else can approach the impact Orin Green had on the department.

"He was always there for me," said Haugen, who also added Orin Green was always there for the department.

Both Haugen and Murphy had professional and personal relationships with Orin Green.

"I just can't say enough about

Marge and Orin Green of Thief River Falls were involved in a head-on collision Tuesday afternoon near Wadena. Orin Green, a retired funeral home owner and former Thief River Falls mayor, was killed. Marge Green, his wife and a passenger in the vehicle, was injured in the crash. The other driver, a Verndale man, was also killed. (A 2002 Olan Mills photo)

Funeral Service

Orin Green's funeral service will be held at 1 p.m. Tuesday, March 29 at the Thief River Falls United Methodist Church, 104 Horace Ave N.

Visitation will be held Monday, March 28. The visitation time and location are pending. Johnson Funeral Service is handling the arrangements.

A few more dishes for your Easter celebration this weekend.

This is a simple side dish that looks just right for Easter dinner:

GOLDEN CARROT COINS
1/4 cup butter
3/4 cup chicken broth
2 teaspoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
14 medium carrots, cut into 1/4 inch slices
3 tablespoons minced fresh parsley
2 teaspoons lemon juice

In large saucepan, melt butter. Stir in broth, sugar, salt and pepper. Bring to a boil. Add carrots and return to a boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 8-10 minutes or until carrots are crisp-tender. Stir in parsley and lemon juice. Serve with slotted spoon.

Nuts and pineapple make this lime salad a treat, and it looks like spring too:

CREAMY LIME SALAD
1 (8 ounce) can crushed pineapple
1 (3 ounce) package lime gelatin
3 tablespoons water
2 (3 ounces each) packages cream cheese, softened
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup miniature marshmallows
1 cup whipping cream, whipped

Drain pineapple, reserving juice. Set aside. In saucepan, combine gelatin, water and reserved juice. Cook and stir over low heat until gelatin is dissolved. Refrigerate until syrupy, about 30 minutes.

In small bowl, beat cream cheese until fluffy. Stir in gelatin mixture, nuts, marshmallows and reserved pineapple. Fold in whipped cream. Transfer to 1 quart serving bowl, cover and refrigerate 2 hours or until set. Serves 9.

This salad will become a favorite side dish:

SUMMER RICE SALAD
2 cups cooked brown rice
1 cup quartered cherry tomatoes
1/3 cup chopped red onion
1 (2 1/4 ounces) sliced ripe olives, drained
3 tablespoons cider vinegar
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 tablespoons minced fresh parsley
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
Leaf lettuce (optional)

In large bowl, combine cooked rice, tomatoes, onion and olives. In small bowl, combine vinegar, oil, parsley, sugar and salt, mixing well. Pour over rice mixture and toss to coat. Cover and chill at least 2 hours. Serve in lettuce-lined bowl, if desired. Serves 6.

Here's a large recipe that serves 32 or more people, just right for that Easter feast - use your food processor to make it quick:

CREAMY COLESLAW
1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar
2-1/4 teaspoons flour
2-1/4 teaspoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon ground mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup plus 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
1/2 cup water
1 egg, lightly beaten
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup half and half
2 cups mayonnaise or salad dressing
3 medium heads cabbage, shredded (6-7 pounds)
2 medium carrots, shredded
2 celery ribs, chopped
7 green onions, thinly sliced

In large saucepan, combine sugar, flour, cornstarch, mustard, salt and pepper. Gradually stir in vinegar and water. Add egg and milk. Cook and stir until mixture comes to a boil. Cook 2 minutes longer or until slightly thickened. Cool to room temperature, stirring several times.

In large bowl, combine brown sugar and cream. Stir in mayonnaise. Add cooked dressing and mix well. In several large bowls, combine cabbage, carrots, celery and onions. Add dressing and toss to coat. Serve immediately. Recipe serves 32 with 3/4 cup each.

This Easter is a little early, so a hot punch would be great to sip before the meal - make it easy in your slow cooker:

TROPICAL TEA
6 cups boiling water
6 tea bags
1-1/2 cups orange juice
1-1/2 cups unsweetened pineapple juice
1/3 cup sugar
1 medium navel orange, sliced and halved
2 tablespoons honey

In 5 quart slow cooker, combine boiling water and tea bags. Cover and let stand 5 minutes. Discard tea bags and stir in remaining ingredients. Cover and cook on low for 2 to 4 hours or until heated through. Serve warm. Makes 2 1/2 quarts.

Nutritional Info: A one-cup serving has 82 calories, trace of fat, 0 chol, 1 mg sodium, 21 g carb, trace fiber and trace protein. Diabetic exchange is 1-1/2 fruit.

If you'd rather have cold punch, try this pretty one:

PARTY PUNCH
1 (48 ounce) can pineapple juice, chilled
1 (46 ounce) can orange juice, chilled
1 (12 ounce) can frozen limeade concentrate, thawed
1 (12 ounce) can frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed
3 liters ginger ale, chilled
1 pint each of orange, lemon and lime sherbet

In large punch bowl, combine juices and lemonade and limeade. Stir in ginger ale and then add scoops of sherbet over top. Serve immediately.

Roseau resident inducted into BSU Academic Hall of Fame

Five new members will be inducted into the Bemidji State University Education Hall of Fame during the April 15 ceremonies on campus.

The Education Hall of Fame honors BSU graduates who demonstrated excellence in the profession and have been named either a teacher of the year or administrator of the year.

The 2005 inductees are Denis Sauter, Carlton High School; Barbara Burkman, Menahga Elementary School; Colleen Canavan, Fairview Elementary in Mora; Joe Merseth, Rothsay public schools; and William Wagner, Roseau High School.

The induction ceremony will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Beaux Arts Ballroom. Priced at $18 per person, tickets must be reserved by calling the Alumni Association at 218-755-2786 (toll free: 1-877-278-2586) or by registering online at www.bsualumni.org by April 8.

Wagner earned a bachelors degree in mathematics and physical education in 1960 and a masters in mathematics in 1967 from Bemidji State. He taught mathematics at Roseau High School from 1963 to 1997 and in 1993 was named Roseau Teacher of the Year. Also in the Roseau Community Schools, Wagner held positions as the Federal Programs director, the audio/visual coordinator and a coach in basketball, cross-country and track.

Lindvall comes to Warroad to present Bold Parenting Seminar

Jonathan Lindvall is coming to Warroad to present his Bold Parenting Seminar on April 8 and 9 at the Family Fundamental Church. Jonathan and his wife, Connie, and their six children have a ministry titled, Bold Christian Living. He is the superintendent of Pilgrims School in Springfield, Calif., and has an extensive background in education, pastoral ministry and broadcasting. He is a noted speaker, writer and songwriter.

Lindvall presents his Bold Parenting Seminar around the country in churches and home school conventions. In his seminars and other convention workshop appearances, he focuses on developing scriptural parenting patterns that help families to train Godly sons and daughters from birth to marriage.

Childcare and activities will be provided for children under 10. A free-will offering will be taken. For questions or preregistration, call 442-2621, 386-1345, or 386-1933.

USDA opens 2005 CSP sign up

Over 8,000 farms in parts of Minnesota's eligible watersheds are among those invited to participate in the first national sign up of the historic new Conservation Security Program (CSP). USDA has also announced that producers in the 2004 CSP pilot sign-up program will also be included in this enrollment opportunity. Producers are able to enroll in this program March 28 to May 27.

"CSP is a whole new direction in the history of USDA conservation programs," said William Hunt, state conservationist. "While conservation incentive programs and technical assistance to farmers and ranchers date back to the Dust Bowl days of the 1930s, CSP represents the first time agricultural producers are being paid not just to fix a problem but in recognition of their ongoing stewardship and to maintain and further enhance that conservation commitment."

In Minnesota, CSP is being made available on a watershed basis. In northwest Minnesota, farmers in a sub-watershed of the Red Lake River will be able to sign up in 2005. This watershed does not include the Thief River or Clearwater watersheds.

Nationally, CSP is being made available for private agricultural land in 220 watersheds covering about 185 million acres in every state and the Caribbean. The national $202 million budget will allow the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) to offer an estimated 12,000 to 14,000 contracts to eligible farmers and ranchers.

To prepare agricultural producers for this new program, Hunt said workshops have been held in eligible watershed areas. "We hope most of the eligible producers interested in CSP have had a chance to attend a workshop and get a firsthand explanation of the new goals and requirements associated with the program," he added.

The workshops explain that CSP offers three levels or tiers of participation, depending on the amount of the farm enrolled and the current level of documented conservation. Payments will be made based on this tier level as well as the producer's agreement to do additional practices to further enhance the environment. Tier I contracts (covering part of a farming operation) run for five years while Tier II and III contracts (covering all of a farming operation) can extend for 10 years.

"All successful applications begin with demonstrated protection of soil and water quality," said Hunt. "This would typically mean managing a farm or ranch using a mix of practices such as conservation tillage, pest and nutrient management, crop rotation, cover crops and vegetation buffers."

However, Hunt said most CSP participants will go beyond the minimum and work to further enhance soil and water, improve wildlife habitat, or conserve or produce on-farm energy.

Payments will vary depending on the land use, such as cropland or pastureland, the amount of land enrolled, the tier level and the enhancements undertaken. In the Red Lake River Watershed, this would typically result in a wide range of payments on Tier I pastureland to Tier III cropland with a conservation record addressing all natural resource concerns and participating in additional environmental enhancements.

To apply, interested applicants should first do self-assessments of their farming operations. The self-assessments are available at workshops or can be obtained in hard copy or CD version from USDA Service Centers in watershed areas. Additionally, self-assessments and other program information may be accessed at www.nrcs.usda.gov/programs/csp. Once applicants have filled in required information based on their records from the past two years, they may call their local offices for appointments. NRCS conservationists will then help them complete their resource inventories, and determine their levels of participation and possible payments.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

To Red Lake: Our deepest sympathies

We recognize the fact that nothing we say or write can bring comfort to families and friends grieving in Red Lake. Know, however, that we will stand in prayer with you.

As area residents living outside of this tragedy, we recognize the fact such a tragedy can unfold here as easily as anywhere else. In that we share this unfortunate bond, we encourage all citizens to work together to help our children find the support and encouragement they need, and as the Thief River Falls City Council stated, find positive outlets for their desperation.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Coalition promotes tourism

To the Editor

My family and I were involved in a wedding this past weekend and I had a chance to actually see what I have been talking about - tourism.

I now live in an apartment in Stephen and had no room for my family, so I went to the local motel with them to spend valuable and precious time with my family. And guess what I found? Tourism at work!

It was a bright, sunny afternoon and the air was filled with the roaring noises of a number of snowmobiles moving in and out of the motel parking lot. There has been lots of snow in northern Minnesota and snowmobilers from southern places have come here to take advantage of the white stuff. Sure enough, we checked the license plates of these snowmobilers and discovered that they were from South Dakota. These warmly dressed folks had rented rooms at the motel. They also ate meals in the new restaurant next door and bought gas and treats at the convenience stores and gas stations. That is what tourism is all about.

There is another reason for this letter. I know you are aware that the Highway 75 Coalition is continuing its focus on promoting the King of Trails, which now is a Scenic Byway. A very important spring conference meeting is coming up on May 4 in Wheaten. Wheaten is a town of over 1,000 people situated about 50 miles south of Moorhead on Highway 75. It is right near the corner of where North and South Dakota meet.

There are a couple of very good reasons for going to Wheaten on May 4. One is that you will meet some great folks who have a worthwhile reason for being there, and the other is the special catered meal, which includes desserts. The Falk Lodge in Wheaten serves a famous dessert - Wall Street Chocolate Cake. According to information in an early announcement, "It got its fame when it was served at a Regional EDA Conference and was given its accolades in a front page article in the Wall Street Journal." We are told that the frosting is pure fudge. It must be a heaven for chocoholics! And there are so many of us. The Coalition has been trying to have its meetings in communities where there is something to see and do. We have found some great places that will appeal to travelers along the road.

Sources also tell us that Wheaten is the "Home of the Big Mallard." That is another good reason to travel to Wheaten on May 4. We need people there - new people with energy and ideas - to help make plans to promote sites and events for the King of Trails in 2005. Make your reservations by April 29, so there will be enough Wall Street Chocolate Cake to go around. Call 507-825-3316 or write Highway 75 Coalition, P.O. Box 8, Pipestone, MN 56164. The registration fee is $15 for the meal and other expenses. Please mark your calendar and bring a friend or two to find out what it's all about. We need more people to become involved.

Want more information on joining the Coalition? Active participants who are willing to help plan and carry out interesting projects are badly needed, but so are those who are willing to help in their own communities. We need both financial and tangible support. Contact the Pipestone address above, or call 218-478-2743.

"Tax" is not a dirty word

To the Editor:

The 2001 tax "reform" reduced the taxes on corporations and rich people by almost $1 billion per year. Because of the downturn in the economy and the tax reductions, by 2003 the state was $4 billion short. School districts and local governments have felt the "pinch" and by giving relief to the rich the tax burden on the average guy has been increased.

Sen. John Hottinger recently wrote an article stating that the large cuts in our income tax system was a mistake and that we should rollback some of those unsustainable tax cuts. Gov. Pawlenty has pledged "no new taxes." The governor says he has solved the budget crisis without raising taxes, but he is just playing word games. Anytime the governments takes your money it is a form of tax - a tax is a tax, a fee is a tax.

"Taxes" is not a dirty word. Taxes are necessary to provide the funds for roads, police, fire protection, schools, to provide a safety net for the less fortunate, and so forth.

When we look at our tax statement we find that we are paying taxes for different levels of government.

The total tax burden, which includes fees, licenses, taxes and other payments to the government should be fair. In Minnesota, it is not fair at this time. The rich are not paying their fair share and they haven't "shared the pain."

The sales tax and the many fees that exist in Minnesota are regressive in nature and affect the masses. The only way to equalize the tax burden is to increase income taxes on the higher incomes.

Who are the rich? A drive around the wealthy suburbs and Lake Minnetonka will give you some ideas where they live. We read about them in the newspapers like the corporate executive of an HMO in Minnesota whose total compensation last year was $94 million.

You will recall reading about the president's visit during the campaign. One of these rich persons invited 40 friends to a $25,000 per ticket reception for the president. You do the multiplication and you will find that event raised $1 million for the election campaign.

One billion dollars is one thousand million dollars. What's $1 million when you have a tax break of $1,000 million? Twenty-five thousand dollars is pocket change for many rich people. These are the people who are protected by the "no new tax pledge." The "anti-government" and "anti-tax" groups such as the Taxpayer's League are clever with their pledges and slogans. However, they are not looking out after you and me. The way things are going, the rich are getting richer and the poor are getting poorer. We need to change the direction we are going. We need a fair tax system, which means raising taxes on the people who have incomes of over $250,000 per year.

I can understand why Gov. Pawlenty is looking out for his "friends." You will remember that just before his election, one of his corporate friends put him on retainer of $4,500 per month for the 11 months just prior to his election. That "retainer" of $49,500, which is more than most people make in a year working full-time, was for some part-time work. (The governor refused to say what time he spent.)

Keep that in mind when the next election comes around.

Fire destroys St. Hilaire home

Fire destroyed a St. Hilaire home Thursday evening. No injuries were reported, and no one was home at the time of the fire.

The home was owned by Alan Holmgren. At this time, the St. Hilaire Fire Department does not know how the fire started, according to St. Hilaire Fire Chief Steve Miller.

Firefighters were dispatched to the scene at 5:30 p.m. Thursday and were on the scene for approximately five-and-a-half hours. The Thief River Falls Police Department provided mutual aid.

The Lyon in summer..er, winter

Water, water everywhere, but not a drop to fish. It's difficult to get cranked up about open water fishing when so little of it actually exists. While calendar dates suggest that the Rainy River should be flowing strong and thoughts about Swedish Pimples should involve a Roseau prom date rather than an ice-fishing option, winter continues to linger. At last report, pockets of boat-able water had emerged quite a ways to the east of Lake of the Woods, but no stretches large enough to ignite the fiery passions of summer fishermen. Fish houses still roll through Baudette with a greater frequency than do boat trailers and café questions concerning "plowed roads" outstrip inquiries about "plowed accesses." Armed with such meteorological apathy, you wonder, how dare I flaunt open water fishing prospects under the eager noses of repressed anglers statewide? Isn't that akin, you ask, to allowing a 14-year-old access to MTV and yet asking him to abstain until marriage? Entrenched winter is tough enough to digest; need I dangle the lure of a trolled Shad Rap just beyond the fingertips of your desperate reach? Hey, Minnesotans are tough and I'm not here to make any friends - let's talk summer on Lake of the Woods.

There are lots of avenues of discussion when it comes to examining a million acres of water. An obvious starting point is biologically. Wait! Keep reading! I know that sounds drier than a 007 martini, but the numbers here are pretty juicy. Lake of the Woods fish populations, especially those at the adolescent level, remain incredibly strong. That's good news for summer anglers facing the potential for another sluggish spring. The 12- to 15-inch walleyes from the 2001 hatch are not sexually mature yet, and as a result, will continue to be available through almost any climactic pitfall. Like the old line about 12-year-old boys who eat but one meal a day - it starts at dawn and ends just before bedtime - these adolescent fish forage constantly. Their metabolism is in high gear as nature pushes them toward reproductive size. This year, class has grown an inch or two since last May, but not yet turned the corner when it comes to the funk that affects their older brethren after each spawning run. They're available after a stubborn winter, they'll bite during a brutal June cold front, they eat minnows even when the mayflies are thick, and they don't lose an appetite during the fall turnover period. And while all that might seem like a bit of dry biology, the presence of that 2001 hatch almost eliminates the possibility of a dry run on the lake this summer.

Let's go in a mathematical direction this time. Once again, not dry. According to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) winter creel surveys, the walleye and sauger harvests are down "slightly." Specifically, with a month to go in the winter survey season they're talking 320,000 pounds down to 221,000 pounds of walleyes and 485,000 pounds down to 192,000 pounds of saugers. Even factoring in March generalizations, that's still a 10 percent decline for walleyes and a near 50 percent drop for saugers. Those are big numbers, especially when a fisherman considers that the DNR test nets of last fall showed such strong fish populations in the southern basin. In short, whether the rough ice conditions or a late freeze-up are to blame for the decrease in harvest, all it means for the summer angler is an increase of what's available to catch. More fish in an already full barrel, so to speak.

OK. A new avenue. How about legally? New, reduced limits are in place on Lake of the Woods this year with an accompanying slot. For practical purposes, four walleyes and two saugers with nothing between 19.5 and 28 inches. How the public perceives the change and conforms to it remains to be seen. Winter fishermen, with an eight-fish limit and less opportunity at slot-sized fish, barely blinked at the changes, apparently content to let catch rates be more of a determining factor in their angling habits than possession limits. Summer fishermen, on the other hand, have historically placed a premium on size. How mandatory catch and release jibes with the patterns of those who have claimed, for years, to practice a voluntary program will be, for lack of a better word, interesting. Will dock pictures become boat photos? Do tall tales in the evening become even taller as the actual proof at the end of a day lessens? Are northern, smallmouth and sturgeon destined to gain popularity as an "afternoon" fish? Do "summer" perch achieve a status equal to that of their winter counterparts? Does the lowered bag limit signal a death knell on Lake of the Woods for the lethal results of slip-sinkered, small hook fishing or spur a creative jump to the use of more artificials? Remember one of those most basic of marketing tenets, "you don't tell the public their opinion, you ask them." We can revisit that paragraph next fall.

Biologically. Mathematically. Legally. How about we look at the "easily" part of the picture? The DNR continues to construct and upgrade launch ramps around the lake and on the Rainy River, making spring and fall launch lines less of a planning consideration. Remote camping sites in the Knight, Bridges, and Babe Island areas are in the works and should offer destinations and harborages to the more intrepid of the lake's boaters. Refined mapping programs that interface with laptop computers and GPS modules have arrived for Lake of the Woods, rendering the intimacies of fishing structures as available as the navigational nuances. Recent Canadian efforts at eliminating border-crossing hassles have taken much of the division out of the lake and re-introduced its international character and possibility. Heck, you can even get a cell phone signal virtually anywhere out there now!

Which brings us back to the present day winter misery. Perhaps that's an unfair assessment for those have yet to satisfy their on-ice cravings yet. There's still a ton of frozen Lake of the Woods left to slide around on, and if you're an angler who doesn't consider it ice-fishing if you're inside a heated shack, then the season is ripe. But for those of us who determine whether or not we survived last winter by the fact that there's something floating under our feet, the spring season is but a thought process away. A manifest destiny, of sorts. A Minnesota cultural imperative. Why else would they have boat shows in February? Where else is open water defined as a small puddle of current surrounded by fragile ice over which a fisherman is expected to push his boat? You can have your groundhogs, reacting to the conditions around them. I'll take the Minnesota angler any day, forcing open the doors of spring. I carry no guilt discussing the prospects of summer fishing in the midst of winter's hangover.

Think about it and it will come.

Roseau County official pleads guilty to DWI charge

A Roseau County official pled guilty and was sentenced March 14 in Roseau County District Court for a driving while impaired charge.

Roseau County Board Chairman Orris Andrew Rasmussen, 67, Roseau, pled guilty to a charge of third degree driving while impaired, according to Roseau City Attorney Steven Anderson. Another charge of third degree driving while impaired was dismissed.

Rasmussen was sentenced to 365 days in jail with all but 30 days stayed for two years, according to Anderson. Forty-eight hours are to be served in jail, and the remainder of that sentence can be served on electronic home monitoring. He was given credit for time served. Rasmussen was ordered to serve two years of unsupervised probation. He was also ordered to pay $1,000 in fees and fines, and $500 of those fees and fines were stayed if he complies with conditions set by the court.

According to the criminal complaint, the charges stem from a Feb. 24 report of a vehicle theft at the Roseau American Legion Club. At approximately 8:45 p.m., a woman reported her Pontiac Grand Am had been stolen within the past hour.

Upon arriving at the scene, a police officer asked the woman to describe the vehicle. As a car proceeded nearby, she pointed to the vehicle and said her Pontiac Grand Am looked like it. The criminal complaint further indicated she said, "That is my car!" The driver then turned the vehicle into the parking lot and into the spot where the woman said the vehicle had originally been parked. Rasmussen was the driver. He said he had mistaken the vehicle for his own car.

Rasmussen later agreed to have his alcohol concentration tested, and his alcohol level was 0.15. Currently, the legal limit is 0.10 in Minnesota.

Rasmussen has a previous DWI conviction from 2002 in Minnesota, according to the complaint.

A Grand Forks, N.D., Herald article indicated the vehicle is owned by an employee of the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR). The Roseau County Board and DNR have had a strained relationship recently.

Thief River Falls girls high school basketball banquet...

Prowler Award goes to Joppru

Kristi Joppru was presented with the Prowler Award to highlight the 2004-05 Thief River Falls girls high school basketball banquet, held March 17.

Joppru and Jenny Grove were introduced as Minnesota Girls High School Basketball Coaches Association Class AAA academic all-state selections.

Basketball letter winners were seniors Jackie Fossum, Nichole Gryskiewicz, Grove and Joppru; juniors Casey Engelstad, Jessica Gustafson, Allyson Helling, Heather Keogh and Becca Larson; sophomores Amanda Hoard, Shawna Rogalla, Mandy Thompson and April Peterson; statistician Katie Pribula; student manager Ashley Hesse; and video operator Jessica Willett.

Thief River Falls finished the year 9-16. Looking to improve upon that record, head coach Jeff Loe said the Prowlers must find a way to keep pace with Section 8AAA rivals like Fergus Falls and Detroit Lakes – teams who have elevated their game through off-season programs like AAU.

To that end, Loe hopes the Prowlers will commit themselves to summer skills programs; weight room work; and participation in the Tuesday night high school basketball league at Northland Community and Technical College. The Prowlers might also explore other area team camp opportunities that are available at Roseau, Hawley, Concordia College in Moorhead, the University of North Dakota and Grafton, N.D.

A Minnesota State High School League-announced change in the 2005-06 Section 8AAA basketball line-up will find Park Rapids Area replacing Alexandria as the Panthers move up from Class AA and the Cardinals jump to Class AAAA.

Two members of the 2004-05 Thief River Falls girls high school basketball team were named to the Minnesota Girls High School Basketball Coaches Association academic all-state team. The honor went to Kristi Joppru (left) and Jenny Grove, who were recognized during the Prowlers' March 17 awards banquet.

Track schedule has early change

Spring sports scheduling is a constant work in progress. Just ask Jim Sims, Director of Student Activities for School District 564. The weather, obviously, is the biggest problem.

However, snow, rain, sleet and temperatures aren't the only culprits. Thief River Falls boys and and girls high school track teams were scheduled to open the 2005 season today (Saturday) by participating in the Bemidji Lions Indoor at Bemidji State University. Sims got a call Thursday that the meet was postponed. Apparently not enough team entries. A make-up date is pending.

The Prowlers' debut will now be the Thursday, March 31 Moorhead Athletic Association Indoor at Concordia College. First outdoor meet of the year with be the April 18 Northland Community and Technical College Invitational at the Multi-Events Center in Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls head coach Tim Olson starts the year with 19 boys and 15 girls on the roster. Chase Bush is the only senior on the boys' team. There are four seniors on the girls' squad: Julie Swanson, Sara Kalinoski, Brianna Reierson and Jenna Dillon.

"As you can tell, we are short on numbers and very young," pointed out Olson. "The numbers are in the younger classes, along with some talent."

Junior Scott Rakozy was a state qualifier last spring in the triple jump and sprints. Kalinoski and Reierson have the most track experience for the girls, noted Olson.

DNR meeting set in Warroad to address deer zone changes

Department of Natural Resources wildlife managers would like to discuss Zone 1 realignment with hunters and landowners at a public input meeting March 31 in Warroad.

This proposal involves realigning Zone 1 to include permit areas 205, 211 and 214. These permit areas currently have a nine day firearms hunting season. The proposed change would lengthen the season to 16 days.

The DNR would like feedback from local farmers and landowners, as well as deer hunters, on this proposal. The proposal's primary purpose is to provide additional deer hunting opportunity. Some additional harvest, probably about 10 percent, would result.

Habitat, land ownership and access in permit areas 211 and 214 resemble other Zone 1 permit areas more so than permit area 205, which features more agricultural land, private ownership and better developed access.

The Zone 1 realignment proposal is among five deer hunting changes proposed that are currently open for public comment. Other proposed changes include 1) an early antlerless season Oct. 15 and 16 in selected permit areas in Zone 2 and 4; 2) creating a metro deer zone, where any unfilled deer tag would be valid; 3) allowing scopes on muzzleloaders during the late season; and 4) shifting Zone 4 permit areas north of U.S. Highway 10 to Zone 2.

The meeting will be held Thursday, March 31, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. in the Warroad Middle School cafeteria, 510 Cedar Ave NW. If you cannot attend the meeting, your are invited to send e-mail comments to wildlife@dnr.state.mn.us by April 2.

Northland accepting 2005 Hall of Fame nominations

Northland Community and Technical College is seeking nominations for induction into the NCTC Athletic Hall of Fame.

Nominations will be accepted in four categories: student-athlete, teams, coach or administrator and special admittance.

A student-athlete is eligible for nomination a minimum of five years following their two-year college athletic participation. They must have achieved at least first team all-conference status for one season and completed their degree requirements. Special consideration may be given in instance of a degree obtained at another institution.

A team may be nominated for induction based on extraordinary accomplishments, such as division, state, region or national championships.

A coach or administrator may be eligible if they served a minimum of five years at Northland and are no longer employed by the college.

Special admittance will be made only in recognition of truly exceptional contributions and service to the athletic programs at Northland.

The Northland Athletic Hall of Fame was established in 2004. The first inductees were Al Adams, Chet Engelman, Swede Lund (posthumously), Mike Lundgren, Pat Klemisch, Nick Neibauer Sr., Millie Reierson, Lowell Swenson and Ken Wiebolt (posthumously).

Nominations will be accepted annually. There are no restrictions on who may submit a nomination, but an individual must be nominated by someone other than himself or herself. All nominations must be signed. Complete criteria for induction, as well as nomination forms, are available through the school Website at www.northlandcollege.edu, or by calling Athletics Director Deb Jacobson at 218-681-0723.

Nominations must be received by April 15, 2005.

Growers of edible beans and potatoes urged to take caution

The Kittson County Farm Service Agency (FSA) reminds all growers of edible beans and potatoes of the fruit and vegetable (FAV) provisions applicable to participants in the Direct and Countercyclical Program (DCP).

FSA has received numerous inquiries from producers considering planting dry beans in 2005 and the implication planting FAV crop has on their farm program participation. Kelly Turgeon, director of Kittson County FSA, strongly encourages any producer intending on planting dry beans, potatoes or any other FAV crop, to first review the intended plantings with FSA to avoid any potential FAV violations. The penalty for a FAV violation in 2005 was over $200 per acre.

Under DCP provisions, producers may plant any crop except FAV on contract acreage on the farm. Dry edible beans and potatoes are considered vegetables under this provision. Lentils, mung beans and dry peas are exempt from FAV provisions.

Two exceptions are provided for the planting of fruits and vegetables. Farms with a history of planting FAVs may plant fruits and vegetables on contract acreage, but the farm's contract payment shall be reduced by an acre for each contract acre planted to FAV.

The second exception is known as the "Producer History or HIP Pocket Allotment Provision." If a producer has a history of planting a specific fruit or vegetable, a producer history may be established. To establish a producer FAV history allotment, contact the county office. FSA will research the producer's historical fruit and vegetable plantings for crop years 1991-95 to establish an allotment. The producer history may then be used on farms with no FAV history to allow limited planting of FAVs on contract acres.

Contract payments shall be reduced by an acre for each contract acre planted to the specific FAV. Producers are not restricted from planting FAVs on non-contract acreage. When FAVs are planted on non-contract acreage, there are no payment reductions.

Anyone with questions regarding FAV planting is strongly encouraged to contact the Kittson County FSA Office (218-843-2173) prior to planting dry edible beans.

Performers booked for Roseau Co. Fair

BarlowGirl, By The Tree and The Afters have been booked to appear at the 2005 Roseau County Fair, according to the Jonathan Group. The groups will perform at the grandstand on Wednesday, July 20 during the fair.

Currently on tour with Dove Award winner Mercy Me, The Afters seek to provide musical talent with a hopeful message. The Texas-based quartet just released its sophomore album, "I Wish we all Could Win." The band has signed a contract with Epic Records, the Sony/BMG label.

By mixing musical talent and sisterly harmonies, BarlowGirl sends out melodies with a mission. Purity of mind, body and heart accentuates the message in this Dove Award-nominated band. Hailing from Illinois, band members offer positive purpose behind the plugged-in guitars and amplifiers that rock every show.

Two-time Dove Award winner, By the Tree mixes pop-rock melodies with worship ambience. This band hails from Texas.

Hay producers meeting scheduled

Forage producers interested in learning about producing low potassium hay or who would like to better understand hay contracts are invited to an upcoming hay producers meeting.

The meeting is scheduled March 31 at the Greenbush Community Center. Registration begins at 9:45 a.m. with the first speaker scheduled to speak at 10 a.m. The meeting will conclude with a free meal at 12:15 p.m.

Meeting topics include "Alfalfa and Grass Harvest Management Strategies," presented by Dwain Meyer from North Dakota State University; "Forage Quality and Its Importance," presented by Paul Peterson from the University of Minnesota; "Raising Cow Potassium Hay," presented by Gene Krause from the U of M; and "Hay Contracts/Marketing Opportunities," presented by Roger Elliot from Hay Markets International.

Sign up for 2003-04 CDP is underway

The Pennington County Farm Service Agency (FSA) informs producers that the sign up for the 2003-04 Crop Disaster Program (CDP) is underway. A deadline has not yet been announced.

The county office is conducting the sign up by appointment only. Before they come in to sign up for the CDP, producers need to call the county office to schedule an appointment in order to avoid delays. It is anticipated that the county office will not begin making CDP payments until after April 1.

The CDP covers both the 2003 and 2004 crop years, but producers will have to choose the year for which they wish to receive benefits if they suffered losses in both years.

To be eligible for payments under the CDP, producers must have suffered production losses greater than 35 percent of the expected production and/or more than a 20 percent quality loss. The payment rate for the CDP will be 65 percent of the established price for insured and noninsurable crops and 60 percent of the established price for uninsured crops. CDP payments are limited to $80,000 per person and producers with adjusted gross incomes in excess of $2.5 million are ineligible for benefits.

Payments under the CDP will be reduced as required by statute if the sum of the: 1) CDP payment; 2) the net crop insurance indemnity; and 3) the value of the crop harvested exceeds 95 percent of what the value of the crop would have been in the absence of a loss. The value of the crop will be determined using the higher of the actual production history price election or the United States Department of Agriculture National Agricultural Statistics Service season average price.

Producers who receive benefits under the CDP for crops on which they did not carry Federal Crop Insurance will be required to carry crop insurance on the crops they receive crop loss assistance for the next two years.

Producers with questions concerning CDP or who wish to make an appointment to sign up for the CDP should call the Pennington County FSA at 681-1612, ext. 2.

NW Community Action receives $11,634 in federal funds

Northwest Community Action (NCA) of Badger has been awarded federal funds under the Emergency Food and Shelter National Board Program, also known as the Federal Emergency Management Agency. NCA has been chosen to receive $11,634 to supplement Emergency Food and Shelter (EFS) programs in Kittson, Roseau and Lake of the Woods counties.

A local board will determine how the funds awarded to NCA are to be distributed among the EFS programs run by local service agencies in the area. The local board is responsible for recommending agencies to receive these funds and any additional funds under this phase of the program.

Under the terms of the grant from the National Board, local agencies chosen to receive funds must: 1) Be private voluntary nonprofit organizations or units of government; 2) Have an accounting system; 3) Practice non-discrimination; 4) Have demonstrated the capability to deliver emergency food and/or shelter programs; and 5) If they are private voluntary organizations, they must be voluntary boards.

Public or private agencies interested in applying for EFS Program funds must contact Gayle Peterson at NCA at (218) 528-3258 or 1-800-568-5329. The application deadline is April 4.

him," said Haugen, who noted Orin Green was a good friend to his family and his wife's family.

As a youngster, Murphy attended the same church as the Green family and grew up with the Greens' children. He got to know their family and noted the Greens took people under their wings.

They provided stable, consistent friendship, Murphy said. After Murphy moved away, the Greens would ask about him, keep track of what he was doing, and send their prayers.

Once Murphy moved back to Thief River Falls from North Dakota to accept the police chief position, he and Orin Green had the opportunity to visit with each other. "Orin always had time for you whether you had time for yourself," Murphy said.

Besides his work on behalf of the city, Orin Green also had an impact on people's lives in other ways.

Albert Jones, a Liberia native who moved to Thief River Falls in 2003, knows the Greens. "He was just there like a father, and we miss him a lot," said Jones.

The Greens helped Jones; his wife, Rose; 5-year-old son, Edmond; and 2-year-old daughter, Dalier, financially. They paid for the family's medical bills since the Jones' daughter has cancer, Albert Jones noted.

Most of the time when Edmond Jones wasn't in school or at daycare, he was with the Greens, said his aunt, Dallee Newton. The Greens baby-sat Edmond Jones twice a week and treated him like a grandson. The Greens also helped pay for Newton's college tuition.

"It's so much to say," said Albert Jones. "He did a lot of things for us."

"He was just a very nice man," said neighbor Jodie Torkelson, who noted Orin Green was always thinking of neighborly things to do, such as helping her with her sprinkler system or offering to have someone shovel snow off her roof since the person was doing the same thing at the Green house.

"In every aspect of his life that I have seen, he's lived out his faith," said Rev. Phil Schmidt, pastor of the Thief River Falls United Methodist Church. "That is something that I admire."

The Greens are members of the United Methodist Church. Orin Green served as a member of the church's Staff-Parish Relations Committee and the Missions Made Local Board, which provides support to Newton, the Jones family, and their friend Josephine Jappah, who all moved to Thief River Falls from Liberia.

Orin Green also served as the church's representative to an annual conference. He was a certified lay speaker and preached when Schmidt was out of town as well. "He was truly a likeable guy," said Schmidt. "I'm going to personally miss him."

The Greens are members of a church Bible study, and Orin Green also served on the church's Administrative Council.

"He was a deeply faithful Christian who was also a good voice of reason on the Administrative Council," said Schmidt, who noted Orin Green often wouldn't say much, but when he did, it was well received and it was what the council needed at the time.

The accident

The accident occurred after the Greens' 1999 Buick Park Avenue collided head-on with an eastbound 1999 Chevy Tahoe driven by James Edward Dailey, 59, Verndale.

Dailey was transferred to a St. Cloud hospital, where he later died. Orin Green died at Tri-County Hospital in Wadena.

Marge Green was transported by ground ambulance to Mercy Hospital in Coon Rapids. She was discharged Thursday, according to a Mercy Hospital media specialist.

Alcohol was not a factor in the crash, according to the State Patrol report. The two-lane, undivided highway was dry at the time of the accident.

The State Patrol report indicated both Greens were wearing their seat belts. Dailey was not wearing a seat belt.

The State Patrol was dispatched to the scene at 3:16 p.m. Tuesday. The accident remains under investigation.

Library Friends spring travel series begins April 7

On the four April Thursdays at noon, Roseau Area Friends of the Library will welcome the public to their annual spring series – traditionally at the library, but once again it will be Lunch Nut at the Library. Roseau Covenant Church has graciously opened its doors enabling RAFOL to host the four travel talks based on recent photos from four different areas of the world.

On April 7, Leanne and Keith Johnson will share highlights of their group tour to New Zealand and Australia. On April 14, Joe and Teresa McDonnell will report on their travels in Sweden. On April 28, Bud and Betty Johnson's presentation will take viewers along "Three Great Rivers of the Northwest." The visual destination for April 21 will be announced soon.

All programs will begin promptly at noon, but seating will begin at 11:30 a.m. Beginning at 11:45 a.m., the RAFOL Hospitality Committee will serve beverages and goodies. To round out their meals, people are encouraged to bring a bag lunch from home or take-out food from a restaurant.

Another alternative is to sign-up for a to-go meal from Four Seasons Senior Center. A volunteer will pick up the pre-ordered meals from Four Seasons, deliver them to Lunch Nut at the library and collect the usual fee. Anyone desiring this service must call the Senior Center the day before.

The informal programs will be 30 to 45 minutes long, but people with short lunch breaks from their jobs should feel free to come late or leave early if necessary.

Membership chairman Debby Brunmer will be present each Thursday for the convenience of people who wish to join or renew their membership in Roseau Area Friends of the Library. Dues and donations are reasonable and tax deductible.

CALCIUM-25

Calcium Mineral Supplements. Increases crops yields 20 to 40% & more over the past 24 years. Works equally well in both calcium rich and calcium-deficient soils. Increases plants ability to absorb nutrients more efficiently. By foliar feeding this to any plant. It increases the cell structure. By doing this it increases the growth & yields to the plant. I know I have proved it for 5 years with excellent results. Last year my soybeans did not freeze.

Hospital in the second ambulance. One of the first things she recalls hearing when she arrived at the hospital was a little kid screaming. She recalled thinking the screams were from Adam. He's awake, that's a good thing, but why is he screaming, she wondered.

The noise was in fact coming from Adam. Doctors could not give any details about Adam's status, because they were not equipped to handle a pediatric patient in his condition.

Doctors were making arrangements to airlift Adam to a hospital in either Fargo, N.D. or Minneapolis. They were trying to figure out which doctors would be on call that night and who would be best equipped to handle a pediatric, cold water drowning victim.

Doctors eventually chose to transfer Adam to MeritCare Hospital in Fargo, N.D. By the time Adam boarded the helicopter, his temperature was up to 75 degrees, the result of a treatment that used an electric blanket called a bear hug, a heat-filled air blanket that can increase the core body temperature of a hypothermia patient by encircling him/her.

Adam was already making progress toward recovery. But he was still in critical condition and his future was still questionable. Jill said goodbye to her son, tearfully telling him that he was about to go for a helicopter ride with some really nice people.

She was fearful that those would be the last words she would say to her son.

Jill and Kevin badly wanted to head for Fargo and see their son. But first, Jill would need to be treated for hypothermia. She was quickly treated with warming blankets to regulate her temperature and received x-rays, an I.V. and blood work. She was released once her condition was considered stable.

Sheriff's escort

Kevin's parents, Mary and Margie Thompson of Perley, drove the couple to see Adam. They made the trip from Park Rapids to Detroit Lakes and eventually Fargo in record time, thanks to a radio escort, provided by the Hubbard County Sheriff's Department, that alerted other law enforcement agencies as to their circumstances.

Kevin's sister, Deanne Warner, and Jill's sister Sherri Melvie and brothers Joel and Alan Melvie met the family as they arrived at MeritCare Hospital and directed them where to go. Doctors had some questions for Jill when she arrived, asking her what exactly happened to Adam, how long he was under, how long he was without oxygen and how long he was in the water.

While waiting to see Adam, Jill was comforted by her siblings. Sherri volunteered to drive back to Park Rapids to get some additional clothing and other essential items for Jill and Kevin. Alan and Joel stayed at their sister's side, embracing her, while she sobbed during the wait to see Adam.

By the time Adam had arrived at the hospital, his body temperature had reached 80 degrees. His recovery was slow and an early CT scan showed severe swelling of the brain, an early sign of brain damage.

To prepare them for all possibilities, Jill and Kevin were given a book that addressed how to deal with moderate to severe brain damage.

"We had no idea what his recovery would be like," Jill said.

Adam was placed in the pediatric ICU wing of MeritCare Hospital, where he would for the next 18 days. Over those 18 days, Adam would continue receiving treatment for hypothermia. He had severe pneumonia, with three different types of bacteria in his lungs.

First 24 hours

Both Jill and Adam faced a challenging first 24 hours after surviving their battle with the frigid water.

Jill's legs were bruised from the ice and mud from the pond found its way into her hair, embedded into her scalp, in her ears and under her fingernails. It was a constant reminder of the events that had happened only hours earlier.

Tuesday morning was tough for Jill. She was sent to the emergency room after experiencing flash backs and subsequent hyperventilating. She was diagnosed with post traumatic stress disorder.

Though the images of the previous day continued to play out in her mind, Jill was comforted by the arrival of her parents.

"My parents came, they just hugged me and said it was okay."

The first 24 hours were also critical for Adam. His heart rate remained high, between 180 and 190 beats per minute and his breathing was quite labored, forcing him to breath through a respirator.

He continued battling the pneumonia and bacterial infection. I.V. lines were sewn into each leg and his temperature was consistently monitored.

Recovery

Adam received respiratory treatments every two hours at first and later every four hours, as his health progressed. He received two MRIs over the next 18 days. The first showed only swelling in the portion of the brain that controls fine motor skills. The second MRI scan showed no brain tissue swelling of any kind.

On Dec. 2, 10 days after falling through the ice of a pond in his backyard, Adam's condition was upgraded from critical to serious. It was the same day that he began seeing respiratory, occupational, physical and speech therapists.

Adam was transferred to the pediatric patient wing of MeritCare after 18 days in PICU. His health continued to improve, though there were some setbacks along the way. He developed swelling in his throat from the first respirator tube that was inserted.

Adam was kept heavily sedated during most of his recovery. He was given morphine to fight the pain and steroids to fight the infection in his lungs.

Dec. 17 was Adam's 5th birthday, which the family celebrated at MeritCare Hospital. Adam was transferred to the Ronald McDonald House that same day, where he continued his therapy for the next week. He finished his final physical therapy session and was discharged on Dec. 23.

Return to everyday life

"I thank God that Rusty had come home when he did and happened to go outside and let his dogs out when he did," Jill said. "God was at work putting him in the right place at the right time."

She also credits her husband for being strong during the demanding time.

"He's been through a lot, dealing with all of this and watching me fall apart," Jill said. "He really was a rock."

Adam developed asthma as a result of drowning and hypothermia.

"From what he's been through, he should have come out of this with some physical disabilities," Jill said. "He came out with asthma. Are we lucky?"

Adam has since returned to preschool on a semi-regular basis. His immune system remains weakened, so he cannot resume all of his activities. But there have even been a few opportunities to resume his favorite Winter activity.

Adam's return to pre-school on a semi-regular basis also seems to signify the semi-return to normalcy for the entire family. They see now that the balance between normalcy and tragedy can shift in a heartbeat and can be as thin as a sheet of ice on a November day.

Roseau Scandinavian Festival will be held June 10-12

The Roseau Scandinavian Festival will be held June 10-12, 2005. Events scheduled are a Friday evening talent show at the Roseau School Theater and an old time dance at the Four Season's Center.

Saturday's events include a car show at the Pioneer Farm and Village, musicians, crafters, artists, a flea market and food vendors downtown, a genealogy workshop at the Roseau School, a parade of cars downtown main street at 4 p.m., an evening smorgasbord and entertainment at the Roseau High School Theater. The tentative evening entertainment is scheduled to be the Fiddlin Fanskes, a brother duo who play a variety of music from traditional fiddle to old time. They have appeared at various festivals including the Host Fest in Minot, N.D. On Sunday all activities move to the Pioneer Farm and Village where there will be a Scandinavian church service, music, food and a flea market.

The Festival Committee is currently looking for crafters, food vendors and artists that would like to have a booth. They are also looking for musicians who would be willing to give their free time and play in the music tent for about an hour during the day on Saturday. Sign ups are also being taken for the talent show to be held on Friday evening. Cash prizes will be awarded.

To enter the talent contest, contact Becky Johnson at 528-3737. Anyone wishing to have a booth on Saturday can contact Pam Hetteen at 463-3979, anyone willing to play in the music tent should contact Roxanne Lee at 463-2619. For information on the genealogy workshops, contact Charleen Haugen at 463-1634 and to have a flea market booth, contact Frank Remhow at 463-3530.

Prosecution rests case in Heden trial

Defense to start presenting its side of the case Monday

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

The prosecution rested its case Thursday in the trial of an Oklee father accused of killing his 3-month-old daughter in 2004. The defense is expected to start presenting its case Monday.

John Russell Heden, 33, has been charged in Pennington County District Court with felony offenses of first degree murder (criminal sexual conduct), first degree murder (child abuse), and second degree murder in the death of his daughter, Rose. The two charges of first degree murder carry maximum penalties of life imprisonment. The second degree murder charge has a maximum penalty of 40 years in prison.

The prosecution rested its case Thursday afternoon after presenting its case since March 25. Heden's lawyers, public defenders Loretta Hillier and Kristin Hanson, are expected to present their case Monday.

Judge Dennis Murphy informed the 14 jurors, who include two alternates, that they had Friday off to get their personal things in order. He told them to bring their overnight bags with them Monday as they might start deliberations in the case.

Late last week, the jurors heard opening statements in the case. In his opening statement, Bill Klumpp Jr., assistant Minnesota attorney general and one of two people prosecuting the case, said Rose Heden had fresh brain and genital injuries on March 1, 2004. In her opening statement, Hanson said there were no fresh injuries to the infant's brain and genitalia that day.

Tuesday's testimony

All witnesses appearing on the witness stand Tuesday testified for the prosecution.

Melani Reuter, a child protection/child welfare social worker with Pennington County Human Services, visited the Heden home in January. She went there after Human Services received a letter from Connie Hagen, R.N., of Inter-County Nursing Service on Dec. 29, 2003. Hagen reported that Rose Heden had a bruise on her left cheek by her eye, said Reuter, who was questioned by Assistant Pennington County Attorney Al Rogalla, who is also prosecuting the case.

Human Services decided to help the family as opposed to getting law enforcement involved, Reuter testified. On Jan. 7, 2004, Reuter visited the Heden home to do an assessment. At that time, she said, she had no concerns about the Hedens' home environment because it was clean. She asked questions of both Hedens, and they were cooperative. The Hedens told her Shawna Heden had surgery and John Heden had the child in bed with him when the child rolled into a wall, causing the bruise, Reuter testified.

Reuter recalled observing that Rose Heden did not have the injury when Reuter visited the Heden home. Reuter further recalled questioning whether a child that age could roll over. When Rose Heden was placed in a position to roll over, Reuter testified that she did not.

At that January visit, Reuter offered Early Childhood and Family Education (ECFE) services to the Hedens, who were receptive to that offer, she said. Referrals had been made, but Reuter was still waiting for a response at the time of Rose Heden's death in March.

Seventeen days after Rose Heden's death, Reuter went back to the Heden residence. She testified the condition of the house had changed since the last time she had been there. "It was not safe for a child," Reuter said.

Reuter further testified the Heden home was "very messy," nails were sticking out of a wall, garbage and debris were everywhere, and there

Pennington Co. law enforcement presents potential costs to commissioners

Red Lake Falls - Representatives from Tri-County Community Corrections (TCCC) and Pennington County law enforcement attended the March 22 meeting of the Red Lake County commissioners to aid in the discussion of a possible shift in corrections service providers.

Pennington County Sheriff Mike Hruby presented a preliminary report that outlined the potential costs to the county if it was to participate in the Pennington County law enforcement program.

The incarceration costs for inmates was the focus of the report as requested by the commissioners and included dollar amounts for jail costs, inmate programs, transportation, home monitoring and medical costs for adults.

Juvenile detention services would be similar to those in place now with some programs being jointly operated with the two counties. It was understood that any programs not currently offered by Pennington County law enforcement can be studied and implemented if needed.

The Northwest Sentence to Serve program would remain unchanged.

Representatives of TCCC reaffirmed their position that the county would be better served by staying with the existing program and participating in the expansion project. Concerns were raised over the two service providers being compared when the plans are not the same. - Red Lake Falls Gazette, March 30, 2005

Are Kittson County schools safe? Officials say yes, but be vigilant

Hallock - As Kittson County Sheriff Kenny Hultgren puts it, "We live a charmed life up here."

That is, of course, in comparison to other places in the world, other schools in the world where armed security guards meet the public at the door, with metal detectors picking up whatever they happened to miss the first time around.

The tragic event that happened in Red Lake last week is prompting schools all over the nation to do a double-take on their security systems, their escape plans, their students, their communities and their philosophies.

It's also bringing to the forefront the reasons for the Kittson County Special Weapons and Tactics (SWAT) Team. - Kittson County Enterprise, March 30, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

His love for kids – Gil Wilson Annual Easter Egg Hunt

Lancaster - Why has Lancaster had the Gil Wilson Easter Egg Hunt for nearly 50 years? Greg Wilson said that it was his dad's love for kids.

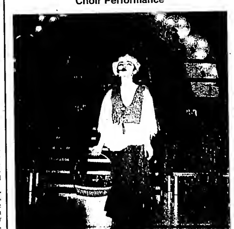
Easter 1958 was the first year that Gil Wilson painted eggs and hid them around Lancaster for the children to find Easter morning. Since his dad's death in 1964, Greg Wilson has seen to it that his dad's tradition keeps going. The Lancaster Lions Club ran the egg hunt for a few years when Greg Wilson was in the service. He helped them when he returned home, but in 1974, decided to take this on alone. - North Star News of Karlstad, March 31, 2005, by Marcia Heath

Times Home, Sport and Craft Show April 2-3

Thief River Falls Times Home, Sport and Craft Show will be next weekend at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center in Thief River Falls. The doors open at 10 a.m. on both days.

This 13th Annual Show features something for everyone. Special featured displays and programs this year include a demonstration of painting techniques and The Homark Company's Cozy Cabin. Home Interiors/Faux Finishing by Celeste will present a demonstration of painting techniques at 2 p.m. on both days of the show. Homark's Cozy Cabin will be on display all weekend.

Nearly 100 vendors will have products and services on display.



Tickets are $2.50 for adults (16 and older) and $1.50 for children (6-15). Children under the age of 6 are admitted free of charge.

Quilter's Show at TRF Library

Quilts and wall-hangings adorn the Thief River Falls Public Library. Thief River Falls Quilter's Guild members are exhibiting their handiwork at the library through April 26. Visitors are also invited to vote for their favorite.

Choir Performance

LHS students to perform musical this weekend

"Blast It!," Lincoln High School's spring musical is a seven-musical revue that will be sprung on audiences April 1-3 at the Lincoln High School auditorium.

The show follows the dream of the character Barry, a returning alumni. Barry wishes that he had one more chance to revisit his glory days on the old stage of Lincoln High School (LHS). His wish is granted and he is taken back in time and into the future to shows that he once starred in and to shows that he always dreamed of starring in.

The character Barry, played by Tate Sorvig, keeps the show going with his energy and excitement. Barry is taken back to years gone by and gets to relive his memories of the musicals "Grease," "Guys and Dolls," and "Fiddler on the Roof." Somehow he remembers all the songs and all the choreography and has the time of his life while doing it. He is also taken on a journey into the future to shows that everyone wanted to perform but just didn't have the time. These shows include "Les Miserables," "The Lion King," "Rent," and "Hairspray." The Blast from the past voice, played by Jessica Willett, keeps Barry on target with his musical lineup.

Barry is accompanied on each piece by the 50 voice chorus and the 20 member dance group. These singers and dancers have been working on parts and routines since January and are ready to give a show that will not soon be forgotten. The 25 extras have the fun job of making the various characters from each show come to life.

The price per seat is $10. Tickets are going very fast. Because the auditorium has been newly remodeled, seats are reserved. All tickets not sold in advance, will be sold at the door starting on April 1 at 6:15 p.m. for Friday and Saturday and at 3:15 on Sunday. The shows for Friday and Saturday start promptly at 7 p.m. while the Sunday performance starts promptly at 4 p.m. in the LHS auditorium.

Two Warren teens face charges

Thief River Falls area man stabbed during argument

Two Warren teenagers are facing attempted murder charges after an incident early Sunday morning at a Warren residence.

Isaac Contreras II, 18, and a 16-year-old male have been charged in Marshall County District Court with second degree attempted murder, third degree attempted murder and second degree assault – dangerous weapon. The teenagers made their initial court appearances Tuesday.

According to the Marshall County Sheriff's Department, Contreras allegedly tried to hit a man with a shovel. Using a knife, the juvenile then allegedly stabbed the man in the abdomen.

The man, who resides in the Thief River Falls area and was visiting the Warren residence, was taken to North Valley Health Center in Warren. He was later transferred to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks, N.D. An Altru nursing administrator noted the man was in satisfactory condition Thursday afternoon.

(The sheriff's department has released the victim's name, however, the Northern Watch has chosen not to publish it.)

Isaac Contreras II

The incident allegedly occurred after the juvenile got into an argument at about 3:45 a.m. Sunday with individuals at a residence along South Eighth Street in Warren. The juvenile left the residence and returned with Contreras, and the alleged incident occurred.

NCTC to benefit from bonding bill

by David Hill
Editor

Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) in Thief River Falls will be among the beneficiaries of the recent bonding bill if it is approved by the House and Senate and signed by Governor Pawlenty. Delayed for over a year, the bonding bill finally moved through the conference committee on Wednesday, March 30. The $866 million bonding bill is expected to be approved next week.

The bonding bill includes $2,156,000 for NCTC, which will be used to relocate the Workforce Center, expanding the nursing and allied health programs, and remodel instruction support and office space.

"The vision that we've had for our consolidation plan, starting in 1994, has finally been fulfilled," said Dr. Orley Gunderson, president of NCTC in Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks. Gunderson added that the state has furnished the college with the resources to "have a completely comprehensive college in Thief River Falls. This bonding initiative was the last area to complete our consolidation."

The consolidation of the two-year associate arts school and vocational educational school at the location began in 1993. Separate construction and governance phases eventually led to the consolidation of the campus, which became NCTC, but this is the final piece of the puzzle that was once two colleges.

The project includes the design, construction, furnishing and equipping of a 4,850-square feet addition and the remodeling of 6,712-square

1996 LHS grad makes it to top 12 on "The Bachelor"

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Northern Watch readers who tuned into Monday's season premiere of The Bachelor may have noticed a familiar face.

Carrie Rud

Carrie Rud, 27, the daughter of Duane and Diane Rud of Thief River Falls, will be competing with 24 other women for the heart of bachelor Charlie O'Connell during the "The Bachelor 7."

"We're very proud of her," Diane said of her daughter's accomplishments. "Carrie is the kind of person who rather than be afraid of trying something, she'll be afraid of not trying something."

The two hour premiere aired Monday on ABC, with Rud already earning a spot in the top 12. Subsequent episodes will air each Monday at 8 p.m. local time.

The selection process

Carrie Rud is a 1996 graduate of Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls. She attended Northland Community and Technical College and the University of North Dakota

Daylight-saving time starts April 3

Area residents are reminded to set their clocks one hour ahead before they go to bed Saturday night. Daylight-saving time goes into effect on Sunday, April 3, this year. The change will provide an additional hour of daylight in the evening.

A federal law administered by the Transportation Department specifies that daylight time applies from 2 a.m. on the first Sunday of April until 2 a.m. on the last Sunday of October in areas that do not specifically exempt themselves.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacours@mncable.net

Today's recipes are some I found in my "recipe" box - the one that is filled with recipes that never get filed anywhere because I am too lazy. The following were suitably yellowed so they must be good.

I know I've made this one - it makes a quick supper served with a salad and toasted garlic bread:

PASTA PIZZA
12 ounces spaghetti, cooked
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 cup milk
4 cups shredded Mozzarella cheese
2 cups spaghetti sauce (prepared)
1-1/2 pounds ground beef, browned and drained
Sliced pepperoni
Sliced black olives
Sliced mushrooms

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Mix spaghetti, eggs, milk and 1 cup shredded cheese. Spread in greased 10x15 inch jelly roll pan. Bake 15 minutes. Remove from oven and reduce heat to 350 degrees.

Spread spaghetti sauce over spaghetti mixture. In layers, add ground beef, 3 remaining cups shredded cheese, pepperoni, olives and mushrooms. Bake 30 minutes. Let stand 5 minutes before slicing.

All right, let's call this one "No Name" because it is one of those that I jotted down on a little piece of paper and forgot to title except for "Hot Dish." It must have been good though, or I wouldn't have bothered writing it down:

NO NAME HOT DISH
12 ounces of wide noodles, cooked
1-1/2 pounds hamburger, browned and drained
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
3 cups pre-made pizza sauce
2 cups mozzarella cheese

Prepare noodles and brown hamburger with salt and pepper. Layer ingredients in order two or three times in large buttered dish, topping with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes, until bubbling and cheese is melted.

I've always liked creamed beef on potatoes, but never had a recipe for it. Be sure you buy the salted dried beef in a package or glass and not the "chipped" beef that is sold for sandwiches. Here is one for you - serve it on potatoes, toast, bread or rice for a tasty meal. It's especially good with buttered peas:

CREAMED CHIPPED BEEF
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
Chipped dried beef (or chicken, turkey, tuna or mushrooms)

Melt butter and add flour. Stir until this forms a ball. Slowly add milk and stir and cook over medium heat. Mixture will be creamy and fairly thin.

Add beef (you can crumble it or use a processor for finer texture), then salt and pepper to taste. Top with cheese, if desired.

This would not only be a good breakfast dish, but would be great for brunch or a simple supper - have the ingredients on hand when you expect guests:

BREAKFAST CASSEROLE
1 pound bulk turkey or pork sausage
1 (8 ounce) can refrigerated crescent rolls
3 cups shredded mozzarella cheese, divided
12 eggs
1/2 cup milk
Salt and pepper
Salsa (optional)
Chopped onions, sweet green or red pepper, mushrooms (all optional)

In 10 inch omelet pan or skillet over medium heat, cook sausage, stirring to break apart, until browned. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Evenly coat 9x13 inch baking dish with cooking spray.

Cover bottom of prepared dish with crescent roll dough, pressing to seal edges. Spoon sausage onto unbaked dough, then sprinkle with 2 cups mozzarella

In large bowl, beat eggs and milk until blended. Add salt and pepper. (If desired, onions, green peppers, red peppers or mushrooms may be added to the eggs and milk mixture at this time.) Pour over sausage and cheese and sprinkle with remaining cup of cheese.

Bake until browned on top and knife inserted in center comes out clean, 30-40 minutes. Serve with salsa, if desired. Serves 10-12 people.

This is another one of those handwritten recipes. I didn't even put a title on it, but I'm sure it is for barbecue and I bet I really enjoyed it or I wouldn't have written it down. Serve it piled high on a bun with chips and a pickle and I know it will be a tasty treat:

BARBECUE
2 pounds hamburger
3/4 cup ketchup
2 to 3 tablespoons mustard
2 tablespoons brown sugar
Scant cupful of vinegar
Onion as desired
Salt and pepper to taste

Brown hamburger with onion (if you use raw onion - dried flakes are fine too). Drain. Mix with remaining ingredients in skillet, cover and cook for 30 minutes or so.

were holes in the floor. She added that there was no sink, and clothes and debris were "all over upstairs," leaving no place for a person to walk.

Pennington County filed a Child in need of Protection or Services (CHIPS) petition regarding Emey Jones, who is Shawna Heden's daughter and John Heden's stepdaughter. It's a court action to protect a child, Reuter explained. While working on the CHIPS petition, Reuter talked to Shawna Heden. She told Reuter that she had shaken Jones when Jones was an infant, Reuter testified.

Shawna Heden also told Reuter she had had past contact with Clinton County Social Services, Reuter testified.

After the death of her sister, Jones lived for five months with neighbors Doug and Heidi Hornchek. A hearing was held regarding the termination of Shawna Heden's parental rights to Jones. Shawna Heden did not attend the termination hearing, but Reuter said Shawna Heden was willing to terminate her parental rights as long as her mother had custody of Jones. Since she did not attend the termination hearing, Shawna Heden's parental rights to Jones were terminated.

Jones is now living with her grandma in Illinois, said Reuter, who noted Jones' grandma wants to adopt her and is going through that process now.

Reuter believed Jones was removed from Shawna Heden's home prior to 2004 due to the condition of the home in Clinton County, she noted on cross-examination.

David Lofgren, M.D., is a family physician who had seen Rose Heden three times prior to her death. Like Reuter, he also received a letter from Hagen, detailing a bruise she observed on Rose Heden. During the first doctor appointment on Dec. 19, 2003, Lofgren testified, there was "nothing untoward" that he saw regarding the infant.

At a Jan. 12, 2004 doctor appointment, Lofgren testified, the Hedens were concerned Rose Heden was pale. He noted he checked Rose Heden's ear, nose, throat and heart, which he found to be normal.

At a Feb. 2, 2004 doctor appointment, the Hedens reiterated their concerns about Rose Heden being pale. Lofgren checked her cardiac and respiratory functions and assessed Rose Heden's color himself, he said. He further noted he saw nothing that concerned him about the way the Hedens interacted with their child.

Lofgren went on to testify he saw a rash Feb. 2, 2004 under Rose Heden's chin, which he noted did not look severe. He testified he was given an explanation that the rash came from a bonnet strap.

Lofgren also noted the child had a sore labia, and that her vagina was covered with Desitin, a diaper rash cream, when he examined her. He testified he did not remove it.

Hanson cross-examined Lofgren, asking whether he took the Desitin off the child. Lofgren responded that he did not.

Hanson also asked Lofgren whether the Hedens ever told him about rescue breathing being performed on Rose Heden. Lofgren responded that no one had told him about any rescue breathing.

Hagen wrote letters to Lofgren and Human Services, detailing the bruise she observed, she testified Tuesday. On her third visit to the Heden home on Dec. 29, 2003, Hagen testified that 1-month-old Rose Heden had a bruise on her face. She noted Shawna Heden had told her that John Heden had explained the baby had rolled over and into a wall while sleeping in a bed.

That explanation seemed odd to Hagen. "Typically, babies don't roll over at that age," said Hagen, who noted the bruise seemed large for someone hitting his or her head on a wall.

Hagen further noted Shawna Heden had gallbladder surgery three days prior to Hagen seeing the bruise on Rose Heden. Hagen said she believed John Heden was responsible for the child at that time.

On cross-examination, Hagen said she considered Shawna Heden to be the primary caregiver of Rose Heden.

Tuesday, jurors also heard from Janice DeLong, a former co-worker of Shawna Heden. DeLong was working with Shawna Heden the morning of Rose Heden's death.

Shawna Heden received a phone call that morning at her workplace, D.W.'s Dining & Dancing in Goodridge. After hanging up the phone, Shawna Heden told DeLong about the topic of the phone call. "She said, 'Rose is sick. They're doing CPR,'" said DeLong, who noted Shawna Heden said another woman was picking her up because she did not want Shawna Heden to drive herself home.

On cross-examination, DeLong said Shawna Heden was not panicking after she received the phone call about her daughter. "I thought it was a little strange," said DeLong about Shawna Heden's reaction.

Wednesday's testimony

Speaking quietly, Shawna Heden testified Wednesday for the prosecution. She noted she had never seen a circular injury on Rose Heden's chin or any injuries on the infant's genitalia before the infant's death. Shawna Heden also testified she did not see bruises on the infant's chest or shoulder before the baby's death.

Tanned and wearing a yellow shirt, Shawna Heden noted she continued to talk to and visit her husband in jail after March 1, 2004. She said she stayed in contact with one of his lawyers and also had contact with the prosecution.

Shawna Heden said her husband told her he snapped, shook their daughter and placed his fingers in their daughter's vagina "only once or twice."

Stress over Jones and John Heden's cases caused Shawna Heden to leave Pennington County on May 9, 2004, she testified.

On cross-examination, Shawna Heden testified she supported and had contact with her husband until she moved away. She further noted she moved to another state with a friend who later became a boyfriend. The relationship ended. Shawna Heden, who is now working as a carnival worker, added she has a new relationship and is living wherever the carnival goes.

While under cross-examination, Shawna Heden also noted she was concerned Lofgren did not do any testing regarding Rose Heden being pale.

When Hanson asked about the couple's reactions after their daughter's death, Shawna Heden replied, "I believe him and myself were in shock at the time."

"I was beyond belief [about John Heden being arrested]," added Shawna Heden, who testified he never abused their daughter. "I didn't believe it."

While cross-examining Shawna Heden, Hanson read aloud from a letter written by Reuter. In the letter, Reuter wrote that Shawna Heden indicated to her that John Heden "could have done worse," such as killing several people, chopping them up into little pieces and putting the pieces into the river. "This was just one small, single person," Hanson read aloud from the letter Reuter wrote about Shawna Heden.

Shawna Heden replied that she was mad and said those statements after she thought Reuter was saying she, not John Heden, killed Rose Heden.

The prosecution had subpoenaed Shawna Heden for her testimony Wednesday, however, she voluntarily flew to Thief River Falls before receiving the subpoena. Hanson noted she planned to subpoena Shawna Heden for the defense as well.

After the death of their daughter, the Hedens were interviewed separately by Phil Hodapp, senior special agent with the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension (BCA). Hodapp also testified Wednesday for the prosecution.

Two CDs of interviews between Hodapp and John Heden were played in the courtroom. When asked whether he did anything to harm Rose Heden or whether he shook her to get her to breathe, John Heden could be heard replying that he did not.

Later in that first interview, John Heden admitted to shaking Rose Heden after Valentine's Day 2004, a month before the infant's death. However, he said he performed rescue breathing on her at a different time.

Upon interviewing John Heden a second time later March 1, 2004, Hodapp did not immediately tell his interviewee that he was recording the interview and hid the tape recorder in his notebook. John Heden could be heard admitting to shaking Rose Heden about five times.

Hodapp pulled out the tape recorder, he later testified, and acted like he had just started tape recording the interview.

After that point, John Heden can later be heard saying on that CD of the second interview that he "shook [Rose Heden] five times and a few other times," admitting he shook her "pretty hard."

On cross-examination, Hillier asked Hodapp why he hid the tape recorder for a part of the second interview. Hodapp replied John Heden kept looking at the tape recorder during the first interview, which Hodapp thought may have frightened John Heden. He testified he thought John Heden would be more candid if he did not know he was being tape recorded.

While being cross-examined by Hillier, Hodapp also said John Heden was the only suspect at the time of the interview. He later noted he interviewed other potential suspects, including Shawna Heden and others who were in the presence of the baby earlier that week.

Hillier asked about Hodapp's interviews with Shawna Heden. Hodapp noted Shawna Heden laughed several times in an interview and he did not recall her crying. Hodapp later noted Shawna Heden wanted to know if an autopsy would show old bruises on Rose Heden.

Steven Fischer, a former BCA forensic scientist in the DNA division, testified that he had tested evidence and swabs collected from the Hedens and the Heden home for the presence of blood and, in some cases, semen. He explained the techniques used to prevent cross-contamination.

On cross-examination, Hillier asked Fischer whether he had been terminated from the BCA. Fischer said that was correct.

Thursday's testimony

James Iverson, a supervisor in the DNA unit of the BCA laboratory, testified Thursday for the prosecution. He reviewed Fischer's work on the Heden case and testified about the results of the work.

Iverson noted swabs from Rose Heden's right hand, left ankle, mouth area and genitalia were found to have the presence of blood. "Examination of all the swabs did not detect the presence of semen," he said.

Blood was also present on the jumper, t-shirt and diaper Rose Heden was wearing that morning, Iverson testified. Semen tests were conducted on those items, and no semen was found, Iverson noted. However, he said DNA testing was not completed on those items.

A diaper found in a kitchen trash can tested positive for blood, Iverson testified. He noted a DNA profile that matched Rose Heden was detected in his opinion, but no semen was detected.

Blood was detected from a page of a book on the master bedroom floor, according to Iverson. He said no DNA testing was completed on that page.

Blood was not detected on Rose Heden's socks, or on a swab taken from a spot on the Hedens' master bedroom floor, Iverson testified.

A clothes hamper had blood on it in two areas, Iverson testified. One of those areas was tested for DNA, and it contained Rose Heden's DNA.

Swabs were taken from two hangers in the Hedens' master bedroom closet. They indicated the presence of blood, Iverson said. One hanger had a partial DNA profile from Rose Heden, and the other hanger contained DNA matching Rose Heden.

Blood was detected on John Heden's clothing from March 1, 2004, according to Iverson. DNA testing was conducted as well on that clothing. A black t-shirt had DNA matching Rose Heden, and a pair of gray sweatpants had DNA matching John Heden. A pair of John Heden's jeans had DNA matching Rose Heden. His socks had blood present, and a partial DNA profile of Rose Heden and weak male DNA were present, Iverson said.

From a swab taken on John Heden's face, Iverson testified that blood was found that contained a mixture of two or more predominant types of DNA. He noted Rose and John Heden's DNA cannot be excluded, but Shawna Heden's DNA can be excluded.

On cross-examination, Iverson testified he could not tell what date the blood was deposited in a location. He also noted certain vegetable juices could give false positives for blood. Iverson further testified kitchen trash could contain vegetable juices.

Iverson went on to note Thursday was the first day he saw any of the items that were tested for blood, DNA and/or semen. He noted he did not handle or oversee the work.

Ben Kuznia, an investigator with the Pennington County Sheriff's Department, also appeared on the witness stand Thursday. He testified he reviewed letters John Heden had mailed out of the Pennington County Jail. Jail staff gave John Heden's letters to Kuznia, who reviewed the original letters and made copies of them. He would then make copies and return the letters to jail staff, so they could send the letters for John Heden.

In the courtroom, Kuznia read aloud three excerpts from a six-page letter written by John Heden around March 6, 2004 to Shawna Heden. Enlarged copies of the excerpts were placed on three separate pieces of posterboard in order for jurors to read them as well.

In one excerpt from the second page of the letter, John Heden wrote that he has been treated like he killed three to four people.

"They must think I did this on purpose, which is bull," Kuznia read aloud from John Heden's letter. "There's people who did a lot worse."

Two pages later, John Heden wrote something mentally must have happened to him. "I never imagined I'd do something like that," he wrote.

On page six of that letter, John Heden wrote, "We need to find a way to knock down these charges."

On cross-examination, Kuznia indicated John Heden knew Kuznia was intercepting the letters before they were sent. Kuznia also noted John Heden declared his love to Shawna Heden, Jones and Rose Heden in letters.

Hillier asked whether Kuznia recalled whether John Heden apologized. Kuznia said yes.

Hillier also asked whether the letter excerpts were chosen by the state. Kuznia replied that they were.

Prosecution rests its case

Prosecutors Rogalla and Klumpp rested their case Thursday. Defense lawyers Hanson and Hillier are expected to begin presenting their case Monday.

Bonding bill is good for Minnesota

Finally! The announcement that an agreement on the bonding bill in Minnesota has been reached should please most Minnesotans. The unfinished task of last year's legislative session was a serious blow to Minnesota's economy and future.

According to a recent news release, on March 30, the Legislative conference committee agreed to an $866 million bonding bill. By funding bridges, higher education, public safety and the environment, this agreement affects all of Minnesota.

Rep. Maxine Penas points out that local residents will be pleased to know that the bill includes $2.5 million for emergency riverbank protection in Crookston, $27 million in flood mitigation funds to prevent future disasters, $2.1 million for Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls for renovations and the WorkForce Center at the college, and $13.2 million for the flood damage repair in Roseau. The bill also funds numerous road and bridge projects throughout the state, as well as many other projects.

What the passage of the bonding bill means for Minnesota should be obvious. It means jobs. Earlier in the year, Rep. Bernie Lieder estimated that the Capital Investment or bonding bill could produce upwards of 10,000 jobs. It also means many other good things for Minnesota:

By supporting and improving bridges, roads, rails and trails, it means Minnesota will be protecting jobs that already exist.

By approving a bonding bill that supports flood mitigation and riverbank protection projects, the bill protects communities.

By approving a bonding bill that supports education projects, we're also making an investment in our future.

Of course, the bonding bill represents a compromise, and that means no one will be happy with everything in the bill, but at least the Legislature has gotten this far.

Lieder said the bonding bill was derailed by politics last year. Without a hint of sarcasm or subdued snigger, pundits are already predicting that this means a new era in cooperation and understanding.

I guess it really doesn't matter whether they get along or not, just as long as they get the job done. The bill hasn't been officially approved by both the House or Senate yet, and, of course, Gov. Tim Pawlenty still has to sign the bill. Let's hope they make the right decision for Minnesota.

LETTERS

To the Editor:

The Thief River Falls Ralph Engelstad Arena (REA) and its staff need to be given a huge hand for putting on the wonderful basketball tournaments this past season. We have played at some amazing sites during our tournament run, but there was no place that treated us better than the REA in Thief River Falls.

Tom Goddard and his staff of workers and volunteers treated us like we were the most important people in the building and were doing everything they could to give us what we needed. The facility and staff created a feeling of a state tournament even before the players arrived. Not many players will ever get the opportunity to play at the Target Center, but having the REA along with the people of this area operating it, will give more players and coaches the feeling of playing in a state tournament.

I heard so many positive comments from players, coaches and fans that it would be hard to believe that section tournaments should be played anywhere else but here. The ability to host such events in the future also will help the economy of the community of Thief River Falls. I just wanted to say "thank you very much" to Goddard and his staff for bringing a great tournament atmosphere to Section 8A and this area.

Thanks again for a great job!
Sincerely,
Jake Rantanen
Marshall County Central

To the Editor:

I want to express my sincerest appreciation to Bishop Victor Balke for his thoughtful comments regarding MinnesotaCare coverage. The Bishop's eloquent column in Our Northland Diocese opposed cuts to MinnesotaCare. In addition, Catholic Conference Social Concerns Director Kate Krisik also argued in favor of repealing the $5,000 annual benefits cap in a letter we received in the Senate Finance Committee.

Of course, I will join Balke and the Catholic Conference in supporting the restoration of these health care benefits for adults and families without children. The Krisik letter correctly stated that "this fiscally responsible and humanly responsive program has been compromised in recent years."

The letter further notes that "many low-income, hard-working Minnesotans are finding themselves without any health care at all or, in the case of the $5,000 annual benefits cap, without sufficient health care to receive vital and necessary medical treatments for their catastrophic and/or chronic illnesses."

A large proportion of MinnesotaCare enrollees live in northwestern Minnesota. As a state, we should honor our commitments to keep quality health care accessible.

Sincerely,
Sen. LeRoy Stumpf

To the Editor,

I am sure we all understand that Social Security is just a supplement to retirement, and yet, it is also insurance for a growing family. Private accounts taken from Social Security benefits are a risk and will reduce the benefits promised.

We do have control over our money now by investing in IRAs or 401(k) plans. There's no need to take the risky step of privatization. Social Security is not complicated as is, let's keep it that way. (Solvent through 2042 and fix it as needed.)

This administration and Congress should get together and work on the deficit. Maybe they could cut some foreign aid and focus more on the well-being of the people.

Sincerely,
Robert Reed
Thief River Falls

TRF street construction projects set to begin this summer

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

This summer, drivers may encounter street construction in Thief River Falls. At its March 22 meeting, the Thief River Falls City Council approved plans and specifications for the 2005 Street and Utilities Improvement Project.

The council approved plans and specifications for the $836,000 project. Currently, the project includes Barzen Avenue improvements south of First Street. However, prior to awarding the bid, the council can potentially eliminate the Barzen Avenue portion of the project.

Adjacent to the Arctic Cat and Digi-Key properties, that section of Barzen Avenue is currently gravel. It spans an area adjacent to County Ditch 70, which is maintained by Pennington County.

At a Feb. 22 council meeting, Arctic Cat requested an extension of six weeks to let its consultant look at drainage near Barzen Avenue. Fifty-four Countryside Trailer Court residents have since signed a petition requesting that Barzen Avenue be a tarred avenue.

A special council meeting was scheduled March 31 about Barzen Avenue. At that time, Blake Carlson, a consultant hired by Arctic Cat, presented some of his findings and assumptions about drainage near Barzen Avenue. The council gave Carlson more time to look into his assumptions. It is anticipated that the council will make a decision at its April 12 council meeting regarding whether to include Barzen Avenue in the 2005 project.

Lindberg said, at a Feb. 22 council meeting, that it would be harder to take out the Barzen Avenue project and add it to the improvements project later. However, it would be easier to delete the project before bidding occurred. Bids will be opened May 3 at 11 a.m. at City Hall.

Digi-Key and Arctic Cat representatives attended the council meeting; however, they did not voice any concerns or opinions regarding the Barzen Avenue project.

Lindberg has recommended that the city, Pennington County, Digi-Key and Arctic Cat pay for the project if it proceeds. The four entities have already agreed to pay for the project, which Digi-Key had asked the council to consider.

Other improvement projects include:

• Nelson Drive – Street and storm sewer improvements east of Sherwood Avenue
• Allwood Court – Street construction
• Alice Drive – Street and utilities extensions and improvements
• Gansen Court – Street construction and utilities extensions
• Oak Avenue – Street construction south of Cartway Drive
• Sunrise Court – Street construction and utilities extensions
• Spruce Avenue and Woodland Court – Street, storm sewer, sanitary sewer and water main improvements south of Allwood Court

The Nelson Drive improvements were requested by Wal-Mart, which is planning to construct a Supercenter along that street. The company has agreed to be directly invoiced for the estimated $179,000 project cost.

The 2005 Street, Sidewalk and Utilities Improvement Project is estimated to cost a total of $836,000. State funds, direct billings, utilities reserves and force account services would cover $813,000 of that amount.

The city would recoup $46,000 in special assessments and $15,000 in tax increment payments after 15 years. As a result, the city's final cost would be reduced to zero.

However, the city would be required to provide approximately $680,000 in interim financing in order to complete the project in seven months. The council may pre-invoice developers "for all or a portion of their share of the project costs in order to reduce the city's internal financing," Lindberg said at a Feb. 22 council meeting.

A final plat and developer's agreement for the Wal-Mart site were not on the City Council agenda.

A March 21 Planning Commission meeting regarding those items was cancelled, said Community Development Director Mike Moore. He noted the Planning Commission has not come to any conclusions regarding those items.

The Planning Commission hasn't set a date to discuss the final plat and developer's agreement, Moore said. He added that he hoped he would bring those items to the April 12 council meeting for a decision.

Part of the delay may be related to the development of mosquito control and landscaping plans for the site, according to Parks and Recreation Director Madelyn Vigen. She added Wal-Mart has been willing to work with the city, and there have been conversations between city employees and Wal-Mart about those plans.

This summer, Wal-Mart plans to build a Supercenter near the intersection of Nelson Drive and Highway 59 Southeast. The council has already approved a preliminary plat and a rezoning request for the site. A conditional use permit has been approved as well.

The council approved a RevTrak webstore and credit card contract. Through the webstore, municipal utility customers would be able to charge their utility bills to their credit cards via the Internet.

The city's Web site will offer a link to the webstore, which will be located on a secure server. Barry Froiland, management information systems director, anticipated utility customers would be able to use the webstore this summer.

The Utilities Committee has recommended a user fee for those utility customers using credit cards to pay their utility bills online. Legally, the city is able to charge user fees for Internet and telephone transactions. However, it is unable to do so for in-office or mail transactions.

"I haven't come up with that fee yet, but somewhere around $3," said Froiland. "I'll have to play that by ear to see if people are using that to pay their bill."

In the future, the webstore may also enable residents to do the same for other city fees, such as building permits, planning and zoning, summer recreation and parking tickets.

"We can add unlimited things to that webstore that we want to put on there," Froiland said.

Under the contract, the city will be billed $49.95 per month for the opportunity to have the service. The city will also have to pay approximately $500 for computer software for the service.

The next council meeting is scheduled April 12 at 5 p.m. at City Hall. Prior to the council meeting, a public hearing will be held regarding the environmental information worksheet for water treatment plant sludge management. That public hearing is scheduled from 4 to 5 p.m. April 12.

Embassy to host country music jam session Sunday

The monthly country music jam session will be held on Sunday, April 3 at the Embassy Community Center, beginning at 1 p.m.

All country musicians are welcome to attend and present a sampling of their music. Music will continue through the afternoon and into the evening following the potluck supper, served at 5:30 p.m. There is no charge for the afternoon of music.

NCTC to benefit from bonding bill

feet. The project objectives are to expand and relocate the Minnesota Workforce Center to a more suitable location, remodel space vacated by the Workforce Center to co-locate all nursing and allied health programs, and remodel instructional support and office areas that have major code compliance deficiencies.

The issues for the Workforce Center, which at one time was located in downtown Thief River Falls, has been access, visibility, storage and size.

The area of the college to be added on to and remodeled is part of the original construction of the Thief River Falls Area Vocational Technical College. This area has changed little since initial construction in the 1960s.

Gunderson said he was real happy that the project was approved. He added that it is a capstone to his years at Northland.

He also thanked Sen. Keith Langseth, Sen. LeRoy Stumpf, and Rep. Maxine Penas. "They've always provided fantastic support, and without them this would not have happened."

Gunderson was not sure of the timelines for the project. Gunderson will soon be retiring. An interim president for both campuses is expected to be announced soon. Gunderson said that there's no reason not to expect groundbreaking to take place this fall, and construction to begin shortly after that.

There were no projects for East Grand Forks on the bonding bill. Gunderson said East Grand Forks will present a $6.5 million request next year. That request will address classroom needs, labs and facility updates. Gunderson is optimistic that the proposal will be approved in 2006.

Family and friends support group to meet April 4

A meeting for family members or friends who provide care and/or support to elderly persons will be held on April 4 in the community room at the Summerfield Apartments in Warren, beginning at 10 a.m.

Many of the group's members have a loved one diagnosed with Alzheimer's Disease or other related disorders. Individuals with a loved one in the nursing home or at home are encouraged to attend.

Marshall Manor has a unit specializing in care and services for people with Alzheimer's or related disorders. It is the group's desire to provide a supportive environment for families of people with these disorders.

before graduating from National University in St. Paul in 1999. Rud currently lives in Eden Prairie, while working at Employer's Association in Plymouth as a computer programmer and as a part-time model for Wehmann Modeling Talent.

To cast "The Bachelor 7," producers went on a 12-city tour, searching for a variety of bachelorettes. Rud said she had no initial interest in being cast for the show, but went along to the Marshall Fields casting site to support her friend Cissie.

"I didn't really want to go (audition), but figured, worst case scenario, I could just go shopping."

Instead, Rud was one of seven ladies from the Minneapolis area who were called back from the group of 300. Each potential bachelorette was interviewed for two minutes on camera during the first day of casting. On day two, the seven call backs were interviewed again on camera, this time for 30 minutes.

In December, shortly after the second round of interviews, Rud was called, to travel to Los Angeles for yet another on-camera interview, this time with ABC executives. Along with the interview, each contestant was given a precautionary personality test and a blood test.

When she left Los Angeles, Rud was told by ABC executives that they would let her know within a month if she was chosen as a contestant. More than a month later, by the end of January, she was contacted by ABC executives who wanted to know if she would participate in the show.

"The Bachelor"

ABC's "The Bachelor 7" was filmed over the course of five weeks in a $16 million Manhattan loft, located in the vibrant Manhattan neighborhood of Tribeca.

"This season, everything was less structured," Rud said. "There were no limousines or gowns. It was a lot more laid back."

In an increasingly common twist, five bachelorettes were eliminated during the show's first hour. The premiere episode began with each of the 25 bachelorettes being rushed out of her bed to the lobby of the Roosevelt Hotel. Each bachelorette was given five minutes to get ready. Once they were all in the hotel lobby, the bachelorettes were introduced to the show's leading man, bachelor Charlie O'Connell. Some may recognize O'Connell. The sometime's actor has appeared in films such as "Dude, Where's My Car," and "The New Guy."

Still fresh out of bed, each suitor was able to spend two minutes with O'Connell, attempting to earn one of the first two roses. After the two-minute interviews were complete, the show's host, Chris Harrison, presented O'Connell with a photo and biographical information about each bachelorette. He then informed him he needed to send five bachelorettes home right away.

The 20 women who survived the first elimination ceremony, moved into the extravagant loft that was priced by its location, rather than space. Only three bedrooms and three bathrooms were available for the 20 contestants, something Rud figures was done to bring out the strong personalities that the show typically features.

"They, of course, love that," she said of the living situation. "By the second day, I just didn't care anymore, which is what they want."

Rud said the show featured three types of personalities.

"You have your girls that are like the sweet hearts," Rud said. "Then you have the girls that are outspoken, that don't have an off switch." The third type, Rud added, was the quiet type.

Known simply as Minnesota or Carrie with a C, the self-described nice Minnesota girl made friends pretty fast on the show. Because the bachelorettes were essentially sequestered, with no television, radio or newspapers, days in the loft could get long, waiting for group dates.

Rud said her outlook on the show changed during shooting. At the beginning of shooting, she would stop to glance at a mirror whenever the opportunity presented itself, always worrying about her on-camera appearance. But after a couple of days, she essentially forgot the cameras were there, which she added, is what they want.

Filming for the show began in mid February and wrapped in March after five weeks. The duration of the show grew tough on Rud, who for the first time in her life, was unable to wish her mother a happy birthday, because the bachelorettes were unable to talk with anyone on the phone outside of the show.

"That was one of the things that was really hard," Rud said. "Not being able talk to anyone. You really miss home."

Reflection

While Rud is forced to remain tight lipped about the results of the show, she was able to share some of her thoughts about the experience.

"This is something that I am proud of making it on the show," Rud said. "I would definitely do it all over again."

Rud said that returning to her normal life was more difficult than she first imagined. For five weeks she was unable to talk to anyone outside of the show, yet when she returned to her normal life, she missed being on the show.

When her daughter couldn't call on her birthday, it made Diane wonder how many times others take something like that for granted.

"We were just trying to take it all in stride. It was real hard not to talk to her," said Diane, who typically talks to her daughter several times a week.

"We are faithfully anticipating what will come from this long term," Diane said. "Christ is in control of our life and it was totally in his hands."

2004-05 Thief River Falls girls high school hockey...

Trudy Erickson Prowlers' MVP

Strong goaltending and solid defense will keep you in most games. But if you want to upgrade from competitive to winning hockey, you also need a scoring punch. The Thief River Falls girls lacked the latter in 2004-05, and as a result struggled through a 2-17-1 season.

The Prowlers scored just 24 goals in those 20 games. They were shut out six times and had nine one-goal outings.

Despite the punchless attack, Thief River Falls stayed with most teams behind the play of senior goalie Trudy Erickson and a youthful group of defensemen that included junior Kjelsy Loeffler, sophomores Kaley Holen and Janica Sorvig, along with freshmen Mauri Gonsorowski and Molly Peterson.

Erickson was named the Prowlers' most valuable player during the team's annual post-season banquet.

Sophomore forward Brooke Rundell was selected Rookie of the Year and junior forward Chasity Johnson was presented with the Prowler Award.

Erickson and sophomore forward Brittni Johnson were introduced as All-Greater Minnesota Conference honorable mention picks.

Senior forward Angie Blom was recognized for being named to the Minnesota Girls High School Hockey Coaches Association Class A academic all-state team.

The two wins represented a season-low figure for the six-year-old program that made its debut with an 11-10-1 record in 1999-2000. The Prowlers opened the year with a 4-2 victory over East Grand Forks, but then lost 14 straight games.

A 1-1 overtime tie against Lake of the Woods ended the losing streak Jan. 21 and the winless streak ended the next afternoon with a 4-2 decision over the cooperative combination of Eveleth-Gilbert/Ely/Mesabi East/Virginia.

It looked like the Prowlers' late-season success would carry through their next start, a Jan. 25 game against International Falls as the clock ran down in a 2-2 tie. But the Broncos avoided overtime by scoring with just six seconds left.

A 5-3 loss to Detroit Lakes ended the regular season and a 2-0 first round Section 3A tournament setback at the hands of Crookston finished the campaign.

"We had a tough season, although we played pretty good hockey at the end of the year," offered Thief River Falls coach Tim Magnusson, who has been with the program since its inception. "We had trouble putting the puck in the net."

Athletic letters went to Erickson and Blom, the only seniors on the roster; juniors Val Meyers, Megan Snyder, DD Rambeck, Chasity Johnson and Loeffler; sophomores Ashley Meunier, Brittni Johnson, Kelly Thorstad, McKenzie Kayser, Holen, Sorvig and Rundell; freshmen Brandi Hermanson, Gonsorowski and Peterson; along with student manager Joann Blom.

Greater Minnesota Conference girls high school hockey honors went to Thief River Falls' Brittni Johnson (left) and Trudy Erickson, who were named as all-conference honorable mention selections. The players were recognized during the Prowlers' 2004-05 banquet. Submitted photo.

Pioneers sweep pair from Trinity

First-game pitching and second-game offense carried the Northland Community and Technical College baseball team to an 8-0, 15-5 doubleheader sweep of Trinity Bible College Wednesday in Ellendale, N.D.

Josh Remer pitched the first five innings to earn the win in the Game 1 shutout. The sophomore from Red Lake Falls scattered five hits, struck out seven and did not walk a batter.

Justin Buegler (2), Adam Violette, Dane Kjono and Tom Dostal had RBI hits in the opener.

Northland banged out 16 hits in the nightcap. The offensive show was led by Will Leetch, a sophomore from Roseau, who was 3-for-3 with a double and a triple, and Dostal, a sophomore from East Grand Forks, who was 3-for-3 and drove in four runs. Gary Molek, another sophomore from East Grand Forks, also had four RBI.

Brian Horgeshmer, a freshman from Fertile, was the winning pitcher in Game 2.

Moved back a week from the original March 23 playing date, the twinbill was the first outing for the Pioneers since their 4-4 season-opening March 14-18 trip to Florida.

The Steve Gust-coached Pioneers are headed to Miles City, Mont., to play doubleheaders Sunday (Baseball Academy, Miles City Community College) and Monday (Bismarck Junior College, Williston Junior College).

Northland will be part of the Riverland Invitational in Austin April 8-9.

2005 Prowler track season is under way

A small squad made a solid showing Thursday in Thief River Falls' season-opening efforts at the Moorhead Athletic Association Invitational boys and girls high school track meet.

Due to other school commitments, coach Tim Olson had about half of his squad available for the 2005 debut as the Prowlers joined Moorhead, Fergus Falls and Detroit Lakes for the evening competition at the Olson Forum on the Concordia College campus. No team scores were kept.

Thief River Falls efforts featured first place finishes by Scott Rakozy and Tyson Sorvig in the boys triple jump and 55-meter dash, respectively. Rakozy went 37-6 1/2 and Sorvig was among five runners who shared first in the short sprint when timers put them all at 6.89 seconds.

Rakozy added second place finishes in the 200 and 400.

Katie Walrath led the Thief River Falls girls with a second in the 55, a third in the 200 and an anchor leg on a third place 4x200 relay team that started with Dana Ranum, Brianna Reierson and Kayse Lee.

It was a delayed start for the Prowlers, whose original March 26 opener at the Bemidji Lions Indoor was scratched when meet officials canceled the event due to lack of entries.

"It was a good start," said Olson. "We had some kids who did really well. We know Scott (Rakozy) will perform, but we had some young kids like Tyson, Katie and Kayse (all three are freshmen) who surprised."

A large group of Moorhead athletes overwhelmed the field, but Olson said the Prowlers welcomed the opportunity to break away from the practice routine and face other athletes. "It was fun," he said. "The kids enjoy the competition."

Thief River Falls will run at Bemidji Tuesday in the Lumberjacks' Little Amix Indoor.

That trip will be followed by a nearly two-week break before the Tim Olson-coached Prowlers will compete in their first outdoor meet of the spring – the Monday, April 18, Northland Community and Technical College Invitational at the Multi-Events Center.

Meghan Nelson completes sophomore year at SWSU

Thief River Falls' Meghan Nelson averaged 1.5 points and 1.5 rebounds per game as a member of the 2004-05 Southwest Minnesota State University women's basketball team.

A school news release said the 5-11 sophomore forward shot 52.9 percent from the field and 66.7 percent at the free throw line while appearing in 26 games for the Mustangs, who finished 19-10 overall and 9-5 in the Northern Sun Conference.

Fifth grade girls traveling basketball team from Thief River Falls has won tournaments at Karlstad, Bemidji and Crookston, along with a fourth place showing in the tournament hosted by Thief River Falls. The team has out-scored the opposition by a three-to-one margin. Members of the squad include, front row from left, Kirsten Scholin, Lindsey Genereaux, Morgan Stokke, Hayley Fisher, Whitney Balmer; back row, Morgan Numedahl, Lindsey Guzek, Tori Felzien, Allyssa Wagner and Sarah Dokkin. Coaches are Rick Stokke and Garret Scholin. Submitted photo.

Property tax refunds possible

Many area residents received their property tax notice this past week. An apparently little-known fact is that property owners may qualify for a special refund on their property taxes.

According to the Minnesota Property Tax Refund booklet, property owners may be eligible for property tax refunds based on household income and the property taxes paid on the property owner's principal place of residence. Generally, household income is the federally adjusted gross income plus most nontaxable income, minus a subtraction for dependents or if the applicant or his or her spouse are 65 or older or disabled.

To qualify

• as a renter, total household income for 2004 must be less than $45,970.

• as a homeowner, property owners may be eligible for one or both of the following refunds, if the applicant owned and lived in their home on Jan. 2, 2005. To qualify for the regular property tax refund, total household income for 2004 must be less than $85,210. To qualify for the special property tax refund, the applicant must have owned and lived in their home both on Jan. 2, 2004, and on Jan. 2, 2005; their net property tax on their homestead must have increased by more than 12 percent from 2004 to 2005; and the increase must be at least $100. There is no income limit for the special property tax refund.

There are additional eligibility requirements, which are listed in the 2004 Minnesota Property Tax Refund Forms and Instructions. This booklet also includes the M1PR form which applicants must complete to receive the refund. Forms may be downloaded from the Minnesota Department of Revenue's Web site at www.taxes.state.mn.us. Booklets and photocopies of necessary forms may also be obtained at public libraries; or by writing to Minnesota Tax Forms, Mail Station 1421, St. Paul, MN 55146-1421.

Booklets and forms may also be obtained at the Pennington County Assessor's office or Treasurer's office, which are located in the Pennington County Courthouse.

In loving memory of

Lloyd Sorenson

March 10th, 2004

I thought of you with love today, but that is nothing new. I thought about you yesterday and days before that too.

I think of you in silence. I often speak your name.

All I have are memories and your picture in a frame.

Your memory is my keepsake, with which I'll never part. God has you in his keeping, I have you in my heart.

We would like to thank everyone for their love and support throughout this past year.

Penas announces 2005 Capital Investment Bill agreement

On March 30, the Legislative Conference Committee agreed to an $866 million bonding bill. The legislation dedicates funds to repair or construct infrastructure, projects across the state.

"This agreement hits all the important areas Minnesotans have asked for - higher education, transit including roads and bridges, public safety, economic development and the environment," said Rep. Maxine Penas (R-Badger). "Approval of this will spark necessary job growth."

Penas was pleased that the bonding package included a bill that allocated more than $13.2 million from the bond fund for grants to the city of Roseau for flood damage repair.

"This will enable the people of Roseau to find some closure to the 2002 flood," Penas said.

The grants would be used to repair or replace damage done in recent floods, including streets, sidewalks and other infrastructure damaged by flooding. The grants would also be used to acquire land, to construct, furnish and relocate Roseau's city hall, auditorium, library, museum and police department - all of which were substantially damaged by flooding.

The bill also included $2.5 million for emergency riverbank protection in Crookston, $27 million in flood mitigation to prevent future disasters, and $2.1 million for the Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls for renovations on its nursing and workforce program.

"I'm pleased to have helped convince my fellow members about the importance of these projects," Penas said. "It is a tremendous asset locally and to the entire state."

Other bonding projects of note include: $50 million to fund local road and bridge projects throughout the state; $670,000 to the World War II monument; $23 million to the Conservation Reserve Enhancement Program (CREP); $10 million in WIF funding; and $213.5 million for Minnesota State Colleges and Universities projects.

The Minnesota House will vote on the bill on Monday, April 4. Penas said she's confident that both the House and the Senate will approve it, and that it will be signed by Gov. Tim Pawlenty.

Farmers Union meetings scheduled

National Farmers Union (NFU) lobbyist Tom Buis and Minnesota Farmers Union (MFU) President Doug Peterson will visit three northwestern Minnesota communities in early April. The events will focus on Central America Free Trade Agreement (CAFTA), the federal farm programs and other farm issues.

The first meeting will begin Monday, April 11 at 2:30 p.m. at Kittson Central High School in Hallock. A light lunch will be available, and the meeting will end at 4:30 p.m.

Two meetings will be held Tuesday, April 12. A breakfast meeting is scheduled for 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. at the Best Western Inn along Highway 32 in Thief River Falls. A lunch meeting is scheduled from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at RBJ's Restaurant in Crookston.

"CAFTA and proposed farm program changes are critical issues for farmers right now," said Peterson. "Mr. Buis lobbies Congress on these issues, and he is traveling directly from Washington, D.C., to talk with our members about the latest developments. The purpose of these meetings is to inform people about how northwestern Minnesota could be affected."

Questions should be directed to the Minnesota Farmers Union office in St. Paul at (651) 639-1223.

CALCIUM-25

Calcium Mineral Supplements. Increases crops yields 20 to 40% & more over the past 24 years. Works equally well in both calcium rich and calcium-deficient soils. Increases plants ability to absorb nutrients more efficiently. By foliar feeding this to any plant, it increases the cell structure. By doing this it increases the growth & yields to the plant. I know I have proved it for 5 years with excellent results. Last year my soybeans did not freeze.

Retirements may help Kittson Central

Hallock - The possibility of three teacher retirements next school year at Kittson Central could alleviate the cutting of large amounts of staff to help with budget constraints. With the school board looking at $200,000 again in cuts for the 2005-06 school year, this could mean only about $72,000 would be left to whittle away in staff or program reductions.

One full-time elementary school teacher will retire after this school year, and a high school teacher has expressed interest in retiring to half-time. Depending on next year's kindergarten class size, there may not be a need for two sections next year, which would eliminate one teacher. Superintendent Bruce Jensen also said he had been talking with another teacher who is considering retirement as well.

Two years ago, the board cut around $200,000 in staff and programs, and planned to make the next round of cuts, with the same amount in mind, for the 2005-06 school year. Jensen said the next step will be to meet with the staff to consider together ideas for areas where there can be cost savings. - Kittson County Enterprise, April 6, 2005, by Louise Money

Barto landowners oppose road exchange

Roseau - Barto Township landowners explained, at the March 28 Roseau County board meeting, that they stood opposed to a proposed exchange of county and township roads in Barto and Polonia townships.

According to the proposal, Barto and Polania townships would surrender a section of No. 23 to the county, and in exchange, the county would cede a parallel road one mile north of No. 23 to the townships.

According to Roseau County Engineer Brian Ketring, the exchange would facilitate county efforts to bring County No. 2 into better alignment.

Ketring, explaining that he is concerned about generating a countywide policy regarding such road exchanges, said, "I will study the circumstances, and I will recommend a policy systems change later." - The Tribune of Greenbush, April 6, 2005, by Del Stordahl

Gubrud brings Swedish childcare perspective

Fosston - Christina Gubrud has been working with Fosston's Early Childhood Family Education (ECFE) program as a children's teacher for several months now, teaching classes on Tuesdays and Thursdays. She works with children, from newborns to 5-year-olds, and their parents. Together, they paint, bake, play and listen to stories, among other activities.

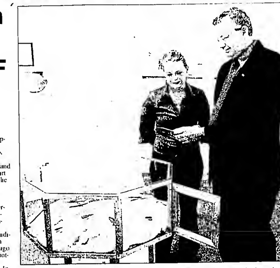
This isn't the first time Christina has worked with children though. Christina is originally from Sweden, and she worked in early childhood education as a teacher for 16 years.

"The ECFE program here is the same as Sweden's program," she said. "But there are more parents involved in Sweden."

The reason for the increased number of parents who are involved is that the Swedish government pays parents for one year of maternity leave after a baby is born. For one year, parents can stay home with the baby while being paid by the government. Parents are allowed to stay home for a longer period of time at a lower rate. - The 13 Towns of Fosston, April 5, 2005, by Tessa Balstad

Artifacts on display at NCTC - TRF

Items were found during archaeological dig on NCTC property



Thirty-six artifacts unearthed on Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) property in 2001 will be part of "Remnants of Antiquity," an exhibit on display in the college's art gallery beginning April 11.

The week of April 4 through 8, college staff and students under the direction of Talicia Lerfald, art instructor and gallery curator, began preparing the exhibit. Jeff Thomas, academic dean at NCTC, explained that the items unearthed west of the campus on the banks of the Thief River were found during a test excavation, which was undertaken for the purpose of "cultural resource management." A large scale excavation was not conducted, nor is one anticipated.

The type of items found at the site seem to indicate that a settlement had existed at the location over a thousand years ago. Items found included pottery shards, bone fragments, and stone tools. In all, between 400 and 500 artifacts were found on the property, some of which dated back several thousands of years.

Input on Roseau flood plan sought

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, St. Paul District, will host a public workshop this month to present potential federal flood damage reduction plans for Roseau.

The public workshop will be held from 5 to 8 p.m. Thursday, April 14 in the Roseau County Courthouse meeting room, 606 Fifth Ave. S.W.

The plans to be presented at this workshop are the result of an ongoing federal flood control feasibility study being conducted by the Corps in partnership with local and state officials. At this workshop, the public will be briefed on the preliminary study findings and will be asked to provide their ideas and concerns. Public input regarding the problems and opportunities related to incorporation public recreation features into a final flood control plan will be focused upon at this meeting.

After the workshop, the Corps will incorporate the workshop feedback into a draft feasibility report and associated environmental assessment. The Corps will then distribute this draft report to other government agencies and the public for further review and comment later this summer. The Corps will also host more meetings to present the draft plan and seek additional input. A final report is scheduled to be completed this fall.

For additional details about the feasibility study, log onto www.mvp.usace.army.mil/roseau/ or seek the flood control link on the city of Roseau Web site (http://city.roseau.mn.us/roseau/htm).

TRF Sears store renews contract

Local impact still a question after Sears and Kmart finalize merger

by April Schelnohn
Reporter

It's official – Kmart and Sears have merged. Both companies' shareholders have put their stamps of approval on the merger, finalizing it March 24.

It's not known how the Kmart and Sears stores in Thief River Falls will be affected. Yet, it is known that Thief River Falls will still have a Sears store.

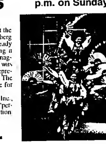
Roger Evenson and Rodney Knutson, co-owners of the franchise Sears store in Thief River Falls, received an e-mail March 31 that notified them their contract had been renewed, Evenson said. Six days later, they received the contract papers in the mail. The contract, which expired Dec. 31, 2004, has been renewed until Dec. 31, 2007.

"It took a little load off your shoulders," Evenson said.

Nick Bosh, manager of the Kmart store in Thief River Falls, noted he could not comment on the merger and referred the Northern Watch to the company's corporate media office.

"We don't know what the local impact will be," said Stephen Pagnani, manager of media relations for Kmart. However, he added, up to 400 Kmart stores may be converted into Sears locations.

About their Sears location, Evenson noted both he and Knutson were worried once the merger was announced Nov. 17. He said they considered opening another appliance store in Thief River Falls if their contract had not been renewed.



Knutson and Evenson were waiting several months before finding out whether their contract would be renewed. Their customers were also wondering what would happen. "It's been nice that so many customers, too, have been concerned about that," Evenson said.

The merger between Sears and Kmart has led to the creation of Sears Holding Corp. The new corporation is now the third largest retailer nationwide behind Wal-Mart and the Home Depot, respectively. With approximately $55 billion in annual revenue, it has close to 3,500 retail stores nationwide and 1,100 specialty retail stores, according to www.kmartcorp.com.

"You have to think positively that it'll be a plus for both stores," said Evenson, who noted the merger would enable the stores to have more buying power and therefore offer more competitive pricing.

Other than that and noting he does not know how the merger will impact his store, Evenson said, "Whatever happens, happens."

REA - TRF manager resigns

Tom Goddard

by David Hill
Editor

Tom Goddard, general manager of the Ralph Engelstad Arena - Thief River Falls, resigned Monday, April 4.

Goddard was employed by Ralph Engelstad Arena Events Inc. not by the city of Thief River Falls.

Thief River Falls Mayor Dale Wennberg said Earl Strinden, interim general manager of Ralph Engelstad Arena (REA) Events Inc. in Grand Forks, N.D. told him on Monday that Goddard had resigned.

Wennberg explained that the city had entered into an operations agreement with REA Events Inc. about two years ago. Wennberg said, by mutual consent, they had recently agreed not to renew the contract. The agreement will expire in June or July of this year.

"We have had a great working relationship with Grand Forks (REA) and Tom Goddard as manager for almost two years," said Wennberg. "Tom's sudden resignation came as a surprise to all of us at this time."

Because they were aware that the contract would expire, Wennberg said city committees had already begun the process of developing a job description for the arena manager position. The job description was necessary because this would represent a new position for the city. The city is also required to advertise for an arena manager position.

In his letter to REA Events Inc., Wennberg said Goddard cited "personal reasons" for his resignation.

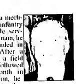
Dyrud named Veterans Affairs Commissioner

Former TRF resident tapped to head Minnesota Veterans Affairs

Governor Tim Pawlenty has named Clark Dyrud commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Veterans Affairs, effective March 28, 2005. Dyrud currently serves as director of Veterans Programs with the Minnesota Department of Veteran Affairs. Dyrud grew up in the Thief River Falls area.



"The 460,000 veterans in our state have made tremendous sacrifices for our freedoms," Pawlenty said. "With the appointment of Clark Dyrud, these patriots will have a tireless and passionate advocate to champion their interests and serve their needs."

"Governor Pawlenty is a strong supporter and a true friend of veterans in our state," said Dyrud. "It is a tremendous honor to serve the governor and continue my lifelong passion of service to my fellow veterans in this important role."

Dyrud, 58, resides in Minneapolis and has served the Minnesota Department of Veterans Affairs more than 24 years. Most recently as director of Veterans Programs, Dyrud provided supervision of claims and benefit services as well as assistance to 87 county veteran service offices in the state.

Dyrud grew up on a farm north of Thief River Falls. He was educated in a one-room school house in his primary years. After graduating from high school in 1964, Dyrud volunteered for the draft and then volunteered for duty in Vietnam.

Dyrud served in Vietnam from 1967 to 1968 as a squad leader (sergeant) in a mechanized infantry unit. While serving in Vietnam, he was wounded in combat. After a month in a field hospital, followed by a month in recuperation, he returned to the field. Dyrud received a Purple

Audubon Sanctuary welcomes change

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

The Wetland's Pines and Prairie Audubon Sanctuary held its 23rd Annual Membership Banquet on Monday, March 28.

Pam Wockenfuss began the annual meeting by introducing herself as the new director of the WPP Audubon Sanctuary. Originally from Alaska, Wockenfuss accepted the position of director in November. She brings working experience from a variety of fields, including past management and bookkeeping positions.

"In the past I've done whatever it takes to keep my family alive. Now I get to do what I love," Wockenfuss said.

WPP Audubon Sanctuary membership

Wockenfuss said the WPP Audubon Sanctuary has recruited close to 80 sponsor businesses in 2005, with donation totals already exceeding the $4,000 mark.

All money donated by sponsor businesses is used for education programs, educating people in a seven-county area on a variety of issues and interests.

The WPP Audubon Society is beginning its personal membership drive. Prospective members can choose to support both the National Audubon Sanctuary, the WPP Audubon Sanctuary or both. For a $20 contribution to the national sanctuary, a member will receive the Nation Audubon Magazine and the WPP newsletter, "Snowy Owl." A $20 contribution to the WPP Audubon Society will get a member a subscription to the bi-monthly newsletter, "The Snowy Owl," and a collectable sanctuary mug.

Pam Wockenfuss

Scott Elkins

Sierra Club

Scott Elkins, state director of the Sierra Club was the banquet's key note speaker. Elkins oversees all of the club's environmental protection and conservation work in Minnesota Statewide, 11 staff members, several hundred active volunteers and 20,000 members work on the issues of clean air, clean water, urban sprawl and forest and wildlands protection.

The Sierra Club was founded by John Muir (1938-1914) a famous and influential naturalist who has been called the father of national parks. Muir and supporters formed the Sierra Club in 1892. He served as the club's first president until his death in 1914.

Since its founder's death, the Sierra Club has remained committed to the protection of national parks and the promotion of responsible use of the earth's ecosystem and resources.

Elkin's message to WPPAS members discussed the current

More than 400 passengers used Mesaba last month in TRF

A total of 405 people arrived at and departed from the Thief River Falls Regional Airport in March via Mesaba Airlines airplanes. That information is according to a Mesaba Airlines report provided by the city of Thief River Falls.

That number does not include non-revenue passengers who arrived in or departed on Mesaba Airlines planes at the airport. Those individuals accounted for 28 arrivals and 29 departures in March. They are usually Mesaba Airlines employees who do not have to pay for their tickets.

Mesaba Airlines also transports air freight and air express packages into the airport. In March, Mesaba transported 840 pounds of air freight and air express packages to the airport. It also transported 36 pounds of air freight and air express packages out of Thief River Falls.

Roseau student finishes third in Multi-Regional State Spelling Bee

Two area students participated in the multi-regional state spelling bee on March 29 in St. Cloud. Heather Zinda of Roseau tied for third in the competition. She was eliminated in the 17th round. Carrie Wojciechowski of Tri County High School in Karlstad also had a strong showing. She was eliminated in the seventh round.

Forum Communications, co-sponsor of the Multi-Regional State Spelling Bee, will send the top speller of this bee, Andrew Peters of Rochester Public Schools. Peters correctly spelled "fritillary" to earn first place honors. Service cooperatives who sponsored regional spelling bees include Northeast SC - Mt. Iron; Northwest SC - Thief River Falls; Lakes Country SC - Fergus Falls; Resource Training and Solutions - St. Cloud; Southwest/West Central SC - Marshall; and Southeast SC - Rochester.

Wells Fargo awards $1,000 to Grygla student

Wells Fargo announced last week that Matthew Verbout of Grygla has been awarded a $1,000 college scholarship for the 2005-06 school year as part of its annual Wells Fargo Community Scholarship program. A senior at Grygla High School, Verbout is one of 70 high school students in the region to receive the scholarship this year.

"Through our scholarship program, Wells Fargo has an opportunity to support our community's outstanding students and future leaders as they advance toward college degrees in their home state colleges and universities," said Lenae Iverson, community banking president of Wells Fargo in Thief River Falls. "In receiving this year's scholarship, Matthew Verbout is recognized as on of a distinguished group of students across the region who excel in the classroom and in the community."

The scholarship program was created to encourage exceptional students to pursue undergraduate degrees in their home state. Over the last 15 years, Wells Fargo has awarded more than $1.2 million in financial assistance to 1,340 high school students across the region.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacours@mncable.net

The recipes today can be stirred together in a short time, just right for unexpected guests or quick desserts for the family.

When company's coming and you need something in a hurry, here's the recipe for you:

CHEWY CHOCOLATE SQUARES

2/3 cup shortening
2 cups sugar
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup flour
1/4 cup cocoa
2 teaspoons baking powder
3/4 cup rolled oats
3/4 cup nuts
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream shortening and sugar together. Add eggs and beat until fluffy. Whisk flour, cocoa, salt and baking powder, then add rolled oats. Add dry ingredients and blend into mixture well. Fold in nuts and vanilla.

Spread in 8x12 inch greased shallow pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes. (Recipe makes 2 1/2 dozen bars.)

Serve this favorite topping with ice cream along with the above bars or all by itself:

BUTTERSCOTCH ICE CREAM TOPPING

1 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup half and half
1/2 cup white syrup
2 tablespoons butter
Dash of salt
Vanilla
3/4 to 1 cup chopped walnuts

Combine brown sugar, half and half, white syrup, butter and salt in saucepan and bring to a boil, stirring occasionally. Boil to 240 degrees, then remove from heat for 1 minute. Mix in vanilla and nuts. Serve warm or refrigerate. (Stores well in fridge.)

There is no rum in this dessert, but it is still very tasty and quick to fix:

APPLE RUM DUM DESSERT

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter
1 egg
2 cups diced apples
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Mix all ingredients in order given. Pat into greased 9 inch square pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 40-50 minutes. Serve with ice cream or whipped cream.

Another simple dessert made with ingredients you probably have in your pantry right now:

APPLE DESSERT

1 can apple pie filling
2 eggs
1 can condensed milk
1/4 cup melted butter
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon apple pie spice
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup coconut
1/2 cup chopped pecans
1/4 cup butter or margarine

Butter a 9x9 inch dish. Place pie filling in bottom of dish.

Beat eggs. Mix milk, butter, cinnamon and spice and beat with eggs. Pour over apples.

Mix flour, brown sugar, coconut and pecans. Cut in 1/4 cup margarine and sprinkle over pie filling. Bake at 375 degrees for 45 minutes. Serve hot with ice cream.

Ever made apple dumplings? You can do it with this simple recipe. Make them ahead and then bake them while you are eating your meal. They're like little warm apple pies:

UGLY APPLE DUMPLINGS

1 medium apple
1 package (10 biscuits) refrigerated biscuits
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter

Remove and discard core from apple. Peel and chop apple.

Separate biscuits. On lightly floured surface, pat or roll each biscuit into a 4 inch circle. Place 1 tablespoon of chopped apple on each biscuit.

Stir cinnamon and sugar together and sprinkle over apple. Dot each with some of the butter.

For half moons, moisten edge of biscuits and fold in half over filling. Press down with fingers or a fork to seal. Place about 2 inches apart on ungreased baking sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 11-13 minutes or until golden. Remove to wire rack and serve warm.

The boy of summer

I like to believe that I view Major League Baseball's opening day with the same wide-eyed innocence that I did almost four decades ago. The freshness of an unsullied team, the possibilities of player potentials, the dizzying mathematics of the seven months ahead, the clichéd notions about the renewal of seasons and the bigger picture of humanity's rediscovered goodness. There's even the persistent unspoken thought, deep in the recesses of my brain, that maybe, just perhaps, if the Twins need help in the infield, that I might still get a call. All that crap and more, all rolled into the trivial confines of a game.

Back in the late 1960s I rooted hard for the Baltimore Orioles, not for any better reason that that the neighbor was a die-hard Red Sox fan and I was forced to pick someone else. The Orioles were no different than any other ball club of the era, comprised of fairly average hero-types. They had a third baseman named Robinson who was quite a fielder even though his glove looked like something the dog had chewed on a little too long before he got it back. Their right-fielder, another Robinson, had a knack for hitting the long ball when it was necessary and he could steal a few bases. The shortstop, despite being nearly six-feet tall, weighed only 160 pounds and you'd swear his arm was going to break off every time he had to throw from deep in the hole. He was a terrible hitter, to boot, never pushing past the .200 mark in all the seasons I followed the team, and yet he was a fan favorite. The first baseman was slow, overweight and nicknamed Boog. Why he was called by an unwanted bodily secretion always concerned me, but it was fun to yell "Booger" at the television when he came up to bat just to hear my mother reprimand me from the other room. The catcher's last name was Etchebarren, and, yes, even I made fun of him. These were everyday, meat and potatoes type of guys, the kind you might see working on the road construction crew down the street just as easily as you'd expect to see them in a major league uniform. Even the manager, a Hall of Famer named Earl Weaver, grew tomatoes in the bullpen dirt at Memorial Stadium during the course of the summer. These guys were not bigger than life. Heck, I could even consider being one of them when I grew up.

Which brings me to my concern about the modern day baseball steroids problem. I call it a "baseball steroids problem" not because I'm naïve as to the potential for use of the muscle enhancers in other professional sports. Anyone who feels that the NFL, the NBA, or the NHL is operating steroid-free has at least three more painful congressional hearings to endure. But in those cases, bulk and strength have always been a publicly accepted, integral part of the game. When we picked teams way back in sixth grade for those sports, we kids even recognized it. We might as well have lined up according to size. Bigger was better. And it still is. Doug Flutie, for example, was one of the most talented quarterbacks to ever take a snap from center, but his lack of a starting role in the NFL is directly attributable to his lack of size. A professional basketball league for men under 5-foot 10-inches was established in the mid-1980s, but went belly-up quickly because the public wanted the big boys. Good players in the NHL have always been big and strong, ask anyone who went in the corner with Gordie Howe.

Size is not a new and vital part of these sports and for us to express a self-righteous surprise and indignance when the push for bigger and stronger shows up through steroid use is hypocritical. Nor am I going to stand here and condemn the Bonds, McGuires and Sosas of the baseball world for their forays into the cutting edge of strength development. When the public clamored for something lofty and dramatic after the bitter mid-1990s strike, the players answered as best they could. The whisperings about performance enhancing drugs were always there, most of us simply chose not to listen.

My argument with the steroid use is that baseball is the one mainstream professional sport that really doesn't need them. It was a great game 40 years ago, worthy of capturing the American psyche every spring without the exaggerated size and Herculean strength. The players were skinny and quirky and human and they still put on a great show. It's a sport that didn't need the super heroes. Its appeal grew out of the notion that, if it wasn't actually me out there, it could very well be me out there. And if the Orioles needed somebody at second, I could fit the bill pretty easily. All I had to do was get out and work on my double-play footwork a little bit.

And with baseball's opening day today, I'm still not above believing it could be me out there. I'm a stereotypical major leaguer - a little under 6-foot, slightly overweight, and really good at growing tomatoes.

Warren man sentenced for tampering with anhydrous tank

A Warren man was sentenced March 29 in Marshall County District Court after tampering with an anhydrous ammonia tank.

Duke A. Garfve, 34, was sentenced on felony charges of tampering with the equipment of a facility used to contain, store or transport anhydrous ammonia; and first degree controlled substance crime -- attempting to manufacture methamphetamine. In a plea agreement, a felony offense of illegally possessing anhydrous ammonia in a container.

For the tampering charge, Garfve was sentenced to 13 months in prison. That sentence was stayed on the condition he serve six months in the Marshall County Jail and five years on probation. He was given credit for time served and ordered to pay a $120 fine. Garfve was also ordered to pay $300 in restitution. He was ordered to provide a DNA sample as well. Huber/Sentence to Serve privileges were granted.

For the controlled substance crime charge, Garfve was sentenced to 12 months and one day in prison stayed on the condition that he serve six months in jail concurrent to the other charge. He was also ordered to serve three years of probation. Garfve was ordered to pay a $120 fine as well. He also received credit for time served.

Garfve was charged with the offenses after tampering with an anhydrous ammonia tank Jan. 10 at Northwest Grain in Warren.

Opportunities in education exist after gradution

Warmer and longer days have students anxiously waiting for the last day. For high school graduates, the last day of school has many meanings. For some it will mean employment, but for others it will further education.

Last week, Irv Peterson, Superintendent of School District 564 in Thief River Falls, urged high school graduates to seek further education. "Study after study will show that a person with two years or more of higher education will earn significantly more money annually than their peers who do not attend college. Those with four-year degrees earn still more. Don't get me wrong. I'm not saying that making more money makes one happy or successful, but demands are great on a person or a family today, and lack of income to support the type of lifestyle a person or family wants does spell disaster."

Peterson noted that it may not be possible for a person to obtain additional education immediately after high school; individuals need time and experience to make plans that will prepare them for their future. For some, graduation from high school may mean joining the armed services. In fact, joining the armed services may be their key to obtaining additional education. Peterson seemed to indicate too, that at this time in their life some students may have no other option than to seek employment.

Don't give up. Higher education may be becoming more expensive but don't let that stop you from obtaining additional education even if you have to wait.

There are lots of opportunities out there. In the last edition of the Northern Watch appeared a story reporting that more than $50,000 in scholarships had been awarded at the Northland Community and Technical College spring scholarship ceremony. And, our reporters have written numerous stories in the past about area businesses providing educational opportunities for their employees. These area businesses have discovered over the years, that to remain competitive and keep their competitive edge in the world marketplace, they need to have a well-educated workforce. This tells us that additional education is not only good for many personal reasons, but it's good for our local economy, as well.

As the days to graduation draw near, don't give up on your dreams, and never give up on learning.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Governor Pawlenty renews push for Minnesota transportation financing plan

On April 6, Governor Tim Pawlenty and Lt. Governor Carol Molnau renewed their call for passage of a substantial, long-term transportation financing package during the 2005 legislative session. The Pawlenty administration has proposed a plan that would provide more than $7 billion in additional state transportation funding through 2017, without raising taxes.

"Improving Minnesota's transportation system is one of the most important investments state government can make," Governor Pawlenty said, speaking at Mn/DOT's announcement of the 2005 state highway construction program. "We are more than 15 years behind in financing and building critical road, bridge and transit projects across the state. This is the year to make a significant step forward in addressing these needs."

Mn/DOT's 2005 construction season announcement highlighted several projects across the state that were accelerated as a result of the $825 million transportation funding package proposed by Governor Pawlenty and approved by the Legislature in 2003. Overall, the 2003 package will deliver 18 major capitol improvement and safety projects more than 60 years ahead of their original schedules.

"The success of the 2003 financial package is clearly reflected in our announcement today," said Lt. Governor and Mn/DOT Commissioner Molnau. "We have been able to add critical projects to our construction program much faster than otherwise would have been possible. My hope is that Mn/DOT can have similar announcements every year for the next 12 years."

The administration plan proposed in December calls for: (1) a constitutional amendment to permanently dedicate 100 percent of the Motor Vehicle Sales Tax to transportation, providing $2.65 billion for highway, local roads and transit over 10 years and (2) a $4.5 billion, 10-year bonding package that will accelerate construction of major state highway projects.

"I think we all agree that increasing transportation funding is vital to Minnesota's future," Governor Pawlenty said. "It just seems to me that if we can do that without raising taxes—why wouldn't we?"

Governor Tim Pawlenty launches "Operation Clean-Up" in Minnesota

Plan will deploy about 150 offender work crews for effort

Governor Tim Pawlenty has announced a comprehensive clean-up plan for Minnesota highways. Known as "Operation Clean-Up." The effort will target the state's most littered highways using state and county Sentencing to Service (STS) crews, along with Adopt-a-Highway volunteers to complete the project at minimal cost to taxpayers. Crews will begin working over the next few weeks with a coordinated focus during the first week in May.

"In Minnesota we love spring and look forward to its arrival," Governor Pawlenty said. "But unfortunately when the snow melts it reveals the litter that has piled up on our roadways. This year we are tackling the problem head-on in a focused way utilizing volunteers and offenders who are working as part of their sentence."

While crews have cleaned Minnesota roadways in the past, the Governor's plan brings together for the first time the skills and resources of the Departments of Transportation (MnDOT) and Corrections, two of state government's larger agencies. The Department of Corrections will be providing both state work crews and the coordination of county STS crews, who will be directed to the neediest and high traffic highways by MnDOT. Combined, Corrections expects to use about 150, eight-person work crews who will invest over 48,000 hours to the program.

Adopt-a-Highway volunteers, who clean up more accessible roads, will be asked to focus efforts in their areas during May. Lt. Governor Molnau, who is also Minnesota's Commissioner of Transportation, also encouraged additional volunteers to join a county or local Adopt-a-Road program, as most state highways are already adopted.

"Minnesota is blessed with many organizations and individuals who have long been devoted to cleaning up our roads," said Lt. Governor Molnau. "I am committed to building on that good will and continuing our support of those efforts." Information about the Adopt-a-Highway program can be found at www.dot.state.mn.us/adopt/.

STS was created in 1986 as a sentencing alternative for Minnesota courts that puts carefully selected, non-violent offenders to work on community improvement projects. Judges can sentence offenders to STS rather than jail or fines, in combination with jail time, or as a probation sanction. In addition to contributing to a cleaner Minnesota, the STS program reduces jail crowding and provides offenders with a positive way to repay the community for their offenses. STS crews frequently work on river cleanup, trail development, and work for public senior citizen housing. The DNR, local counties and other agencies identify work activities and supply equipment.

"This program and the use of STS is a great opportunity to bring together multiple public interests in a very positive way," said Corrections Commissioner Joan Fabian.

About 29,000 offenders participate in STS annually, working over 1 million hours.

TRF man sentenced for sex charges, other charges

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

A Thief River Falls man was sentenced Thursday in Pennington County District Court on criminal sexual conduct charges and other charges.

Nicholas Aune

Nicholas Donald Aune, 27, was sentenced on felony charges of third degree criminal sexual conduct and possession of stolen property. He was also sentenced on gross misdemeanor charges of invasion of privacy and fifth degree criminal sexual conduct. Aune pled guilty Feb. 3 to those offenses. In a plea agreement, charges of disorderly conduct and trespassing were dismissed.

Aune was sentenced to 23 months in prison stayed for 15 years on the felony third degree criminal sexual conduct, according to the Pennington County Court Administrator's Office. That sentence was stayed on the condition that he serves 15 years of supervised probation and six months in the Pennington County Jail. He received credit for time served. Aune was also ordered to pay $398 in fees and fines and $700 for polygraph testing. The state has two years to file restitution claims for victim therapy. Among other conditions, he has to register as a sex offender, participate in outpatient sex offender treatment and give a DNA sample. Aune was also ordered to undergo an alcohol problem assessment.

That charge stems from an incident in November 2003, according to the criminal complaint. At that time, Aune inappropriately touched and had sexual intercourse with a female under the age of 16 at C'Mon Inn. That charge was filed after an investigation into other unrelated charges.

For the felony possession of stolen property charge, Aune was sentenced to 17 months in jail stayed for five years. That sentence was stayed on the condition he serve six months in jail concurrent with the sentence for the third degree criminal sexual conduct charge. It is also stayed on the same conditions as the other files. Aune received credit for time served. He was ordered to pay $148 in fees and fines and $6,035 in restitution.

That charge stemmed from the execution of a search warrant that resulted from an investigation related to the interference with privacy charge. During the execution of that search warrant, 256 OVDs, 19 Playstation games, 2 Xbox games and nine pornographic movies were found. The items belong to Take 2 Video.

The gross misdemeanor charges included fifth degree criminal sexual conduct as well as interference with privacy. That criminal sexual conduct charge stemmed from a Dec. 27 incident at the Best Western Lounge. Aune touched a woman's buttocks underneath her clothing. That incident was reported while police were investigating other charges against Aune.

The interference with privacy charge stemmed from an incident in the 2000 block of Greenwood St. E. Aune knocked on a window. When the resident looked outside, she found he had exposed himself. Aune, who was wearing dark clothing and a face mask, made a suggestive comment to the resident and masturbated. The aforementioned search warrant was then executed at Aune's residence in the 900 block of Reserve Ave. in Thief River Falls. Black clothing and a black face mask were found there.

For each gross misdemeanor charge, Aune was sentenced to one year in jail stayed for two years. Those sentences were stayed on the same conditions as the other files. He was ordered to serve two years on unsupervised probation for both of those offenses. Aune was also ordered to pay $148 in fees and fines for both offenses.

According to the criminal complaint for the privacy charge, Aune has a 1998 conviction for a felony offense of harassment/stalking in Stearns County.

Aune also has misdemeanor convictions for indecent exposure and harassment in Stearns County, said Assistant Pennington County Attorney Al Rogalla in an earlier interview.

Gospel sing-along held April 17 in Fosston

The Embassy Community Center of Fosston will hold its monthly gospel music sing-along at the center on Sunday, April 17, at 3 p.m.

Special guests for the day will be "Free Indeed," a three generational music group that performs country/bluegrass gospel and other music. Alice Fugelstad plays guitar and sings. Annie Hendrickson, Alice's daughter plays bass guitar and sings. Josiah Hendrickson, 16, plays saxophone and sings. Hannah Hendrickson, 13, plays the fiddle and sings. The group's focus is on glorifying God through music with an emphasis on vocal harmonies.

Anyone playing a musical instrument is welcome to participate in the sing-along portion of the program. Also on the schedule of activities for the day will be a devotional thought, an attendance gift will be given and potluck refreshments will end the day with fellowship and a time of visiting.

Northern Expressions applications are available

Northern Expressions School of the Arts is now taking applications for the 2005-06 school year. Northern Expressions is a tuition-free Arts High School for students in the Seventh Congressional District of Minnesota and is housed at Lincoln High School (LHS) in Thief River Falls. One of seven in the state, it is partially funded through the Perpich Center for Arts Education in Golden Valley.

Students entering 11th or 12th grade during the 2005-06 school year and who are residents of the Seventh Congressional District are eligible to participate in the Arts School.

The Arts School is designed for students whose interests in a particular art area is very high and whose ability has reached a point where they are ready for the challenge that Northern Expressions has to offer. The school also accepts those students with no previous formal experience, but whose interest is high.

In existence since the fall of 1992, the Arts School offers focused studies in visual arts, media arts, literary arts, theater arts and music (instrumental, vocal and orchestral). Students elect to study at least one art area in depth. As part of the Arts School experience, students take a class called Expressive Connections where they study the relationships among the art areas and general studies.

The school has a priority deadline of May 1 for next year. After May 1, students are accepted on a space available basis. For more information or to request an application packet, contact Bill Stock via phone at (218) 681-8672, by e-mailing bstock@trf.k12.mn.us, or by writing to him at LHS Counseling Office, 101 Knight Ave S., Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

UCare to hold informational meetings on senior health plans

UCare Minnesota will hold informational meetings about UCare for Seniors, a Medicare Advantage plan now available in Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Polk, Pennington and Red Lake Counties. Members of UCare's sales staff will discuss the UCare for Seniors Grand and Superior plans, the two health plan options being offered in northwestern and greater Minnesota. The UCare for Seniors Superior Plan features comprehensive coverage plus coverage for prescription drugs, eyewear and hearing aids. The UCare for Seniors Grand Plan offers comprehensive coverage, but at a lower monthly premium.

With more than 28,000 members, UCare for Seniors is the state's largest Medicare Advantage plan. Eligible idividuals can enroll at any time during the year. To register for a meeting or for more information, call toll free 1-877-523-1518.

Permits required for work in flood plain districts

Construction season is here so plan in advance to determine whether the property is located in a floodplain or shore land zoning districts. In Marshall County, these districts require land-use permits prior to any construction taking place. Applications for permits must be submitted with time allowed for the technical work of determining ordinary high-water lines, floodplain elevations and application reviews.

Permits are required for:

- The construction of buildings, additions, decks and remodeling;
- The installation and or alteration of sewage treatment systems;
- The placement of roads, driveways and parking areas;
- Modification of feedlots;
- Specific grading, filling and other land alteration activities.

Call Jan at the Marshall County Water and Land Office at 218-745-4217 to obtain zoning requirements, information, contact lists and permit applications.

NCTC new student scholarship applications due April 15

Students planning to attend Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) in Thief River Falls this fall are encouraged to apply now for scholarships. The NCTC Foundation will award more than $30,000 in scholarships to incoming students, who will be honored at the Fall Semester Scholarship Ceremony.

The new NCTC-TRF student scholarship application is available now from the NCTC Financial Aid, Admissions and Foundation offices and college's Web site (www.northlandcollege.edu/alumni_and_friends/scholarships.php). Applications must be completed and returned to the NCTC Foundation Office by Friday, April 15. Scholarships are awarded in amounts between $100 and $2,000.

There are several scholarships for which new, incoming students may be eligible. Only one application form is required to apply for any of them. The newest scholarship award is the Ole and Ruth Tweet Scholarship. To be eligible for this new scholarship, the student must intend to enroll in Fine Arts Studies at the NCTC-TRF campus. The Tweets have provided a $300 scholarship, which will be awarded for the first time this spring. The scholarship winner will be recognized at the Fall Semester Scholarship Ceremony.

Nomination deadline set for "Community Builders" Awards

A May 2 nomination deadline has been set for "Community Builders" Awards. Each year, the Northwest Minnesota Women's Fund recognizes those women who have demonstrated leadership for improving the quality of their own lives and/or the lives of those around them.

"Community Builders" Awards will be given based on the following criteria:

- Leadership – A woman who through leadership roles has made significant contributions to her community, and through volunteerism, citizenship or community service has significantly improved the lives of women and girls.
- Outstanding Mentor – A woman who has demonstrated wisdom and devotion to helping others, a role model and mentor who has supported and encouraged positive development in young women, and who also shows the characteristics necessary for success while actively sharing her skills.
- Professional Excellence – A woman who has demonstrated leadership and excellence in her work and whose leadership has benefited her community and/or her company; a role model for other women in achieving success in traditional or non-traditional positions.

Nomination forms and more information are available by calling Lisa Peterson at 1-800-659-7859 or via the Internet at www.nwmf.org.

Audubon Sanctuary welcomes change relationship between environmentalists and politicians.

"A lot of the people that I work with and talk to say this is a frustrating time," Elkins said. "Politics are not on our side right now."

Elkins gave one example that pertained to mercury levels in Minnesota lakes. He stated that every lake in Minnesota that has been tested, has been found to have an unhealthy level of mercury. He added that because of the mercury levels, there are recommended limits on fish consumption, particularly for women of child bearing age and children.

"The Bush administration just released their mercury rule, which is a dramatic step back from the protections the Clean Water Act initially had in place, that would have required a 90 percent decrease in mercury emissions," Elkins said. "I think it was by 2009 and I think they brought that back to 70 percent by 2018 or 2019."

Elkins added that the change was made, despite the EPA saying reduction could be made by 2010.

The changing role of environmentalists

Elkins next stated, that as an environmentalist, there is currently "a sense of holding the line on environmental protection." He added that many environmental protection workers he spoke to recently, felt like they would see a large drop off in memberships after elections last year.

He continued, saying that environmental protection workers were worried that people would feel like they were fighting a losing battle. Interestingly, that has not happened, he said. An example of this, noted by Elkins, was the Dec. 5 Sierra Club meeting, held in the Twin Cities, to talk about all of the club's different committees and what they were doing.

"We expected 50 or 60 people to show up, but we had 125," Elkins said, noting that so many people, many of whom he had never seen, showed up, asking what they could do to help the Sierra Club's efforts.

Elkins compared the effort to the beginning of the environmental movement.

"When the environmental movement began, it was people who cared about what they were doing," he said. "They committed time, because they cared about it, not because they were getting a pay check. It came from their hearts."

Elkins said when the Clean Water Act and clean air landmark legislation passed, it was because of the efforts of volunteers and it came from the heart. He continued, saying that things changed in the 1980s and 90s. Environmentalists and clubs got a bit righteous.

"People started getting paychecks," Elkins said. "They thought they knew what Minnesota needed and what the nation needed for environmental laws. We stopped talking to people about what they cared about and started talking to people about what we cared about."

Elkins said that environmental protection is about people.

"It's about people," Elkins said. "While some would argue that it's about trees, animals, water and air, really, the movement for environmental protection is about us, about people and the air we breathe, the land we care about and the water we drink."

Elkins said he has talked to a lot of people about environmental protection, some of whom react negatively when they find out he works for the Sierra Club. But what he has found, is that most people have some concerns for the environment.

"I can't always predict the concerns, but I can predict that people will have concerns," Elkins said. He added that he doesn't always have all of the answers. He said that some of the best ideas for environmental protection come from small groups of three to four people, feeding off one another's ideas, they can come up with some pretty amazing ideas.

Elkins said environmental protection efforts need to return to their roots, back to what environmental movements used to mean. He said that in 1990, 85 percent of those surveyed said they felt pretty good about environmentalists as people. By 2000, that number was down to 63 percent.

"People are getting disassociated from environmentalists, even though their own concerns are the air, water and land around them," Elkins said.

Elkins feels like the Audubon Sanctuary is an excellent example of environmental protection reform. He was very pleased to see all of the support at the WPP Audubon Sanctuary membership banquet.

"That's what environmentalism is about," Elkins said. "It's not about lobbyists, its not about people thinking smart ideas about legislation. That has its place, but when environmental groups lose touch with what it means to come to a dinner with people like you, who show and demonstrate your support, a family who doesn't think about this stuff every day, we lose touch with the movement and what's going to have to happen if we are going to sustain protection of the environment in this country."

Elkins said the Sierra Club is moving away from lobbyists and more into community based programs. He said the club will still keep an eye on legislation, but will be more focused on introducing community programs, that ask, what do you care about? How can we help?

Program notes

Heart for his wounds received. He was discharged from the U.S. Army in 1968.

Dyrud began his work with veterans in 1973, when he took the position of Pennington County Veterans Service Officer. In 1976, he was named community service coordinator in the psychiatric unit of Northwestern Hospital in Thief River Falls. In 1980, Dyrud joined the Minnesota Department of Veterans Affairs, taking a security position for the Minnesota Veterans' Homes. In 1981, Dyrud was appointed supervisor of the Department's Fargo branch office.

From 1985 to 2004 Dyrud served as claims division supervisor of the Department's Ft. Snelling office. In 2004, he was named director of Veterans Programs. In this position, Dyrud provided supervision of claims and benefit services as well as assistance to Minnesota's 87 county veteran service offices.

Dyrud is a member of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Disabled American Veterans, and the Military Order of the Purple Heart. He received an A.A. degree from Northland Community College in Thief River Falls. Dyrud also attended Metropolitan State University in St. Paul. Dyrud and his wife, Marilynn O'Donnell, reside in south Minneapolis.

The Commissioner of Veteran Affairs reports to the governor and receives a salary of $108,000 per year. The Department has an annual budget of over $7 million and serves veterans in securing all state and federal benefits provided by law.

Clark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dyrud, Thief River Falls. He has three brothers and a sister: Lowell Dyrud, Thief River Falls, Rev. Connely Dyrud, Brazil, Chester Dyrud, Maryland, and Dr. Leola Furman, Minneapolis.

Thomas said the college was very excited about working with the Minnesota Historical Society, which loaned the pieces along with some other items for the display to the college. He said he hopes this goes well and leads to more displays from the Minnesota Historical Society in the future.

The display coincides with two special projects at the college: Native Image Month and Minnesota Archaeological Week (April 27 through May 5). The public is invited to view the items in the gallery, which is open 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Thomas said some of the pots on display are reproductions. There is one that was reconstructed and all are representative of what would have been in use at the time the artifacts found at NCTC had been in use. All of the pots and displays are very fragile and Thomas said he hopes that visitors to the gallery will be respectful. He also would like to remind residents that it is illegal to dig up artifacts.

The discovery of artifacts on college property came about as part of a project by the Duluth Archaeology Center. The private firm was hired by the city of Thief River Falls to evaluate how erosion was affecting archaeological sites on the Red Lake and Thief rivers. Out of the 18 sites investigated, four had significant archaeological findings, all of them on NCTC land.

This area near Northland Community and Technical College used to be a settlement site for Native American Indians. In 2001, archeologist conducted a test excavation at the site for the purpose of cultural resource management. Several artifacts were uncovered. Several of the items will be on display in the gallery at Northland Community and Technical College beginning Monday, April 11.

Behind Barbed Wire:
Midwest POWs in Nazi Germany

The American Heartland has unique connections to the WWII prisoner of war (POW) experience. Despite this legacy, virtually no one is aware of it. Housed in a converted school bus, the mobile exhibit Behind Barbed Wire illustrates this history through narrative texts, multi-media and artifacts.

This exhibit will be in Thief River Falls from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Monday the 18th of April 2005.

The BUS-eum will be parked at the TRF Public Library at 101 1st ST E.

Thief River Falls boys high school tennis team...

Defending Section 8A champions hope to take next step

A year ago members of the Thief River Falls boys high school tennis team had their sights set on reaching the Class A state tournament. And they did just that. This time around the goal is even higher. The 2005 Prowlers want to win at the state level.

With nine lettermen and eight players with state tournament experience, that objective isn't out of the question, according to Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad, who said his team was well-prepared for the start of preseason work.

"The first week of practice was very impressive," pointed out Hanestad. "Our top nine players gained a lot of strength in the off-season. Most of them drilled in Grand Forks over the winter, and it shows."

Thief River Falls put together a Section 8A championship 16-3 dual meet record last spring. Two of those losses were 5-2 state tournament setbacks at the hands of Waseca and Litchfield.

Returning from that state tournament line-up are seniors Jon Kays and Joe Ihle; juniors Michael Forney and Justin Pyle; sophomores Cody Bottem, Corey Horien and Jordan Swanson; along with freshman Jacob Engelstad. Junior Jordan West is also a returning letterman.

The roster also includes senior Hugh Campbell, freshmen Chase Haviland, Brian Kays, Michael Kalinoski, Tom Kalinoski and Chris Rosland; plus eighth grader Parker Nessen.

"This is a very talented group of players who have worked very hard to get to where they are right now," said Hanestad. "It will be exciting to see their level of play at the end of the season."

The Prowlers will open the year Tuesday, April 12, by playing East Grand Forks and Moorhead in a double-dual at East Grand Forks. The schedule lists just two home appearances – an April 28 dual vs. Bemidji and the May 12 Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational.

With the top two seeds hosting the single-round North Sub-Section 8A team tournament matches, the Prowlers are also looking to play in Thief River Falls May 24. North Sub-Section 8A individual tournament matches will be played at Crookston. Section 8A team and individual competition will take place at Park Rapids.

"If we continue to work hard and stay focused, this team is definitely capable of returning to the tournament this season, and winning when they get there," offered Hanestad.

Summer baseball pays off

■ VFW, Legion experience carries into high school

Shane Zutz hopes to reap the benefit of 'summer ball' when the Thief River Falls head high school baseball coach puts his team on the field this spring.

"There isn't a player on our varsity roster who didn't play 35 games with either the VFW or Legion last summer," pointed out Zutz. "Those are a ton of extra at-bats, innings and opportunities to play that the kids took advantage of."

The Prowlers will try to put that experience to work beginning Thursday, April 14, in their 2005 season and home opener vs. Roseau.

"I'm excited about the year," said Zutz. "This is a tremendous baseball group. They really know and understand the game well, and what it takes to be successful. Hopefully that translates to success on the field."

Pitching and hitting in the cold-weather, compacted spring high school season often produces surprises – both on the plus and negative sides. And Zutz is anxious to see how those areas evolve. "Pitching, as always, will be our key," he said. "We are really hoping to improve offensively. It is a focus for us in practice right now. We will try to utilize our speed. We will try to get people moving (stealing, bunting) to create some confusion and score some runs."

Zutz lists the names of eight players he can call on for pitching duty. Juniors Alex Carlson and Justin Brooks pitched regularly last spring when Carlson was 3-4 with a 7.35 earned-run average over 26 innings and Brooks went 1-2 with a 3.28 ERA for 36 innings.

Rest of the pitching staff includes seniors Chris Matter and David Lovly, along with juniors Jon Drees, Tomas Heaton, Drew Kjono, Ross Helling and Dan Kaushagen.

Senior Alec Holen and Carlson were major producers on offense in 2004 when Holen led all regulars by hitting .367 (22/60) and Carlson hit .345 (19/55) with a team-leading 12 RBI.

Defensively, the Prowlers have options, according to Zutz. "We will have some versatility," he said. "There are a number of players who can play a number of positions."

The infielders are Holen, Heaton, Drees, Lovly, Helling, senior Wyatt Reed and junior Lucas Genereux.

Candidates for the three outfield spots are Carlson, Matter, Kjono, Kaushagen, senior Cory Braastad and junior Ryan Kruse.

Genereux and sophomore Michael Benedict are the catchers. However, Genereux is still on the mend from a knee injury suffered during the hockey season.

The program also includes sophomores Patrick Barry, Cole Hunt, Eric Blix, Michael Blix, Sean Sorteberg, Ben Carlson and Jesse Stante, along with freshmen Joel Seim, Dan Nelson, Spencer Johnson, Jake Collins, Bryan Rambeck, Jordan Espeseth, Nick Gagner, Brad Homstad, CJ Swanson and Ryan Dahl.

Joining Zutz on the coaching staff are Carter Rogalla and Courtney Skjerven at the junior varsity level, Rick Johnson and Tim Magnusson with the middle school.

Cody Lundgren SIDS tourney set

Third annual Cody Lundgren Memorial SIDS Golf Tournament will be held Friday, June 10, at the Thief River Golf Club.

The fund-raising event features an 18-hole, four-person best-ball scramble format. A $40 entry fee includes golf, two mulligans and lunch.

Lunch will be served beginning at 11 a.m. Golf gets under way with a noon shotgun start.

Top-finishing teams will be presented with Thief River Golf Club Pro Shop gift certificates. Door prizes will also be awarded.

The event is staged in memory of Cody Lundgren, son of Charles and Tami Lundgren of Thief River Falls, who died Nov. 30, 2000, in Fargo, N.D., at the age of 3 months from Sudden Infant Death Syndrome.

Tournament proceeds go to the Minnesota Sudden Infant Death Center at Children's Hospitals and Clinics of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

To enter, make a donation or obtain additional information, call Mike Lundgren at 218-681-7390 (home) or 218-681-4450 (work).

Northland baseball home debut starts 2005 division play

Northland's baseball team will make its 2005 home debut and begin Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division play Tuesday, April 12, when the Pioneers take on Mesabi Range in a 1 p.m. doubleheader.

In a final nonconference tune-up, the Pioneers are in Austin this weekend to play in the Crossover Tournament being hosted by Riverland Community College.

The draw for the six-team Friday/Saturday event had Northern Division teams Northland, Itasca and Mesabi Range matched against Riverland and Minnesota West from the MCCC Southern Division and Fergus Falls from the Central Division.

Northland took a 4-7 record into the weekend.

The six home doubleheaders on the 2005 Northland baseball schedule include Northern Division match-ups with Mesabi Range, Hibbing, Vermilion and Itasca, along with nonconference encounters with Minot State University-Bottineau and Dakota County.

Northland will also face those Northern Division rivals on the road and will have a home-and-home series with Bottineau.

Beginning with Tuesday's home opener, the final 11 scheduled Northland baseball dates are all 1 p.m. doubleheaders.

Qualifiers will compete in the MCCC state tournament May 7-8 at Rochester and the National Junior College Athletic Association Division III Region 13 tournament May 13-15 at Willmar.

MCCC baseball went from two to three divisions this spring. Fergus Falls and Central Lakes were moved from the Northern Division into the newly-formed Central Division, along with former Southern Division member Anoka-Ramsey

Second track meet sends TRF to BSU

Second high school track meet of the 2005 season for Thief River Falls took the Prowlers to the Gillett Recreation Center on the Bemidji State University campus Tuesday for the Little Amix-II Indoor.

Nineteen teams scored points in the boys' portion of the meet. There were 21 point-scoring teams in the girls' division. Team titles went to Dilworth-Glyndon-Felton boys and and Detroit Lakes girls.

Thief River Falls point totals were modest in both portions of the meet, but Prowlers head coach Tim Olson was nevertheless enthused about the performances.

"Again, we're young," explained Olson. "But those young kids are aggressive. They're doing some nice things, and they're having fun. I'm very happy with what I'm seeing."

Highlighting the Prowlers' results were personal-best efforts in the boys shot by both Ryan Brummond and Erik Brenna. The two juniors went 45-2 and 41-9, respectively. It was a second place throw for Brummond. Brenna was seventh.

A fifth place in the 4x800 boys relay also gave Olson reason to smile as juniors Evan Jones and Cody Nelson and sophomore Lee Steva and Mark Campbell turned in a 9:39.28.

"For us to place in the 4x800 is pretty remarkable," acknowledged Olson. "We just haven't had the distance runners in the past. This year we've got some kids who like to run distance, and they're doing a nice job."

Thief River Falls girls also placed in the 4x800 – a third place 11:05 by seniors Sara Kalinoski and Jenna and juniors Heather Keogh and Korbi Fisher.

Freshman Katie Walrath was fourth in the 200, sixth in the 55 and ran the lead leg on an eighth place 4x200 relay team that also included senior Brianna Reierson, sophomore Dana Ranum and freshman Kayse Lee.

An annual feature of the area indoor season, the Little Amix competition split into a two-meet format featuring one set of records four years ago when the original field grew too large for the facility. The Prowlers were not part of the Little Amix-I meet.

The Prowlers' first outdoor meet of the year will be the Northland Community and Technical College Invitational Monday, April 18, at the Multi-Events Center.

Prowlers win 9-2 Game 1 decision

Hitting, pitching and defense. Thief River Falls had all three Tuesday in a season-opening 9-2 high school softball win at East Grand Forks.

The Prowlers banged out 12 hits; pitchers Megan Berg and Allyson Helling combined for nine strike-outs while scattering five hits; and the winners played error-free ball.

"We played well defensively," reported Thief River Falls coach Matt Okeson, "and the pitching was very good. Offensively, we bunted very well as a team. We took advantage of their errors and had timely hitting."

Kjelsy Loeffler led the hit parade with a 3-for-4 afternoon. Helling and Jamie Hoglo both had two hits. Brittni Johnson homered, while Helling and Berg tripled.

Loeffler opened the game by dropping an infield blooper over the head of East Grand Forks pitcher Diana Driscoll. She stole second and scored on a two-out triple by Helling.

The Green Wave tied it in the bottom of the inning with a single, wild pitch and a two-out Texas Leaguer by Jamie Utzinger over Johnson at short.

An inning later, Shayla Torrell led off with a single to left, advanced on a wild pitch and scored on a single to center by Hoglo as the Prowlers took the lead for good.

Helling's one-out pop-up single to short left and two East Grand Forks errors upped the difference to 3-1 in the third.

Johnson hit a two-out solo home run into the right-center field gap in the fourth.

Berg and Hoglo reached base on errors in the fifth and both scored – Berg on a sacrifice bunt by Trudy Erickson; Hoglo on a wild pitch.

Loeffler led off the sixth with another infield single, went to third on a single by pinch-hitting Amanda Timm and scored on a sacrifice bunt by Jenny Grove, another pinch hitter. Timm scored on a two-out triple by Berg to make it 8-1.

Helling took over the pitching duties from Berg in the sixth and gave up back-to-back doubles to Holly Boushey and Utzinger for a run.

Thief River Falls got that one back in the seventh on a two-out, RBI single by Loeffler.

It was the third straight year the Prowlers opened with a victory over the Green Wave. Thief River Falls won by 7-3 and 3-0 scores in 2003 and 2004, respectively.

While an opening-day win is certainly the right way to start the year, Okeson said there is room for improvement. "We have some little things to work on defensively," he explained. "We gave up a base or two on our outs. We need to stop giving up free bases."

Northland sweeps MCCC champions

Northland finished with 30 hits and 32 runs in a Wednesday road sweep over defending Minnesota Community College Conference state softball champion Fergus Falls.

The Pioneers won the opener 11-9 and out-scored the MCCC Southern Division Spartans 21-15 in Game 2.

With the two victories, Northland improved its season-opening nonconference record to 10-2.

"A good start," confirmed Northland coach Kathy Huschle. "It's always nice to win two games on the road like that, even if they are nonconference."

Shannon Olson was the winning pitcher in Game 1. Rochelle Nelk was the Game 2 winner.

Olson and Bekah Lindgren had two hits each in the opener. Olson, a freshman from Bagley, completed a productive twinbill with a four-hit performance in the nightcap.

Angie Van Maasdem added three hits to the Game 2 attack. The freshman catcher from Frazee also provided one of the few defensive highlights of the day with back-to-back pick-off throws to first base.

Northland won the opener on the strength of an eight-run second inning. The Pioneers had a pair of six-run innings in the nightcap and enjoyed a 21-9 spread after scoring five times in the top of the seventh. The Spartans managed to stretch it out, however, by scoring six times in their final at-bat.

The Pioneers' 18-hit second game offense was complemented by 11 walks, four errors and two hit-batsmen.

LHS, NCTC schedules will keep TRF diamonds busy

Between Lincoln High School and Northland Community and Technical College, six baseball/softball games are scheduled to be played in Thief River Falls Saturday, April 16.

The Prowlers have both a softball and baseball match-up with Badger/Greenbush-Middle River that day at the Multi-Events Center. The softball game, rescheduled from an April 1 postponement, starts at 11 a.m. The baseball game has a 1 p.m. first pitch.

Those multiple diamonds at the MEC complex will be put to use that day since that's also the site of a Northland vs. Rainy River softball doubleheader beginning at noon.

Meanwhile, just a short drive away, the Pioneers will be playing Hibbing in a 1 p.m. baseball double-header on the NCTC field.

The overlapping schedules will offer fans the opportunity to watch a lot of innings – free of charge since there is no admission charge for regular season LHS or NCTC baseball and softball.

Firearms safety class starts on April 19

Department of Natural Resources firearms safety class sponsored by the Pennington County Sportsmen Club will begin Tuesday, April 19, in the Lincoln High School cafeteria.

Registration is scheduled from 6:30 to 7 p.m. that night, followed by the first class session.

There will be evening classes April 19, 21, 25, 26 and 28. A field test is scheduled Sunday, May 1, from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Sportsmen Club range.

Participants must be 12 years old by Dec. 31, 2005. A parent/guardian signature is required.

Cost of the program is $10.

The program will also offer a summer session beginning July 19 and fall classes starting Aug. 29.

For additional information, call 681-3304.

Pioneers to face Central Lakes at MEC Wednesday

Home opener for the Northland Community and Technical College softball team will be a Wednesday, April 13, doubleheader against Central Lakes.

The Pioneers' 2005 Minnesota Community College Conference schedule began with Northern Division games at Mesabi Range Friday and Vermilion today (Saturday).

Home games at the Multi-Events Center for the Kathy Huschle-coached Pioneers include Northern Division match-ups against Central Lakes, Hibbing, Rainy River, Vermilion, Mesabi Range and Itasca, along with a twinbill against MCCC Southern Division foe Fergus Falls.

In addition to the Spartans, the Southern Division line-up includes Minnesota West, Ridgewater, Riverland and Rochester.

All Northland weekday outings are 3 p.m. doubleheaders. Saturday twinbills start at noon.

Qualifiers will compete in the National Junior College Athletic Association Division III Region 13 tournament May 6-7 at Grand Rapids. The MCCC Invitational state tournament is scheduled May 14-15 in Brainerd.

Lace 'em Up Basketball Camp is set June 6-10 at RLF Robert Matzke Gym

Dates have been set for the 12th annual Lace 'em Up Basketball Camp at the Robert Matzke Gymnasium in Red Lake Falls.

Designed for boys and girls in grades K-11 during the current 2004-05 school year, the camp will be held Monday-Friday, June 6-10.

Students in grades 6-11 will attend camp from 8 to 11:30 a.m. Sessions for students in grades K-6 will be held from noon to 3:30 p.m. Sixth graders have the option of coming to either the morning or afternoon session (or both).

The camp will stress basketball fundamentals, while featuring numerous games and contests, practice stations and skill sessions. A number of awards and prizes will be presented to the participants.

Camp fee is $50. If paid before May 15, the registration fee will include a champ shirt. The cost goes up to $55 if paid after June 1. There is maximum family fee of $100 if you have more than one camper from the same family.

To receive a registration form, or for additional information, contact the Red Lake Falls schools, or get in touch with Steve Philion, 518 Champagne Avenue, Red Lake Falls, MN 56550; telephone 218-253-2499.

Andy Larson selected Itasca basketball MVP

Marshall County Central graduate Andy Larson has been selected as the most valuable player on the 2004-05 Itasca Community College men's basketball team.

The 6-1 sophomore guard averaged 13.8 points, 6.6 rebounds and 3.5 assists per game.

Larson served as team captain for the Grand Rapids-based Vikings, who finished the year 8-18 overall and 4-8 in the Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division.

Minnesota bear hunt application deadline will be Friday, May 6

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources is now accepting applications for the 2005 Minnesota black bear hunting season.

This year's season will offer 15,950 licenses, available in 11 permit areas, and will run from Sept. 1 through Oct. 16.

Applications can be made through the Electronic Licensing System, and are available from ELS agents throughout the state, plus the DNR License Center in St. Paul.

Applications can also be made by calling 1-888-665-4236, or through the DNR Web site at www.dnr.state.mn.us.

Deadline for bear applications is Friday, May 6.

Licenses for the no-quota area, which is the area outside of the 11 permit areas, can be purchased directly at any ELS agent beginning July 1. No previous application is necessary to buy a no-quota area license.

In 2004, there were 16,466 applicants for the available 16,450 permit area licenses. Seven of the 11 permit areas were under-subscribed. Hunters harvested a total of 3,391 bears, 2,962 in the permit areas and 429 in the no-quota area.

Bear licenses cost $39 for residents and $196 for nonresidents. The bag limit will remain at two bears in the no-quota area, and one bear in all quota permit areas.

Northland baseball home opener will also be first Northern Division games

Region 1 & 2 Knowledge Bowl teams advance to state

The Win-E-Mac High School (Erskine) Knowledge Bowl team received second place at the Regional Knowledge Bowl Competition held March 30 in Thief River Falls. The team now advances to the state competition April 19 and 20 in Brainerd. Team members include (from left) Eric Strand, Evan Johnson, Aaron Cook, Rob Jenson and Mark Nichols. Other teams advancing to the state competition from Region 1 & 2 include first place regional competition winner East Grand Forks, third place winner Lake of the Woods (Baudette), fourth place winner Bemidji and fifth place winner Blackduck. (Submitted photo)

Twelve top teams from Region 1 & 2 competed at the Regional Knowledge Bowl Competition on March 30 in Thief River Falls. Regional champions advancing to the state competition on April 19 and 20 at Cragun's in Brainerd include: first place – East Grand Forks (125), second place – Win-E-Mac (Erskine, 109), third place – Lake of the Woods (Baudette, 104), fourth place – Bemidji (100) and fifth place – Blackduck (89).

Additional regional results include: sixth place – Lincoln (Thief River Falls, 84), seventh place - Warroad (83); eighth place – Climax-Shelly (82); ninth place – Roseau (79); 10th place – Red Lake Falls (75); 11th place – Clearbrook-Gonvick (67); and 12th place - Northome (66). Thirty-one schools in northwestern Minnesota participated in the 2005 Knowledge Bowl season with competitions facilitated by Northwest Service Cooperative.

The All Region Knowledge Bowl Academic Team recognizes students for their performances during the Knowledge Bowl season, reflecting their abilities and attitudes as individuals and team members.

The 2005 All Region Academic Team recognized at the regional competition included: Bemidji – Sam Benshoof and Roy Shi; Blackduck – Ian Cole and Shawn Young; Clearbrook/Gonvick – Josh Anderson; Climax/Gonvick – Gil Engelbert, East Grand Forks – John Keltenheim and Brendon O'Shea; Lake of the Woods – Matthew Severs and Peter Christensen; Northome – John Pula; Red Lake Falls – Nathan Guillemette; Roseau – Nancy Smebak; Thief River Falls – Ben Willis and KateLynn Snyder; Warroad – Chad Quibodeaux; Win-E-Mac – Evan Johnson and Eric Strand.

Individuals receiving Honorable Mentions at the regional competition included: Clearbrook/Gonvick – Ben Gunvalson; Climax/Shelly – Kara Nesvig; Northome – Matt Drewek; Red Lake Falls – Grace Johnson; Roseau – Sara Smebak; Warroad – Chris Quibodeaux. Additionally, one district team member from all other districts participating in the 2004-05 Knowledge Bowl season received Honorable Mention recognition.

Additional school districts participating in Region 1 & 2 Knowledge Bowl included Ada-Borup, Badger, Crookston, Fertile/Beltrami, Fisher, Fosston, Goodridge, Greenbush/Middle River, Grygla, Indus, Kelliher, Kittson Central, Lancaster, Mahnomen, Norman County West, Red Lake County Central, Stephen/Argyle, Tri-County and Waubun-White Earth-Ogema.

Minnesota Service Cooperative High School Knowledge Bowl competitions are interdisciplinary academic competitions designed for secondary students in grades 9-12. During the meets, teams of students participate in written and oral rounds by answering questions related to all areas of learning typical of secondary educational programs. Questions test students' recall, problem solving, and critical thinking skills. The competitions consist of a written round of 60 questions and four or five oral rounds of 45 questions each. Teams consist of four members and one alternate.

RAIN CARE CO.
Goodridge, MN
Seamless Aluminum Guttering, Heating, Air Conditioning
378-4641 378-4585
Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.
Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two man crew - saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

Minnesota Historical Society loaned out these clay pots to Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) in Thief River Falls. The pots accompany a display of artifacts uncovered on NCTC property in 2001 during a test excavation, which was undertaken for the purpose of cultural resource management. The display will be open to the public beginning Monday, April 11.

All-star lineup announced for Kick'n Up Kountry

Country music's brightest stars will shine at this year's Kick'n Up Kountry Music Festival in Hallock. From September 2 to 4, thousands of country music fans from all over North America will meet for one of Minnesota's most anticipated music events. Set in Kittson County's fairgrounds, the Kick'n Up Kountry Music Festival returns bigger and better, with dozens of top country performers, a vibrant craft market, a classic car auction, exceptional local food vendors and plenty of camping.

Kick'n Up Kountry President Ardell Larson says, "It's been truly amazing to watch the Kick'n Up Kountry Music Festival grow and receive such a great response from both artists and fans."

This year's lineup has attracted musicians from all over North America to perform at the festival. Confirmed artists to date include Canadian Country Music Association's Fan-Voted Entertainer of The Year, Terri Clark, Billy Currington, Sawyer Brown, Ron Kendricks, along with TJ Greywoll of Brooks & Dunn, plus many local and regional musical performers.

For the second straight year, the Kickn' Up Kountry Music Festival will be hosting the Colgate Country Showdown – Minnesota State Finals. Hailed as America's largest country music talent search, this prestigious event gives promising country music performers the chance to launch their professional music careers. Over the years, stars such as Garth Brooks, LeAnn Rimes, Sara Evans and John Michael Montgomery have competed in the Country Showdown.

Larson says, "The winner of this year's Minnesota State finals will advance to the regional competition then to a national showdown in Nashville, Tenn., where the winner will receive $100,000, a recording contract and national television exposure."

Early bird ticket specials are available until May 31. Tickets are available online at www.kicknupkountry.com or call toll free at 1-877-542-5687.

Why prune trees?

by Dave Hanson,
U of M Research Specialist,
Urban and Community Forestry

Many of us have had the pleasant (?) experience of the tag-along-toddler with only one question on their little mind, "Why?" This repeated inquiry can be challenging! We understand that the tag-along toddler is learning and cataloging tidbits of information for later use. The topic of pruning reduces many of us to the tag-along-toddler phase of our lives with one burning question "why?" This article will repeatedly ask that question and hopefully provide some answers!

Let's get started with this comment: Trees in a "natural" forest are seldom pruned and they do fine. On the other hand, people in urban areas insist on pruning trees frequently.

Why?

Are urbanites simply "control freaks" with a need to control some living thing? Not exactly there are valid reasons (safety, health of the tree, and aesthetics) to get out there and take a good look at the structure and condition of the trees in our landscape.

Three basic approaches to pruning:

1) Crown reduction: A method to reduce the overall height of a tree.

Why?

Most often put into practice under power lines to alleviate line conflicts. According to "Connexus energy (Spring 2004)" - "Trees are the number one cause of power outages."

This approach may also be employed to clear site lines for a scenic overlook.

2) Crown thinning/cleaning: This technique is often used to open up the canopy for air movement through the tree and to provide light penetration to the understory.

Why?

Correcting structural problems can prevent problems from wind, ice and snow or simply the weight of a maturing limb. Consider a limb or branch to be a lever arm that you learned about in physics - if you load that lever arm and it is not firmly attached to the tree or was previously damaged, it is likely to fail.

3) Crown raising: Simply put, this is the removal of lower branches to improve site lines near roads and to allow for movement of people and equipment under trees. Along city streets, for example, many municipalities remove permanent tree branches to a minimum height of 16 feet from the ground or street surface.

Why?

Large equipment can accidently prune the limbs by tearing them from the tree often causing irreparable damage. Along sidewalks, permanent tree branches should be a minimum of eight feet above the sidewalk to allow for pedestrian traffic and snow removal equipment. Depending where a tree is located in the landscape determines if branches are raised or allowed to sweep to the ground.

When to Prune?

Let's turn that question around - when is the "worst" time to prune a tree? From the tree's point of view, the months of April, May and into June may be the worst time to prune.

Why?

First, this is the time of year when trees deplete their energy reserves and put most of it into new leaves. Pruning at this time places the energy that has been moved into branches, twigs and leaves onto the burn pile or into a landfill. This practice places the tree in a stressed state, with an energy deficit that may not be completely recovered in that season. Secondly, this is an active time of year for many disease and fungal pathogens (oak wilt, for example). The warm spring months of April, May and June typically bring high humidity from spring rains; these factors provide an ideal environment for many pathogens to flourish.

Another "bad" time to prune is late autumn into early winter.

Why?

Pruning in late autumn and early winter can lead to winter injury. The pruning wounds may not have time to "harden off" or prepare for winter. This can lead to deeper freezing in the tissues around the wound and in essence a larger wound can be created with which the tree will have difficulty dealing.

Weinberg said he had had a chance to visit with Goddard Tuesday morning and that Goddard confirmed the fact that he had resigned.

Goddard did not return messages for comment. REA staff in Grand Forks, N.D., did not have a statement as of press time on Friday, either.

"We wish Tom the best of luck in his future and hope that he will continue to support the Ralph Engelstad Arena that he worked so hard to help develop," said Weinberg.

In the meantime, Weinberg said it will be business as usual at the "Ralph" and all current activities that have been planned will be honored. He added that they will continue to strive to provide the excellent treatment the public has come to expect from staff at the "Ralph."

Nature Conservancy for Glacial Ridge receives $200,000 grant

The Nature Conservancy for the Glacial Ridge National Wildlife Refuge in Crookston has received a $200,000 grant from the Bush Foundation.

In all, the foundation made grants of $7,294,602 to 49 organizations mostly located in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

The Nature Conservancy purchased the 35,000-acre Glacial Ridge property to restore it as a wetland and a wildlife refuge. It had been illegally drained in the 1980s. In 2004, it was designated as a national wildlife refuge and will eventually be managed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The grant will be used to continue restoration of the land.

The Bush Foundation is a private grantmaking organization. Established in 1953 by 3M executive Archibald G. Bush and his wife, Edyth, the foundation supports organizations in the areas of arts and culture, health and human services, education and ecological health in the region that includes Minnesota and the Dakotas.

TRF Wal-Mart construction to begin

Thief River Falls City Council approves final plat and developer's agreement

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

During the middle of next month, contractors will be able to bid on the construction of a Wal-Mart store in Thief River Falls.

Construction is expected to begin in the first part of June, said Jered Morris, a Wal-Mart representative employed by Olsson Associates of Edina. He noted the Wal-Mart store will be open for business next spring.

That announcement came Tuesday at a meeting of the Thief River Falls City Council. At the meeting, council members approved a final plat for the future Wal-Mart site located near the intersection of Nelson Drive and Highway 59 Southeast. They also approved a developer's agreement that specifies the city and corporation's responsibilities regarding the development. A building permit for Wal-Mart has yet to be approved.

Jake and Anne Barnick own the property. The sale of the Barnick property has not yet been recorded, according to Pennington County Recorder Ken Schmalz, who is also a Thief River Falls City Council member.

Wal-Mart is planning to build a 155,000-square-foot Supercenter that sells clothing, food and other merchandise. Plans also call for the store, which will face Highway 59 Southeast, to have a tire lube express service center and an indoor and outdoor garden center. Employing a minimum of 300 people, the store would be open 24 hours a day.

On Tuesday, council members unanimously approved a developer's agreement pertaining to the future Wal-Mart site. Council member Conrad Holten was absent. Under the developer's agreement, Wal-Mart would reimburse the city for approximately $312,000 for street and utilities construction work, said Public Works Director Ron Lindberg on Wednesday.

The developer's agreement includes a timeline for the completion of improvements to Nelson Drive, among other things. Sept. 23 is the deadline for the final completion of the Nelson Drive project.

The agreement stipulates Wal-Mart will reimburse the city for those improvements "so long as the city has met the time deadlines." If the deadlines have not been met, Wal-Mart has the option of hiring its own contractors. Those costs would

Split W/A/O Board says drop gym teacher for elementary

Warren - In a lengthy meeting with periods of rancor, the Warren/Alvarado/Oslo School Board decided Monday night, on a 4-3 vote, not to hire a replacement for the elementary physical education (PE) teacher, Susan Beving, who is retiring this spring.

The decision is expected to save the district $57,966, a stride toward its goal of cutting $100,000 of expenses from the 2005-06 budget.

Despite passage of an increased school referendum levy in November (which has not yet kicked in), declining enrollment with consequent reductions of state aid require that sharp budget cuts be found each year, school leaders say.

The PE staff reduction will require elementary school teachers to lead their own students in PE classes. The idea is not popular with the classroom teachers in the elementary school, as indicated by comments from some of them at an earlier school board meeting when the proposal was first broached. - Warren Sheaf, April 13, 2005

Joint Committee studies jail plan revisions

Roseau - The April 5 joint meeting of the Roseau County Jail Study Committee and the Roseau County Board reviewed recent jail facility updates, studied Jail Committee and board action on the proposed jail project, and discussed options and project decisions that must be made.

Perhaps the most contentious issue that the Joint Committee faced at the meeting centered on efforts that have resurfaced to place Social Services off campus in an existing building.

A consideration to buy the old courthouse for about $400,000 and move Social Services to that site was suggested by Commissioner Mark Foldesi. However, commissioners generally agreed that the building may be too small to house Social Services functions and that very little parking was available. - The Tribune of Greenbush, April 13, 2005, by Del Stordahl

Knitting frenzy makes its way to town

Baudette - Bags, scarves, hats, rugs, socks, afghans and more are all being crafted at Jeri's in Baudette.

Each Wednesday afternoon, a group of women gather at Jeri's on Main for a time of fun, fellowship and knitting.

What began as a group of three has now grown to 10, 15 or 20 who meet each week. These gals share knitting ideas and help each other with projects, some teaching others how to knit.

It started when Lynda Annoreno walked into Jeri's with a great looking bag. Jeri asked about the specifics of crafting the handbag, and that is where it began.

The bag is made by a craft called felting – knitting with wool and shrinking it. This is also used to make hats and many other items. - Northern Light of Baudette, April 13, 2005, by Terri Thompson

Ceremonial Pitch

A ceremonial first pitch by Dr. Orley Gunderson, president of Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC), preceded the 2005 NCTC home softball opener Wednesday vs. Central Lakes at the Multi-Events Center in Thief River Falls. Gunderson had similar duties prior to the Pioneers' home baseball opener against Mesabi Range earlier that same afternoon. Gunderson announced his plans to retire as president of NCTC earlier this year. Word has it that neither NCTC team wanted to pick up his option as pitcher either.

"Behind Barbed Wire" visits TRF

Hardly anyone alive today is aware that the first U.S. troops sent to fight in World War II came from the Upper Midwest, or that the region's 34th "Red Bull" division served the longest uninterrupted duty in U.S. military history, about 600 days. Even fewer know that, as some 1,800 mostly Upper Midwest soldiers were captured in one night in North Africa in February 1943, until the Battle of the Bulge in December 1944 the most U.S. POWs in Nazi-German camps came, per capita, from same region.

"Behind Barbed Wire", a new exhibit that will tour Minnesota and Wisconsin in spring 2005, explores the experiences of Midwest prisoners of war (POWs) who were imprisoned in Hitler's Third Reich, and the human context in which their experiences took place. The Iowa-based, non-profit educational organization, TRACES, created this exhibit. Director Michael Luick-Thrams and guest historians will travel with the mobile exhibit, housed in a converted school bus.

Barring unforeseen difficulties, the BUS-eum will be in Thief River Falls from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Monday, April 18. It will be at the Thief River Falls Public Library, at 101 First Street E. in Thief River Falls.

Early arrival to see "Behind Barbed Wire" is encouraged, as the tour is tightly scheduled and showings will begin and end promptly at the times indicated. Locating the nearest showing of the exhibit and reading the narrative texts on-line at www.TRACES.org will expedite seeing the many artifacts and other

Roseau runner Boston Bound

by David Hill
Editor

Plummer native and Roseau resident Russell Sorenson will be among the 20,000 entrants participating in the world's most prestigious road racing event - the Boston Marathon, which will be on Monday, April 18, this year.

Sorenson, 46, qualified for the Boston Marathon by running a 3:24:20 in the Twin Cities Marathon last October.

Sorenson has been competing in marathons for many years and has discovered that there's no "easy" button for marathons. During the years he's been running marathons, he's had his share of disappointment over the 26 miles and 385 yards that make up a marathon, including overheating, which put him in an ambulance and in the capable hands of medical assistants a couple of years ago at Grandma's Marathon.

Russell Sorenson

For most runners, qualifying for Boston is the goal that motivates them to run hundreds of training miles in all kinds of weather. It's the goal that challenges them to keep running marathons despite some disappointing failures, and learning the hard way that there's a difference between pain and injury. Why?

Ecuador

Dr. Judith Campbell takes medical expertise to Ecuador

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Dr Judith Campbell will soon be providing her medical expertise to the people of Baños, Ecuador.

Dr. Judith Campbell

From June 4 to 18, the Thief River Falls resident will be participating in a medical mission trip. Campbell is among 27 people who will travel to Ecuador in June through Medical Ministry International (MMI).

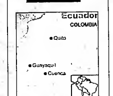
Campbell works as an emergency medical physician with National Emergency Services at Northwest Medical Center (NWMC) in Thief River Falls. She also does medical acupuncture and found out about the trip through an appeal in a medical acupuncture journal.

Campbell noted it is a great opportunity to volunteer, donate and help fund medical care for the indigent. Her family, which includes her husband, Gordon, and sons, Hugh, Mark and Sam, supported her decision.

"They said, 'Go for it,' and then the kids said, 'Can we come, too?'" recalled Campbell, who noted her sons may go with her if they have enough funds to travel with her.

This won't be Campbell's first medical mission trip. Twenty years ago, she served as a medical missionary for three months in Ethiopia.

During this mission trip to western South America, she will work at an MMI clinic in Baños, Ecuador. The medical care provided at the clinic is dependent on donated supplies and the medical specialties of the volunteers. Campbell's fellow volunteers will include an obstetrician/gynecologist, an orthopedic surgeon, and family practice and internal medical physicians. Interpreters, general helpers, a nurse practitioner, a medical student and an anesthesiologist are also among the volunteers. The volunteers pay approximately $2,000, which includes airfare and a participation fee, to take part in the missions trip.



General medical treatment and health education are provided at the clinic. Elective surgery, such as club foot repairs and gallbladder removals, and emergency surgeries, such as appendectomies and Caesarian sections, will be done.

"All of these services are given to these indigenous people," Campbell said about the Quechuan people who receive medical care at the clinic.

At the clinic, patients receive medical care even if they cannot

Boy Scout Expo in TRF April 24

The annual Voyageur Trails District Boy Scout Exposition will be from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday, April 24, at the Hock Olson Memorial Civic Center in Thief River Falls. A Scout Exposition is a three-hour family show that demonstrates what Cub Scouting and Boy Scouting is all about.

There will be a variety of over 25 booths depicting various aspects of Scouting, all under one roof. There will be live demonstrations of learned life skills such as cooking, camping, first aid, safety, archery, physical activity, collections and many more.

The Exposition is designed so that Scouts can share their learned skills with the general public. Families with children will especially enjoy coming to the Exposition as most booths are designed to allow for audience participation.

Special features at this years' show will be the Northern Lights Boy Scout Council Climbing Tower, the TRF Archery Club, the Model Railroad Club Live Display, Deer Antler Art by Don Nygard, Wood Carving by Orvel Stocks, and a police squad car.

All Cub Scout packs and Boy Scout troops that have not yet signed up to participate may still do so by contacting Art Heinze at artheinze@ wcbv.net or call 218

Shawl pattern attracts buyer

Middle River woman sells shawl pattern to company

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

When Middle River residents attend this summer's centennial celebration and next fall's Goose Fest they may want to look for the needlework of Linda Anderson.

Anderson, 56, of Middle River and formerly of Thief River Falls, has been active in the art of crocheting and knitting for much of her life. She learned to knit bedroom slippers at the age of 9 and four years later, she designed a shawl pattern that she would crochet countless times over the next 40 years. Last month, the 43-year-old pattern was purchased by Coats and Clark, a textile and thread manufacturer that literally has its fingerprints all over the history of the cotton yarn industry.

"People liked the shawls and I got curious, so I sent them (Coats and Clark) a letter," Anderson said. "[Shawls] are coming back again and the ponchos are coming back again too."

Until last fall, Anderson hadn't knitted or crocheted for almost 10 years. That changed when she started knitting caps for the MeritCare program "Caps for Cancer" at the urging of Darlene Matz, her church minister.

The "Caps for Cancer" program exists at several hospitals. Though the program differs slightly in each

Earth Day Bluebird Program set for April 23 at Rydell Refuge

A brilliant flash of blue and a warbling call – these are just a couple of the joys of attracting bluebirds to a backyard or farm.

Celebrate Earth Day by learning more about bluebirds and how to attract them at a bluebird program on Saturday, April 23 at the Rydell National Wildlife Refuge. Activities will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. A program about bluebirds will be held at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Attendees will be able to build bluebird houses anytime during the program hours. All are welcome to attend.

A video that takes viewers inside a bluebird box to watch the young mature from bald babies through fledgling from the nest will be shown. Additional information will be shared regarding the life cycle of bluebirds, habitat preferences, nesting success in this area, placement and monitoring of nest boxes, pests and much more. An informative handout will be available to all who wish to learn more about bluebirds.

One of the best ways to increase the chances of seeing bluebirds is by putting out nesting boxes for them. The increasing numbers of bluebirds today is largely due to their ready acceptance and the use of human-made nest boxes. For those wishing to make bluebird houses, pre-cut materials and supplies will be available for attendees to make the Peterson style house. Attendees should bring a hammer if they have one. Volunteers will be available to help make the houses.

While at the Rydell Refuge, look over the displays at the Visitors Center or hike some of the refuge's trails. Enjoy the sights and sounds of all the waterfowl on the refuge, including trumpeter swans who will hopefully return to the Refuge again.

There is no charge for the program or to make up to two bluebird houses that attendees can take home (there is a nominal fee for nest box kits over 2). The Friends of Rydell Refuge Association, which supports much of the visitor services provided at the refuge, will accept donations of any amount to help defray cost of supplies for the bluebird houses, refreshments and other costs of hosting programs at the refuge.

To get to Rydell Refuge, go three miles east of Mentor or three miles west of Erskine on Highway 2 and turn south on Polk County 210. Follow Polk County 210 about two-and-a-half miles south to the entrance sign and main gate of the refuge. If arriving from the south, turn west off of Highway 59 onto Polk County 41 and follow the signs. For more information, call the refuge at 1-800-841-0172.

March employment up and unemployment down from a year ago

Minnesota's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate for March was 4.4 percent, well down from the rate a year ago of 5.0 percent, according to Employment and Economic Development Commissioner Matt Kramer. The March rate was slightly up from February's rate of 4.2 percent, but still well under the national rate of 5.2 percent.

The seasonally adjusted total number of jobs in March increased by 1,900 over February with the biggest gains over the month appearing in the professional and business services (+800), other services (+800), and manufacturing (+300) industries. On an unadjusted basis, over-the-year job gains stood at 47,400.

"Minnesota's economy is showing distinct improvement from a year ago as it continues a steady trend of growth," said Kramer.

Here is a variety of cakes for you to try from my Roseau County Historical Society 75th Anniversary Cookbook. All of these cakes are easy to make with box cake mixes or one with a pre-made angel food. They'll be pretty springtime treating, maybe even for spring festivities, like graduations, showers, weddings, etc.

This cake may look like an earthquake but it tastes delicious with the frosting already in it:

EARTHQUAKE CAKE
Mavis Brandt

1 cup coconut
1 cup chopped pecans
1 package German chocolate cake mix
1/2 cup butter, melted
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese
2 cups powdered sugar

Grease and flour 9x13 inch cake pan. Mix cake as directed. Spread coconut and nuts in bottom of pan, then pour cake mix over.

Melt butter. Add cream cheese and heat in powdered sugar. Pour evenly over batter. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes.

What better than a creamy chocolate mint cake that is pretty as can be? This one is made with ice cream topping:

CRÈME DE MENTHE CAKE
Scott Sather

1 white cake mix
4 tablespoons crème de mint ice cream topping (syrup)
1 bottle Kraft fudge ice cream topping
1 (8 ounce) package whipped topping, thawed

Mix cake mix according to directions. Add 3 tablespoons of cream de mint and bake as directed on the package. When cool, frost with fudge topping.

Add 1 tablespoon crème de mint syrup to thawed whipped topping and stir. Spread over fudge. Refrigerate.

This recipe uses real crème de menthe liqueur, if you want to try something different:

CRÈME DE MENTHE CAKE #2
Melissa Brandt

1 white cake mix
1/4 cup plus 1/3 cup crème de menthe
1 can Nestle fudge
1 (12 ounce) container thawed whipped topping

Make cake per directions. Add 1/4 cup crème de menthe, bake as directed and cool well. Pour fudge over cake, spreading evenly.

Mix thawed topping and remaining crème de menthe and spread over cake. Refrigerate for 24 hours.

Use a ready made angel food cake to make this pretty pastel dessert:

ORANGE CREAM ANGEL FOOD CAKE
Sheila Winstead

1 angel food cake, sliced in half crosswise
1/2 cup plus 4 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate
3 cups sour cream
2 tablespoons grated orange zest
6 tablespoons powdered sugar

Spread 1/2 cup orange juice concentrate over lower half of cake.

Mix sour cream, powdered sugar, remaining concentrate and orange zest. Spread 1/3 of this mixture over lower half of cake. Replace cake top and spread remaining mixture over top and side of cake. Place in freezer for at least 1 hour or until ready to serve. Serves 12.

Guess what! It's rhubarb time - almost - so get ready. If you can't wait, it is available in the frozen food section of the supermarket - hooray:

RHUBARB UPSIDE DOWN DELIGHT
Pamela Grand Erickson

4 cups raw rhubarb, cut in 1/2 inch pieces
1 1/2 cups sugar
1 (3 ounce) package strawberry gelatin
2 tablespoons tapioca
1 white or yellow cake mix
Ice cream or whipped cream for topping

Place rhubarb in well-greased, glass cake pan. Mix sugar, gelatin and tapioca well and pour over rhubarb.

Prepare cake mix as directed and pour over rhubarb mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or longer. Watch carefully. Cool.

To serve, invert piece of dessert on plate and top with ice cream or whipped cream.

Cookbooks can be ordered from the Roseau County Historical Society, 110 Second Ave. N.E., Roseau, MN 56751, at $15 per book with $4 shipping and handling.

Behind Barbed Wire:
Midwest POWs in Nazi Germany
The American Heartland has unique connections to the WWII prisoner of war (POW) experience. Despite this legacy, virtually no one is aware of it. Housed in a converted school bus, the mobile exhibit Behind Barbed Wire illustrates this history through narrative texts, multi-media and artifacts.

Sweet Presence to perform at Roseau Community Church

Sweet Presence, a southern gospel quartet from British Columbia, Canada, will be appearing in concert at the Roseau Community Church in Roseau on Sunday, May 1, beginning at 7 p.m.

Sweet Presence is a family group made up of Greg, Corey, Dolly and Ernie Schaber. From humble beginnings in the Alberta parklands, members of this group started singing at a young age in family singing groups. In 1982, they combined their talents to form the group that exists today, Sweet Presence. Since then, they have been presenting concerts throughout Canada and the United States.

Sweet Presence has made numerous radio and television appearances. They have also made many recordings. With the richness of close family harmony, this group presents southern gospel music with feeling. There is no charge for admission to the concert.

Roseau Area Writer's Workshop accepting entries for "Regional Ramblings"

The Roseau Area Writers' Workshop held its monthly session on Monday, April 11. Writers were asked to respond to recent writing of group members who request critiquing of their manuscripts. They also studied techniques for objective evaluation of one's own writing.

Area writers were urged to bring stories, poems, anecdotes and essays intended for "Regional Ramblings – 05," to be published this fall.

The deadline for first drafts of new manuscripts (not previously submitted) is May 5. The deadline for drawings is May 15. Any writer or artist (16 or older) who lives in the area now or once lived in Roseau County may submit original work for consideration.

Roseau Area Friends of the Library, through its Roseau Area Writers' Workshop (RAWW), will once again showcase examples of literary and visual art created by people who live in or near Roseau County or once lived in the area. The 10th annual edition of "Regional Ramblings" will be titled "Reminiscing." This broad theme includes both serious and humorous work, either fact or fiction.

Compiling, publishing and distribution of 4,000 copies of "Regional Ramblings-05" is made possible in part by a grant from the Minnesota Legislature channeled through the Northwest Regional Development Commission/Arts Council. Roseau Area Arts Association is also providing a small grant.

If time allows, a short activity on "verbal variety" will be part of the May workshop, which as always is free to the public.

People may feel free to come late or leave early if their work schedule requires. Writers/parents who don't have baby-sitters available may bring children old enough to quietly entertain themselves in the Children's Corner while adults work nearby.

The final session of the season will be on May 9. During the summer, private consultations about manuscripts in progress may be arranged by inquiring at the desk at Roseau Public Library.

Swanson to headline concert fundraiser April 22

Kim Swanson, a 2002 graduate of Warren/Alvarado/Oslo High School and now a junior at Minnesota State University Moorhead, will headline a concert fundraiser to benefit the Warren/Alvarado/Oslo Education Foundation, set for 7 p.m. Friday, April 22 in the W/A/O Auditorium.

Dubbed a "Night of Soul," the concert will showcase songs from the likes of Etta James, Stevie Wonder, Gladys Knight, Ray Charles and Alicia Keys.

Swanson, the daughter of Dewey and Shari Swanson of rural Warren, received four years of voice lessons from Maria Williams Kennedy in Grand Forks, N.D. She will be joined on stage by boys and girls pop ensembles from W/A/O, and Mark Maruska, vocal music director, will team with her in a duet. W/A/O music teacher Mona Schroeder will be the accompanist for some of the numbers. Members of the Education Foundation Board will serve a Southern-style dessert bar following the concert.

The Education Foundation raises funds to provide various instructional aides and school improvements at W/A/O, as well as scholarship assistance each year for graduating seniors.

Tickets for the fundraiser concert are $8 for adults and $4 for students (preschool admitted free). Tickets are now on sale at Rustad's Grocery in Oslo, Community Bank in Alvarado, and Bremer Bank, Community Bank, Mane Studio, True Value, Warren Pharmacy and the W/A/O High School office in Warren. Tickets also will be available at the door.

Appreciate area childcare providers

Providers Choice is encouraging parents with children in childcare to take this day to show their appreciation for their childcare provider. It takes a special person to work in childcare and these individuals are often unrecognized and underappreciated. The childcare profession is one of the most underpaid occupations in the country; yet early childhood is the most critical developmental period for all children.

Childcare organizations nationwide have joined together to declare Friday, May 6, 2005 to be Provider Appreciation Day. Provider Appreciation Day is appropriately celebrated each year on the Friday before Mother's Day. The week leading up to this special day has been named "Family Child Care Week" and "Provider Appreciation Week."

It is estimated that of the 21 million children under age 6 in America, 13 million are in childcare at least part-time. An additional 24 million school age children are in some form of childcare outside of school time.

It takes a dedicated person to be successful in the demanding world of today's childcare profession. Provider Appreciation Day offers a unique opportunity to recognize and commend the unselfish dedication, compassion and strong family values that childcare providers demonstrate every day.

Many providers participate on the Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP), which helps ensure that children are fed healthy nutritious meals while they are in a childcare setting. Providers Choice Inc. is a sponsor of this USDA child nutrition program and works with over 5,000 Minnesota providers to help ensure the healthy development of all children.

For more information about the food program in Beltrami, Clearwater, Hubbard, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau counties, contact the area coordinator, Barb Wickham, at 218-435-6969, or call Providers Choice at 952-944-7010 or 1-800-356-5983 or visit its Web site at www. providerschoice.com.

McDonald's giving free seedlings on Arbor Day, April 29

Minnesota Forest Industries (MFI) is teaming up with Minnesota McDonald's restaurants to give away more than 60,000 red pine tree seedlings this Arbor Day, April 29th.

The tree giveaway involves 200 participating McDonald's restaurants all over Minnesota, and will include instructions on how to plant and care for seedlings. No purchase is necessary; trees are free while seedlings last in each restaurant.

"Planting a seedling is a great family activity that helps people to learn about trees, right in their back yards," said Wayne Brandt, MFI Executive Vice President. "But they're not alone. McDonald's customers will add to the more than 2.5 million seedlings that will be planted throughout Minnesota this year."

Part of the Arbor Day seedling giveaway program will also include information in each McDonald's about Minnesota's forests and unique facts about trees, wildlife and the forest products industry.

"This is the fourth time that McDonald's has participated in an Arbor Day seedling giveaway," said Elsa Carpenter-Peck, McDonald's Director of Marketing. "Our customers enjoy the opportunity to help enhance the beauty of our great state, and we're pleased to help them do it."

MFI is an association representing Minnesota's forest products companies. MFI encourages conservation, proper forest management and industry development that foster sound environmental stewardship, multiple use of timberlands and long-term timber supply.

FMS Speech Team Recital and Awards Night April 21

The Franklin Middle School (FMS) Speech Team will present its Third Annual Recital and Awards Night, Thursday, April 21 at 7 p.m. at the Thief River Falls Public Library. Speakers will present their 2005 competition pieces. Awards for FMS Speaker of the Year 2005 and Franklin Middle School Achievement in Speech will also be presented.

Speakers will include Team Captain Grant Spears, Kassondra Jesme, Devin Spears and Abby Schmidt in humor, Kari Hanson and Annie Hook in great speeches, Hook, Matt Kazmierczak and Nicole Johnson in serious prose, Devin Spears in poetry, Schmidt in drama, and the Duo Team of Kazmierczak and Hanson. Storyteller Michael Grant will also be recognized.

Eighth Grader Grant Spears will also recieve special recognition for being the only FMS student to make the Section Speech Team. He placed second and third in his initial rounds of competition in Moorhead on Saturday. Coach Julie Desrocher says, "That is remarkable for a middle school student in varsity competition."

Everyone is welcome to the one-hour recital. Refreshments will be served.

An open and closed case'

The Rainy River closed back up in abrupt fashion last week. No, not physically, as in a re-formation of ice, the temperatures were actually quite mild. And not legally, as in the fishing season for walleyes came to a close, for that date, at least as of this writing, is still several days away. But for all practical assaults on the Rainy's fishery, the river closed back up again last week as the traditional spring mud event took place on Sunday, April 3. Had an observant angler actually been standing on the banks watching that day, I venture to guess that he could be even more specific than a calendar day, possibly even detailing the stoppage of fishing with times and corresponding geographical points along the river. It really is that immediate. Ask someone who enjoyed both the bonanza of Saturday, April 2 ("As good as I've seen the fishing in the last 15 years," one local crowed to me) and the post-nuclear bomb atmosphere of the 3rd ("I should have stayed home and raked leaves"). And when one considers that the fishing didn't really get cranked up until somewhere close to the fourth weekend of March, that works out to about one week of the sweaty spring run this year. Short by even the most conservative of estimates.

Opinions differ as to what causes the shut down. Runoff is probably the most popular answer, as melting snow drags loose topsoil across the still frozen ground and into the creeks and streams that feed the Rainy. Some claim that the actual frost leaving the earth allows for such a large movement of mud from underneath. Others blame the mid-sized tributaries, like the Little and Big Fork rivers, for losing their ice sheets at a later date than the Rainy and flushing winter's accumulations too hastily into the already swollen basin. A good diplomat would suggest certain combinations of all three. I think it's got something to do with planetary orientation. Whatever the reason, the fish stop being caught.

Why? Once again, differing opinions (Isn't it nice living north of Highway 2, there's always that differing opinion thing to talk about). Some claim the fish are still feeding. The water is, after all, warming rapidly and the surge in metabolism demands a drive toward food. In addition, the spawn game is literally right around the next bend and every ounce of digested energy now is going to up the chances of a personal gene pool being extended. Proponents here contend that the fish are still feeding, they're just having a harder time finding the bait. Look over the side of your boat! Visibility is a two-inch proposition, scent can be of little advantage in the potent mix of earth and water, and any sensory-spurred vibrations must get lost amid the tumbling cacophony of debris. These fish are hungry, they're simply searching through a refrigerator with a burnt out interior bulb.

Others allege that the fish haven't just stopped biting, they've actually ceased their search for food altogether. You know, kind of like the monthly unemployment statistics that always include a percentage that still want work, but they've given up looking. These walleyes are wise to the ways of nature. Faced with the daunting obstacles of mud, current, and flotsam and jetsam (flotsam is floating junk and jetsam is its submerged counterpart) the fish realize that any nutrition they might stumble across will in no way replace the energy they expend trying to get it. So, they just stop foraging, save what stored energy they might already have, and find a gentle eddy in the river where they wait for the mating game. It might be a little uncomfortable using the words "fish" and "logic" in the same sentence, but the notion of a walleye making important spring decisions would explain the frantic feeding frenzy of one afternoon and the inability to land even a single fish in the same water less than 24 hours later.

And speaking of logic and decisions, the time is now yours. Runoff or frost? Stop seeing or stop trying? Perhaps it's Jupiter aligning with Mars. Maybe you've got your own opinion. Now's certainly the time to hone it because the river closed back up last week and, barring some hydro miracle, your line will be out of the water for roughly the next month. And then, on May 14, when the river opens up again, your fishing talents had better keep pace with your opinions, or it'll be your mouth that'll close back up in abrupt fashion.

Canoe and kayak race scheduled June 5 on the Rainy River

River Runners Canoe and Kayak Club members will hold a canoe and kayak race on the Rainy River this summer. The "Fun Run" will be held Sunday, June 5. Registration begins at 12 p.m. The race begins at 1 p.m. at the Clementson Access, located one-fourth of a mile east of the Clementson Rapids Wayside Rest Area.

The Fun Run will have four classes, including Solo Canoe, Solo Kayak, Tandem Canoe and Tandem Kayak. Prizes will be awarded in all classes. The starting line for the race will be at the Vidas Access (at Clementson) and the race will follow the Rainy River seven miles to the take-out point at Peace Park on the Baudette Bay.

Registration for the event will begin at 12 p.m. at the Vidas Access, where a table will be set up by the shoreline of the Rainy River. A $5 registration fee will be taken for each boat. Starting at 1 p.m., paddlers will leave the access point every 15 minutes. Buoys will be in place at the starting line on the river.

A lead boat in the event will guide participants down the river. There will be a paddler who will check on all entrants during the course of the race. A sag boat will be available for anyone not able to finish. There will also be a slow paddler at the rear of the pack to make sure all paddlers finish. Race officials will communicate with two-way radios during the entire event. An awards ceremony will follow the race.

Public and tribal land ownership and use to be workshop topic

Nearly a dozen land management professionals will speak at a workshop entitled "Public and Tribal Land Ownership and Use in Northern Minnesota" from 8:15 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. April 28 at the Northern Inn and Conference Center in Bemidji.

Those attending must register no later than April 21 by contacting the Bemidji State University Center for Research and Innovation, a cosponsor of the event, by e-mail at cri@bemidjistate.edu or by calling 1-888-738-3224. A registration fee of $75 includes participant materials, continuing education units, refreshments and lunch.

TRF leaf pickup starts April 18

City Sanitation Department crews will begin leaf vacuum operations in Thief River Falls on Monday, April 18 and continue through Friday, April 29.

Leaf vacuuming will start in the First Ward on Mondays and end in the Fifth Ward on Fridays. Residents are reminded to pile leaves away from obstruction on the north-south avenue boulevards only. Leaves will not be picked up on east-west streets (corner lots).

Dumping of leaves or grass clippings on public road surfaces or in rivers is prohibited by Minnesota statute.

Residents may also take leaves from their yards to the Street Department dropoff site in the 1100 block of Horace Ave. N.

Highways 220 and 317 in Marshall County reopened

The Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) has reopened Highway 220 and Highway 317 in Marshall County Tuesday, according to Steve Hufnagle, Mn/DOT's District 2 northwest sub area maintenance supervisor.

Hufnagle said the state highways between Marshall County Highways 4 and 5 have been closed since April 4 due to water over the roads.

For updated road condition information in Minnesota, dial 1-511 or log on to www.511mn.org.

Landscaping program set for Wednesday

The University of Minnesota Extension Service is offering help to northern Minnesota residents who may have a difficult time landscaping their properties and around their homes. It will offer help through a program Wednesday, April 20 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. in room 453 at the Northland Community and Technical College interactive television lab in Thief River Falls.

All interested gardeners are invited and encouraged to attend this program, which includes a $10 program fee that can be paid at the door.

The program will feature a discussion by Anne Gachuhi on perennial flowers and shrubs for zone 3. Trees, shrubs and perennial flowers for this area need to be hardy for zone 3 if gardeners hope to grow them without a lot of extra fuss or protection.

Nancy Rose will discuss how residents might use native trees in landscape. Terry Nennich will finish with a discussion of small fruit diseases and their control.

The program is a direct interactive link with the program broadcast site at the U of M Research and Outreach Center at Grand Rapids. This means speakers will be able to hear and see attendees. Participants will be able to ask presenters questions as if they were in the room with them in Thief River Falls.

We need to listen to childcare providers

The importance of early childcare and education has certainly been emphasized in the past year, especially in our area. Recently, we received a news release from Providers Choice reminding us of some important days - May 6 will be Provider Appreciation Day and the week leading up to this special day has been named "Family Child Care Week" and "Provider Appreciation Week."

A majority of homes in our area are supported by two incomes. That means a large number of our children spend some time with child care providers. Nationally, it is much the same. According to Providers Choice, it is estimated that of the 21 million children under age 6 in America, 13 million are in child care at least part-time. An additional 24 million school-age children are in some form of childcare outside of school time.

It seems no longer possible to imagine a time without childcare. Step outside of our carefully planned routine days - snow days, holidays, sickness, special events - and watch the ripples and waves of discontent spread throughout homes and businesses in the community.

Childcare providers have a uniquely challenging but very important job. Research tells us that early childhood education is critical in the development of children, but visit with a childcare provider and you'll hear all kinds of stories about the obstacles that prevent them from doing a better job. Childcare providers in our area recently established an organization just to help address some of their concerns. We need to listen.

Parents know how challenging being a childcare provider can be. They know that it takes a dedicated and special person to be successful in this profession. So, Provider Appreciation Week is your opportunity to recognize and commend their hard work and dedication and to listen.

Operation Round Up grants $9,610

At their meeting March 23, directors of the Red Lake Electric Trust awarded grants totaling $9,610.

Grant funds are provided through Red Lake Electric Cooperatives Operation Round Up program. Each month, over 3,400 Red Lake Electric customers voluntarily "round up" their energy bill payment to the next highest dollar with the pennies going to fund area community organizations and charities.

The Red Lake Electric Trust Board determines Operation Round Up grants at its semi-annual meetings in March and September. Grant applications are reviewed and rated based on their perceived community benefit, community support, organizational delivery capability, and the predictability of results. Since the program began in 1993, grants totaling $237,453 have been made.

Four grants were made to emergency service organizations. The Goodridge Area Fire and Rescue Department was awarded $2,000 for its new building addition completed in 2004. A $1,000 grant was awarded to the St. Hilaire Fire and Rescue Department to convert an all-terrain vehicle into a fire caddy. The Tri-County Emergency Medical Services District, headquartered in Karlstad, received a $475 grant for a new CPR training mannequin to aid in the training of EMTs and other emergency personnel. With a $400 grant, the Polk County Sheriff's Mounted Posse Search and Rescue Unit will purchase two GPS units to aid in searches.

Senior citizens in the area will benefit from four grants that were awarded. The Middle River-Thief Lake Living at Home/Block Nursing Program received $600 to help train and retain volunteers who help the elderly with a number of tasks so they can stay in their homes. Inter-County Nursing Service, Thief River Falls, received a $500 grant for patient care for the elderly living in their homes. A $285 grant was made to the Red Lake Falls Housing and Redevelopment Authority, so it could purchase an outdoor bench for its new screen porch and patio. The Hillcrest Nursing Home Resident Council, Red Lake Falls, received $300 for its fund to purchase a big-screen television for the resident day lounge.

The First Care Medical Services Hospice of Thief River Falls was awarded a $1,000 grant to be used for patient care, bereavement care, and volunteer services training. The Red Lake County Chapter of the American Cancer Society received $500 for cancer research and patient care. A $300 grant was made to the Goodridge Lions to help them purchase a new freezer for its community hall.

Little Brother/Little Sister programs in Thief River Falls and Marshall County were awarded grants of $500 and $250 respectfully to assist programs that match youth from single parent homes with positive adult role models. The Umbrella Tree Program of the Violence Intervention Project of Thief River Falls received $1,000 to provide supervised visitation for children whose parents have court-ordered visitation exchanges.

Directors serving on the Red Lake Electric Trust Board include Terry Weiss, Red Lake Falls, president; Rodney Hoffman, Goodridge, vice-president; and Kim Swanson, Thief River Falls, secretary-treasurer. Also serving as ex-officio directors are Red Lake Electric Cooperative president Veral Mosbeck and General Manager Ron Kennedy.

Hallock Library receives $69,000 grant

The Hallock Public Library has received a $69,000 grant for its remodeling project.

The library received the accessibility grant from the state of Minnesota, according to Kristen Eggerling, Hallock Public Library Board chairperson. She expected bidding on the library remodeling project would begin this summer.

Besides the grant, the estimated $130,000 to $160,000 project will be funded through donations. As of March, the library board has raised over $90,000.

The project includes the expansion of the library into the Hallock Police Department. The city of Hallock police officer will no longer have an office.

The library will be gutted and become more functional. It will have two bathrooms and become handicap accessible as well. Since the library currently does not have bathrooms, patrons have to go outside and into City Hall when it is open to use the restrooms.

Agassiz NWR plans prescribed burns for 2005

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge (NWR) is planning to prescribe burn approximately 11,000 acres in 2005. Fourteen burns are planned for spring treatment, and an additional eight burns are targeted for late summer and fall. A helicopter will be used to ignite a 4,000-acre cooperative burn between the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and Agassiz NWR this spring.

A prescribed burn is a managed fire conducted under a special set of guidelines called a prescription. The prescription identifies the range that environmental factors can encompass to meet the objectives of the burn and still be carried out safely. Relative humidity, wind speed and fuel moisture are among the factors that must be correct for the burn to occur.

Each year, several burn units on the refuge are targeted for burning. Each unit is bordered by either maintained fire breaks, waterways or roads that enable the fire to be contained. When conditions meet the planned prescription, the burn area is ignited. Refuge fire equipment and personnel are on site to ensure it remains a controlled fire.

Most burning on the refuge is completed in April, May or later in the season from mid-September to early November when the prescription can be met.

Burning helps restore and maintain many plant habitats. Fire removes dry, dead plant matter that has built up over the years. As a result, fire opens up space for new plant growth and provides better cover for wildlife. The burn allows nutrients locked up in the dried plants to be returned to the soil to be used by new plants.

A common objective is to kill or cause stress to plant species that are undesirable. It's also used to set back woody vegetation (willow) that has encroached upon open areas or become too mature to be of great food value for wildlife such as moose, deer and rabbits.

Burns are conducted by refuge staff and cooperating agencies who are trained and certified in wildland firefighting. Local wildland firefighting agencies are notified of the burn, so they are prepared if needed.

For more information about prescribed fire activities at Agassiz NWR, contact the prescribed fire specialist at (218) 449-4115, extension 212.

681-1624., Heinze stated Voyageur Trails District is striving to reach 100 percent participation by every pack and troop in the district. Voyageur Trails District is made up of Scouting units in Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, and Polk Counties. Greta Kovar serves as district executive for the six-county area.

The Exposition is sponsored by the Thief River Falls Kiwanis Club, which provides the manpower for physical set up and tear down of the booths.

The Exposition is free to the general public. Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts throughout the district are selling candy bars to finance the costs of the show as well as to raise funds for their pack or troop to fund day camps, webelos camp, and week-long summer camp.

This year, the Boy Scouts of America is celebrating its 95th anniversary. Chairman Heinze expressed his appreciation to all the volunteers and scouts who help make the Exposition a highlight of the scouting year.

25 years of helping people with intellectual disabilities

2005 marks the 25th year of the Minnesota Knights of Columbus Tootsie Roll drive. This is one of the largest and most successful events in our state. It is dedicated to raising money to help people with intellectual disabilities. This year, the Tootsie Roll weekend is April 29-30 and May 1, 2005.

Each year, Knights of Columbus councils throughout the state distribute well over 20 tons of Tootsie Rolls on street corners, in stores and at churches. Donations are accepted for the Tootsie Rolls and 100 percent of the money raised goes to benefit people with intellectual disabilities. Over the past 25 years, many millions of dollars have been raised, one Tootsie Roll at a time, just to be given away. Last year, over $400,000 was raised and distributed to organizations that help some of Minnesota's most special people.

Nearly all of the over 250 councils in Minnesota participate in this fundraising program. The local councils designate the organizations that are to receive funds raised in their area.

Many local councils designate a portion of the funds raised to support the Fall Classic of the Special Olympics. This three-day event, with nearly 1,200 athletes and 400 coaches from across the state, is sponsored entirely by the Minnesota Knights of Columbus. This will be the 13th consecutive year the Minnesota Knights of Columbus have sponsored the Fall Classic bowling event.

Please watch for the Knights of Columbus Tootsie Rolls in your area. It is a program benefiting people all across the state.

The Knights of Columbus is the world's largest Catholic, Fraternal, Family, Service organization with nearly 1.7 million members worldwide. There are almost 45,000 members in Minnesota, serving over 250 communities across the state. For more information about the Knights of Columbus, visit kofc.org or mnknights.org.

Disparities in cancer rates noted in MN

While Minnesota ranks as one of the healthiest states in the United States, the American Cancer Society notes that the risk of being diagnosed with and dying from cancer is not the same for all residents.

"Cancer is the leading cause of death among all Minnesotans, but not everyone has the same cancer risk" said Krista Kopperud of the American Cancer Society. "Our communities of color are more likely to get, and less likely to beat, cancer." Compelling new cancer disparity information, as well as a public call for action, will be presented during the American Cancer Society's Rally Against Cancer Disparities set for 12:30 p.m. to 3 p.m., Tuesday, April 19, at the Capitol Rotunda, St. Paul. The program begins at 1 p.m.

Rally speakers include Kathie Culhane-Pera, M.D., Westside Community Health Services; Helen Jackson, Stairstep Foundation; Gloria Lewis, director, Minnesota Office of Minority Health, and Deanna Finifrock, Fond du Lac Health Services. "Due to increased coordination and improved data collection techniques, the Minnesota Department of Health is now able to provide more detail regarding cancer disparities in Minnesota. We look forward to announcing this new information April 19 during the American Cancer Society (ACS) Rally Against Disparities," Lewis said.

While new Minnesota cancer disparity data will be released April 19, the reasons for the public call to action are clear:

- Between 1996-2000, cancer mortality among American Indians was 88 percent higher in Minnesota than in the U.S. as a whole.
- African-American men have the highest overall cancer incidence and mortality rates in Minnesota.
- The cancer mortality rate in African American women was approximately three percent lower than white women, but their cancer mortality rate was 37 percent higher.

"The Fond du Lac Reservation is tackling the issue of cancer in several ways. One of these ways in partnering with the American Cancer Society to increase education, early detection and prevention," Finifrock said.

Efforts to raise awareness of the importance of cancer screenings and early detection will continue during National Minority Cancer Awareness Week, April 17-24, and Cancer Awareness Sunday, which begins April 24 and continues into May in African-American and Hispanic churches in the Minneapolis-St. Paul area. In addition, cancer disparities will be one of four initial priorities of Cancer Plan Minnesota, which will be officially launched April 28, 2005. For more information, log on to www.cancerplanmn.org.

Beito accepted into Jamestown College

Jaclyn Beito, Newfolden, has been accepted to Jamestown College, Jamestown, N.D., beginning in the fall semester of 2005. The college has awarded Beito a $7,000 presidential scholarship.

Beito, the daughter of Gary and Denise Beito, will graduate this spring from Marshall County Central High School. She plans to major in religion/philosophy and music.

Founded in 1883, Jamestown College is a coeducational liberal arts and science college affiliated with the Presbyterian Church (USA). It is the first college or university in North Dakota to equip student resident rooms with a desktop computer and color printer linked to the campus network, dramatically enhancing access for its student body of over 1,050. Students may select from 30 areas of academic interest and 17 pre-professional and certification programs including medicine, law, occupational therapy and veterinary medicine.

Roseau catcher Josh Sunsdahl had to leave the plate to pull down an off-the-mark throw from the outfield as Thief River Falls runner Lucas Genereux scored the Prowlers' first run during Thursday's season-opening high school baseball game at the Multi-Events Center. Genereux scored from second on a two-out single to center by Drew Kjono. Thief River Falls came from behind to win 7-6 in eight innings.

Prowlers win 7-6 extra-inning season-opener...

TRF comeback tops Rams

Never give up. That three-word phrase might be the perfect fit if Thief River Falls needs a slogan for the 2005 high school baseball season. It certainly described the Prowlers' opener Thursday at the wind-swept Multi-Events Center diamond, where they fell behind 3-0 in the first inning, trailed 6-1 in the fifth and faced a 6-4 deficit with one strike to go in the bottom of the seventh, yet still managed to pull out a 7-6 extra-inning victory over Roseau.

That the Prowlers did all that on just three hits made the come-from-behind win even more remarkable. Seven walks, four errors and a hit-batsman helped fuel the Thief River Falls offense. Taking advantage of those types of opportunities will be crucial to the team's success this spring, according to head coach Shane Zutz. "I think we're going to have to work for any runs we score this year," he said. "If we are going to win, those are the kind of runs we need to score. I don't look for us to bang out 15 hits a game."

Thief River Falls' seventh inning rally started with a one-out triple into the right-center field gap by Michael Benedict. The next batter, Lucas Genereux, was hit by a pitch. Designated hitter Drew Kjono had a full count when he sent a high fly to center field. But instead of being the final out, it went for a game tying, two-run error when the ball popped out of the outfielder's glove.

Two more Roseau errors in the eighth capped the Rams' late-game collapse. David Lovly opened the frame with an infielder grounder that was mishandled. Jon Drees drew a five-pitch walk and Alec Holen laid down a bunt that was fielded, but thrown wide of the bag at first, allowing Lovly to score the winning run from second base.

"That was a fun way to start the year," smiled Zutz.

It wasn't fun at the beginning when the first three Roseau batters all reached base and scored. Josh Sunsdahl singled to right, Lee Thompson walked and Brian McMillin singled down the left field line to load the bases. An out was recorded on an infield pop-up, but Brian Anderson drove a full-count drive into the right field corner for a three-run double.

Back-to-back singles by Corey Erickson and Sunsdahl were followed by two wild pitches for a second inning Roseau run.

Thief River Falls scored in the fourth when when Genereux doubled and crossed the plate on a two-out single up the middle by Kjono – the Prowlers' first two hits of the afternoon.

Roseau pushed its lead to 6-1 in the fifth. Sunsdahl beat out an infield single, McMillin singled to center and Anderson singled to right for the first run, with a wild pitch making it a five-run difference.

Three walks loaded the bases with Prowlers in the bottom of the fifth and a fielder's choice force-out at second scored a run.

Thief River Falls got back in it by scoring two runs without the benefit of a hit in the sixth. Two-out walks issued to Wyatt Reed and Lovly, a wild pitch and an error made it a 6-4 game.

Tomas Heaton and Alex Carlson combined for 3 1/3 innings of no-hit, no-run relief pitching for the Prowlers, with the win going to Carlson, who worked the eighth.

"Our pitching wasn't bad," offered Zutz. "We had a couple of kids come in and shut them down. That was big."

Veterans fill out Prowler line-up card

■ TRF boys open golf season at Detroit Lakes

A Thief River Falls boys high school golf line-up that returns intact from a year ago is expected to place the Prowlers among the Section 8AA leaders in 2005.

There wasn't a senior on the team 2004 that finished sixth in sectional tournament play. Thief River Falls coach Dick Tyler says there is enough returning experience and talent to move the Prowlers toward the top of the leader board. "I think we have a chance," he said. "But we need to have everybody shooting in the 70's. We can't have somebody scoring in the 80's."

The lone senior on this year's squad – Paul Sjoberg – is a good one – a past state qualifier.

Juniors Corey LaSalle, Matt Nordhagen, Robby Philipp and Brady Stanley, along with sophomore Lee Peterson, have been among the Prowlers' top golfers the past two years, while junior Travis Jung and sophomore John Carlson also have varsity experience.

"We're looking for consistency," said Tyler. "We need four golfers in the 70's every meet. That means staying away from penalty strokes. You can't be throwing strokes away."

Thief River Falls opened the season Wednesday with a third place 311 at the Detroit Lakes Invitational. Grand Rapids won the event at Wildflower with a 303. Fargo Oak Grove was second at 308.

The Prowlers' scoring objective was met as Sjoberg turned in a 75, Peterson 78, LaSalle 79 and Stanley 79.

"Since the (Thief River) golf course had not opened before our first meet, we had spent all of our outdoor time on the practice green," explained Tyler. "We were not sure how the putting would turn out."

Rest of the high school players on the roster include junior Kyle Lunke, sophomores Matt Olson, Erick Huseth, Cody Johnson, Joel Lunsetter, Kyle Safranski, Adam Sisler, Troy Wiskow, and freshmen Wesley Pederson, Andrew Rook, Kasey Trontvet, Travis Wiskow.

The program also includes middle school golfers. They are eighth graders Tyler Aandal, Jordan Aubol, Jesse Castle, Lucas Dillon, Kyle Haugen, Kevin Lunke, Kent Peterson, Seth Torstveit, Brandon Wappula; seventh graders Brian Fellman, Isaac Carlson, Zane Gothberg, Matthew Lindquist, Johnnie Philipp, Kevin Nelson, Anish Patel, Zach Pederson, Aaron Schneider, Cambell Thompson; and sixth graders Drew Erickson, Mika Ranum and Nick Reuter.

"We're looking for team unity this year," mentioned Tyler. "We want the kids to realize this is a team sport, not an individual sport. We're stressing the fact that what you do affects the team."

Detroit Lakes Invitational

■ Team totals - Grand Rapids 303, Fargo Oak Grove 308, Thief River Falls 311, Moorhead 313, Bemidji 314, Fergus Falls 315, Detroit Lakes Red 317, Crookston 319, Pelican Rapids 322, Staples Motley 328, Detroit Lakes White 331, East Grand Forks 337, Park Rapids Area 343, Park Christian 357, Menahga/Sebeka 391, Crosby-Ironton 367, Warren Alvarado-Oslo 368, Norman County West 368.

■ Medalists - 1. Matt Schnolder, Grand Rapids, 68 (par 72), 2. Justin Jenkins, Oak Grove, 72; 3. Josh Culb, Bemidji, 74.

■ TRF scores - Paul Sjoberg 75, Lee Peterson 79, Corey LaSalle 79, Brady Stanley 79, Kyle Lunke 85, Matt Nordhagen 91.

Prowlers start with tennis sweep

A pair of 6-1 Tuesday wins over Moorhead and East Grand Forks opened the 2005 season for the Thief River Falls boys high school tennis team.

Wet weather didn't bother play. The matches, hosted by the Green Wave, were played inside the Center Court Fitness Club in Grand Forks, N.D.

"We played very well at times, and inconsistent at other times, which is to be expected this early in the year," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad.

Justin Pyle, Cody Bottem, Jordan Swanson and Corey Horien were Thief River Falls singles winners against the Spuds. Joe Ihle-Michael Forney and Jon Kays-Jacob Engelstad were the winning combinations in doubles.

Against East Grand Forks, Engelstad went to singles, where the Prowlers had another 4-0 performance, while a revamped doubles line-up featured wins by Forney-Swanson and Ihle-Kays.

"Quite a few of the boys have gotten much stronger in the last year, and it was really apparent in their serving," noted Hanestad. "They have really picked up the velocity on their serves, and they are winning a lot of easy points as a result."

Next outing for the Prowlers will be a Thursday, April 21, double-dual vs. Moorhead and Fergus Falls hosted by the Spuds.

"The kids played well in Grand Forks," said Hanestad. "It was a great opportunity to see where we are at. Now we have a week to address some of the consistency issues."

Men's Softball League meeting is set April 20

Thief River Falls Men's Softball League meeting will be held Wednesday, April 20, at 7 p.m. at the American Legion.

Anyone interested in fielding a league entry this year should attend the meeting.

Prospective teams unable to have a representative at the meeting should contact Kevin Nelson (686-8657) or Bryan Cleven (681-6840).

Pioneers' Nelk receives Northern Division honor

Northland freshman Rochelle Nelk was named Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division softball Player of the Week Monday.

A shortstop/pitcher, Nelk began the week with a .543 batting average and 24 RBI, along with a 3-0 pitching record that includes two shutouts and a 4.67 ERA. The Wheaton graduate leads the Northern Division in pitching, RBI and steals, and is among the leaders in batting average.

"Rochelle is an outstanding athlete with talent on the mound and at the plate," said Northland head coach Kathy Huschle. "I expect her to help keep us on the top of the division this season."

Northland runner Justin Buegler was able to dive back to the bag ahead of a pick-off throw from Mesabi Range pitcher Rich Visgar to first baseman Jay Paxton during Wednesday's Minnesota Community College Conference baseball action in Thief River Falls.

Pioneers bounce back, split

It looked like preseason practice and 15 nonconference games were for naught when Northland absorbed an 11-1 five-inning pounding at the hands of Mesabi Range in the first game of Wednesday's Minnesota Community College Conference baseball doubleheader that kicked off the Northern Division season for both teams. Adding to the frustration for first-year Pioneers head coach Steve Gust was the fact that it was also the home opener for his team.

It wasn't pretty. The book listed four errors, but mental mistakes and lackluster play infuriated Gust and his assistant coaches – Terry Wiseth and Craig Peterson.

The break between games offered Gust the opportunity to address those issues with his players. And to their credit, they bounced back to salvage a split out of what would have otherwise been a devastating outing by winning the nightcap 6-4.

"We didn't play good baseball in either game," admitted Gust. "Our effort was disappointing considering it was our conference opener. We definitely stole one because we had no business winning a game the way we played."

Mesabi Range started the day with a three-run first inning by combining three hits – two of them doubles – with a pair of Northland errors.

Another three-run at-bat in the third inning featured a two-run home run by John Geving.

An RBI single to right-center by Eric Scott made it 7-0 in the fourth inning.

Northland got on the board in the fourth on a double by Dane Kjono and an RBI single by Tom Dostal. But a fifth inning grand slam homer over the right field fence by Mesabi Range lead-off hitter Kyle Lindgren added up to a shortened ten-run rule contest.

Northland was quick to make amends for the poor Game 1 showing with a first inning run in the nightcap when lead-off hitter Justin Buegler drew a walk and scored on a two-out double to right-center by Gary Molck.

Northland did revert to first-game form with two second inning errors that set up a tying RBI single up the middle by Geving.

The Pioneers were back on top in the third when Adam Violette drew a one-out walk and scored on a Kjono double into the left-center field gap.

Mesabi Range went ahead 4-2 in the fourth off three hits, a wild pitch and a run-producing delayed double-steal that included an error.

A run-scoring single by Violette chopped the difference to 4-3 in the bottom of the inning.

The Pioneers took the lead for good in the fifth when Molck and Dostal led off with back-to-back singles and advanced on a sacrifice bunt by Cody Severts. Zack Collins tied it with a sacrifice fly. After Brandon Wang walked, a high fly ball by Will Leetch carried to the fence. The right fielder caught up to the ball following a long run, only to have it pop out of his glove for a two-run go-ahead triple.

Northland starting pitcher Josh Remer went 5 2/3 innings for the win, improving his record to 3-0. Brian Horgeshimer picked up a save by retiring all five batters he faced in relief.

The split put the Pioneers' overall record at 7-10, and although the performance wasn't up to par, the second-game victory helped ease the frustration, according to Gust. "We feel good about winning one game," he said. "I have to give credit to the guys for hanging tough. I was proud of the way Horgeshimer came in and shut the door. After losing several leads in the seventh inning this year, it was a real positive to see someone step up like Brian did."

The games were set back a day by the weather and moved from Northland's diamond to the Multi-Events Center because of field conditions.

Mesabi Range brought a 6-9 overall record into the doubleheader.

Raiders beat NCTC in softball doubleheader

Sky-high after starting the 2005 Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division season with weekend doubleheader sweeps at Mesabi Range and Vermilion, the Northland softball team was brought down to earth with a thud Wednesday when the Pioneers' home debut was spoiled by 7-0 and 9-6 losses at the hands of Central Lakes.

Northland was shut on on three hits in the opener. The Pioneers let a 5-1 lead slip away in the nightcap.

It was a disappointing performance, admitted Northland coach Kathy Huschle. "We didn't play our best," she said. "I don't want to take anything away from Central Lakes, but we just didn't play well."

The Raiders combined 13 first-game hits with six Northland errors.

Central Lakes scored four times in the top of the fourth inning to tie the second game at 5-5. The visitors were down again, 6-5, to start the seventh, but another four-run inning completed the sweep.

"They beat us in the first game," offered Huschle. "In the second game, we beat ourselves. We're a good defensive team, but we just didn't make the plays."

Northland's overall record has been adjusted to 12-4 after Huschle reviewed the books and determined a pair of games during a season-opening Florida trip should be counted as exhibitions instead of wins for the Pioneers.

Central Lakes	100 033 0 -	7	13	0
Northland	000 000 0 -	0	3	6

Funds approved for expanding electric services

USDA loans will be used to bring electricity to more than 1,500 new consumers and substantially improve existing electrical grid in rural Minnesota.

Senator Norm Coleman announced April 14 that Steele-Waseca Electric Cooperative and Wild Rice Electric Cooperative received two loans from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Rural Utilities Service worth $12,783,000. The 35-year loans will be used to lay down more power lines, upgrade existing facilities and build new ones, and bring electricity to new developments in rural areas.

"I am pleased that Minnesota has received this funding," Senator Coleman said. "These loans will improve our state's power infrastructure and bring low-cost electricity to new developments in Minnesota. If rural America is going to grow economically and create new, good paying jobs so families can live, work, and raise kids in these communities, we need to invest in and expand on our basic infrastructure, including a modern and stable energy distribution system."

Wild Rice Electric Cooperative received a $2,901,000 loan to improve and expand its service in Becker, Clay, Clearwater, Mahnomen, Norman, and Polk counties. The funding will be used to expand service to 940 new consumers, construct 74 miles of new distribution line, and repair and improve existing facilities.

"This loan will help us upgrade and enhance service to the area," said Wild Rice CEO Steven Haaven. "This loan allows us to upgrade or replace obsolete facilities. It will get service out to our new customers and improve service to our old customers."

Steele-Waseca Cooperative Electric received a $9,882,000 loan to improve and expand its service in Blue Earth, Dodge, Faribault, Freeborn, Steele, and Waseca, Le Sueur, Goodhue, and Rice counties. The funding will be used to expand service to 680 new consumers, construct 48 miles of new distribution line, and repair and improve existing facilities.

Women of Today members hold District 2 spring meeting

by Sarina Kalli
Public Relations District Program Manager for District 2

Eight members from three area Women of Today chapters attended the District 2 spring meeting held at The Rustic Café in Roosevelt on April 9. Outgoing District Director Lorri Wong, from the Warroad Area chapter, conducted her final meeting as director. Joining her were four members of her chapter, two members from Lake of the Woods and one from Middle River. The meeting was co-hosted by the Warroad Area and Lake of the Woods chapters.

The theme was "Essential Pieces," and the meeting began with introductions and mystery gifts. The business meeting then ensued, with reports from current district officers and chapter representatives. Two candidates are vying for 2005-06 Minnesota Women of Today president (Jen Kinzer, Aitkin, and Sharon Robinson, Elk River), and the platforms of each candidate were discussed. Individual chapters will vote for state president at the annual meeting in May.

The bulk of the meeting was dedicated to electing the new district board of directors. Sharla Kilen, Greenbush, volunteered to become the new district director, with a few stipulations as stated in correspondence to the district. Kilen's proposal was unanimously approved, and she will take over as district director, effective immediately. Other district positions filled were secretary – Sarina Kalli (Lake of the Woods), treasurer – Tanna Engen (Middle River), and past district director/parliamentarian – Lorri Wong (Warroad Area). Several district program manager positions are also open and will be filled as soon as possible.

The district received a thank you card from Project Linus for the blankets, quilts, supplies and money donated at the Winter State Convention in February. Minnesota Women of Today chapters donated more than 900 blankets to this project.

The Lake of the Woods Women of Today earned Project of the Quarter honors for the Earth Balloon presentation it cosponsored with Early Childhood and Family Education in Baudette on April 4. Sam Greene from Earth Balloon Inc., coordinated 14 different lessons inside the 20-foot Earth Balloon, in areas such as geography, science, social studies, history, math and current events.

The Warroad Area chapter earned Lady Mile honors for having the most members travel the farthest distance to attend the meeting. Wong won a PartyLite candle collection, and Tammie Daehler won two ceramic ivy planters as Lucky Buck prizes. Since this was Wong's last meeting as district director, she also presented gifts to her staff and received gifts from her staff, the district and individual members.

Annual Convention is May 20-22 in St. Louis Park, and District 2 could have as many as eight women attending this state meeting. Greenbush will host the next district meeting in July.

District 2 is made up of Women of Today chapters from Greenbush, Lake of the Woods, Middle River, Roseau and Warroad. The Women of Today is a community service and leadership training organization for young women ages 18 and older. For more information, contact District Director Sharla Kilen at (218) 782-5626 or District Public Relations Manager Sarina Kalli at (218) 783-3006.

A rose is not a rose is not a rose.

Some die soon. Don't waste your money on roses which don't live through our winters!

Instead, plant the hardy roses from the Morden Experiment Station in Manitoba. Unlike the non-hardy tea roses, the Canadian roses survive our winters without cover. Choose from several beautiful colors.

The Morden Blush blooms light pink several times per summer on a two-foot bush. It can be combined with the dark pink Morden Centennial to make a stunning hedge. Both roses feature classy, tea-rose like foliage.

The William Baffin rose grows large enough to be trained onto an arbor or trellis, or it can stand alone. One area gardener reported 424 blooms on her William Baffin two years ago.

The Morden Sunrise, the first orange-yellow repeat blooming rose from Canada, features a tangerine scent.

The Morden Ruby blooms a mauve red, while the petite Winnipeg Parks rose features cherry-red blossoms.

The Cuthbert Grant red is the most fragrant of the hardy varieties, while the Hope for Humanity blooms blood-red all summer.

Please remember to plant your roses about four to five inches deeper than the crown.

Purchase your roses in the bare root building at Bergeson's. They can be planted as soon as you can dig a hole. See pictures of many of these roses at www.bergesonnursery.com.

Dr. Judith Campbell takes medical expertise to Ecuador afford it. Patients who can afford medical care pay a small fee that helps cover the clinic's expenses, according to MMI.

Besides providing free or virtually free medical care, MMI supplies patients with medications and other medical items, which are donated or funded with monetary donations.

Campbell is currently collecting items for clinic patients as well as monetary donations to help provide medical care to those patients. She is collecting the following items:

• Monetary donations to MMI; checks made payable to MMI can be sent to Dr. Judith Campbell, 201 Sherwood Ave. N., Thief River Falls, MN 56701. She will forward the checks to MMI.
• Reading and prescription eyeglasses, as well as sunglasses and cases. Each year, MMI distributes 1.2 million pairs of recycled eyeglasses.
• Gauze, band aids, dressings, diabetes test strips
• Canes, wheelchairs, crutches, walkers
• Over-the-counter medications, which do not expire in 2005. Those items include vitamins, aspirin, Tylenol, ibuprofen, naproxen, cortisone creams, Tums, Mylanta, antifungal medications, allergy medications, cough and cold medicine, laxatives and eye drops, among other things.
• Prescription medication in the original container with the patient's name blacked out for confidentiality; the medication will be relabeled and redistributed. That medication should not expire until after 2005.
• Personal hygiene items, including toothbrushes, toothpaste, fingernail clippers, bars of soap, combs, shampoo, deodorant and toilet paper
• Pens and pencils
• Small baggies for medications
• Trash bags

Donation boxes are located at the United Methodist Church, St. Bernard's Catholic Church, NWMC, Altru and Dakota clinics, and the Heritage Center in Thief River Falls. If anyone were interested in creating a donation box at his or her church or organization, Campbell said she would be more than happy to pick it up when it is full.

During daytime hours, donations may also be dropped off at the Campbell residence, 201 Sherwood Ave N. Donors are urged to call Campbell at 681-0384 prior to dropping off donations.

If Campbell does not have enough room in her luggage for the donations, the remaining items will be sent to an MMI warehouse. The items will then be distributed to other locations of MMI mission projects.

On Sunday, May 1, Campbell will also talk about her upcoming trip and show slides of her Ethiopian mission at the 10 a.m. worship service at the Thief River Falls United Methodist Church. A love offering will be taken at that time for MMI and Campbell's mission trip. After the church service, a luncheon and bake sale will be held in the church basement. The menu will include chili, homemade bread and Ecuadorian desserts. A freewill offering will be taken at that time, and proceeds will go to MMI and Campbell's mission trip.

Campbell is also available to talk to service organizations about her upcoming trip. For more information, call her at 681-0384.

Campbell's Ecuador mission trip is one of approximately 70 MMI medical projects scheduled each year. More than 1,500 North American volunteers take part in those one- to two-week mission trips. For more information, see the MMI Web site (www.mmint.org).

For two weeks in June, Dr. Judith Campbell will provide her medical expertise to the people of Baños, Ecuador. Currently, the Thief River Falls resident is collecting medical supplies and personal hygiene items for her trip. She is pictured with some of the donations she has received thus far. (The stuffed animals have not been donated, but are merely modeling the eyeglasses Campbell has collected for her medical mission trip.)

city, the intent is the same --to provide head coverings for chemotherapy and radiation patients.

Anderson knitted more than 200 caps for the charity in a short time period, after returning to the craft last fall. She considers knitting and crocheting to be good therapy for a severe arthritic condition that she suffers from in her right hand and she would typically knit between three and four caps per day.

Eventually, Anderson grew tired of knitting and returned to crocheting shawls and ponchos. She used the same shawl pattern she developed when she was 13 years old.

"I figured, I'll just make up a bunch of these and see if I can get rid of them," Anderson said.

Anderson said her shawl pattern isn't too unique, its just never been done by anyone else. She said the design is similar to one that appeared in "Country Woman Magazine."

Anderson's shawls have drawn a positive response in the past, something that made her consider selling the pattern. Figuring it would be good luck, Anderson had a friend mail a completed shawl to Coats and Clark in January. She also inquired about the company's policy on purchasing patterns. She included a shawl and a description of its design.

She heard back from the textile giant about two months later. A letter dated March 3, informed Anderson that Coats and Clark was interested in her shawl, but they needed more information. Anderson crocheted a second shawl. Using her original pattern, she photographed and documented each step. Typically each shawl can be crafted with relative ease, in three to four days depending on its size. Because each step needed to be carefully documented, the sample shawl took much longer.

"After I got my first letter back, it took me a while to get the shawl done. I was writing directions down as I went along," Anderson said.

The sample shawl, a size small, took four days to complete. Anderson sent her completed pattern to Coats and Clark and received word on March 16 that they would like to purchase her completed pattern. Coats and Clark offered Anderson a modest $50 compensation for her work.

"I thought I was going to get more for the pattern, a lot more. And now they want more patterns," Anderson said.

Anderson's shawls and ponchos can be purchased locally during select area craft shows and festivals like this summer's Middle River centennial and the Middle River Goose Fest. Anderson said her shawls and ponchos are available in "every color under the rainbow."

"Behind Barbed Wire" visits TRF

visual documentation. Elderly or evening visitors may wish to bring small flashlights.

"Behind Barbed Wire" poses five primary questions: - why did some Midwest POWs survive certain conditions or experiences, while others did not? - what roles did art, free-time and religion play in helping those men who did survive imprisonment by the Nazi regime? - why did some Germans or Austrians assist Midwest POWs, while others did not? - how did the liberated POWs later come to terms with their own experiences and how do countries once in armed conflict reconcile with each other?

As the opening panel of the exhibit reminds viewers, "The prisoner of war experience is one few men or women know directly. Being taken prisoner is, in itself, neither dishonorable nor heroic. Capture is largely an accident. Often, it comes as a complete surprise and is frequently accompanied by injury. Usually, the confinement is painful; too often, it is fatal. In war, not everyone is lucky: some lose. Those taken captive are part of the unlucky ones."

TRACES invites former POWs to join the BUS-eum tour at any point to talk to exhibit visitors and speak about their experiences. It also welcomes contributions of narratives or artifacts from individuals it not yet has located. Michael Luick-Thrams, TRACES' executive director and creator of "Behind Barbed Wire" says a logical future step following the touring exhibit would be to establish a permanent museum to "honor" former WWII POWs and preserve their legacy for the benefit of future generations."

As the exhibit's first text explains, "There were three main waves of Midwest POWs: those captured in North Africa in 1943, those pilots shot out of the sky during the air war over Europe, and those soldiers captured at the Battle of the Bulge, near the war's end. Each wave of Midwest POWs in Nazi Germany had its own experiences. All of the men who survived them, however, left a provocative legacy for those alive today—one involving the very nature of war itself: how does armed conflict between groups of people play out, face-to-face, when the guns are lowered; how 'should' humans treat each other and, ultimately, live together?"

After viewing the exhibit, the library invites everyone to the library itself for refreshments and to talk further with others attending this exhibit. Reports from the southern portion of the state at which the exhibit has been touring have been extremely positive and former POWs have been moved to tears at many locations. Be sure not to miss this unique opportunity offered at no cost.

Once a runner reaches that goal, there are no awards, no trophies, tee-shirts, or monetary compensation. Earning the opportunity to run one more marathon doesn't sound like much of an enticement, but Boston is the goal of just about every marathoner who laces up a pair of running shoes and steps on the starting line of a marathon.

The Boston Marathon is the world's oldest annual marathon and ranks as one of the world's most prestigious road racing events. The marathon course follows a point-to point route from rural Hopkinton to Boston. This year, more than 20,000 entrants will participate in the race on Monday, April 18, and Russ Sorenson will be among those competitors. He will also be among some of the world's most elite runners. According to Boston Marathon officials, an elite team of 31 marathon runners from 13 countries, including three-time winner and Olympic silver medalist Catherine Ndereba, and Timothy Cherigat, the men's defending champion, will be competing in the event.

Getting to the marathon poses a number of challenges. For Russ and any other resident of northwestern Minnesota, it means training - lots of training - in tough weather conditions. Generally, Russ runs six days a week, no matter the conditions. The only reason he might skip a day is if the temperature dips to 30 degrees below 0-degrees Fahrenheit. Because the Boston Marathon takes place in April, this means runners must complete their longest training runs (16 to 20-plus miles generally) during the month of March. During the month of March, the weather in northwestern Minnesota can oftentimes be described as brutal.

Sorenson said it was pretty tough this winter, but once he got out there and got going it wasn't so bad. "Well," he admitted, "the first two or three miles were pretty tough."

Like many marathoners, going to Boston has been a goal for Sorenson. When he qualified last fall he was pretty excited about it, but he knew that coming up with the funds for such a trip would be challenging. Sorenson, an employee of Polaris Industries said however, that as soon as fellow employees heard he had qualified, they started raising funds for him. He said that as soon as his mother, who he said has never seen him run, heard they were raising money for his trip, Sorenson said she told him he was going!

Sorenson said Polaris employees held two bake sales for him and then Polaris donated two helmets and a jacket for a raffle. Altogether, they raised over $1,300. He said he has had two shirts - a short sleeve shirt and a long-sleeve shirt - made especially for this event. They say Polaris on them and "Sponsored by Polaris Employees" on the back.

The cost of such a trip can be staggering for anyone unaccustomed to East Coast prices. Sorenson said they got a good deal on airline tickets, but when they started looking at hotels, the average cost per night was $250 to $300. He said they eventually found a motel near the airport that was charging $90 per night.

But other than the weather, and financing the trip, there's one other problem. Sorenson has never been on an airplane.

He isn't at all sure he's going to like flying, but he's ruled out running there. In an interview with the Roseau Times Region last fall, he added that he might have to get a bus.

Sorenson will be leaving on April 15 and traveling by airplane from the Twin Cities with his mother, his girlfriend Martina Barrett, and Lon England, a good friend. They plan to return on April 19.

Russ is the son of Wavell Sorenson and the late Lloyd Sorenson of Plummer. In visiting with Wavell, she said she doesn't know where he gets his running ability. "He didn't get it from his mom or dad," she said.

Regardless, when the nation's media focuses its attention on the Boston Marathon on April 18, everyone will be watching. Sorenson said on Wednesday that he was getting a little nervous. His goal is modest - to finish and enjoy the scenery. Although, he's been reading about Heart Break Hill, which is around mile 20, and the cross winds that make it so much more difficult at that point in the race. He said he looked at a weather map and noted that it was 58-degrees Fahrenheit on Wednesday, but that it had snowed earlier in the week - "just so there's not so much wind," said Sorenson.

And still we haven't answered why he's running this marathon. Maybe it's the fact that it's the oldest and most prestigious road racing event in the world. Maybe it's because to get there you have to qualify, maybe, just maybe, it's because it's like the mountain that has to be climbed - because it's there. Maybe it's because once you start running marathons, you just can't quit.

Sorenson said he also will be running in Duluth at Grandma's Marathon in June.

TRF Wal-Mart construction to begin

then be deducted from what it owes the city.

If the work were not completed by the appropriate deadlines, city leaders have agreed to pay $1,500 per day until Wal-Mart is satisfied that the work has been completed.

Lindberg noted Wal-Mart will also reimburse the city for traffic control signals, which will be purchased for that area from the Minnesota Department of Transportation.

The developer's agreement also includes mosquito and trash control plans.

Tuesday, council members also unanimously approved the final plat for Wal-Mart. Holten was absent.

Community Development Director Mike Moore said the final plat includes additional fencing on the eastside of Nelson Drive. It also includes tree species that were not originally planned at the site. Those species of trees are more conducive to Thief River Falls than the trees originally planned for the site, he noted.

Hedges will also be located around a northwest retention pond at the site, Morris said.

In March, council members approved rezoning the site from agricultural (AG) to General Business District (C-2). Shopping centers are a conditional use in areas with C-2 zoning. A conditional use permit for the site was also granted in March.

A Murphy Oil Corp. gas station is also planned on the property, which is approximately 22 acres. Another parcel will be sold and may be used for a bank, fast-food restaurant or sit-down restaurant.

Morris and other Wal-Mart representatives have been working with city staff for the past nine months on the development of the site.

"It's been really enjoyable for us," said Morris, who noted he hopes the city looks forward to and enjoys the store.

CALCIUM-25
Calcium Mineral Supplements. Increases crops yields 20 to 40% & more over the past 24 years. Works equally well in both calcium rich and calcium-deficient soils. Increases plants ability to absorb nutrients more efficiently. By foliar feeding this to any plant, it increases the cell structure. By doing this it increases the growth & yields to the plant. I know I have proved it for 5 years with excellent results. Last year my soybeans did not freeze.

Removal of watershed board members a power of county

Warren - Removing from office the men it has appointed to a watershed district board of managers is a power of the Marshall County Board of Commissioners after all. That was the gist of a state attorney general's opinion reported on and discussed at Tuesday's meeting of the county board.

Earlier this year, Elden Elseth and others had pressed the county board and County Attorney Mike Williams on the matter of whether the board had the power to remove from watershed district positions those it had appointed to such positions. Williams asserted the commissioners had no such power of removal, basing his stand on a previous opinion by the office of Minnesota Attorney General Mike Hatch. Still, said Williams at the time, he would, if directed by the county board, request the attorney general's office to take another look at the question.

This time, the attorney general's staff found if a board of commissioners appoints for a fixed period of time (as in the case of watershed appointments, three years), then the appointing board may not dismiss an appointee "at will" (that is, for no specified reasons), but may dismiss "for cause" and also providing that due notice has been given and a hearing has been held.

Some landowners in the area of the Middle-Snake-Tamarac (MST) Rivers Watershed District's proposed Agassiz Valley Water Resource Management Project (Helgeland Project) east of Warren have been unhappy with what they call shabby treatment by the MST Board of Managers. In the past, these landowners, led by landowner Jim Stengrim, have pleaded with the county board to make the MST managers easier to work with. - Warren Sheaf, April 20, 2005

Honeymoon in Iraq

Greenbush - When you think of honeymooning, the first thing that doesn't come to mind is you and your new spouse in full military gear in Iraq. But that's just what newlyweds Spc. Kayleen (Paulson) Longworth and Cpl. Kevin Longworth are doing.

Kayleen is the daughter of Wesley and Bonnie Paulson of Greenbush. She attended school in Badger and graduated from North Dakota State University with a degree in animal and range science. She joined the Army National Guard in May 1998.

Her six years in the Guard were supposed to be up in May of last year, but then her enlistment was extended indefinitely.

In the meantime, she had met and worked with Kevin for a couple of years as they were in the same guard unit based in St. Cloud. They dated and started making plans for their future. In April 2004, they were ordered to report to Fort Dix, N.J., in June.

To complicate matters, she and Kevin were to be married that summer. They decided to move the wedding up to May 1 in Kevin's hometown of Staples.

After only a month of marriage, they were ordered to report to Fort Dix. They left there in late December and arrived in Kuwait for two weeks for further training. From there, the unit traveled to its final destination of Camp Speicher in Tikrit, Iraq. - The Tribune of Greenbush, April 20, 2005

Interim president of NCTC announced

by David Hill
Editor

Thursday was a bitter-sweet day for Dr. Orley Gunderson. Gunderson and a delegation of representatives from Minnesota State Colleges and Universities introduced the interim president of Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) in Thief River Falls and East Grand Forks, Dr. Jim Davis, to staff, students and the community.

Last November, Gunderson announced his plans to retire. On July 31, he officially accepts retirement and will hand over leadership of the college to Dr. Jim Davis. Davis will lead the colleges for about a year while searches for permanent replacements are conducted.

The Minnesota State Colleges and Universities Board of Trustees, acting Wednesday on recommendations by Chancellor James H. McCormick, appointed Ronald V. Kraft as interim president for Hennepin Technical College, and James R. Davis as interim president for NCTC.

Bill Tschida, vice chancellor for human resources in Minnesota State Universities and Community Colleges (MnSCU), said that it was a wonderful and exciting time in the history of Northland Community and Technical College. As a leader in the search for a permanent replacement, Tschida said it will be an exciting time in that the choice they make will have an impact on where the college will be at 10 or 15 years from now. In September, Tschida will be returning to the community to visit with staff about the search process. (Under a policy of the Board of Trustees, interim presidents are not eligible to be considered for the permanent positions.)

Cheryl Dickson, trustee on the board of trustees, said she thinks the world of Orley Gunderson.

Gunderson's career in education began in 1963. He was appointed to Thief River Falls Technical College in 1980. Since then, as MnSCU President Dr. James McCormick

The Exposition will be open to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sunday, April 24, at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center in Thief River Falls. Troops and Packs from throughout northwestern Minnesota will be displaying Scouting skills and projects at the event. The popular Northern Lights Council Climbing Tower will also be available. There is no admission charge. Pictured with Lucas and Logan is Trish Lana, assistant Den leader for Pack 57, Thief River Falls.

Scout Expo
Scouting: Fun for the family
Annual Scout Exposition at the Huck in TRF this weekend

Over 30 displays of scouting skills and hobby interests will be on display at the Annual Voyageur Trails District Boy Scout Exposition Sunday, April 24 in Thief River Falls. Open to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center, the event highlights an excellent variety of Scout and hobby skills.

"Celebrating Scouting's Anniversary" is the theme for this year's Exposition, said Art Heinze, event chairman. "This year's three-hour family show will again have a wide variety of action booths that offer the general public an opportunity to participate in the fun Scouting activities," Heinze said. "The Exposition is designed to show and demonstrate some of the Scouting skills that the boys learn and participate in. It is a show for the whole family."

In addition to Scouting activities, several hobbyists will be sharing their interests. The Thief River Falls Archery Club, Model Railroading Club, Orvel Stocks with woodcarving, and Kim Murphy's Scout memorabilia, and Don Nygaard's deer antler art will also be on display. The very popular Northern Lights Council Climbing Tower will also be present.

Units will be setting up their booths between 10 a.m. and noon on Saturday, April 23, and/or between 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. on Sunday, April 24, the day of the show. Ribbons will be awarded at 5 p.m.

Admission to the Exposition is free because Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts sold candy bars earlier this month to cover the costs of the

Civil commitment sought for sex offender in TRF

by April Schelnohn
Reporter

A Thief River Falls man who has sexually victimized approximately 40 people will have a hearing to determine whether he should be civilly committed.

Cary Allan Leas, 38, was scheduled to be released from prison April 25. However, he will instead be sent to the St. Peter Regional Treatment Center while waiting for a judge to determine whether he should be civilly committed.

Pennington County District Court Judge Kurt Marben made the ruling Thursday after hearing arguments for and against a hold order for Leas. Marben also extended the time limits related to when that civil commitment hearing has to be held. The date of that hearing has yet to be determined.

Marben's decisions were made two days after Pennington County Attorney Dave Olin and Minnesota Attorney General Mike Hatch filed a petition to civilly commit Leas as a sexually dangerous person and sexual psychopathic personality, according to a news release from Hatch's office.

Cary Leas

The state also filed the time extension motion, which was approved. Defense counsel did not object to that motion.

At the hearing, Minnesota Assistant Attorney General Noah Cashman said Leas' approximately 40 female and male victims ranged in age from a year old to their 40s. They included family members, non-family members and strangers, according to Cashman. He noted those acts included the use of force, multiple acts, fondling, manipulating and grooming.

"He's an extreme danger to the community," Cashman said.

Running past Boston's history

Russell Sorenson of Roseau successfully completed the 109th Boston Marathon on Monday, April 18. Sorenson, 46, completed the marathon in a "net" time of 4:10:07.

The men's open winner was Hailu Negussie of Ethiopia, who completed the course in a time of 2:11:45. The women's open winner was Catherine Ndereba of Kenya. This is the fourth time Ndereba has won the women's open at the Boston Marathon. It was the fifth time that Ernst Van Dyke of South Africa has won the men's push rim wheelchair. He won the event in a time of 1:24:11. The women's push rim wheelchair winner was Cheri Blauwet of the United States. She completed it in a time of 1:47:45.

Russell Sorenson

American Alan Culpepper finished in fourth overall in a time of 2:13:39, and Peter Gilmore, also of the United States, finished 10th in a time of 2:17:32. According to Jim O'Brien for the Boston Athletic Association, for the record, the last time that an American placed as high as fourth in Boston was 1987 when Dave Gordon accomplished that feat. The last time two Americans placed in the top 10 was 1993 when Mark Plaatjes placed 6th and Keith Brantly placed 9th.

Sorenson said it was just fun to

Family Advocacy Program ends
Program ends after serving over 200 teen parents and their children

by April Schelnohn
Reporter

Jill Johnson has a bulletin board in her office that displays pictures of the children and teen parents she's helped over the past eight years. It will soon be dismantled. The Family Advocacy Program (FAP) ended this week.

State funding is no longer available for the program that has served over 200 teen parents and their children in the Thief River Falls area over the past eight years.

It will be scary for those parents served by the program, according to Layne Blakely, who is one of those parents. "I think it's a really great program, and I don't know what everyone is going to do when it's over," she said.

Blakely expects she and her husband, parents to 2-1/2-year-old Emily, will do just fine. They receive support from their parents. She noted she is hopeful other programs will support her friends and former FAP clientele.

Johnson, the family advocate, hopes teen parents will continue to receive support from the community. "If one family falls through the cracks, it's too many," she said.

Yet, Johnson is also afraid that the number of teen parents will increase due to the end of the FAP.

FAP funding

Eight years ago, a group of community members realized Thief River Falls had a high rate of teen pregnancy. They wrote a grant to the Children's Trust Fund. They were awarded the grant, and the FAP began. Johnson was hired at that time and has been the family advocate ever since that time.

Two years later, the funding ended. Community members wrote another grant to continue the program. In between the two grants, the Family Service Collaborative awarded money to the FAP, so it could continue. Since that time, the Minnesota Department of Children, Families and Learning (CFL), the United Way and community donations have funded the FAP.

However, the CFL funding has ceased. It is no longer giving money to organizations specifically for adolescent pregnancy, Johnson said. Instead, the CFL has lumped that money with other program money and reduced all of it by 65 percent. As a result, Johnson said, it's "extremely competitive" for that funding.

The work of the FAP

Through the FAP, Johnson helped teen and young parents in various

To the many pregnant and parenting teens I've had the honor to work with:

Thank you for sharing your very personal lives and stories with me and others. Thank you for entrusting me to help nurture and care for you and your children. You've taught me, as well as others, about true hardship, challenges and resiliency. I've learned not to judge people because you never know where they've been. You've inspired me to reach out because we never know when one act of kindness will change someone's life forever. You've shown me that love and human connectedness breaks cycles. The past eight years have been the most challenging, heartbreaking and rewarding. The teens, professionals and concerned community members I've built relationships with have had a significant impact on my life, and I have become a better person as a result of knowing you. Thank you!

Today's recipes are from the Zion Lutheran Church of Viking 1960s cookbook. Most of us know the '60s were those years when many moms stayed home and made cakes and cookies and wonderful meals from scratch, so the recipes are always good ones. (And looking at some of the recipes, how is it that nobody got too stout back then?)

Don't even think about the calories and cholesterol. This is a favorite from the 1960s, remember? Nice for when "company's coming" though:

MEATBALL CASSEROLE
Mrs. Anna Johnson

1 pound ground beef
1/4 pound (1/2 cup) pork sausage
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
1/3 cup evaporated milk
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 teaspoon chili powder
1/8 teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients well. Shape into small balls and brown. Cover and cook 10 minutes, then place in 2 1/2 quart casserole.

1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 can cream of celery soup
1 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup water

Combine and heat until steaming. Pour over meatballs. Top with biscuits (below)

Chili Cheese Biscuits:
1 1/2 cups flour, sifted
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/3 cup shortening (part butter)
1 egg
1/3 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup grated cheese
1 tablespoon dried parsley

Mix flour, baking powder, chili powder and salt and mix in shortening until particles are fine. Combine egg with 1/3 cup evaporated milk and add to particle mixture. Stir until dough clings together, then knead on floured board about 10 times.

Roll out to 12 inch square. Sprinkle top with grated cheese and parsley and roll up as a cinnamon roll. Cut into 8-10 pieces and place on top of casserole. Bake at 400 degrees for 20-25 minutes, until hot and bubbly. Serves 8-10 people.

Here's another 60's favorite, an all-in-one meal:

CHILIGETTI CASSEROLE
Mrs. Lyle Stokke

1 pound ground beef
2 tablespoons fat (if desired)
1 large onion, chopped
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons chili powder (or less)
2 cups red kidney beans
1 1/2 cups raw spaghetti
3 cups tomato juice
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Brown beef in fat (wouldn't need fat if you use a new-fangled, nonstick fry pan though). Add onion, salt and chili powder and cook until onions are tender. Place in casserole and add remaining ingredients. Cover and cook at 350 degrees for 1 hour, adding liquid if needed. Serves 6-8 people.

Doesn't this just sound like those barbecues Mom made - and so easy:

DELICIOUS HAMBURGERS OR BARBECUE
Mrs. Morris Halvorson

3/4 cup ketchup
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1 cup water
2 pounds hamburger
1 large onion, chopped

Combine ketchup, chili powder and water. Boil about 7 minutes, then add hamburger and onion. Cook and stir until hamburger is broken up, then simmer 30 minutes or longer. Serve on hamburger buns.

Pork is always so reasonably-priced. Use some of it in this tasty recipe:

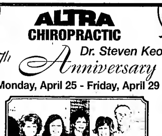
AFRICANDER PORK CHOPS
Mrs. Gene Halvorson

6 pork chops
2 teaspoons fat
1/2 cup chopped onion
1 cup diced green pepper
Pepper to taste
1 can tomatoes (3 1/2 cups)
2/3 cup uncooked rice
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 cup water

Brown chops in fat in skillet. Remove. Brown onion and green pepper. Add chops and remaining ingredients. Cover and simmer for 1 hour, stirring occasionally.

One last old-time favorite - I like to use creamed corn instead of peas though. But I've never tried standing my potato chips on end or putting some in the bottom:

TUNA NOODLE DISH
Agness B. Halvorson



1 (5 ounce) package wide noodles
1 can peas
1 can tuna
2 cans cream of mushroom soup
1 cup cooked celery (cook in water and keep water for this recipe)
1/2 pound potato chips

Cook noodles in salted water. Drain. Mix peas, fish, soup and celery and rinse soup cans with about 1 cup of celery water. Mix all together.

Layer some potato chips on bottom of greased casserole. Add other mixture, then cover with remaining potato chips, standing on end if possible. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees.

A Flame to light the winter.

The brilliant orange bark of the Flame Compact Willow lights up the winter landscape. Unlike other Willows, the Flame Willow does not drop branches.

In addition, the Flame Willow grows in a tight oval shape, with its branches neatly upswept.

Any yard can benefit from a single Flame Willow planted in the back corner of where it will be visible from the kitchen sink or picture window.

Any farmstead will benefit from a row of Flame Willow as a windbreak along the drive. The orange splash of color from a row of Flame Willow can be seen from well over a mile away.

Melvin Bergeson discovered the Flame Willow growing in an area swamp. His wife Olga took one look at the tree and gave it the name "Flame." Since then, the Flame Willow has been lighting up yards all over Northwestern Minnesota.

In addition, the Flame has become popular in cloverleaf interchanges down in the Cities, and was recently featured in a book on landscaping for winter color published in Chicago.

Get in on the famous Flame Willow Phenomenon! Purchase a Flame Willow in the bare root building at Bergeson Nursery for a mere $6.50.

Bush Foundation clarifies statement

An observant reader called to complain about a story that appeared in the April 9 edition of the Northern Watch, which, among other things, stated that the Bush Foundation had awarded a grant for $200,000 to the Nature Conservancy. Of particular concern to the reader was the following statement in that news release: "The Nature Conservancy purchased the 35,000-acre Glacial Ridge property to restore it as a wetland and wildlife refuge; it had been illegally drained in the 1980s."

Mary Bensman of the Bush Foundation stated Friday, April 15, that the statement was "too global," meaning it was an overgeneralization. The Bush Foundation, she said, was funding restoration of 600 acres that had been illegally drained after 1985.

We thank our reader for bringing the statement to our attention.

Win-E-Mac's Preschool Readiness Program takes registrations

Registration for Win-E-Mac's 2005-06 School Readiness Program has begun.

School Readiness Preschool program values parents as children's first and most important teacher. In preschool, children will be provided opportunities to learn through play. They will experience math, science and language activities, individually, in small groups and large groups. Children will be able to express themselves through the use of dramatic play, puppets, music, movement, stories and art. School Readiness is a great way for children to begin their school experience.

Children are bused to school one day per week. Leaders are looking into the possibility of expanding to two days per week later in the year.

Parents who have children who will be 4 before September 1 are invited to call 687-2236.

THE LYON'S SHARE

Tim Lyon

The comments published in this column are intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. They are written by independent columnists and do not represent the opinion of the staff or management of The Times/Northern Watch.

A long stretch to find the point

Larry Sorenson is from Long Point, an extended, isolated, narrow peninsula of rock and sand that juts off the south rim of Lake of the Woods and effectively bisects the open water, Minnesota portion of that basin. I point out his origin not so much because it helps describe Larry's geographical roots, but because those familiar with Long Point will better understand the complexity of digesting what he has to offer. It's not that people from Long Point are greater or lesser than the rest of us, they simply seem to approach the world from a different angle. Their perspective is somewhat pre-Copernican (Copernicus is the guy who proposed that the earth rotated around the sun, rather than vice-versa), and perhaps rightly so. If one were to stand on the very tip of Long Point tomorrow, the sun would rise in the east, over water, and set in the west, over water, suggesting that the stance of the observer was, indeed, the center of the universe and, very possibly, the only place available for human habitation. It's only natural that such a geographical posture lends itself to a view of the world that the rest of us struggle to get our arms around.

So, when Larry sidled up next to me the other day and lamented about his chances at catching trophy sturgeon, I was caught a little off-guard.

"I hear the big sturgeon are running in the Rainy," he said. "It'd be nice to go out and catch one."

"Yes," I concurred, "the report is that the 60-plus inch fish are clustered in the hole in the Bay. You better get out there and make a name for yourself."

"Oh, I couldn't do that. It'd be illegal. Walleyes are closed until May 14."

"No," I said, pretending not to notice that someone from Long Point had used the word "illegal" in a sentence, "you said 'sturgeon' and the season on them is open until May 15."

"Yeah, but I don't want to catch a walleye, I just want to fish for them and, according to page 24 of the Minnesota State fishing regs, 'one may not intentionally fish for any species during its closed season.' How am I supposed to catch a big sturgeon?"

I paused, and mentally regrouped, reassuring myself that this was not an interchange with Yogi Berra.

"OK, Larry. Do you want to fish for walleye or do you want to fish for sturgeon?"

"I want to catch a big sturgeon, so I want to fish for walleye, and I can't."

I checked to see if my fly was open and this was some sort of practical joke. Where were we going with this? Larry sensed my confusion.

"Look at it this way," he said. "What were you fishing for when you caught your biggest northern pike?"

"Well, muskies, of course. Everyone knows that the truly huge Northerns hang out on those rocky points and reefs that muskies love as well. They're fished in virtually identical waters."

"Exactly," Larry replied, "and how about your biggest smallmouth bass?"

"Hmmm. That'd be on a spinner looking for walleyes off a tiny point in Johnson Pass."

"All right, that makes sense to me," Larry said. "Now, how about biggest walleye?"

"I was fishing for walleyes," I offered flatly, trying to appear offended.

"Whatever. That's probably what I'd say, too, especially if I considered myself a bona fide 'walleye' fisherman like you. So, back to the original point. When was the last time you caught a really big sturgeon when you were actually looking for sturgeon? Be truthful now."

I hung my head and tried to look pensive, as though I was in deep recollection. In reality, I was simply checking my fly again. The answer was obvious. All the big sturgeon that I could remember were on the end of a walleye line. Efforts at actually targeting the leviathans always ended up with those moderate 20- to 40-inch fish. Without actually acknowledging that I understood his Long Point logic, I grunted a grudging admission, "Hunnnhh."

"And that's why," Larry continued, "I want to go fish walleyes. I want to drop a jig with a shiner minnow over the side and twitch it gently an inch or so off the bottom. I want to feel that funky sensation as a big sturgeon first brushes his nose against my line and then, almost imperceptibly, vacuums that morsel into his 'Hoover-like' mouth. I want to pretend that I think it's a big walleye when I set the hook, just like I do in the fall or in late May, knowing all along it's a half-hour sturgeon battle ahead. I want to go fish walleyes. And, for now, that's illegal."

A long, awkward silence pushed between us as I struggled for whatever it was I was supposed to say at this juncture. I didn't get the sense that Larry was going to stop my personal sense of chaos and bail me out by changing the direction of the conversation. Typical Long Pointer.

"I heard the golf course opened yesterday," I threw out desperately.

"Yeah, but duck season isn't for six months yet."

Thank You

At a time of loss it is wonderful to see how your family and friends are there for you. That's what we experienced at the recent illness and death of our husband and father, Palmer Lian. We want to thank everyone for their visits to Palmer, their phone calls, cards, memorials and food. We especially want to thank Hospice (Elayne Audrey & others) for helping us care for him at home. A special thanks to the Johnson Funeral Home for the wonderful service they provided. Thanks to all who helped with the funeral service. Pastor Mary Gilliverit for her encouraging words. Joy Nordby, Marie Konickson and Denise Ostby for their beautiful music. Grace Woman Food Group for serving the lunch, and Jodie and Greg for sharing their memories of "Grandpa Palmer." May God bless each and everyone of you.

Thanks,

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Secrecy. There's just too much secrecy

A story in Publisher's Auxiliary, a newspaper trade magazine, started with the following: "An unconscionable culture of secrecy has grown up in our nation since the Cold War." I might add that it hasn't gotten any better since 9-11, probably worse.

Secrecy isn't bad. We've seen and heard of too many stories about stolen identification, credit cards, misuse of records, and the sale for profit of our business information. Though not the worst by far, the last of which is probably the most annoying because it often results in annoying calls from telemarketers. As of late, I've started receiving calls from telemarketers who leave messages on my answering machine that hint that they know me. It's annoying because it wastes my time, and it tells me that someone has given someone else my name as a potential customer. I don't want people to know my business, and I don't want the government looking over my shoulder all the time. I don't think other people want that either. There's nothing top secret about most of that information, but when it is used it's like someone has just invaded our privacy. I think most of us are in agreement when I say most of us want protections for our privacy.

So along comes HIPAA. The Health Information Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) is designed to protect patients against fraud and abuse, and improve health insurance coverage. For the purpose of this essay, we will simply say that HIPAA governs the use and release of a patient's personal health information. There's some teeth to it in terms of penalties and apparently, a fair amount of confusion.

Some people need to re-read the law. A resident from the Roseau area called last week to share her experience with HIPAA. She said her 31-year-old son was on the way to the doctor, and because he was going to a hospital, he had turned off his cell phone. When she called the hospital to find out if he had arrived, she said she was told they couldn't tell her if he had because of HIPAA.

Well, that's just laziness, and lacks common sense.

It got her mad and it started her down a couple of different paths, though all with a purpose. She's had some experience in past with trying to obtain medical records. "Once those record are paid for," she said, "they're ours, and hospitals have no right to destroy them." People are watching too much television and has she got a bone to pick with them, too. She believes they've got the wrong idea about privacy because of what they're watching on television. They aren't taking time to read legal statutes, she said, so they go about believing those lies they see on television. The smoking law, she said, is another example. "The law doesn't say teenagers can't smoke. It says they can't buy." (The statute is titled "Sale of Tobacco to Children," but it does include a section under petty misdemeanor that states it's illegal to possess, smoke, chew or otherwise ingest tobacco products.) But us little people, she said, don't know any better. So when cops get bored of chasing dogs, and bust some kids for smoking no one cares whether it's right or wrong. People who have authority, like doctors and courts, she said, should know better.

In her frustration, the Roseau caller seems to have put her finger on a couple of issues. Collectively, I interpret her complaints to mean that we've become contented to a fault - complacent, which I might argue, has developed because of ever increasing complexity in our lives, and fear - fear of being sued, fear of being fined, fear of being wrong, fear of being attacked, fear of getting sick, hit, immigrated, and of... "other people." And then, there's just plain laziness - who care's if someone is inconvenienced? One other thought: Our society and culture also is one that relies on profit, and for employers, sometimes it's more profitable to rely on the wisdom of a few rather than attempt to educate the many.

If this trend continues, our Roseau caller suggests, dog pounds soon won't be able to tell you what dogs they have in their kennels. I can think of a few other conclusions, too, can't you?

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively, letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Gov. Pawlenty urges federal ethanol legislation

Minnesota Governor Tim Pawlenty, chairman of the Governors' Ethanol Coalition (GEC), sent a letter to President Bush and Congressional leadership on April 13, urging their support for federal legislation to increase ethanol production. The GEC, which represents 30 governors, announced the details in a release of a report entitled, "Ethanol from Biomass: America's 21st Century Transportation Fuel."

"As the U.S. imports greater amounts of oil each year, we are draining more and more of the wealth from our states," Pawlenty said. "Our increasing dependence on foreign oil is a risk to the nation's energy, economic and environmental security. The Coalition recommendations encourage new technologies and increase long-term energy stability."

The first major recommendation of the GEC report is support for Congress to enact a National Renewable Fuel Security Standard that requires the use of a minimum of 8 billion gallons a year of ethanol and biodiesel by 2012. The new standard would set a goal of providing at least 5 percent of the nation's fuel from ethanol by 2010 and encourages a target of 10 percent from ethanol and biodiesel with a growing share of this production from biomass-derived ethanol. The nation currently uses approximately 3 percent or 3.7 billion gallons of ethanol each year.

The GEC recommends support of research, development and commercialization of ethanol from biomass resources. Additional biomass resources such as corn fiber, wheat straw, rice hulls, paper mill waste and agricultural residues can expand ethanol production into a much larger, renewable energy resource. The Coalition recommends $800 million in federal research and development funding for biomass ethanol production over 10 years.

Minnesota has taken a leadership role in the use of renewable fuels. Minnesota is the only state in the nation to require gasoline to contain a 10 percent ethanol blend. Pawlenty has proposed legislation to double that requirement to 20 percent by the year 2010. He has signed an executive order to cut the state fleet's use of petroleum by 25 percent by 2010 and by 50 percent by 2015.

Minnesota ethanol production capacity has grown from 11 million gallons in 1990 to 400 million gallons in 2004.

Minnesota blends ethanol with virtually all (95 percent) of the state's gasoline supply. Blending over 250 million gallons of ethanol in Minnesota's gasoline reduced the state's imports of petroleum products by more than $100 million. The state leads the nation in building farmer-owned ethanol plants with five new plants under construction or development.

The Coalition report is available on the GEC Web site at http://www.ethanol-gec.org/coalitionstudies.htm.

Extension to offer home buying workshop

Buying a home is one of the most important decisions that a person makes today. In order to prepare home buyers for this important step, the University of Minnesota Extension Service and Minnesota Housing Financing Agency will offer a "Home Stretch" Home Buyer Workshop on Thursdays, April 28, May 5 and May 12. The workshops will be held from 7 to 9:45 p.m. in the Courthouse Meeting Room, Thief River Falls.

The three-session workshop is designed for the first-time home buyers of low to moderate income, for homeowners ready to finance a contract for deed, or for persons just interested in exploring the possibilities of home ownership.

Participants will gain a thorough understanding of the home buying process. They will find out – how much home they can afford, what lenders look for in a buyer, how to eliminate the barriers to home ownership, and what kinds of mortgage assistance programs are available. Various speakers from agencies or companies that work with home buyers will present the material and answer questions.

A certificate of completion will be provided to all participants who attend all three workshop sessions. Many lending programs now require completion of a home buying workshop to be eligible for their mortgage products.

The registration fee for the workshop is $20.00 per household. Call the Pennington County Extension Office at 218-683-7030 or 1-800-681-2116 to receive a registration brochure with more information. Registration deadline is Wednesday, April 27.

Goodridge plans kindergarten round up April 25

Goodridge Kindergarten Round Up will be at 6:30 p.m. on Monday, April 25, at Goodridge in the kindergarten classrooms. Anyone interested in enrolling their child is welcome to attend. For more information, call 378-4134.

Running past Boston's history

be there. He wasn't attempting to set a personal record, he was just there to have fun. Race day, he said, began several hours before the race. First he had to take a van from his hotel to the airport, where he could get on the subway. Twenty minutes and a short walk later he was at a high school where he got on a bus that would take him to the start area. The bus ride was a one hour and 10-minute ride to the starting area where he had to wait three hours for the official start of the race. He wasn't the first person there, by far. Some runners had a five-hour wait.

Now Russ freely admits that he isn't fond of car rides unless he's doing the driving. When he was a child, he would get car sick. So when he arrived at the start after having had to ride in the back of the bus, he felt a little queasy. The three hour wait gave him some time for his stomach to settle. Of course it could have been due to pre-race jitters, too.

Five or six miles into the race, Russ said he felt much better.

Much of the pre-race talk is about Heartbreak Hill, an infamous stretch of the race course at around mile 20 that is said to suck the life out of runners' legs. Not much else is said about the race course.

Russ said from the start until around half way, much of the course is down hill, which if you're a runner is, as Russ noted, worse than up hill. Then, runners face a series of rolling hills.

What was Heartbreak Hill like? Sometimes when we come face to face with great challenges we discover that they are - greater than life. As rumors grow with each telling, so it seems the legend of Heartbreak Hill has grown taller and higher with each story.

Russ said Heartbreak Hill wasn't as big as he was expecting. In addition, the crowd was very loud and very encouraging, he said. After that, it was pretty much flat.

Russ has participated in several Twin City Marathons where large crowds line the course. Officials estimate that over 250,000 people watch that race. Russ said there were a "few" more spectators at Boston than at the Twin Cities race. Specifically, he described it as "a mob."

Russ said he enjoyed the race. He met a lot of people from all over the country and world and passed by a lot of old buildings. After the race, he even did some sight-seeing. "There's a lot of history there," he said.

Race day conditions were reported as 70-degrees Fahrenheit at the start, and 69-degrees Fahrenheit at the finish with light winds from the north/northwest. Those temperatures are a little warmer than most runners would like. Russ said the heat didn't bother him too much, but he said he drank over 50 glasses of water or energy replacement drink while running the race.

Overall, there were 20,405 runners entered in the Boston Marathon, 18,319 started the race. A total of 17,549 finished the race, meaning 95.8 percent of the participants finished.

Russ said he was told that about 700 people were admitted to the medical tents. He said one guy collapsed about a block from the finish, but then crawled across the finish line.

The largest percentage of runners were among 18 to 39 year-olds, however, in a 10-year age bracket of 40 to 49 (masters), there were 7,056 runners. In the 50- to 59-year-old age group (veterans) there were 3,177 runners. In the 60- to 69-year-old age bracket (seniors), there were 785 runners. And, in the 70 and over age bracket, there were 104 runners.

Russ Sorenson finished 10,921st overall. He said he's not sure he'd ever do it again, but it was something he has always wanted to do. When he returned to Roseau and work at Polaris, he said fellow employees were pretty excited, and he's thankful for all their support.

Prior to this race, he said his next marathon would be Grandma's Marathon in Duluth on June 18. He's still planning to run in Grandma's, but is now thinking about running the half marathon in Fargo, N.D., on May 14, too.

noted, Gunderson has overseen a great deal of change at the college in Thief River Falls. Just one of those changes, although significant, involved presiding over the merger of the Technical College and Northland College.

But Dickson said she was pleased to see so many students in attendance at the announcement. "This is about you - students," said Dickson.

Chancellor McCormick also focused on the students. "This is what this system is all about," he said.

McCormick thanked Dr. Orley Gunderson, mentioning a number of his accomplishments, especially his participation in recent discussions in St. Paul that helped secure support for another bonding bill. That bonding bill includes funding for construction of a $2.15 million improvement and construction project in Thief River Falls that will complete the merger of the once separate colleges.

McCormick also provided some background information on the interim president who will lead NCTC.

Dr. James Davis

"James Davis is no stranger to the Minnesota State Colleges and Universities system," McCormick said. "Three years ago, he served as interim president of Riverland Community College. That appointment, in addition to his experience as president of five community colleges over the past 31 years, shows that he will be a strong leader." His appointment takes effect Aug. 1.

Davis served as president of Lehigh Carbon Community College from 1992 to 2000. Prior to that, he served as president of the Royal Oak and Southfield campuses of Oakland Community College in Michigan, Wenatchee Valley College in Washington, McHenry County College in Illinois and Wabash Valley College in Illinois. He also has served as assistant to the president of Highland Community College in Illinois.

Davis, 67, has taught communication, personnel, organizational behavior and management courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels. He began his career as a high school English and speech teacher in Freeport, Ill., and West Dubuque High School in Iowa. Davis holds a bachelor's degree in English from the University of Dubuque and a master's degree and doctorate in educational administration and supervision from the University of Illinois.

NCTC provides many excellent programs, Davis said. "I look forward to working with the students, faculty, staff and the community to continue helping the college develop and thrive."

Thursday, Davis said that as interim president he believes he'll be able to make some valuable contributions to several of the programs at the colleges, but said he plans to stay in the background. "You have a beautiful campus here where a lot of good things are going on."

Davis and his wife, Shirley, live near Worthington, Minn. He said they plan to move near the college.

Northlend Community end Technicel Collaga Presldant Dr. Orley Gunderson (right) welcomed the interim prasident of tha college, Dr. Jim Devis, Thursdey. Gundarson announced his plens to retira last Novembar. His retiramant becomas official on July 31. On Aug. 1, Dr. Davis will essume duties as the interim prasidant of tha campuses in East Grand Forks and Thief River Fells.

Northland runner Nathan Bennett reaches for the bag to beat a pick-off throw from Bottineau pitcher Drake Moslenko to first baseman Marlin Froese in the seventh inning of Wednesday's college baseball doubleheader opener in Thief River Falls. The Pioneers swept the Lumberjacks 6-4, 11-10.

Final at-bat rallies lift Pioneers past MSU-Bottineau...

Two seventh inning NCTC wins

It wasn't your everyday sweep Wednesday as Northland Community and Technical College beat Minot State University-Bottineau twice, 6-4 and 11-10, in a nonconference baseball doubleheader on the Pioneers' diamond. Both were come-from-behind efforts won with seventh inning rallies.

Northland had been limited to just one hit and trailed 4-3 going into last half inning in Game 1. But Stacey Wiseth led off with a solid single to right and reached second when a double play attempt on a line-drive out was thrown wide of first. Will Leetch, batting No. 9, sent a single down the right field line for a tie. With two out, Adam Violette won it with a two-run home run over the right field fence.

There was more of the same in Game 2. The Pioneers fell behind 8-0 early and faced a 10-8 deficit when they came to bat in the seventh. However, a bases-loaded walk issued to Gary Molck tied the game and a one-out single by Tom Dostal drove in the winning run to complete the unlikely sweep.

The results put Northland above .500 for the first time this year at 12-11. The two teams had met the previous Sunday on North Dakota turf, when a twinbill split included a 9-2 Northland win in Game 1 and a 10-5 Bottineau victory in Game 2.

"I'm proud of the guys for two big rallies today," said Northland coach Steve Gust. "The kids played with a lot of heart. A month ago, we would not have won these games. Hopefully these games will help us as we wind down our season."

A walk, error, hit-batsman and a double play gave Bottineau a first inning run to start the opener. Two hit-batsmen and a walk loaded the bases for Justin Buegler in the second inning and the Northland freshman drove in all three runs with a two-out line drive double to the right-center field fence – the Pioneers' only hit until the seventh.

Dave Collins and Drake Moslenko came up with RBI singles in the third as Bottineau tied it 3-3. Scott Thompson's base hit in the fourth put the Lumberjacks ahead 4-3.

In the nightcap, Northland crawled out of the 8-0 hole by scoring seven times in the third and once in the fourth for a tie.

Relief pitchers picked up the win in both games – Craig Johnston in the opener; Dane Kjono in the nightcap. "Our relief pitchers did a great job today, especially Johnston and Buegler," noted Gust.

Prowlers handle Pirates 11-0

Thief River Falls out-hit Crookston 12-1 and out-scored the host Pirates 11-0 in Tuesday high school baseball at Jim Karn Field.

The Pirates' lone hit was a single up the middle by Peter Curran in the fifth. He was promptly picked off first.

Michael Benedict, Alex Carlson, Alec Holen and Dan Kaushagen had two hits apiece for the Prowlers, who scored in every inning except the sixth.

Thief River Falls starter Justin Brooks pitched the first five innings for the win. David Lovly worked the final two innings in relief.

"Our pitching was outstanding, and our bats came alive a bit," reported Thief River Falls coach Shane Zutz. "We really put together a complete game and played very well."

It was the fourth straight win to start the 2005 season for the Prowlers, who were coming off an 11-1 victory over Red Lake County Monday. The Pirates fell to 2-3.

Itasca beats Northland softball squad 8-4, 5-0

Northland collected 18 hits, but could muster only four runs in a Tuesday Minnesota Community College Conference softball doubleheader against Itasca. The Pioneers lost both Northern Division games, 8-4, 5-0.

"We're leaving too many runners on base," acknowledged Northland coach Kathy Hanselle. "We hit the ball, but we couldn't string anything together."

Six first inning hits added up to a quick 6-0 Itasca lead in the opener and the host Viking coasted to a Game 1 win. The hits were even at 11-apiece.

Northland was out-hit just 8-7 in Game 2, but couldn't score.

After a 12-2 start that included a 4-0 record in MCCC play, the Pioneers have won just one of their last eight starts, putting them at 13-9 for the year and 5-7 in the Northern Division.

TRF Junior Olympics volleyball program to have May 3, 5 tryouts

Tryouts for the Thief River Falls Junior Olympics volleyball program will be held Tuesday, May 3, and Thursday, May 5, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Lincoln High School gymnasium.

Teams will be formed in four age groups: 12U (players born on or after Sept. 1, 1992, or were in sixth grade or below during the 2004-05 academic year; 14U (players born on or after Sept. 1, 1990, or were in eighth grade or below during the 2004-05 academic year; 16U (players born on or after Sept. 1, 1998, or were in tenth grade or below during the 2004-05 academic year; and 18U (players born on or after Sept. 1, 1986, or were in 12th grade or below during the 2004-05 academic year).

Kelly Hollands from the North Valley Juniors will be conducting the tryouts.

Participants should come prepared for a workout, with tennis shoes and kneepads.

Two nights of tryouts are being offered to accommodate busy spring schedules. Athlete should be present at one of the tryout sessions to be eligible to participate in the program. Registration starts at 7 p.m. both nights.

A mandatory parent/athlete meeting for those who make the teams will be held Tuesday, May 14, at 7 p.m. in the LHS gym.

For additional information, call Jodi Bendickson at 681-7069.

Prowler Basketball Camp is planned May 31-June 3

Registrations are being accepted for the 2005 Prowler Basketball Camp, scheduled to be held at Lincoln High School from May 31 to June 3.

The camp is open to all boys and girls interested in becoming better basketball players.

Two sessions will be held daily. Session I Fundamentals Skill Camp will be will be from 8 a.m. to noon. Session II Shooting and and Scoring Camp will go from 1 to 5 p.m. Participants can sign up for one or both sessions. Cost is $50 per session.

Emphasis in Session I will be placed on fundamentals and competition. All campers will be taught offensive skills like triple threat, direct drive, crossover, passing and catching the basketball, ball handling and shooting.

Skills taught in Session II include proper shooting technique, shot selection, creating a lead, shooting off the dribble, shooting off screens and reading screens.

Headlining the camp coaching staff this year will be Sundance Wicks, a four-year starter at Northern State University, where he was team captain and an NSIC all-conference for three years. The Gillette, Wyo., product played professional basketball in Sweden two years ago before joining the coaching staff at Northern State.

Other coaches will also be on hand to conduct the camp. In the past, the coaching line-up has included Vern Johnson of Grygla-Gatzke, Mark Bagaason of Clearbrook-Gonvick and Jeff Loe of Thief River Falls.

"The goal of our camp is to provide the best possible instruction at a price that people can afford," said Prowler Basketball Camp coordinator Chris McLean of Thief River Falls.

All campers will receive a basketball and daily handouts.

For additional information, call Chris McLean at 681-8813, extension 135, or 681-0263.

Deer hunters group to meet, distribute seeds

Dates for the monthly meeting and food plot seed handout have been set by the Thief River Falls Chapter of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association.

The meeting will be held Thursday, April 28, at 7:30 p.m. at the Eagles Club. There will be pumpkin, squash, wild flower and other varieties of seeds given out. The 21-gun raffle will be drawn during the meeting.

Food plot seed handout will be Saturday, April 30, beginning at 10:30 a.m. in the Kmart parking lot. Sugar beets, corn, clover and soybean seed (if available) will be distributed.

Teammates waited at home plate to congratulate Adam Violette, following his two-out, two-run home run in the bottom of the seventh inning that made Northland a 6-4 winner over Bottineau in the first game of a Wednesday college baseball doubleheader played in Thief River Falls. The Pioneers staged another final-inning rally to win the second game 11-10.

Paul Sjoberg ties for first, finishes second

For the second year in a row, Paul Sjoberg tied for low score at the Fergus Falls Invitational boys high school golf tournament Thursday. But the Thief River Falls senior had to settle for the No. 2 spot in the final medal standings when he lost the second playoff hole to Derek Harris of the host Otters.

Sjoberg and Harris both finished the regulation 18 holes with a 2-under par 70.

Team honors went to Crookston with a 298. Perham was runner-up at 306. Thief River Falls finished fifth in the 19-team field with a 310.

It was the fifth meet of the year for the Dick Tyler-coached Prowlers, who are at the Perham Invitational today (Saturday). They will golf at the Detroit Lakes Country Club Monday.

Fergus Falls Invitational

■ Team totals - Crookston 298, Perham 306, Fergus Falls A 307, Moorhead 308, Thief River Falls 310, Bemidji 317, Minnewaska Area 318, Pelican Rapids 324, Pequot Lakes 327, East Grand Forks 329, Park Rapids Area 333, Staples-Motley 333, Detroit Lakes 334, Fergus Falls B 356, Wadena-Deer Creek 356, Pine River-Backus 375, Hawley/Ulen-Hitterdal 378, Menahga/Sebeka 384, Hillcrest Academy 385

Prowlers win a pair of tennis decisions

Second outing of the 2005 season for the Thief River Falls boys high school tennis team netted the Prowlers wins over Moorhead 5-2 and Fergus Falls 4-3 in a Thursday double-dual hosted by the Spuds.

The Prowlers posted 6-1 wins over East Grand Forks and Moorhead in their April 12 opener.

"I thought both Moorhead and Fergus Falls played very well," said Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad. "I really liked the way their teams competed, and the sportsmanship in the matches was excellent."

The Prowlers' wins against Moorhead came from Cody Bottem, Jordan Swanson and Corey Horien in 1-through-4 singles, respectively; and from Michael Forney-Jacob Engelstad and Joe Ihle-Jon Kays in No. 1 and 2 doubles.

"Our doubles team started a little slow against Moorhead, but they made some intelligent adjustments – for the most part on their own – and finished very strong," reported Hanestad.

Against Fergus Falls, Bottem (No. 2) and Engelstad (No. 4) won in singles, while Forney-Kays (No. 1) and Ihle-Horien (No. 2) provided points in doubles.

"I think we lost a couple of matches that we should not have lost, but I think in both cases, our players learned a valuable lesson," offered Hanestad. "It may sound strange, but losing can be a good thing if you learn from it."

The Prowlers were scheduled to face Detroit Lakes and Alexandria today (Saturday) at Detroit Lakes. They play at Crookston Monday and will made their first home appearance Thursday in a 4:30 p.m. dual vs. Bemidji.

"I am continually impressed by the improvements this team is making," said Hanestad. "Not only are they a good team, they are getting better every day."

Family Advocacy Program ends

ways, including teaching teen and young parent classes, helping them complete credits for graduation, helping them get their GEDs, providing transportation, connecting them to quality childcare, helping maintain family connectedness and facilitating healthy relationships to ensure mentoring and role modeling. Johnson also worked with agencies that deal with teen parents and supported school staff in developing and providing healthy sexuality education. Through the work of Johnson and Margo Peterson, the FAP also raised community awareness about teen pregnancy prevention through the Teens Reaching Out Panel.

"It is amazing that this program has existed for eight years," said Johnson, who noted the program has changed lives.

Last week, Johnson noted she was in denial that the program was ending and hadn't yet taken the FAP off of her phone message and e-mail. "It's not really a job," said Johnson. "It's something that's a part of my life."

Her life has changed as a result of the FAP and will change as a result of the program's demise. Johnson, who also works with the Early Childhood Initiative, will continue working with that program eight hours a week through November. She hopes to get back into a classroom as a teacher or go back to college for her master's degree in counseling.

Her work with the FAP has probably prepared her for a counseling job. Peterson, who worked with the program while employed by Inter-County Nursing Service, referred to Johnson as an aunt to those served by the program. Someone else in Johnson's position could have made it a 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. job, Peterson said.

"You don't do this nine to five," said Johnson, who has been known to spend her nights and weekends helping the people in the FAP.

That help included sifting through donated clothing or furnishings for her teen parents' families on weekdays and weekends, hauling those donations or finding someone to haul the donations. It included answering nighttime phone calls from teen parents who needed her help. It also meant she was just there when they needed her.

A partnership

Johnson deflects any mention that the program was a success due to her work. "It really truly is a partnership," she said. "There's no way this position could stand on its own."

Johnson noted the program could not have been a success without School District 564, Key Club, Northland Community and Technical College, Pennington County Department of Human Services, Inter-County Nursing Service, Planned Parenthood, Dakota and Altru clinics, law enforcement, the Northwest Medical Center Mental Health Division and the Workforce Center, among others. The United Way, Thrivent and the Family Service Collaborative helped provide funding.

The community and Johnson's family have also provided help whether donating furniture, clothing, etc.; hauling that donated furniture; offering rides; or providing mentorship or moral support.

"The faculty has donated so much," said Johnson. Periodically, she e-mailed Thief River Falls faculty members about things her teen parents needed, and the faculty responded. Two months ago, she asked for items for a home for one of the teen parents. With the donations she received, Johnson said that she could have furnished two apartments from top to bottom.

Furnishings weren't the only things they donated. "They donated mentoring," said Johnson. "Someone donated a car."

Pregnant and parenting teens still need help

Johnson and Peterson hope that support will continue. Peterson noted some of the teens' family units were dissolving or not functioning. She said they needed tools to become effective adults. They've had people abandon them.

"They're afraid of commitment and connectedness, and they turn people off sometimes on purpose," Johnson said.

Some of the teen parents' families have mental health and sexual abuse issues. "[Those issues] almost always come like grapes on a vine," Peterson said.

Despite those issues, they may not come to others for help. "These are not the types of families who are going to come up and knock on your door for your services," Johnson said.

She and Peterson urged the Thief River Falls community to continue to support young parents.

Looking back and forward

Elizabeth Mehrkens is one of the young parents helped by the program. She is the mother of 4-year-old Mara and 3-year-old Adrian, and has received support through the program since she was pregnant with her daughter. Mehrkens said, "I'm very disappointed it will be over."

Since her kids will be enrolling in Head Start, she noted she's lucky because she will continue to get parenting support.

Johnson also counts herself lucky – for having the opportunity to work with the teens. She said, "These teens have really taught me to look at life differently."

Johnson noted she doesn't judge people anymore. She said, "You don't care if they have spiked green hair, a belly button ring and are nine months pregnant."

From now on, Johnson will probably look at those teen and young parents, and think back to the pictures she used to have on the bulletin board in her office. She'll have an opportunity to look back on those photos and wonder how those teen and young parents are doing. And she probably won't be wondering whether the FAP made a difference in their lives – she knows it did.

exposition. Everyone, young and old, is invited to come to the arena to see Scouting in action and actually experience Scouting fun.

"Come to the show for family fun and learn about the value of Scouting for boys between the age of 6 to 18," said Heinze.

The Thief River Falls Morning Kiwanis Club members are providing the volunteer help needed to set up the Exposition booth and clean-up after the show. Voyageur Trails Scout District and the Thief River Falls Morning Kiwanis Club sponsor the Exposition. Voyageur Trails District is made up of Boy Scout units in Roseau, Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake Falls and Polk counties. Greta Kovar of Thief River Falls serves as district executive.

Units, troops and exhibitors and their booth themes include:

Packs: Pack 58, Newfolden, catapults; Pack 57, Thief River Falls, Pinewood Derby; Pack 59, Thief River Falls, Minnow Races; Pack 52, Red Lake Falls, Electronic Pinewood Derby; Pack 44, Crookston, Minnow Races; Pack 50, Warren, The Bear Climb; Pack 56, Roseau, Food Pyramid; Pack 79, Karlstad, Gardening; Pack 89, Erskine, Turtle Races and Neckerchief Slides; Pack 101, Fosston, Rain Gutter Ragatta; Pack 151, Warroad, Marbles and Scout History; Pack 624, Ada, Cubmobiles.

Troops: Troop 57, Thief River Falls, Pioneering; Troop 59, Thief River Falls, Camp Safety; Pack 199, Thief River Falls, Bird House Competition; Troop 151, Warroad, Winter/Summer Camping; Troop 41, Crookston, Low Impact Cooking; Troop 50, Warren, Wood Duck Houses; Troop 56, Roseau, Wilderness Water Heater; Troop 89, McIntosh, Citizenship in the World; Troop 76, Hallock, Rope Making; Troop 63, Bowling Challenge.

Non-judged booths: District 12 Booth providing Boy Scout promotional information, Cub Day Camp, a promotional booth, Northern Lights Council Climbing Tower; Merit Badge, promotional information and old Boy Scout Memorabilia provided by Kim Murphy; Thief River Falls Archery Club; Model Railroad Club, Wood Carving demonstration by Orvel Stocks; Deer Antler Art by Don Nygaard; Law Enforcement Patrol Car and Drug Awareness; and the Civil Air Patrol.

Layna Blekaly recently helped her 2-1/2-year-old daughter Emily make her way up a climbing wall at Challenger Preschool in Thief River Falls. The Blekaly family is one of several families with teen and young parents who were served by the Family Advocacy Program (FAP). Due to a lack of state funding, the FAP ended this week.

NOTICE

The Marshall County Highway Department is accepting requests for spreading calcium chloride for dust control in front of residences that lie along County or Township gravel roads within the boundary of Marshall County. The cost for a 20 foot wide by 300 foot long strip will be approximately $190. The homeowner will pay this cost after the work is completed. The cost will be adjusted according to the size and rate of application.

Interested parties should contact the Marshall County Highway Department at 218-745-4381. The County will send out an application upon request to be completed and returned by the homeowner. The County must receive the completed application before the service is performed.

that the county file a petition to civilly commit Leas, who Alsdurf determined is an untreated sex offender. Cashman said that Alsdurf did not meet with Leas. Alsdurf is an expert retained by Olin to review Leas' record.

Leas, who had been incarcerated at the Minnesota Correctional Facility at Lino Lakes, was transported back to Pennington County for the hold hearing.

At the hearing, Leas' attorney, Richard Sather, said Leas hasn't committed any sex offenses since 1998. "He's working through a lot of issues, your honor, but that doesn't mean he'll re-offend," Sather said to Marben.

The reason Leas hasn't had any sex offenses since 1998 is that he was in prison most of that time, Cashman said.

"He targets people who are vulnerable for various reasons – they're intoxicated, they're asleep or they're mentally handicapped," Cashman said.

At the age of 10, Leas began sexually assaulting people, according to the news release. Years later, in 1986, Leas was charged with criminal sexual conduct after an assault of a girl under the age of 10 while Leas was working at an amusement park, according to the news release. He later admitted he touched several girls under the age of 10 while at the amusement park.

In 1998, he was convicted of first degree criminal sexual conduct after he repeatedly sexually assaulted a girl, who at the time was under the age of 10. Those incidents, which occurred over a five-year period, occurred in Rocksbury Township in Pennington County, according to Pennington County court documents. Leas pled guilty to that charge and was sentenced to 86 months in prison. Due to Minnesota law, he was required to serve at least two-thirds – 57-1/3 months – of that sentence in prison with credit for time served. Leas was also placed on a maximum of 28-1/3 months of supervised release and five years conditional release minus any supervised release.

While in prison, according to the news release, Leas was diagnosed as a pedophile and as being chemically dependent. While undergoing sex offender treatment there, Leas admitted to voyeurism as well as to bestiality and torturing animals, Cashman said.

Leas was released from prison after serving his sentence. He was sent back to prison in December 2004 after using cocaine, which was a violation of his conditions of release.

His therapists and law enforcement didn't know about most of Leas' offenses until later, noted Cashman, referring to disclosures Leas made after treatment at the correctional facility in Lino Lakes.

"These were disclosures when he was out in the community and in out-patient treatment," said Cashman, who noted that negated the benefit of having sex offender treatment in the first place since Leas "basically lied."

Leas was doing the very thing he was supposed to be doing in sex offender treatment – identifying and explaining his acts and talking about them with therapists, Sather said. He added that while Leas has been in sex offender treatment through the Upper Mississippi Mental Health Center, Leas has accepted responsibility for his actions. He added that admissions made during treatment are not supposed to be a way to punish sex offenders.

For his part, Cashman referred to a recent Minnesota Department of Corrections predatory offender report about Leas. When asked if there were any unreported crimes as part of that report, Cashman noted that Leas said he did "not care to comment without a lawyer."

"In addition, he's not showing any insight that he'd be safe to the community," Cashman said.

Sather argued that Leas would be on intensive supervised release (ISR) for a time, meaning that Leas would be on electronic home monitoring. As a result, Leas would only be able to be at his mother's house, group treatment sessions and work. Leas would also meet with an agent three times a week, Sather said. Due to ISR, he added, there would be accountability and Leas' whereabouts would be known.

Sather also noted Leas has a job waiting for him when he gets out of prison and Leas would be living with Leas' mother.

It's not yet known whether Leas will be released from custody. Leas' civil commitment hearing will be scheduled in the near future.

Foot care and blood pressure clinics to be held in May

North Valley Home Health will hold foot care and blood pressure clinics on the following dates:

• Tuesday, May 10, at Argyle Living at Home/Block Nurse Program, starting at 9 a.m. Contact Pat Crummy at 218-695-3842.

• Friday, May 6, at Warren Summerfield Place, starting at 9 a.m. Contact Deb or Kami at 218-745-5154.

• Friday, May 13, at the Grygla Community Center, starting at 9:30 a.m. Contact Hazel Aune at 218-459-3315.

• Monday, May 23, at the Oslo Community Center, starting at 9:30 a.m. Contact Rose Robinson at 218-695-1025.

Call the contact person to sign up. It is important to know how many are signed up so staff can be scheduled accordingly. Five people must be signed up to hold a clinic.

Nurses from North Valley Home Health will soak feet and trim nails. There is a $10 charge per person for foot care. Blood pressure checks are free of charge.

Time change for Love Never Fails ministry

Pastor Rich Apfel will be speaking about his ministry, Love Never Fails, on Sunday, April 24, at the Eagles View Church and Outreach Center in Thief River Falls. The service, originally scheduled for 6 p.m., will begin at 10 a.m.

Red Hat Society Day is April 25

The Founding Chapter has proclaimed April 25th Red Hat Society Day, commemorating the day seven years ago that five women ventured out wearing red hats and purple dresses. Today, there are 44,000 chapters with over a million members.

The Red Lake County Central Red Chapeauxs, comprised of women from Plummer, Brooks and Terrebonne, have invited surrounding chapters to a luncheon in Brooks at Third Base on that day. Over 90 women from Clearbrook, Gonvick, Gully, Oklee, Crookston and Red Lake Falls plan to attend. The Thief River Falls chapter sent regrets as most of its members had a retired teachers meeting that day. Eric Bergeson will entertain.

FOR SALE -Small square, large square or round hay bales. Alfalfa or grass, excellent hay for dairy/beef cattle or horses, available in semi loads, lots only. Oso Hay Farm, TRF, 218-681-7796. 5p20t49p

CALCIUM-25

Calcium Mineral Supplement - Increases crop yields 20 to 40% & more over the past 21 years. Works equally well in both calcium rich and calcium deficient soils. Increases plants ability to absorb nutrients more efficiently. By foliar feeding the to any plant it increases the cell structure. By doing this it increases the growth & yields to the plant. I know I have proved it for 5 years with excellent results. Last year my soybeans did not freeze.

RLF School board contemplates cuts

Red Lake Falls - At its April 18 meeting, the Red Lake Falls School Board discussed finances, declining enrollment and a possible tax levy.

The goal is to cut $100,000 from the budget without cutting any teacher positions. Some possible areas for cutting are community education, physical education and music. The elimination of the tutoring center was mentioned as well as eliminating industrial arts, elementary art and making the transportation director position half-time.

A meeting was set for April 25. - Red Lake Falls Gazette, April 27, 2005, by Carol Kankel

County jail issues to be discussed in Fosston

Fosston - A public information meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Monday, May 9 at the Embassy Community Center in Fosston to discuss the jail overcrowding problem and reasons why the construction of a new jail and justice center building in Crookston is being proposed.

The jail would be leased to Tri-County Community Corrections, and the justice center would house Polk County District Court, court administration offices, the Polk County attorney's office, Tri-County Probation, public defenders and the administrative offices of Tri-County Corrections.

The estimated cost of a new 218-bed jail is $17 million while the cost estimate for the justice center portion of the project is more than $6 million. Polk County has funds available to pay for construction of the justice center. The debt service needed to repay bonds that would be sold to finance construction of the jail would become a part of the annual lease payment paid to Polk County by Tri-County Corrections.

Organized through a joint powers agreement in 1975, Tri-County Corrections provides jail and probation services for Norman, Red Lake and Polk counties. The three partner counties share in operational costs of the jail and probation services on a use and population basis with Polk County paying about 85 percent of those costs and Norman and Red Lake counties responsible for about 10 and 5 percent, respectively. - Erskine Echo, April 28, 2005

Warren Council awards contract to clean ditch

Warren - A Mahnomen excavating firm was awarded the contract for cleaning a city ditch that is located near the Northern Plains Railroad (Soo Line) at Tuesday night's Warren City Council meeting.

The work was awarded to low bidder Geray Doring and Excavating. Its bid totaled $43,215.40, compared to the engineering estimate of $54,000. Ten other contractors submitted bids on the project, with bids ranging from Geray's low bid to the highest bid topping $100,000.

Operations Superintendent Todd Hanson said the ditch cleaning is an important step in repairing damaged streets at the south end of Fifth and Sixth streets. He said another part of the solution to street damages in that area is a proposed project to rebuild and repave South Seventh Street from Highway 1 south to just past the southernmost crossing into the Summerfield Apartments area. - Warren Sheaf, April 27, 2005

TRF mayor named arena interim GM

Group challenges city's plans for managing Ralph Engelstad Arena

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Tuesday, Thief River Falls City Council approved hiring Mayor Dale Wennberg as the interim Ralph Engelstad Arena (REA) general manager. Wennberg was hired on a temporary basis, not to work more than 1,000 hours, at a rate of $17.35 per hour. His interim role will begin Sunday.

Dale Wennberg

Council members also heard a proposal from an unnamed committee. The committee, which had approximately 15 people in attendance at the meeting, proposed that a board of six or seven people should govern REA. That proposed board would include two City Council members. The proposed board would recruit and hire the general manager.

"The facility, if properly managed and promoted, can become an 'economic engine' for the entire community," the group wrote in its proposal to the council.

The group also wrote that it believed "a full-time interim manager should immediately be hired on a contract basis, perhaps for a 90- to 120-day period during this transition time."

The group's attendance came on the heels of the resignation of Tom Goddard, REA general manager. Goddard, who was employed by REA Events Inc. and not the city, resigned his position earlier this month. His resignation came after both the city and REA Events Inc. agreed not to renew a two-year operations agreement, which is set to expire July 21.

Jerry Wigness, co-chairperson of the Wrapping up the Gift Fundraising Committee for REA, said the city needed to build on the success that occurred while the operations agreement was in effect with REA Events Inc.

"They were, in effect, the board of directors, and they were experienced and independent," Wigness said.

Council members did not make a decision about having an REA board; however, there was considerable discussion about the general manager position.

Council member Harriet Worker noted the Parks and Recreation Committee wanted an interim manager who would not be applying for the job later.

"This is supposed to be a temporary position to allow the picking of the right person and get our ducks in a row, so to speak," said Worker.

The Parks and Recreation Committee was in the process of coming up with a job description when Goddard resigned without notice, Wennberg said.

Still Making Buggy Wheel Rugs

Pioneer craft of rug making still practiced at The Station in Hallock

Popularity of buggy wheel rugs is spreading

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Old fashioned maybe, but Hazel's buggy wheel rugs are still hip.

Volunteers at The Station, Hallock's self-funded senior citizen center, are continuing a craft that has existed since the day American settlers began migrating west. Led by Hazel Lofberg, creator of Hazel's Buggy Wheel Rugs, The Station volunteers are weaving buggy wheel rugs as a means of raising funds for the Station.

The craft of making buggy wheel rugs has become quite popular in recent years and is a major contributor to the Station's financing, with 103 rugs sold since the center opened three years ago.

"I've been doing these rugs for 60 years," said Lofberg, adding that she learned the craft from her mother.

Buggy wheel rug weaving is similar to the style done with a loom, only strands are woven in a circular pattern with spokes, instead of vertical and horizontal weaves.

Buggy wheel rugs originally used the spare or fifth wheel of a covered wagon as a pattern. Wagon wheels still act as the pattern, but spokes are typically removed to allow for easier working.

Also new to the modern buggy wheel rug is the use of new fabrics. Known as a rag rug, buggy wheel rugs were typically woven using old, worn out fabrics that would have otherwise been thrown out.

Modern rugs are different. Janet Olsonawski, a three-year Station volunteer, said all of the rugs woven at the Station are made from new drapes and never used drapery remnants. Both are purchased from Anderson Fabric in Black Duck.

"We purchase fabric in bulk, about 300 pounds at a time," Olsonawski said.

On a routine basis, drapes are cut into one-inch wide strips using a rotary cutter. The strips are then steamed and ironed to make them more pliable.

Hazel's Buggy Wheel Rugs come in two different sizes, 40 inches and 30 inches across. The larger rug uses a seven spoke pattern, while the 30-inch rug uses a five spoke pattern. Each spoke uses three to four pieces of fabric, with additional spokes being added every two to three rows as needed. Rugs are woven from the center out, with some sewing done as necessary to hold the tightly woven fabric in place.

"Making these rugs is like making a quilt – you don't really know what you're going to get until your done," Olsonawski said.

Hazel's Buggy Wheel Rugs have become popular in northwest Minnesota craft shows. They have also made their way to several other locations, spreading outside of Minnesota like the spokes of a buggy wheel to surrounding states such as Wisconsin, Wyoming, North Dakota and South Dakota. Rugs have even found their way into Canada and overseas to Norway.

Where to find a buggy wheel rugs: Large buggy wheel rugs can be purchased at the Station in Hallock for $45. The smaller rugs can be purchased for $25.

High schoolers fly high with NCTC

New articulation agreement signed

by April Schelnoha
Reporter

Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) – Thief River Falls and Washburn High School signed an agreement Thursday that will enable high school students to earn college credits in aviation.

As a result of the agreement, Washburn High School students will be able to receive four college credits while still in high school.

"It ought to be a win-win situation," said Bob Wohl, NCTC aviation maintenance department leader. He hopes it's the first of many agreements with high schools.

Curtis Franks, an aviation instructor at the Minneapolis high school, also thinks it will be a winning situation. "That makes it a better sell for our students," said Franks.

Currently, 200 students are enrolled in Washburn's aviation program. This fall, according to Franks, that program will welcome 90 students who will be starting their freshman year.

Through the high school aviation program that has been in operation for many years, students are able to participate in hands-on activities. Sophomores, juniors and seniors are also building an airplane, Franks said.

With the agreement signed Thursday and involving curriculum that is compatible with the Federal

Viking celebrates centennial July 29-31

The Centennial Committee in Viking is busy finalizing plans for the Viking Centennial to be held July 29-31.

On Friday, July 29, the Viking Diner and the Community Center will have pictures from the past on display. The museum will be open. Viking School will be open for tours from 6:30 to 7 p.m. At 7 p.m., a "Reminisce and Reacquaint" program will be held in the school gym. There will be music, stories and the sharing of memories from the past. Refreshments will be served. Drawings will be held for prizes based on the centennial buttons that have been purchased.

On Saturday, July 30, the parade will begin at 10 a.m. Those interested in having a parade entry should contact Hal at 523-3232 or the Viking Diner at 523-6082. There will also be kids' games, music in the park, train rides, bingo, a garden tour, the school reunion and an old picture display. The museum will be open with threshing, woodburning and a logger.

Zion Lutheran Church of Viking is also celebrating 100 years. It is planning a banquet on that Saturday evening and a Sunday afternoon program.

Final plans will be forthcoming for the centennial.

LHS Evening with the Arts

Peter Hoks, magnet arts student at Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls, will be among the students displaying their art and demonstrating different techniques during the annual Evening With the Arts at Lincoln High School, Thursday, May 5. The exhibit and demonstrations are open and free to the public. The show starts at 6 p.m.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacours@mncable.net

Today's dessert recipes are from the First Lutheran Church of Stephen's 1991 Centennial Edition. Maybe you can use them for one of the spring flings coming up.

This sounds like a tasty festive dessert, just right for a party.

MANDARIN ORANGE DESSERT
Theresa Hannes & Eileen Opp

Part 1:
3 egg whites
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup crispy rice cereal, crushed
1/2 cup nuts

Beat egg whites stiff. Gradually add sugar, crushed cereal and nuts. Place in 9x13 inch UNGREASED pan. Bake at 325 degrees for 35 minutes. Cool.

Part 2:
1 pint whipping cream, whipped
1 cup powdered sugar
3 tablespoons instant vanilla pudding
2 can mandarin oranges, drained
3/4 cup coconut

Whip cream. Gradually add mixture of powdered sugar and instant pudding. Fold in oranges and coconut and place on top of baked mixture. Refrigerate. May be frozen, if desired.

Use that rhubarb to make this tasty dish. I usually grate some orange zest into the 2nd layer, just for the flavor.

RHUBARB DESSERT
Corrine Krogh

Crust:
1 cup flour
1/2 cup butter
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 cup walnuts

Mix ingredients into a crust, press in 9x13 inch pan, and bake 15 minutes at 350 degrees.

2nd Layer:
3 cups rhubarb
1/3 cup cream
3 egg yolks, beaten (save whites for topping)
2 heaping tablespoons flour

Mix ingredients for second layer and place on baked crust. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

Topping:
3 egg whites
6 tablespoons sugar
Coconut

Beat egg whites and add sugar slowly. Place on baked filling and sprinkle with coconut. Brown.

You'll find this dessert just peachy for serving at a party:

PARTY PEACH DESSERT
Mrs. Duane Setterholm

Crust:
3/4 cup butter or margarine
1-3/4 cup flour
1/4 to 1/2 cup pecans, finely chopped

Combine ingredients and pat into 9x13 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Cool.

2nd Layer:
2 cups sugar
2 cups water
4 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoon butter
3 ounce package peach gelatin
8-10 fresh peaches, peeled and sliced

Blend sugar, cornstarch and water in saucepan. Cook until thick and clear, remove from heat; add gelatin and butter and 2 of the cut peaches. Cool.

Slice 6-8 fresh peaches on top of cooled crust and cover thoroughly with cooled gelatin glaze. Refrigerate until set and serve with whipped topping or whipped cream.

This one would be great for a graduation party:

PINEAPPLE CHEESECAKE SQUARES
Bonnie Anderson

2 cups flour
2/3 cup softened margarine or butter
1/2 cup chopped almonds
1/2 cup powdered sugar

Mix all ingredients in bowl with fork until crumbly. Press firmly and evenly in bottom of ungreased 9x13 inch pan. Bake until set, 15-20 minutes.

Cheesecake Mixture:
2 (8 ounces each) packages cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
2/3 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
1/4 cup flour
1/4 cup sugar
1 (20 ounce) can pineapple (reserve 1 cup juice)
1 cup whipping cream

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Beat cream cheese in medium bowl until smooth and fluffy. Beat in 1/2 cup sugar and the eggs. Stir in 2/3 cup pineapple juice. Pour cream cheese mixture over hot crust and bake just until center is set, about 20 minutes. Cool completely.

Mix flour and 1/4 cup sugar in 2 quart saucepan. Stir in 1 cup of reserved pineapple juice. Heat to boiling over medium heat, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Remove from heat and fold in pineapple. Cool completely.

Beat whipping cream in chilled bowl until stiff. Fold into pineapple mixture. Spread carefully over dessert. Cover loosely and refrigerate until firm, about 4 hours.

NCTC announces Alcohol Awareness Fair speaker

Internationally known speaker Jean Kilbourne will be the guest of honor at a May 4 Alcohol Awareness Fair sponsored by Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) in East Grand Forks.

The fair will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the lounge area outside of classroom 315 on NCTC's East Grand Forks campus. It will include several booths featuring themes directed towards alcohol education and awareness of what constitutes binge drinking. The fair is free and open to the public.

Booths and activities include nonalcoholic drink mocktails; Jaws of Life demonstrations; sobriety testing, with participants wearing "drunk goggles" while performing simple tasks; and much more. Prizes will also be given away at the booths.

"The fair is designed to educate individuals on how to drink sensibly, and the timing of our event, so close to graduation, cannot be ignored," said Ellen Brehmer, event organizer.

Kilbourne will speak at 12 p.m. in room 315. She will lead a roundtable discussion. She is known for her work as an adviser to the surgeon general and has been recognized by The New York Times Magazine as "one of the top three most popular speakers on college campuses."

"Our mission is to engage students and members of our community in an entertaining and informative atmosphere, where they can be allowed to safely experience some of the potential effects and ramifications of binge behavior," said Kit Brenan, founding member of the Alcohol Safety Coalition.

North Dakota was recently named the number one state in the country for binge drinking behavior. The Alcohol Awareness Fair will provide strategies to lessen binge drinking.

Marvin Windows and Doors to hold commencement May 3

Marvin Windows and Doors, the Warroad, Minnesota-based manufacturer of premier wood and clad wood windows and doors, announces the commencement exercises for its Northern Lights University (NLU) program on Tuesday, May 3, at 7 p.m. at the Warroad High School Auditorium.

This is Marvin's fifth commencement exercise in its unique educational partnership with Northwest Technical College (NTC) and the University of Minnesota, Crookston (UMC) that enables its employees to pursue an associate or bachelor's degree on site at Marvin's corporate headquarters in Warroad. Faculty members from NTC and UMC travel to Warroad two days a week to teach the lecture/lab courses.

During this commencement exercise, John G. Batten, Rebecca Pederson, Charles Jay Sorenson, and Neomie Ann Lystad Wilemon will receive their associate of science degree in supervisory leadership from NTC. Raymond L. Isleman and Steven Josephson will earn a bachelor of manufacturing management degree from UMC. Two of these Marvin employees will be speaking as representatives from their college programs: John Batten – NTC and Steve Josephson – UMC.

This ceremony will bring together officials from the University of Minnesota and Minnesota State Colleges and Universities. To date, 70 employees have graduated (1998, 2002, 2003, and 2004) from Marvin's NLU program which has included: 30 from UMC's bachelor of manufacturing program, 13 from NTC's business microcomputer diploma program, 13 from NTC's supervisory leadership certificate or AAS programs, and 14 from NTC's manufacturing engineering technology certificate or AAS programs. These alumni have been invited back for this 10th year celebration.

This partnership between Marvin Windows and Doors, NTC, and UMC was recognized nationally at the 2004 ASTD International Conference and Exposition with an award of Excellence in Practice Citation in the Workplace Development category. The American Society of Training and Development is the world's largest professional training organization.

Hallock man charged with sexual conduct

Duane Houkom Jr.

A Hallock man faces sexual conduct charges after allegedly causing a juvenile to touch him inappropriately.

Duane Allan Houkom Jr., 57, has been charged with second degree criminal sexual conduct and two counts of fifth degree criminal sexual conduct. He is scheduled to make another appearance in Kittson County District Court on Tuesday.

The criminal complaint alleges that Houkom caused a female individual who was under the age of 10 at the time to inappropriately touch him in the summer of 2003. The alleged incident occurred at Houkom's home in Thompson Township in Kittson County. On at least two occasions that summer, Houkom also allegedly exposed himself to the girl while she was at his home.

The charges stem from an April 13 report to the Kittson County Sheriff's Department from a family social services agency.

The second degree charge carries a maximum penalty of 25 years in prison, a $35,000 fine or both. The fifth degree charges both carry maximum penalties of one year imprisonment, $3,000 fines or both.

Peat and Repeat.
That's the key to growing flowers in the heavy alkaline soils of the Red River Valley and surrounding region.
BERGESON PEAT is mined from a local bog. It is dark and finely ground-not bready and dry like the stuff you find at discount chains.
Peat lightens up heavy soils and helps sandy soils hold more moisture. At Bergeson Gardens, we put peat on top of our flower beds each year, mix in some 10-10-10 fertilizer, and watch the flowers grow like crazy.
By adding peat to your flower or vegetable garden, you will increase drainage. By mixing a little peat in the bottom of the hole when you plant a shrub or a tree, you will give the roots an early boost.
USE LOCAL PEAT. We have millions of acres of good peat in Minnesota. Don't buy in the dry, chunky stuff from somewhere else.
FERTILIZE FLOWER BEDS WITH MILD HORTICULTURAL FERTILIZER. Farm fertilizer is too hot for flowers. Till in a balanced fertilizer such as a 10-10-10 before planting.
ADD AMMONIUM SULPHATE each month as the summer progresses to give your annuals and vegetables a boost. Ammonium sulphate lowers the Ph of our soils and adds nitrogen as well. It works on everything.
Adding peat and fertilizer to your flower gardens will dramatically increase your odds of success.

Speaker addresses creationism at TRF seminar May 4

Brian Young

Brian Young, a nationally known speaker and author, will be speaking at St. John Lutheran School in Thief River Falls from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 4.

Brian Young is the founder and director of the Creation Instruction Association, an organization dedicated to the teaching of Scientific Creationism as opposed to the theory of evolution.

Young's books include "Doubts about Creation? Not after this," "Genesis," "Yesterday's Answers to Today's Problems," "Revelation," and "All of God's Word Revealed."

Young served as a principal and teacher of Christian schools for 10 years before becoming a full-time evangelist in the creation ministry. He does jail and nursing home ministry as well as weekly street evangelism along with speaking around the country on the important issue of creation verses evolution. His topics cover a wide range of areas in which he has done research. At the same time, he stresses biblical creationism as the foundation for good education and theology.

Young believes that a literal six-day, 24-hour creation and an earth only a few thousand years old is vital to Christianity and salvation. He believes that science accurately supports what is clearly stated in scripture and the scriptures are the inerrant word of God.

Most Christians do not realize that evolution and the belief that the earth is millions of years old, destroys the Gospel of Christ if death entered the world before man. If death came before man, Christ is a hoax.

Creation vs. evolution is a very real conflict in our society today. This timely presentation will address that conflict.

The public is encouraged to attend the seminar on May 4. Bring questions you would like answered. Some questions you may have are: What about carbon dating? Where did cain get his wife? Did dinosaurs live with man? What about cavemen and the bible?

Refreshments will be served. A freewill offering will be taken for St. John Lutheran School. Child-care services are available.

Super Camp dates listed for basketball, volleyball

Dates have been set for the 2005 Thief River Falls Super Hooper Basketball Camp and SuperGirl Volleyball Camp.

Single basketball sessions are planned May 9-12 for kindergarten and May 16-19 for first grade. Both camps will run from 3:30 to 6 p.m.

Two basketball sessions will be in operation July 25-28. Grades 4-6 will go from 9 to 11:30 a.m.; grades 2-3 will be from noon to 2:30 p.m.

Volleyball camp will also be offered July 25-28. Grades 3-5 will be in the gym from 3 to 5:30 p.m.; grades 6-8 will go from 6 to 8 p.m.

Brochures have been handed out for kindergarten and first graders. Others will receive their brochures at the schools in mid-May.

For additional information, contact camp director Krissi Super at 701-439-2510 or 218-686-3822 and leave a message. You can also e-mail Krissi.Super@sendit.nodak.edu.

Dave and Barb Anderson to present concert at Warren Covenant Church

Dave and Barb Anderson, from Phoenix, Arizona, will present a worship concert at Warren Covenant Church on Sunday, May 8, at 7 p.m.

Now in their 30th year of ministry, the Anderson's have touched audiences around the world with sincerity and warmth and good music.

In 1993, Dave and Barb Anderson and five others miraculously survived a plane crash in the Bering Sea, 100 miles south of the Arctic Circle and west of Nome, Alaska. They were returning from a humanitarian and Christian mission in Russian Far East. An estimated 10 million people have heard "The Rescue Story" on the Focus On The Family radio broadcast.

Accompanying Dave and Barb Anderson is solo pianist and accompanist Dale Pust from Minneapolis, Minnesota. Dave, Barb and Dale have presented hundreds of concerts together in America, Australia and Asia.

Their music is a blend of contemporary, gospel, and traditional. Their purpose is to present an inspirational message and focus the attention on the awesome God who loves, and is capable of rescuing you from the difficult circumstances in your life.

The community is cordially invited to attend. A free-will offering will be received. For more information about the concert, call Warren Covenant Church at 745-4822.

Bird Brained Thoughts

There's a bird outside my window each morning, as of late, that is not "improving the quality of my life." That was the suggestion made by the wild bird web-site I accessed last month, anyway, that feeding birds would somehow "improve the quality of my life." I venture that the wild bird people were hitting on the color and the activity levels and the sense of satisfaction I would derive from making another creature totally and helplessly dependent on me for every scrap of food they ingest each day. All the birds at our backyard feeder are brown and their activity levels seem to revolve around fighting with each other over who gets to defecate on our picnic table. Occasionally one will up the entertainment-ante by flying directly into the big, living-room window, leaving feathers, guts, and the occasional odd eyeball stuck to the glass I climbed to the top of a rickety 20-foot extension ladder to clean last week. And that 'totally and helplessly dependent' role has been filled by my children very nicely for the last decade, thanks anyway.

I'm thinking about shooting the bird that's outside my window each morning. It seems that the feeder has done a good job of attracting hordes of early migrating female birds (the brown ones) and now the late-arriving, more colorful male has taken up a position on the limb just next to my bedroom window. And from there, in fluffy blue attire, he makes his amorous intentions known to the world each day by singing the same four-noted cadence over and over again to the females as they arrive at my feeder each day. The sung note does not translate well onto the written page so imagine, if you will, me, at the age of 20, sitting at the far end of a singles bar in a rented sky-blue tux, repeating again and again the same pick-up line over and over for the benefit of every and any arriving female. No small talk. No introduction. Just that same, insistent demand. Annoying, wouldn't you say? (Actually, it's an eerily similar image to the night I met my wife, but that's a tale for another time.)

Now, factor in that this four-toned love bird is not only loudly demanding sex 12 feet from the pillow where my head rests each morning, but that he's up and ready for action at the first hint of sun which, at this latitude, is rapidly approaching the 4:30 AM mark. I'll take the insistent and irritating buzz of the alarm clock at six, please. Who's looking for sex at that hour anyway (oh yeah, back to that sky-blue tux at 20 thing)? The time zone thing would explain the inconvenient hour if birds migrated from east to west, but these guys are coming up from South America, right on the same longitudinal line as Minnesota. I could understand if he was singing in Spanish, maybe, but still not before breakfast.

I suppose that the window of recreational opportunity is so small for this puffed up pompadour that he's got to make most of the few days he's got, but can't he be satisfied with a conquest or two a day? I'm sure his crooning's successful because occasionally he flies off somewhere (not my picnic table, so I know it's not for that reason) and I roll over to go back to sleep and ignorantly assume that the cycle for the morning is done, only to hear him return five minutes later and begin singing even more loudly and lustily than before. And this continues for dozens of cycles every day! Who is this guy, anyway, the Isaac Hayes of the bird world?

Which brings us back to the $4.17 a day backyard-responsibility that was supposed to "improve the quality of my life." (I don't know how many birds Mary Poppins expected to feed at "tuppence a bag," this is an expensive proposition.) At that expense for seed and feed, am I crossing some moral boundary by providing that late arriving, loud-mouthed, over dressed male with daily companionship. Isn't it in some fashion, improper for me to be paying out money to keep the females here so that that guy can get his daily, or yearly, allotment? Is there a term that works for putting out cash so that others will put out for a friend? And if I am so nobly "improving the quality of life" for the pumped-up pigeon just outside my bedroom window, where is the justice in me being deprived of sleep for my efforts?

I'm thinking about shooting that bird outside my window I'd like to "improve the quality of my life."

A time of transition at NCTC

Change is inevitable, and change is taking place at Northland Community and Technical College. In November of last year, Dr. Orley Gunderson announced his retirement plans. That retirement takes place July 31, and on Aug. 1, his interim replacement, Dr. James Davis will take over.

The two-year college in Thief River Falls has been a part of the landscape for more than the 25 years Dr. Gunderson has been at its helm. During the years Gunderson was at the helm, the school has undergone many changes - name changes, mergers, and many phases of construction. In fact there has been so much construction over the years, that at times, it must have seemed to students that construction workers were students at the school. Maybe they were. Maybe development of a technical school for construction workers is the next "million-dollar" idea for the school. In any event, the construction improved conditions at the school, has helped assure the college's continued presence in the community, and has helped boost the economy of communities in northwest Minnesota. A recent study, undertaken at the bequest of the school, showed that the financial impact on the communities of East Grand Forks and Thief River Falls is about $60 million. The students from these colleges seem to like our communities, too. Many of the entrepreneurs and influential people that help keep our communities functioning are graduates of the colleges in East Grand Forks and Thief River Falls.

There have been bumps along the way, disagreements over the direction of policies and growth and there will be more disagreements, but one cannot argue with success.

Soon, one more construction phase will begin that will complete the merger of the technical college and community college in Thief River Falls that Gunderson has guided the college through. But new leadership also will soon take over and probably take the college in a different direction. Even though the college will embark on a new journey, we believe the college will continue to have a significant and important impact on the people and communities of northwest Minnesota. To a large extent, however, that success is dependent upon residents in northwest Minnesota who share their concerns with staff and administrators, and show their support for students attending the college.

Don't add alcohol to celebrations

As we come to the end of the school year, there will be plenty of opportunities for young students to celebrate. Unfortunately, some associate alcohol with these activities.

Pennington County Law Sheriff's Department and Thief River Falls Police Department recently issued a reminder to parents and relatives asking them to be responsible. "If you are planning to host a party at your home or other location such as a hotel or motel, carefully consider your responsibilities in doing so. Please remember that selling, furnishing or serving alcohol to minors is a criminal offense in Minnesota."

Adding alcohol to the celebration may seem harmless, but it exposes everyone to serious consequences. "The combination of drinking and driving is one of the leading killers of young people between the ages of 15 and 24. Last year, several young people under the age of 21 in our state alone, died or were seriously injured in alcohol-related traffic crashes."

It's an exciting time of the year for youngsters. It's spring. The end of the school year is approaching, and then there's Prom. While it's an exciting time of the year, parents and students need to remember that it's important to be safe.

Wennberg added he offered his services because he believes in the project and has been involved with it for three years. He added that he wanted to make sure it would continue.

The manager needs special expertise that may or may not be on City Council, noted Don Stewart, former Thief River Falls community development director. He added City Council is supposed to be a policy-setting body, but noted "obviously City Council has to be represented" on the board.

Stewart asked whether Wennberg would be in the position full-time if he needed to be.

Wennberg said he would work on an as-needed basis and as a temporary employee, meaning he would not work more than 1,000 hours.

"To me, it's probably the best solution at this point," said council member Glen Kajewski, who noted it would give the council an opportunity to work through the situation.

Kajewski added he preferred having the position as a contract position as opposed to being a city employee. He noted both of those options have pluses and minuses.

Resident Sheron Stewart said the manager needed to be someone responsible to a board instead of being a city employee.

Resident Barry Fellman, a former Thief River Falls fire chief, asked why the city wanted the REA general manager position to be a city position as opposed to a contract position.

Council member Dave Carlson responded that nothing has been decided and nothing has been excluded. He said there still needed to be someone to run REA in the meantime.

"We can't leave it the way it is," said Carlson, who noted the issue that night was about having a temporary manager.

"We need to have a manager there now," said council member Terry BlackLance.

Worker said the city had taken out a low-interest loan to help pay for REA and an REA board would have to have the confidence of donors. She also asked, "What would the people in Thief River Falls want, not just the donors?"

Resident Tom Dondelinger asked whether Worker's question meant she was saying the issue would be up for referendum.

Worker responded that the council needed to look at all the issues and the pros and cons of all those issues.

Curt Howe, a parks and recreation employee, noted Ralph Engelstad gave the arena to the city and youth, not to a board.

"The City Council is the one that should run this arena," said Howe, who noted he was talking as a public person and not as a city employee.

The arena does not belong under the Parks and Recreation Committee anymore, said Fellman, who added that the arena needs to generate as much revenue as it can.

Yet, Fellman noted the arena needed a temporary manager and a manager needed to be selected as quickly as possible.

While the selection of a permanent manager has yet to be determined, Wennberg will serve in that capacity in the meantime. That will lead to a change of roles for Wennberg, who serves on the Parks and Recreation Committee that currently governs REA.

City Attorney Paul Ihle said Wennberg can't be on the Parks and Recreation Committee or be a part of developing the general manager position while Wennberg works as the interim general manager. Wennberg will work with the committee on a reporting basis only and have no decision-making responsibilities, Ihle added.

With the exception of naming the interim general manager, the council did not make any decisions regarding REA at its council meeting. More discussions will be needed.

Work also continues on the Imperial Room located in REA. According to Wennberg, the majority of that multipurpose community room is expected to be finished in June.

Rail crossing on Hwy. 59 north of TRF to be improved

The Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) has announced that a project to upgrade the railroad crossing circuitry and replace the gate arms at the Northern Plains Rail crossing on Highway 59 north of Thief River Falls is scheduled to begin at 7 a.m. Wednesday, May 4, and is expected to last approximately two weeks.

According to Mike Kannikar, Mn/DOT project engineer, the majority of the work will be performed off of the roadway using the shoulders of the highway and right-of-way to park equipment, unload materials, and assemble the signals, masts and gates.

"Through lanes will be kept open except for short periods of up to 5 minutes when the cantilevered signals are set," said Kannikar.

Mn/DOT, along with Northern Plains Railroad, will have signage in place for the duration of the project and flaggers on site for the temporary closures. Motorists are asked to slow down and drive with patience through the work zone.

For updated road condition information in Minnesota, dial 1-511 or log onto www.511mn.org.

High schoolers fly high with NCTC

Aviation Administration, students will also earn college credits. Dr. Orley Gunderson, NCTC president, noted those students will save $520 as a result of receiving the college credits while in high school.

It will enable the students to have a seamless transition to college because they'll be able to transfer courses, said Janese Thatcher, manager of aviation education for the Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) Office of Aeronautics.

"It just opens opportunities for students," said Mary Messimer, Tech Prep program director for Minnesota State Colleges and Universities (MnSCU).

It will also probably open up opportunities for NCTC's aviation program. The college has a $10 million investment in the program, Gunderson said. He added aviation program enrollment is down, but slowly increasing.

"Aviation is an important component of our college, an important program," said Gunderson, who noted the college was promoting aviation in every way.

The agreement will also provide opportunities for Washburn High School. "We're always looking to increase our program and raise it up a notch," said Franks, who noted the college credit classes will be similar to Advanced Placement classes.

And its aviation students will be receiving college credits from a "center of excellence" with a "very strong" aviation program, Gunderson noted.

The agreement is beneficial to all parties involved as well as the aviation industry, noted Messimer. She added the agreement can be used with other high schools that have aviation programs.

The agreement was made possible with the cooperation of the Minnesota Department of Education – Career and Technical Education; MnSCU – Academic Affairs, and Mn/DOT Office of Aeronautics.

It's been celled e winning situetion for all perties involved. On Thursdey, Northlend Community and Technicel College (NCTC) – Thief River Fells signed en egreement with Weshburn High School in Minneapolis. The agreement will eneble Washburn students to receive four college credits in eviation while still in high school. Those involved with the agreement included (from left) Jeff Dyrud, NCTC instructor; Bob Wold, NCTC eviation maintenence department leeder; Lynn McGlynn, NCTC eviation department secretery; Jenese Thetcher, meneger of eviation education for the Minnesota Depertment of Transportation Office of Aeroneutics; Dr. Orley Gunderson, NCTC president; Mery Messimer, Tech Prep progrem director for Minnesote State Colleges and Universities; Curtis Franks, Weshburn eviation instructor; end Susy Dowers, NCTC plecement director.

Northlend Community end Technical College (NCTC) – Thief River Falls signed an agreement Thursday with Washburn High School in Minneapolis. The agreement will enable Washburn students to receive four collage credits in aviation while still in high school. Ashley Evans leads TRF girls golf team Led by junior Ashley Evans' fifth place tie 95, Thief River Falls was a fifth place finisher in the 11-team Pelican Rapids Invitational girls high school golf tournament Tuesday.

"I can't remember the last time we had someone break 100," said Thief River Falls coach Gary Landley. "That's utterly amazing when you consider the weather conditions."

Bitterly cold temperatures and winds hitting 30 miles per hour made for a tough day at the Wildflower Golf Club.

Landly was excited about the Prowlers' fifth place team showing. "That was pretty impressive," he said.

Medalist Christine Herzog shot an 85 to help lead Detroit Lakes to the team title.

Pelican Rapids Invitational

■ Team totals - Detroit Lakes 369, Pelican Rapids 399, Moorhead 411, Perham 436, Thief River Falls 437, West Central Area 465, Agassiz Valley 466, Park Rapids Area 468, Frazee 487, Breckenridge 563, Lake Park-Audubon 599.

■ Medalist - 1. Christine Herzog, Detroit Lakes, 85; 2. Kasey Maier, West Central Area, 89; 3. (tie) Katie Guzek, Detroit Lakes, and Lindsey Nollestad, Pelican Rapids, 90; 5. (tie) Amy Anderson, Detroit Lakes, and Ashley Evans, TRF, 95.

■ Other TRF scores - Michelle Parish 112, Briana Knoll 113, Ashley Jury 117, Amanda Sigerud 132, Laura Heschko 134.

Weather pushes back NCTC-ICC showdown

Winter-like weather twice postponed a Minnesota Community College Conference baseball showdown between Northern Division leaders Itasca and Northland. Originally scheduled to be played Tuesday in Grand Rapids, the doubleheader was moved back to Wednesday. But with no improvement in the weather, the match-up was postponed a second time and rescheduled for Thursday.

Itasca and Northland began the week with 9-1 and 7-1 records, respectively, in the Northern Division.

The Pioneers finish the 2005 regular season with 1 p.m. doubleheaders today (Saturday) at Mesabi Range, Sunday at Vermilion and Wednesday at home against Itasca.

Qualifiers will play in the May 7-8 MCCC state tournament at Rochester.

Northland is 16-13 overall. The Pioneers were beaten by Dakota County 9-5, 4-3 in a Thursday (April 21) twinbill at Burnsville in their final nonconference outing of the year. But they took care of business against Northern Division teams by sweeping April 23-24 weekend twinbills against Vermilion and Hibbing. The Ironmen fell 6-4, 21-3 in Thief River Falls Saturday; the Cardinals lost 16-2, 21-9 at home Sunday.

Northland 6, Vermilion 4

■ Winning pitcher - Cody Severts, save Dane Kjono.

Prowlers hold off Eagles in chilly 13-8 softball win

Ahead 10-0 going into the top of the fifth inning, Thief River Falls appeared ready to walk off the field and get out of the bitterly cold weather with an early 10-run rule high school softball win over Red Lake Falls Tuesday. But the Eagles wouldn't let them leave.

The visitors extended the game by scoring twice in the top of the fifth, and wound up chopping that 10-run difference in half, 13-8, by the time the full seven innings had be completed.

It was the sixth win in seven starts for the Prowlers.

All-Star games include number of area players

A near-full house was on hand at Bemidji State University Wednesday for the inaugural North Central High School All-Star basketball games.

Fifty-six area seniors played in the three games – two match-ups for boys and one contest for girls.

Dustin Monsebroten of Marshall County Central was named game MVP with a 17-point effort that sparked his Gold I team to a 77-59 win over Maroon I in the tripleheader opener. Jay Maurstad of Marshall County Central (12) and Cole Scheel of Goodridge (11) were also in double figures for the winners, with Matt Stuckey of Thief River Falls contributing 8 points.

The Gold beat the Royal 55-33 in the girls game. The winning team included Kierah Kimbrough of Badger/Greenbush-Middle River (8 points) and Nichole Gryskiewicz of Thief River Falls (2), along with Anna Skala (8), Heidi Matzke (4) and Darci Purath (2) of Red Lake Falls.

Maroon II was a 64-55 winner over Gold II in the boys finale.

Northland softball team has just one home twinbill left

A Northland Community and Technical College softball doubleheader against Fergus Falls at the Multi-Events Center Wednesday was called off due to the weather.

Because of a busy calendar, the nonconference games will not be rescheduled.

The Pioneers' 2005 schedule stretch run featured four Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division doubleheaders in a five-day span: Friday, April 29, at Rainy River; Saturday, April 30, at Hibbing; Monday, May 2, at Central Lakes; and Tuesday, May 3, at home vs. Itasca.

Northland will play in the MCCC state tournament May 14-15 at Central Lakes.

Justin Pyle played No. 1 singles for the Prowlers Monday in Thief River Falls' 5-2 boys high school tennis win at Crookston. Submitted photo.

Prowlers beat Pirates

Thief River Falls beat both Crookston and the weather Monday to win a 5-2 boys high school tennis dual hosted by the Pirates.

"I think the boys made the best out of some miserable conditions," reported Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad. "We had convincing wins at most positions, and Justin Pyle played well in his first match back from a knee injury."

Pyle, Jordan Swanson and Corey Horien were Thief River Falls' singles winners.

Michael Forney-Jacob Engelstad and Jon Kays-Joe Ihle won in doubles.

"We have struggled at No. 3 doubles in all of our matches this season," admitted Hanestad, "but I feel like we are showing improvement at that spot. You can seen those inexperienced players gaining more confidence each match."

It was the sixth win in seven duals for the Prowlers.

TRF 5, Crookston 2

Singles - 1. Justin Pyle (TRF) def. Kirby Johnson 6-4, 7-5; 2. Derek Kaiser (Crookston) def. Cody Bellom 5-7, 6-3, 6-4; 3. Jordan Swanson (TRF) def. Nick Sylvester 6-2, 6-1; 4. Corey Horien (TRF) def. Grant Wilhite 6-1, 6-2.

Doubles - 1. Michael Forney-Jacob Engelstad (TRF) def. Brady Borslien-Alex Kiel 6-3, 6-2; 2. Jon Kays-Joe Ihle (TRF) def. Cody Brekken-Cooper Andringa 6-4, 6-1; 3. Brett Lien-Luke Blomaier (Crookston) def. Jordan West-Brian Kays 6-4, 6-1.

Spuds edge Prowlers

A sixth inning suicide squeeze bunt plated the only run of the game Tuesday as Moorhead edged Thief River Falls 1-0 in a Section 8AAA high school baseball game at Matson Field.

Jake Krause led off the Spuds' sixth with a double. He advanced to third when a bunt by Derrick Hittle went for an error and scored when Justin Pieterick executed a one-out suicide squeeze play.

An error put the tying run on base in the bottom of the seventh, but the Prowlers lost him on a play at the plate. Thief River Falls had stranded a runner at third in the third inning.

Both teams finished with three hits.

The loss dropped the Prowlers to 5-3. The Spuds improved to 5-2.

Offensive highlights - (TRF) David Lovly 2/2; (Moorhead) Jake Krause 2/3, double; Justin Pieterick plated the only run with a suicide squeeze bunt.

Dustin Monsebroten MCC MVP

Most valuable player honors went to Dustin Monsebroten when Section 8A boys high school basketball champion Marshall County Central handed out team awards for the 2004-05 season.

Plaques also went to Jay Maurstad, top defender; Nick Haven, Super Sub; Tyler Blazejewski and Andy Brons, most improved; Brandon Steinhauer, Jake Nelson, Tony Peterson and Andrew Johnson, Nordic Heart Award.

Additional special titles were given to Maurstad, Windex Man and Top Gun; Monsebroten, Sharp Shooter, Playmaker and Mr. D; Blazejewski, Courage Award; and Johnson, Intimidator.

The Nordics went 22-10 this year when they beat Tri-County 48-34 to win the West Section 8A title and defeated Clearbrook-Gonvick 78-60 in the Section 8A finals to earn their first-ever trip to the state tournament.

Marshall County Central began Class A state tournament play with a 64-62 double-overtime victory over Sleepy Eye St. Mary's. The Nordics lost to defending and eventual state champion Russell-Tyler-Ruthton 52-44 in the semifinals and fell to Cass Lake-Bena 69-60 in the third place game.

Numerous team and individual records were set this winter. Monsebroten broke the school mark for career scoring with 1,452 points and Maurstad set a record with 662 single-season points. Monsebroten is No. 2 on the single-season scoring chart with 612 this season and Maurstad joined his backcourt mate in the 1,000 Point Club with 1,107.

The Nordics' single-game scoring record was left intact – a 42-point effort by Kermit Rokke during the 1956-57 season. But Maurstad hit 37 three times and 36 once this winter, while Monsebroten scored 36 twice.

Hay, Feed and Seed

CALCIUM-25
Calcium Mineral Supplement. Increases crops yields 20 to 40% & more over the past 24 years. Works equally well in both calcium rich and calcium-deficient soils. Increases plants ability to absorb nutrients more efficiently. By foliar feeding this to any plant, it increases the cell structure. By doing this it increases the growth & yields to the plant. I know I have proved it for 5 years with excellent results. Last year my soybeans did not freeze.

Excel Dairy reopens

by David Hill
Editor

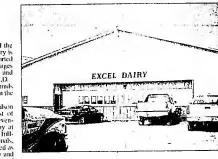
Excel Dairy is reopening. Located about five miles north of Thief River Falls in Marshall County, the dairy facility has been closed since October of 2003. This week, cows began arriving from South Dakota.

Rick Millner of Multiple Community Co-op (MCC) Dairy, Veblen, S.D., said that a group of producer-investors, some of whom are associated with MCC Dairy, pooled their resources and purchased the facility. None of those investors are from this area.

Millner said the facility will operate under the name Excel Dairy, and employ about 12 full-time employees.

Although this is an entirely new operation, the new operations manager will be a familiar face to residents - Larry Amundson, former owner of the facility. This week, Amundson was busy trying to get the facility back up and running.

Everything has been happening rather quickly, but Millner expressed confidence in Amundson. "Amundson is a very good manager," Millner said.



Millner explained that the investors began looking at purchasing the facility about two weeks ago. He said they believe it will require some renovations. Particularly, they are looking at converting the facility for sand bedding. Overall, he described their future renovation projects as making the facility more cow friendly.

Eventually, the owners want to milk 900 cows at the facility. Milking will take place three times a day. Millner said the milk will be shipped to Bongards in Perham.

MCC Dairy, which will be managing the facility in Thief River Falls, is headquartered in Veblen, S.D. Veblen is in Marshall County in the northeast corner of South Dakota, about six miles south of the North Dakota border. MCC Dairy is a closed cooperative, which started in October of 1998. It also manages dairy facilities in Marshall, and Hoffman, Minn., and Milnor, N.D.

If Rick Millner's name sounds familiar, it is. Millner grew up in the Roseau area.

Larry and Rhonda Amundson opened Excel Dairy in August of 1997. Over 1,000 cows were eventually milked three times a day at the facility, which provided full-time employment for 22 individuals, who Larry and Rhonda described as their greatest asset. Both Larry and Rhonda were leaders in a number of organizations. In 1999, the Amundsons were named the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce Entrepreneurs of the Year. By October of 2003, however, the milk industry had turned sour, and Excel Dairy went out of business.

Excel Dairy, located east of Highway 59 about fiva miles north of Thief River Falls in Marshall County, has reopaned. According to Rick Millnar of Multiple Community Co-op (MCC) in Veblen, S.D., a group of fermars, none of whom ara from this area, pooled their resources to purchase Excel Dairy, which has baen closed since October 2003. The facility will bo managed by MCC Dairy. Millner said Larry Amundson will be the new manager. Amundson wes the former owner of Excel Dairy.

Friends of Hayes Lake oppose funding cuts

Roseau - On behalf of Friends of Hayes Lake State Park, Diane Roseen asked the Roseau Co. Board, at the April 26 meeting, to support her organization's efforts to retain services at Hayes Lake State Park.

New State Park Director Courtland Nelson has recently proposed closing a dozen parks in rural Minnesota, including parks at Hayes Lake (and Bemis Hill, which is associated with Hayes Lake), Zippel Bay and Old Mill in northern Minnesota.

Roseen said that the 2006 state park budget is OK, but the 2007 budget may bring funding cuts for rural parks like Hayes Lake.

The board approved a resolution opposing the proposed funding cuts and seasonal closures, and will ask legislators to support county efforts to keep Hayes Lake open the entire year. - Warroad Pioneer, May 4, 2005, by Del Stordahl

County board given Agassiz Valley report

Warren - A full background report on the Agassiz Valley Water Resource Management Project was presented to the Marshall County Board of Commissioners at its Tuesday meeting.

Presenting the report on Agassiz Valley Project was Ron Adrian, engineer for the Middle-Snake-Tamarac Rivers Watershed District (MST). His visit with the county board was at least partially in response to an April 19 resolution passed by commissioners calling on MST to provide it with a description of the Agassiz Valley Project, including a map of the flood damage reduction area. The board asked Adrian to update it on MST projects once a month.

In a related matter, commissioners discussed with County Attorney Michael Williams the criteria that ought to be used in determining whether "cause" exists for the removal from the MST Board of Managers of a person the county board had appointed. The discussion was a follow-up to Williams' report two weeks ago that the Minnesota attorney general's office had found the county board can remove someone it has appointed to a watershed board "for cause" and if certain hearing and notification procedures are followed.

The board also reviewed and discussed six draft resolutions requested at an earlier meeting by Jim Stengrim, one of the landowners affected by the Agassiz Valley Project. Earlier, the board had accepted one of Stengrim's suggestions, to seek the attorney general's opinion mentioned above. Tuesday, they took no action on the other resolutions, which relate to land-taking (condemnation) policies and various internal operations of the MST. - Warren Sheaf, May 4, 2005

A community garden – for the community

Kennedy - It's called a community garden because, well, the whole community seems to be involved.

And that's exactly the way Mary Clooney likes it. She is hoping the community takes ownership in the garden, that people will continue to volunteer and help with fundraisers and make it their own.

Clooney started working on the garden last year, planting bushes and trees, and hauling in dirt. - Kittson County Enterprise, May 4, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

Setting Up the Pins

A mejor improvement project began this week at Family Bowl in Thief River Falls. Gutters, bell returns end furniture from lanes 11-16 were removed and stock piled earlier in the week. The improvement project is expected to close the center for seven to 10 working days.

TRF Family Bowl begins extreme makeover project

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

Family Bowl went under the knife earlier this week for a $250,000 improvement project, the center's largest since 1977.

All 16 wood-synthetic combination lanes will be gutted down to the lane bed, including all eight AMF Surepik ball returns, lane approaches, gutters, gutter capping, dividers and furniture. Each lane's surface will be replaced with state-of-the-art Brunswick Pro Lane, a synthetic lane surface that will include all new gutters that can double as bumpers, new ball returns and synthetic approaches. Plus each lane will be equipped with more modern furniture that matches the upgraded lanes.

"This will bring the bowling center in line with the top bowling centers in the state," said Family Bowl proprietor Steve Vosika.

"We are very happy to be part of the Thief River Falls community and will continue to try and provide them with the very best bowling center possible."

Brunswick Pro Lane

Family Bowl's improvement project is only expected to close the 47-year-old center for seven to 10 days and it will feature several significant upgrades. Most notably, all 16 lanes will be replaced with a Brunswick Bowling and Billiard's top of the line Pro Lane synthetic surface. Pro Lane, which is quickly becoming the industry standard, features the look of real wood without the high-maintenance cost associated with caring for wood lanes. Brunswick, one of the bowling industry's leading corporations, stands behind its product and provides a lifetime warranty against delamination and manufacturing defects.

The lane approaches, gutters, gutter capping, ball returns and seating area will all be upgraded as part of the Pro Lane package. New textured Pro Lane approaches will be installed as part of the package, allowing for the sliding consistency of well cared for wood approaches, with the durability of synthetic approaches.

Also, the lanes will also have a much more modern look because of Brunswick lane furniture and matching ball returns that can hold up to 12 bowling balls.

TRF mulls over REA management proposals

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

What's next for the management of Ralph Engelstad Arena (REA) and the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center (HOMCC)? The answer of that question has yet to be determined.

Approximately 25 people attended a special Thief River Falls City Council meeting about that question Wednesday. Only one item was on the agenda of that meeting – a discussion about REA and HOMCC.

There have been ongoing discussions about the arenas after the city and REA Events Inc. agreed not to renew a two-year operations agreement that is set to expire July 21.

Those discussions also come after REA General Manager Tom Goddard, who was employed by REA Events Inc., resigned his position in April. Mayor Dale Wennberg has been hired to serve as interim general manager. As a temporary employee, he will not work more than 1,000 hours.

Beyond that, no other decisions have been made. "We have not come to any decisions," said Elvera Cullen, a council member and chairperson of the Parks and Recreation Committee. "We have had lots of input from the public."

Council member and Parks and Recreation Committee member Terry BlackLance said Wednesday's special council meeting was a way for the committee to "feel out other council members."

No decisions were made Wednesday, but City Administrator Jodie Torkelson presented the council with six options concerning management of the arenas. Torkelson noted the options were "logical ones" based on things she had heard from others.

The options included:

- Having the current structure with the arenas manager reporting to the Parks and Recreation Committee.
- The current structure with an advisory committee to "provide advice and vision for the arenas." The council would establish the committee.
- The arenas marketing/events manager reporting to the parks and recreation director. An advisory committee would also be established.
- The arenas manager would report to an arenas commission that would be appointed by City Council. That commission "recommends hire of arenas staff with council approval."
- The council establishes and appoints the commission. The commission would then operate independently and be responsible for arena management, but the city would provide "an established level of taxpayer subsidy to the arenas, but any shortfall or surplus is the legal responsibility of the commission."
- "An arenas commission is created by the city council as a separate, nonprofit entity." The public votes for commission members, who hire arena staff. "The city has no financial or managerial responsibility for the arenas."

It appeared most, if not all, of the council members were in favor of an advisory committee to help govern the arenas.

"I definitely agree with a facility of this size and potential, diverse uses, there definitely needs to be some sort of advisory committee," said council member Dave Carlson.

Becki Reese

Focusing on one thing at a time

She stays focused on her rummage sale in spite of her struggle with cancer

by David Hill
Editor

Deadlines are deadlines... or are they?

Becki Reese was disappointed that she didn't get her advertisement for a rummage sale on Saturday into the office early enough to make it in the Thief River Falls Times. She's been tired lately - the result of having two boys, ages 1 and 4, and chemotherapy.

Last fall Reese was diagnosed with stage 4 breast cancer. In February she had a bilateral mastectomy (both breasts removed). Since then she's undergone some chemotherapy and is about to start radiation treatment.

But she said she really only wanted to advertise her rummage sale. It's on Friday and Saturday, she said, and there's so much to do.

Reese, 25, is a stay-at-home mom. Her 4-year-old son Steven was a little shocked, she admitted, when she lost her hair. And it has been hard on her not being able to play with him as much as she used to. Her other son, Seth, is probably too young to notice.

Reese said she is thankful her husband, Jacob, and her many friends have been so supportive, especially because she doesn't have the strength and energy she used to have. The people Jacob works with at Arctic Cat in Thief River Falls, she said, have been helpful and supportive, too.

Yes, there has been some history of cancer in her family - a couple of aunts and a cousin, but no one as young as her.

But getting back to the rummage sale, she interrupted, it's two miles north of Thief River Falls on Dewey Avenue at 190th Street, from 1 to 6 p.m. on Friday and Saturday (today), from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Yes, Reese said, her friends have been very helpful. She explained that she belongs to a bible study group consisting of several women from different churches. They're very close, she said, and they've done lots of things to help her, even cleaning her house.

They also created an American Cancer Society Relay For Life team in her honor.

Kathleen Possan, team captain, said she's known Becki since her family moved to Thief River Falls about five years ago. Possan said their bible study group is very tight and they've tried to help Becki through this.

"She's going to beat it," said Possan of Becki's cancer. "She has a great attitude and is a fighter."

Possan said she's walked this path before. She's lost two girlfriends in their 40's to cancer and another one who was in her 50's.

Possan said that to take Becki's mind off her cancer, every week someone from their bible study

When your church cookbook recipes have more than one person's name on them, you know they are good. These recipe suggestions for Mother's Day are from the Grace Evangelical Ladies' Aid of Strathcona cookbook (published in 1969).

A white cake would be perfect for mom. This cake has different names, but they are all the same cake. It must be really delicious:

SNOWFLAKE CAKE, WHITE AS SNOW CAKE OR WILD ROSE CAKE
Mrs. Hanna Hanson, Mrs. Henry Jackson, Mrs. Quentin Johnson

2-1/2 cups flour
1-1/2 cups sugar
3-1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 egg whites (unbeaten)

Mix flour, sugar, baking powder and salt in bowl. Add shortening, milk and vanilla. Beat well for 2 minutes.

Add egg whites and beat 2 more minutes. Bake at 350 degrees in 2 greased and floured round pans 35 to 40 minutes, or in a prepared 9x13 inch pan for 40 to 45 minutes.

Fudge frosting would be awfully tasty on that white cake:

MINUTE BOIL FROSTING
Mrs. Harry Nelson
Mrs. Clifford Bjerk

1 ounce (2 squares) baking chocolate, finely cut
1-1/2 cups sugar
1 tablespoon white syrup
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon salt
7 tablespoons milk
4 tablespoons butter (or 2 tablespoons butter and 2 tablespoons shortening)

Mix ingredients in saucepan and bring slowly to a rolling boil. Boil briskly for 1 minute. Cool to lukewarm, add vanilla and beat.

If you don't want to get too fancy for Mom, make her these easy bars - they're delicious:

SEVEN LAYER BARS
Mrs. James Bentow, Mrs. Randy Lorenson, Mrs. Clair Mojer, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, Mrs. Arthur Sumner

1/4 cup butter
1 cup graham cracker crumbs
1 cup coconut
1 package chocolate chips
1 package butterscotch chips
1 can sweetened condensed milk (not evaporated milk)
1 cup chopped nuts

Melt butter in 9x13 inch pan. Add graham cracker crumbs and press. Add a layer of each of chips and coconut. Pour condensed milk over and top with nuts. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

A nice hot dish would be pretty tasty for Mom's day:

POTATO HOT DISH
Mrs. Anny Waage, Mrs. Inga Gjovik, Mrs. Ray Hanson, Mrs. Lloyd McFarlane

1 pound hamburger
Potatoes, sliced
Onions
1 can vegetable soup
1 can mushroom soup
2 soup cans water

Brown hamburger and onion. Mix all ingredients together in large casserole. Bake 1 hour at 350 degrees (until potatoes are tender).

A little salad would be nice with that hot dish - use those colored marshmallows to make it extra fancy:

FIVE CUP SALAD
Mrs. Richard Lorenson, Mrs. Melvin Lorenson, Mrs. Al Przybylski, Mrs. Dick Novacek

1 cup miniature marshmallows
1 cup flake coconut
1 cup mandarin oranges, drained
1 cup pineapple, drained
1 cup sour cream

Mix thoroughly and let stand in refrigerator for several hours or overnight before serving.

Kittson County FSA is accepting LAP applications

The Kittson County Farm Service Agency (FSA) has begun accepting applications for the Livestock Assistance Program (LAP).

LAP provides direct payments to eligible producers who suffered grazing losses due to natural disasters that occurred in calendar year 2003 or 2004 in approved counties. Kittson County has been approved for program implementation for 2003 due to pasture losses suffered as a result of dry conditions during the later portion of the normal grazing period. United States Department of Agriculture officials in Washington, D.C., are reviewing 2004 grazing data to determine if the program could be implemented for 2004 grazing losses.

Marshall County did not meet program implementation criteria for 2003 or 2004. Roseau County is waiting for a national office 2004 determination of eligibility.

Eligible livestock include beef and dairy cattle, buffalo, beefalo, elk, bison, sheep, goats and equine used commercially for human food or kept for production of food or fiber on the owner's farm. To meet eligibility criteria, producers had to own or lease affected livestock for at least three months before the payment.

Livestock sold because of natural disaster conditions during the year for which LAP is requested shall be considered eligible for LAP payment for the entire payment period or through the remainder of the payment period for that year if all other eligibility requirements are met.

LAP assistance is based upon the value of feed calculated on a corn equivalency basis required for eligible livestock during at least a three-consecutive-month period where a minimum 40 percent feed loss occurred. A producer's grazing loss request for payments cannot exceed the maximum grazing loss established for the county.

Ineligible livestock include livestock grazed on a basis or weight gain, nursing calves under 400 pounds, recreational livestock or equines for other than human food or to produce food or fiber.

Grazing acreage leased on a weight gain basis, cost per day or month, or on an animal unit month basis are not eligible for LAP. Cash rental pasture is eligible for LAP.

The Kittson County FSA Office will conduct LAP sign-up by appointment. To schedule an appointment, call (218) 843-2692.

FSA has created a worksheet which must be prepared in advance of the sign-up appointment. The worksheet requires a producer to compile a listing of the operation's native wooded pasture, native open pasture and improved pasture acreage. Producers must also prepare a livestock inventory which tracks by weight category for the grazing period May 19 through Oct. 10 for the crop year application. The LAP worksheet was distributed earlier this spring at the FSA Disaster Program informational meetings. Producers who were unable to attend a meeting and are in need of the worksheet can call FSA to have one mailed to them.

FMS Select Ensembles to present concert May 9

Franklin Middle School select music ensembles will present a concert on Monday, May 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the FMS Multi-Purpose Room. Featured groups will be the Morning Darkness Jazz Band, Sunrise Singers, and Starlight Strings. Boys in grades kindergarten through ninth grade are invited to learn more about Scouting Monday at the Thief River Falls National Guard Armory from 5:30 to 8 p.m. They are reminded to bring a parent with them to the event, where they can climb a rock tower, try the tastes of outdoor cooking and more. (Submitted photo)

Come climb onto scouting Monday

Ready for fun and adventure? If so, boys in grades kindergarten through ninth grade, along with a parent, are invited to come join in on the fun with area scouts Monday, May 9 at the Thief River Falls National Guard Armory from 5:30 to 8 p.m.

Come join Scouting and get a taste of the adventure that lies ahead. Take part in climbing on the rock tower, try the tastes of outdoor cooking and try the many scouting activities with one being archery. Cub Scouting provides many opportunities to boys in first through fifth grades. Currently, there are two Cub Scout Packs in Thief River Falls: Pack 57 sponsored by St. Bernard's Catholic Church with Cubmaster Curt Huot and Pack 59 sponsored by Zion Lutheran Church with Cubmaster Roy Fisher.

Boy Scouting provides many opportunities for boys in grades six through 12. Currently, there are three Boy Scout Troops in Thief River Falls: Troop 57 sponsored by St. Bernard's Catholic Church with Scoutmaster Dan Radeke, Troop 59 sponsored by Zion Lutheran Church with Scoutmaster John Braastad and Troop 199 sponsored by St. John's Lutheran Church with Scoutmaster Fred McCullough.

For more information on the scouting program, contact Greta Kovar at (218) 681-3107.

LHS composers' works to be heard May 15

The 10 students who make up the music theory component of the Northern Expressions School of the Arts will place the fruits of their labors before the public Sunday, May 15 at 7 p.m. in the Lincoln High School (LHS) auditorium. The recital is free and open to the public.

The recital will feature the first public performance of one work by each of the music theory students. These students have been working hard for the past few months at acquiring the skills necessary to become composers. They are under the instruction of Darcy Reese (Music Theory 1) and Bruce Felt (Music Theory 2).

The students include in Music Theory 1 – Scott Rakozy, Derek Dahlen, Rob Stenson, Cole Bylander, Josiah Northup and Zach Gerardy, and in Music Theory 2 – Ben Willis, Ryan Weisse, Tyla Pream and Andy Holmaas.

"This is probably the best group of composers ever," said Reese. "The level of creativity is wonderful."

Reese added that the variety of styles is amazing. "We have everything from rock'n'roll to samba to classical, this is an extremely eclectic group of young musicians."

The composers have recruited many of their fellow LHS musicians to perform their works. The level of musical talent at LHS will be in evidence as talented musicians hook up with talented composers for a night of music.

TRF man suffers massive head injuries Sunday

A Thief River Falls man suffered massive head injuries Sunday in Minneapolis.

Brady Anderson, 23, was found on a sidewalk at about 2:10 a.m. Sunday along South Hennepin Avenue, according to Capt. Rich Stanek with the Minneapolis Police Department.

Anderson was listed in critical condition Friday morning at Hennepin County Medical Center, according to a public relations specialist at that hospital.

Police are trying to figure out what happened and they don't know what was used to cause Anderson's head injuries, Stanek noted.

A spokesperson on behalf of the Anderson family thanks all of those who are expressing concerns for him. The spokesperson wanted to let well-wishers know that all they can do now is pray for Anderson's speedy recovery from this ordeal.

The spokesperson announced Thursday that a Brady Anderson Benefit Fund has been set up at Border State Bank in Thief River Falls. Anyone wishing to donate may do so.

(The family requested that Anderson's name be released even though he is a crime victim.)

NCTC commencements to be held May 13

TRF campus to graduate 426, EGF 349

Dr. Orley D. Gunderson, President of Northland Community and Technical College, has announced spring commencement ceremonies for the Class of 2005 at Northland Community and Technical College – Thief River Falls and NCTC – East Grand Forks. Both campus' commencement ceremonies will be held on Friday, May 13.

Thief River Falls

The NCTC – TRF ceremony will begin at 7 p.m., in the campus gymnasium. According to Lisa Bottem, graduation coordinator and academic adviser, 426 students will be recognized for completion of graduation requirements during the academic year, including fall semester 2004, spring semester 2005, and summer semester 2005. The College will award 448 total degrees including 155 associate in science degrees, 80 associate in arts degrees, 42 associate in applied science degrees, 155 diplomas, and 13 professional certificates.

Also honored will be the 2005 award recipients: Student of the Year, Lacie Roppe of Strathcona; Faculty of the Year, Carmen Stinson of Thief River Falls; Employee of the Year, Cindy Cedergren of Thief River Falls; and Alumnus of the Year, John Hitchcock of Grand Forks, N.D.

The commencement ceremony will feature a welcome from Gunderson. Roppe, graduating with an AA degree, will be the keynote speaker. Minnesota State Colleges and Universities Chancellor James H. McCormick will be a special guest at the ceremony.

A reception for graduates and their families will follow the ceremony in the Student Commons.

East Grand Forks

The NCTC – EGF commencement ceremony will begin at 4 p.m., at The Betty Engelstad Sioux Center, 1 Ralph Engelstad Arena Drive in Grand Forks, N.D.

According to Jo Ann Schill, associate registrar, 349 students are listed for commencement on the East Grand Forks campus, earning 383 total awards. One-hundred-eight of the graduates are honor students with a 3.5 or higher cumulative grade-point average. The College will award four associate in arts degrees, 245 associate in applied science degrees, 94 diplomas and 40 professional certificates.

Dennis Wierima, most senior faculty, will carry the mace to start the ceremony which will feature a welcome from NCTC Provost Kent Hanson. Gunderson will be the keynote speaker. Minnesota State Colleges and Universities Chancellor James H. McCormick will be a special guest at the ceremony.

A reception for graduates and their families will follow the ceremony at The Betty Engelstad Sioux Center.

A graduation banquet, hosted by the East Grand Forks Student Senate, will be held on Thursday, May 12, at which faculty, staff, and student awards will be announced.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Roadblock to freedom

Very few journalists would disagree with claims that it's getting harder to do their jobs. Now more than ever before, they face roadblocks. Chief among those roadblocks is secrecy, which has become a dark cloud over the United States.

To me, the trend became more fixed when America's enemies became more active. Since Sept. 11, 2001, government has been moving to constrict information. At a time when we're under attack for the freedoms we enjoy, it seems contrary to common sense to constrict information, but that is what's happening.

Paul McMasters of the First Amendment Center believes that while our government is becoming more secretive, it has always had a tendency to restrict information. In a recent editorial he stated that "Government officials have never been comfortable with too much public access to information. The political impulse is to control information, not share it."

McMasters also noted that even before Sept. 11, 2001, government was moving aggressively to constrict the flow of government information to the public. Since Sept. 11, 2001, openness in government has become even more elusive.

A cornerstone of our government is that it is of the people and for the people. As citizens of that government, our interests are never served when government restricts freedom of information. It is in our interest to expose government to the sunshine, because under a dark cloud of secrecy, basic human rights cannot prosper.

- For Your Information -

Minnesota's Open Meeting Law contains a presumption that the meetings of all public bodies and their committees are open. Improperly closing a meeting can result in civil fines and attorney fees.

The only reasons a public meeting may be closed:

1. To consult with the public body's attorney on pending litigation (not just threatened).
2. For preliminary consideration of charges against an employee.
3. To evaluate an employee's performance.
4. Strategy sessions for labor negotiations during contract negotiations with a public employee union.
5. To discuss internal affairs data relating to allegations of law enforcement personnel misconduct.
6. To discuss active criminal investigative data.
7. To discuss education data (students), health data, medical data, welfare data or mental health data.
8. To discuss data that would identify victims or reporters of criminal sexual conduct, domestic abuse, or maltreatment of minors or vulnerable adults.
9. Quasi-judicial proceedings conducted by state agencies.
10. The Director of the State Bureau of Mediation Services may close meetings of public bodies in labor union mediation situations.
11. Hospital boards considering marketing strategy.
12. With the exception of certain checks and balances, strategy sessions relating to the purchase or sale of property.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

To the Editor,

I would like to comment on last week's editorial (Northern Watch, April 23) regarding privacy, and specifically the "laziness" of not giving out information over the phone.

I do not claim to be an expert of any kind on HIPAA laws, however, I do work in a field where confidentiality is a huge issue. It is policy that we can not give out information of ANY kind to anyone without first receiving permission from that individual to do so. This includes phone calls from mom. In this type of situation, we are only able to ask the caller's name, and give a message that they have called, to the person they were inquiring about. This is done to protect both the client, and the business. I would much rather "inconvenience" the caller, than erroneously give out information about a client. On the same line of thought, how are we to be sure that the person on the other end of the phone really is "mom"? Last time I checked, our technological advances around here did not include voice-recognition telephones. So, whether or not this practice is a HIPAA requirement, really doesn't matter. What matters is that businesses, like the clinic mentioned in the editorial, are doing their best to protect their clients' privacy.

In conclusion, while common sense may say that it's OK to let mom know that so-and-so has arrived, better sense says to let the client decide if they want that information shared. This consideration should never be mistaken for "laziness."

Producers reminded about CSP availability

The USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) reminds agricultural producers who own or operate on land in the Red Lake River watershed that they may be eligible for the Conservation Security Program (CSP). The intent of the CSP is to financially reward producers who practice sound soil and water quality management for what they are already doing and provide additional dollars for supplementary conservation practices.

The CSP payment consists of four parts: a stewardship payment, existing practice payment, enhancement payment and new practice payment. Annual CSP payments at the Tier I level are capped at $20,000, with enhancement payments having a limit of $13,750.

As an example, a producer who has 80 acres of hayland and 80 acres in a wheat-soybean rotation could receive a first-year payment of approximately $13,000 by having previously carried out the following enhancement measures:

- Band or row applying fertilizers and applying N and P fertilizer or manure at rates equal to or less than UMN recommendations on 80 acres – $720
- Band, split, spot or variable rate application or pesticides and scouting fields to determine infestation levels before deciding on pest control measures – $720
- Doing no fall tillage on soybean ground (40 acres) – $300
- Improving the soil conditioning index by reducing tillage or adding higher residue crops to the rotation – $278
- Recycling all farm motor/lubricating oils – $300
- Waiting until after July 1 to hay 24 acres – $10,560

The producer's first-year payment would be $13,835 (includes the maximum cap of $13,760 for enhancements; the balance is the stewardship and practice payments.) This amounts to more than $86 per acre for land that is also producing a crop.

This is a one-time sign up period for land in the Red Lake Watershed; the current rule states that it will be seven years before this watershed is eligible for the CSP for round two.

The deadline for CSP sign up is May 27, but anyone interested in applying will need to pick up and complete an eligibility package before an application appointment can be made. Contact the local NRCS office in Thief River Falls at (218) 681-1612, in Red Lake Falls at (218) 253-2593 or in Crookston at (218) 281-1445.

Thank You

To everyone for their kindness, prayers, generosity and support after John's accident and recovery. A special thank you to John's Criminal Justice class and the VFW, Post 2793 for holding John's benefits. Thanks also to all businesses, individuals and St. John's Lutheran Church for donating their time, items and food. Thanks to all who attended and made the benefits such a success.

God Bless you all.

In Loving Memory of
Harold L. Jesme
March 16, 1934 - May 4, 2003

In tears we saw you sinking,
we watched you fade away.
You suffered much in silence,
you fought so hard to stay.
You found your task with courage.
Your spirit did not bend, and still you kept on fighting until the very end.
God saw you getting tired.
When a cure was not to be
So he put his arms around you and whispered "come to me"
So when we saw you sleeping, so peaceful, free from pain.
We could not wish you back to suffer that again.

Sadly missed by your loving family, your wife Arline, children & grandchildren

Section 8AA True Team track meet returning to TRF

Section 8AA True Team boys and girls high school track meet returns to Thief River Falls Tuesday when 13 schools gather at the Lowell T. Swenson Field. The event was held here for the first time a year ago.

The participants will include Park Rapids Area, Crookston, Detroit Lakes, Bagley/Fosston, Pelican Rapids, Perham, East Grand Forks, Fergus Falls, Thief River Falls, Wadena-Deer Creek, Roseau, Staples-Motley and Warroad.

Competition starts at noon.

Each team is allowed two entries in the individual events a one entry in each relay.

There are no prelims. All events are finals. Points go to every finisher. Individual scoring ranges from 39 points (first place) to 1 point (26th). Relay scoring goes from 39 to 3 points.

Sectional champions, along with the highest-scoring sectional runner-up, will advance to the 19th annual Minnesota State High School Track Coaches Association True Team state meet May 20-21 at the National Sports Center in Blaine.

East Grand Forks boys and Staples-Motley girls were 2004 Section 8AA True Team champions.

NCTC turns tables on Itasca

A week earlier, Northland could muster just one run in a Minnesota Community College Conference baseball doubleheader loss at Itasca. Wednesday, the Pioneers scored 22 runs against the same team to sweep a regular season-ending twinbill in Thief River Falls.

It's doubtful the home field edge played that big of a role in the contrasting results. Incentive was a more likely factor. With the Northern Division title on the line the first time around, the Vikings won 10-1, 7-0. In the rematch, Itasca had the pennant in hand, while Northland needed a least a split to finish ahead of Mesabi Range in a battle for second place and a more favorable state tournament seed. The Pioneers accomplished that goal and also added an exclamation point to the proceedings with 11-7 and 11-1 wins.

The sweep improved Northland's overall record to 20-17 heading into the Friday/Saturday (May 6-7) state tournament in Rochester. The Pioneers finished 11-5 in the Northern Division.

"It was a good way to end the regular season," said first-year Northland head coach Steve Gust. "Hopefully we can keep it going during the post-season."

Outside of a five-run Itasca seventh inning in Game 1, Northland owned the day. It started with two walks and a hit-batsman, then a 3-run double to left field by Gary Molek in the Pioneers' first at-bat.

Molek and Cody Severts, the Pioneers' starting and winning pitcher, both drove in four runs in the opener. A two-run double to right-center by Severts pushed the difference to 6-1 in the third inning.

Itasca trailed 11-2 and had just three hits through six innings. With one out in the seventh, six straight Vikings reached base in a sequence that included a hit bats-man, two walks, a two-run single by Tim Burns, another walk and a two-run double by Tony Samuelson before Dane Kjono made a rare appearance as a relief pitcher and retired the two batters he faced.

The Pioneers met their objective with the Game 1 win, but they weren't done having fun. Momentum followed them into the second game and early success added up to a five-inning 10-run rule rout against a team that began the day with a 23-12 record and No. 2 ranking in the state polls behind 28-5 Ridgewater.

Molek added to his day's RBI total by hitting a 3-run home run in the nightcap. Tom Dostal and Kjono both had a 3-for-3 games at the plate as the Pioneers doubled the Vikings in the hit department, 10-5, and Austin Johnson turned in complete-game pitching performance.

Pioneers sweep Vikings

Shannon Olson didn't exactly overpower the Itasca hitters Tuesday, but the Northland freshman certainly handcuffed them as she pitched the Pioneers past the Vikings 9-1, 4-0 in a Minnesota Community College Conference softball doubleheader at the Multi-Events Center.

Olson allowed just two base runners in the opener and gave up just one base hit in the nightcap. She did not walk a single batter in the twinbill, striking out seven.

"Shannon threw strikes," acknowledged Northland coach Kathy Huschle, "and we played excellent defense."

The Pioneers committed just one error in 12 innings of work. Play behind Olson was led by second baseman Lisa Hardy, who was involved in 13 put-outs – 10 in the second game.

Itasca's only run of the day was scored by the lead-off batter in the first game. Stacey Villebro singled to start the game, went to third on a stolen base/throwing error combination and scored on a sacrifice fly by Joslin Geisler.

Held scoreless for two innings, Northland wrapped up a five-inning, eight-run rule victory by bunching four runs in the third and five in the fourth.

In the third, Katie Walseth lined a two-run single off the arm of Itasca pitcher Ashley Carlson that went over second base and Olson drove a two-run double to center.

Five Northland base hits and an Itasca error in the fourth added up to an early ending. Rochelle Nelk had a two-run single to left and Walseth tagged a two-run double to center.

The sweep locked up a No. 3 state tournament seed from the Northern Division for the Pioneers, who completed league play with a 14-10 record. The Vikings beat Northland 8-4, 5-0 in an April 16 twinbill at Grand Rapids.

"This is the team I keep bragging about," said Huschle. "This is the way they're capable of playing. This should give us some momentum going into the state tournament."

Northland, 22-12 overall, will finish the regular season with a rescheduled nonconference doubleheader at home Tuesday vs. Fergus

TRF boys sweep Fosston-Bagley team, individual titles...

Prowlers win golf tournament

Thief River Falls teammates Lee Peterson and Paul Sjoberg finished 1-2 in the medal standings to lead the Prowlers to a one-stroke victory over Roseau at the Fosston-Bagley Invitational boys high school golf tournament Tuesday.

Peterson and Sjoberg both shot a one-over par 73. Medalist honors went to Peterson when the scorecards gave him the edge in a four-hole playoff.

It was a two-team race as the Prowlers came in at 299 and Roseau shot 300. East Grand Forks was a distant with at 322.

Thief River Falls' second team title of the 2005 season, and the manner in which it was accomplished, was satisfying, according to Prowlers coach Dick Tyler. "I was pleased that five of (our) golfers were in the 70's," he said. "We beat our goal to have four counters in the 70's. Breaking 300 was important for the golfers."

The Prowlers' Matt Nordhagen wound up sixth on the leader board with a 75, while Corey LaSalle and Kyle Lunke both shot 78. The sixth Thief River Falls golfer – Brady Stanley – just missed the 70 group with an 80.

"The team enjoyed the day," noted Tyler.

TRF picks up second tennis tourney crown

Thief River Falls is 2-for-2 in boys high school tennis tournaments this spring following a team title at the annual Northwest Quad Thursday in Bemidji.

The Prowlers, who won the Moorhead Invitational last Saturday, finished the quadrangular with 15 points, followed by Crookston with 13, East Grand Forks 10 and Bemidji 4.

"One of the boys' goals this spring was to win all of the invitational tournaments we play in, and so far, they are 2-for-2," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad.

Individually, championship performances were turned in by the Prowlers' Cody Bottem, No. 1 singles; Jacob Engelstad, No. 3 singles; and Jon Kays and Corey Horien, No. 2 doubles.

"I think we could have won in a couple more divisions if we had played a stronger line-up, but we are trying to challenge our players as much as possible so that we can continue to improve, and the boys have responded well," noted Hanestad.

Another tournament awaits the Prowlers Thursday when they play host to their annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational. They will be joined by Crookston, East Grand Forks and Moorhead in the event that begins at 10 a.m. on courts at Engelstad Park and Northland Community and Technical College.

Prowlers score 20 against Crookston

That Thief River Falls put up double figures on the Multi-Events Center scoreboard Thursday wasn't surprising. After all, the Prowlers have hit that mark four times this spring. But the fact they did it in their first at-bat might have raised a few eyebrows. Fueled by a 12-run first inning, coach Shane Zutz' team went on to beat Crookston by a football-like 20-7 in a five-inning high school baseball game.

That's the most runs scored by the Prowlers since 1991 when they had two 20-run games and the highest run count by both teams in a Thief River Falls baseball game since 1995 when the Prowlers lost a 16-14 decision to Red Lake Falls.

It wasn't pretty. The 27 runs were scored off six pitchers, who gave up 14 hits and combined for 12 walks and seven hit-batsmen.

A 44-minute first inning set the tone. Crookston scored without the benefit of a base hit - three walks, then a suicide squeeze that wound up as a steal of home for Jeff Chandler when the bunt attempt was missed. In the bottom of the inning, 12 of the first 13 Thief River Falls batters reached base and scored. The Pirates' starter pitched just one-third of an inning, giving up the 12 runs on five hits, three walks, a hit-batsman and an error. Thief River Falls clean-up hitter Dan Kaushagen had a two-run home run and a run-scoring triple in the Prowlers' game-opening outburst.

Thief River Falls was coasting along with a 14-3 lead in the fourth inning when Crookston threatened to make it a full seven-inning game instead of a five-inning 10-run rule contest by scoring four times on just one base hit. Despite the big lead, Thief River Falls pitchers had trouble throwing strikes. Two walks and a hit-batsman loaded the bases. A fielder's choice plated the first run, a triple to the center field fence by Justin Hasbrouck drove in two runs and an infield ground-out made it a 14-7 game.

But the game did end early after the Prowlers came back to score six runs in the bottom of the fourth when David Lovly had an RBI triple, Ryan Kruse drove in two runs with a single and Chris Matter produced the final run on a ground-out.

The win improved the Prowlers' record to 9-3. The Pirates are 6-7.

NCTC baseball, softball teams both get 20 wins

Record-wise, 2005 will go down as the best season ever for Northland Community and Technical College spring sports.

For the first time in school history, the Pioneers' baseball and softball teams both hit the 20-win plateau this year.

Northland's softball team is 22-12 heading into a Tuesday doubleheader at home against Fergus Falls that will close out the regular season schedule. It's only the second 20-win season for the program that went 25-13 and won the Minnesota Community College Conference state tournament in 1998.

The Pioneers' baseball team finished the regular season 20-17 – the most wins for the squad since a 21-11 campaign in 1994.

Steve Gust-coached Northland baseball team is in Rochester for the MCCC state tournament that was scheduled Friday and Saturday.

Kathy Huschle's softball team will play in the MCCC state tournament May 14-15 at Brainerd.

TRF baseball offense continues to produce

Thief River Falls' offensive tear continued Tuesday when the Prowlers registered a 9-5 high school baseball win over host Badger/Greenbush-Middle River.

Since being shut out by Moorhead 1-0 April 26, the Prowlers have scored 29 runs in wins over Detroit Lakes (10-4), Warroad (10-9) and the Gators.

A 3-for-4 effort by Alex Carlson led a 13-hit Thief River Falls attack.

its doors in 1958, but it wasn't Thief River Falls' first center. At least three bowling centers existed prior to Family Bowl's construction in 1958. Few details are known about the first center, located at 112 LaBree Ave. No. A phone book listing from 1913-14 listed its owner as Severt Jacobson.

In 1929, a two-lane bowling center was constructed in Thief River Falls. Owned by Leonard DuChamp, the DuChamp Bowling Alley was located in the basement of City Bank Building (currently the Elk's Club) at 121 E. Third St. The DuChamp family owned and operated the center until 1941, when it was purchased by Gunder Grovum.

Competition, in the form of Pla Mor (pronounced play more) Bowling, opened in 1948. Like its predecessor, the new center offered non-bowling commodities such as pool tables and a lounge, but the new center was much larger, offering four lanes for bowling competition.

Pla Mor was located on the top floor of the current building (Bray dental offices) located at 212 1/2 LaBree Ave. No. The Mint, described as a retail beverage dealer, was located on the main floor of that building.

Thief River Falls' current bowling center opened its doors in 1958. A 1959 phone book lists Al and Connie Brunelle as the original owners.

Two years after its construction, Family Bowl was purchased by the trio of Vance Greelis, Carl Onkka and silent partner Barney Mickkelson.

In 1975, Thomas Greelis purchased the center. He would also spearhead the first significant upgrades to the center, overseeing the addition of six lanes in 1977. Another major improvement was made to the center during Greelis' tenure as owner and manager, when synthetic lane heads (front part of the lane) were installed on all 16 lanes prior to the 1995-96 season.

Vosika, the current owner, purchased Family Bowl from former proprietor and manager Tom Greelis in 2000. The current improvement project is one of many that Vosika has led with the intention of improving the center. Since 2000, the center has seen upgrades to its furniture, air conditioners, air purification system and the installation of automatic scoring.

"This is just the next stage of what we've been doing since we arrived in town," Vosika said. "Due to the support of the community, we have taken on these projects sooner than expected."

The proposed improvements have drawn excitement among members of the Thief River Falls bowling community, including the center's former owner.

"Every time you remodel a bowling alley, it gives such an enthusiasm to the communities," Greelis said. "What Steve's going to do here will be like building a whole new bowling center."

Bowlers share memories

Before serving his country in World War II, John Jaranson set pins at the DuChamp bowling center on LaBree Ave. He once set pins for 105 lines of bowling in one day.

"We set pins pretty fast," Jaranson said comparing the speed of bowling before and after automatic pin setters.

Jaranson was also an accomplished bowler, averaging in the upper 180's in a time period when high series were difficult to come by.

"I bowled in an Elk's League that traveled for tournaments...averaged 187, Walley DuChamp was a little bit better," Jaranson said. "Walley averaged about 190. He threw a fade ball, that almost always found its way to the one-two pocket."

When leagues begin at Family Bowl next fall it will mark the beginning of a new era for the near 50-year-old center. Two local bowlers, Marilyn Winters and Ray Wagner, have each been patrons of Family Bowl for much of its history.

"I started bowling out there in 1959," Winters said. "At one point, I bowled three leagues in one day. "It was very enjoyable, except for the smoking."

Winters was inducted into the Thief River Falls bowling hall of fame in 2001. Winters still bowls one night a week. Her team, Sheldon's, finished second in this year's Wednesday night Sunset League roll-off.

Family Bowl has become the site of a weekly family reunion for one Commercial League team. Sponsored by the Middle River American Legion, Ray Wagner, along with his son Kent, brother Lloyd and nephew Darren, have teamed up for the last four years. During that time, the quartet has a mean average over 200.

Wagner began bowling at Family Bowl when the cost to bowl a three-game series was comparable to the cost of single game today.

"I started bowling there in 1968," Wagner said. "My wife bought me a bowling ball for Christmas that year, a (Brunswick) Black Beauty – for $29.95."

At one point Wagner bowled three nights a week, which included a traveling league. He hasn't slowed much, still bowling twice a week, in Monday's Service League and Thursday's Commercial League. His Service League team, McDonalds, finished third in this year's Thief River Falls Men's City Rolloff.

group goes to her house to help her with household chores. This winter they all went to the Hoot Owl Resort near Park Rapids. Except for nursing infants, no husbands or children are allowed! They're also planning another retreat in August.

At the retreat this winter, Possan said they had an idea for a quilt after someone suggested that Becki needed someone to wrap their arms around her. Each of the 13 participants made one square, and a friend of Possan's in Crookston sewed it together for free.

The rummage sale, interrupted Becki again, is a fundraiser for the American Cancer Society.

The American Cancer Society, she explained, has been very helpful to her, providing her with all kinds of research about her cancer. She said she couldn't think of a better way to help them. Part of the money raised from this event, she said, will go to help the team participating in the Relay For Life on her behalf, the rest will go directly to the American Cancer Society.

The American Cancer Society Relay For Life in Pennington County will be June 10-11 at Lowell T. Swenson Field.

Walking on the track that night will be "Becki's Beauties."

Showing signs of caving in to a request for a story about her cancer rather than a rummage sale, Becki said, "I've never had so many people caring for me."

Reese is the 25-year-old daughter of George and Ruth Sodim, who live west of St. Hilaire.

Heritage Christian School to present May 8 concert

The Heritage Christian School of Karlstad will be presenting a concert at the Roseau Community Church on Sunday, May 8 at 7 p.m. Included will be songs from the musical, "Esther Ordinary Faith," by the Younger Learning Center and also a variety of selections performed by the Older Learning Center.

LHS bands to perform Thursday

For 31 senior band members, Thursday, May 12 will be their last concert at Lincoln High School (LHS). They and band underclassmen will present the final band concert of the year at 7:30 p.m. May 12 in the LHS auditorium.

The concert will be under the direction of Bruce Felt. Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for seniors and students.

The seniors are on flute – Jenna Dillon, Chelsey Drangstveit and Ashley Langevin; bassoon – Ali Kalsnes; clarinet – Megan Barry, Tricia Heaton, Kelsey Hugle, Larissa Kajewski, Deanne Pearson and Shayla Tinell; alto saxophone – Kayla Grahn, Kristi Joppru, Megan Berg and Chelsey Bittem; tenor saxophone – Jordan Michaels and Kane Peterick; baritone saxophone – Reid Haviland; trumpets – Zach Anderson, Cory Braastad and Joe Ihle; French horn – Jenny Grove, Amanda LeTourneau and Sara Kalinoski; trombone – Andy Kalsnes, Alison Rominski, Andy Holmaas and Bill Kezar; baritone – Hugh Campbell; tuba – Josh Anderson; and percussion – Jon Kays and Luke Kenner.

The Concert Band will open the program with a rendition of the spiritual "Were You There." Its second selection is one of the more interesting pieces in the band repertoire. Bukvich's "Symphony #1" is a hall musical selection and hall performance art. The band is called upon to recreate the bombing of Dresden, Germany, during the final days of World War II. This emotional work will stay with audience members long after the performance has ended. This group of talented freshmen and sophomores will end their portion of the concert with Holst's "First Suite in E Flat," which Felt calls one of the greatest works in the band repertoire.

Wind Ensemble will take the stage with "Jubilus!" a work full of fanfares and wonderful melodies. That will be followed by "October." This selection has challenged the band not with flying fingers but by playing with expression and emotion. It is truly a beautiful piece, Felt said.

Next, the concert will feature the four senior alto saxophonists, Grahn, Joppru, Bittem and Berg, in "The Foursome," a work for sax quartet and band.

The Wind Ensemble will end its performance with "Masque." This is a dramatic work that shows off its fine organization.

The concert will conclude with a Mass Band performance of "Where Never Lark or Eagle Flew," a musical depiction of the joys of flight.

Band Boosters will host a reception in honor of the graduating band members in the cafeteria following the concert.

who led the meeting since Wennberg is not able to do so as he is the interim REA general manager.

"I think an advisory committee would be very good," Cullen said.

"I would like to see some type of advisory committee," council member Glen Kajewski said.

That idea was suggested by a group of REA donors, REA volunteers and concerned citizens. That group presented its proposal to the council at the April 26 council meeting.

Scott Bergland, Lincoln High School boys hockey coach, suggested that the council shouldn't make any decisions until appointing the advisory committee. "That should be your first step to help advise you before you make these decisions," he said.

Carlson noted that committee should contain a "good cross-section" of people. "We want to have a very visible advisory group, so the public sees what they're saying as opposed to what the council's saying," he said.

City Attorney Paul Ihle advised the council to have advisory committee members with marketing, sales and finance expertise.

There needs to be council representation on the committee as well, council member Ken Schmalz noted.

Council member Conrad Holten proposed having subcommittees and focus groups to work on long-term and short-term items.

"We may want to look at a stakeholders group also," Carlson said.

Council members also commented on whether the arenas should continue to be managed by the city.

"I believe the city can do a great job and continue doing a great job for the arena," BlackLance said. He noted he had a different idea a week earlier, but had changed his mind. At that time, he said that he liked the way the Fargodome was managed. That facility has its own management group and staff. However, BlackLance now said that he thought City Council and the Parks and Recreation Committee "have the ability and knowledge to oversee" the arenas.

"I think it has to be accountable to the city," said council member and Parks and Recreation Committee member Harriet Worker, who noted REA was given to the city and city residents have donated money for REA because they deemed it is an asset to the city.

Holten said he was not in favor of turning the arenas over to a private entity.

Along with that management question was the potential for an arenas manager or arenas marketing/events manager to be a city or contract employee.

Given that he is currently employed as the interim general manager and the arenas were the only items on the agenda, Wennberg had to be asked direct questions in order to speak during the council meeting. After being asked a direct question about his feelings regarding the managing/marketing position, Wennberg said, "I like the marketing person as a city employee that would communicate with the rest of the staff."

BlackLance said he was not for or against having a city or contract employee to manage the arenas.

The relationship between that position and the parks and recreation director position were also discussed.

Kajewski noted that the council needs to make sure position descriptions, roles and duties are delineated to ensure good communication between the people in those positions.

A council member asked Madelyn Vigen, parks and recreation director, about her ideas and feelings pertaining to the management of the arenas. Vigen replied that she was not prepared to comment.

Besides the management positions, revenue was also among the topics addressed at the meeting.

"I see us needing to maximize the revenue to bring down any subsidizing of the arena over time, and it will take time to establish events to do that in the long-term," said Worker, who gave a five- to 10-year time period for that to happen.

Worker added that the city needs to maximize the number of groups using the facility. "The more groups that can use it, the better the community ownership in it," she said.

There can be two financial philosophies regarding the arenas, according to BlackLance. He said those philosophies were seeing the arenas "financially getting to zero" or seeing them as a "profitable enterprise that directly competes with local taxpaying businesses." To him, he said, "If it doesn't make a penny, that's fine."

"I have a problem with that," said Pennington County resident Linnae Enge. "Then my question is why do we have a liquor store or cost on utilities? Don't you want to see some profit or some room for profit?"

BlackLance replied the liquor store and the utility were not competing with a liquor store or utility, respectively.

Thief River Falls resident Cheryl Lee wondered how the city expects to maintain REA and HOMCC if it doesn't care about making a profit. "Where does that money come from?" she asked.

BlackLance responded that getting the arenas "to zero" financially included depreciation and a budget to replace items.

Nothing was decided at the meeting. BlackLance said he appreciated the council and audience input, and more input would be needed.

The Parks and Recreation Committee will continue its discussions on the arenas. It was expected to discuss the arenas at its meeting Thursday.

Hay, Feed and Seed

CALCIUM-25

Calcium Mineral Supplements. Increases crops yields 20 to 40% & more over the past 21 years. Works equally well in both calcium rich and calcium-deficient soils. Increases plants ability to absorb nutrients more efficiently. By foliar feeding this to any plant, it increases the cell structure. By doing this it increases the growth & yields to the plant. I know I have proved it for 5 years with excellent results. Last year my soybeans did not freeze.

LITTLE BROTHER/LITTLE SISTER PROGRAM
Would you like to spend time with a young child baking, growing plants, riding bikes or building a bird house?

We have eight boys and six girls between the ages of 6 and 16 that are waiting to be matched with a mentor. Mentoring is a proven prevention program. Statistics show that children in a mentoring program are less likely to experiment with drugs, skip school, be aggressive or become sexually active. Being a role model to a child can show them by example how to make positive choices in life.

If you are between the ages of 18 and 85, enjoy being with kids, can handle children well, and have eight hours a month or more to spend with a child, we need you! Helping youth in our community today will make our community stronger tomorrow.

REGISTRATION INFORMATION
How To Register...

Mail - Use the registration forms and fill in all the information needed. Mail payment along with your registration fee to Community Education Department, 230 LaBree Avenue South, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

Walk In - Register in person at the Community Education office 9:00 a.m. - 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday or use our drop box located inside the double door entrance (facing the street) to the District Service Center which is open from 7:00 a.m. - 7:00 p.m. Please include a check (not cash) made payable to Community Education with your registration. Forms and envelopes are available at the registration desk adjacent to the box. Phone registrations will not be accepted.

Fee Payment. Payment of fees must accompany registrations. All registrations must be received one week prior to the start of class unless otherwise stated.

Confirmation. All classes will meet at the scheduled time and place unless you are notified differently. No class confirmations are sent. Simply show up for the class and enjoy! Classes are filled on a first-come, first-served basis. Some minimums apply.

Weather Cancellations. Anytime School District #564 cancels school, ALL Community Education classes and events are canceled for that day and evening. Weather cancellations will be announced on the local radio stations, KKAQ 1460 or KTRF 1230.

Register Early! Register early so you won't be disappointed. Classes often reach the maximum enrollment early. Occasionally we cancel a class because enrollment is low. Sign-up is complete only after the fee has been paid.

Refund Policy. When capacity has been reached for any class, sign-up for that class will be closed and the fee returned. Refunds will be issued to any person canceling three working days prior to the starting date of the class. NO refunds will be issued after the class begins. Please note all refunds must be approved by the School Board which meets on the second and fourth Monday of every month. Your refund will follow the school board meeting.

Returned Check Policy. Checks returned for insufficient funds, plus all applicable bank processing fees will be collected through School District #564 collection procedures.

Senior Citizens. Anyone 65 years of age or older may enroll in Community Education classes for 25% off the regular fee, except where noted.

Accommodations. The Community Education Department is committed to providing reasonable accommodations and accessibility for all citizens. To ensure that we meet your specific needs prior to participation, please inform us of your needs at the time of registration or at least five days prior to the scheduled event.

Questions about classes? Call 681-8711, Ext. 243

HOW DO I MAKE SURE I GET INTO THE CLASS I WANT?
Although registrations are accepted up to and including the time of class, the decision to run or cancel a class is made three days in advance so register early! This could ensure your spot in a class that may fill up quickly or prevent your class from being canceled due to insufficient enrollment.

Expect success with six new twists on garden favorites

It's that time of year again: Spring, Mother's Day and time to plant the garden.

"Each year gardeners have great intentions to try new plants," said Brooke Place, retail brand manager of Ball Horticultural Company, the world's largest breeder-producer of ornamental plants. "But when they walk into the garden center they are overwhelmed with all the choices and end up buying what they know they can grow."

The good news for people who want to update their garden look with something new this spring is that there are now "brands" of flowers and plants that are "goof-proof."

These flowers are easy to grow and care for because they have been selected by experts who recognize super-performers. This should be music to the ears of millions of gardeners who have been left feeling frustrated by poor garden results.

"Ball knows that breeding is what separates the strong from the weak. When a gardener picks out plants in the garden center, it's not always obvious which plants are going to do well over the season. A well-bred plant will resist disease, tolerate more variations in the weather and growing conditions, and be heartier and full," explained Place.

This spring look for a wide range of Simply Beautiful plants, including these six goof-proof annuals:

• Twice as nice: If you want twice the petal power, try double flowers like fiesta double impatiens or double wave petunias. The fiesta double impatiens are one of the easiest plants to grow in the shade and they spread with twice the flower power. These plants are covered with double "rose-like" blooms that will make people think you are growing roses in the shade, adding a touch of elegance to any garden. Hassle-free, you don't need to pinch to keep them lush and full. Fiesta rose is the new hot color this spring.

For sunny spots, try the double wave petunias. These blooming machines spread up to three feet in a season and are great in the landscape or in containers! Colors range from lilac to deep rose.

• Explore the exotic: Tropical looks are all the rage. Update your containers with fusion impatiens in hot new iridescent colors that really smolder – glow, heat, infrared, radiance and sunset. Mix and match colors or go monochromatic; the pizzazz is dazzling. These huge flower heads are held high above the foliage for a striking show of hot colors that are sure to grab your attention. Plant them in beds, baskets, or anywhere you'd plant traditional impatiens.

• Boom without bloom: Foliage is hot this spring, and the bigger the better. New from Simply Beautiful is kong coleus, the big boom without the bloom. When you see it you'll want to call it "King" Kong coleus! It's fabulous foliage, the leaves are as big as a gorilla's hand and the colors are amazingly vivid and rich, newly released tri-colored kong mosaic is a show-stopper! Kong loves the outdoors in full shade but can also be used inside in bright light conditions.

• Sophisticated summer snapdragons: angelmist angelonia are free-flowering beauties with orchid like blooms that look like old fashioned snapdragons. But, unlike snapdragons, they thrive in wet and dry conditions and love the heat. Try the unique mounding trailing basket variety; it'll quickly fill your baskets and containers to their brims and overflow with a cascading cachet of color growing six inches tall and spreading to 16 inches.

The upright angelmist is perfect update for beds, borders or even as a home garden cut flower. Their large orchid-like blooms show off a bountiful mist of sophisticated, statuesque style growing 24 inches tall and spreading up to 12 inches. Angelmist trailing varieties are available in basket white and basket purple. The angelmist upright varieties are available in many colors...new this spring are lavender stripe, and a white.

• Perpetual petunias: Tired of pinching and plucking your petunias? Wishing they'd spread and fill in more? Try easy wave spreading petunias and watch them multiply! Easy wave is more mounded than their sister wave and you can plant them earlier in the season than other petunias. Easy wave prefers full sun, moist soil, and a good feeding with an all-purpose fertilizer every two weeks, especially when planted in containers. Look for the brand new easy wave red, the very first true red wave petunia. If you want perpetual petal power, pick easy wave petunias!

• Glorious Galore: Each Simply Beautiful landmark lantana plant spreads up to two feet by almost two feet! This gorgeous groundcover was bred specifically for landscape use. Landmark is a blooming landscape lovely, with flower heads similar to small geraniums. It's perfect for mass plantings, maintaining control, mounding and filling in beautifully with a bounty of color. Plant in any sunny spot. Landmark loves the heat and also performs well in cooler climates. Try new flame improved and new white.

Ten new ways to make a splash with wave petunias

Ten years after they first hit the market, wave petunias are still making a splash in the garden.

Millions of these super performers are planted by gardeners and professionals alike because wave petunias are blooming machines. Extremely low-maintenance, these spreading petunias flower lavishly well into fall, withstanding heat and cold, rain and humidity.

Unlike old-fashioned petunias, there's no need to pinch back or deadhead Wave. They take care of themselves. Just give them a good feeding of an all-purpose plant food every few weeks, water and watch them grow.

The wave petunia family comes in four different series and two dozen colors. Make sure you look for the authentic wave petunia in the pink pots or one of its sisters: tidal wave, easy wave or double wave.

To celebrate a decade of color in the landscape, wave growers asked experts from around the country to give suggestions on new ways to use wave petunias to create a dramatic garden that has your signature style without a lot of work.

Here are the top 10 ways to use wave petunias to make a statement that shows your style without a lot of effort.

1. Garden chandeliers. Create an elegant focal point with a basket of easy wave in a single color placed on a traditional pedestal. Easy wave mounds up and out to form the perfect chandelier of petals. Place the pedestal within the landscape along a path, or put two at any entrance

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 foot or 200 foot in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.
Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two man crew, saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

Ten new ways to make a splash with wave petunias

way to create a defined, sophisticated space.

2. Start "wave" to heaven. Pick a color, any color. Use any of the wave varieties to line a path to create a "heavenly" corridor. Wave's exceptionally large blooms fill in quickly, making a stunning statement. You can go with one bold color or graduate the colors from top to bottom. And to get a professional look, space the young plants closer together so they can weave around each other to create a thick mass of color.

3. Goodness gracious, great balls of flowers. Create a massive globe of color by punching holes in the sides of the cocoa basket and fill in with young plants of easy wave petunias until the ball is covered with flowers spaced about four to six inches apart. The petunias will spread and mound from the center to produce a full, lush ball of color in hot pink to pastel purple.

4. Power pots. Power in numbers is certainly true when it comes to plants. A concentration of one plant in one color gives you more bloom for the bang! A container of tidal wave cherry is literally cascading with color and cheerfulness. Tidal wave holds up under rain without falling open and exposing bare centers like some petunias can. Give the container a center support and these petunias will climb up to three feet just like a vine.

5. Curb appeal. Want to create a lot of "curb appeal" for your landscape without an entire re-design or budget breaker? Count on wave petunias to come to your rescue! Plant a mass of these original spreading petunias in a free-form design or arrange the plants in stripes, borders or clusters. This low-maintenance, fast-growing crowd pleaser will make a colorful statement.

6. Make an entrance. Fill a container with any of the great colors of easy wave petunias and make a warm, colorful welcome. Mix and match pink, salmon and shell pink for a burst of inviting, bold color. Mix with double wave with its rose-like flowers to add interest and create high impact.

7. Spots of pots. Create instant interest and continual color in the garden or perennial border with pots of wave petunias. Masses of a single color – a black container filled with tidal wave silver – create a stylish look that adds punch and accents any spot in your yard, particularly when perennials are not in bloom.

8. Red hot! It's new and it's hot. Easy wave red is the first "true red" wave petunia. Flowers open dark red and mature to a soft red. Combine with easy wave white and easy wave blue for a patriotic look. It's perfect for large landscape plantings, garden beds, hanging baskets or large containers. Full, fast-flowering plants bloom continuously all season without the need to be cut back; they thrive even through extreme summer heat and wet conditions.

9. Don't fence me in. Unless it's with flowers! Tidal wave petunias almost grow right before your eyes, creating a flowery hedge with a bevy of blooms in cherry, hot pink, purple or silver. Put tidal wave in a restricted space with additional support such as a chain link fence or bush, and these eye-catching petunias will grow an extra two to three feet upward like a vine! A must plant for your garden.

10. Go with the flow. Mix up a kaleidoscope of colors and plant them in a sea of wave petunias for a dazzling effect. Create a small "stream" of flowers or an entire river across the whole yard. Just imagine the flowers as free-flowing color rising up gracefully throughout your yard.

All wave petunias prefer sunny spots -- at least six hours of direct sunlight is best, but don't let them dry out. Waves are hungry plants so keep them well-fed with an all-purpose fertilizer every couple of weeks, especially when grown in containers.

A tough shrub for four seasons.

The Bergeson Dogwood, discovered by the late Melvin Bergeson growing in a stand of native dogwood near Gary, MN, has steadily grown in popularity due to its outstanding shape, the beautiful fall color on its leaves, and its luminescent red winter branch color.

PLANT ONE ON THE CORNER
The Bergeson Dogwood is ideal for the corner of a house. It is native to our area and as tough as nails. It does not get long and lanky. If it ever gets too large, it can be simply cut to the ground and it will come back even nicer than before.

PLANT FOR WINTER COLOR
The Bergeson Dogwood's branches glow red in the winter. After a few years, cut the plant to the ground to encourage new shoots which will be even more red come winter-time.

PLANT FOR FALL COLOR
The Bergeson Dogwood's leaves start the autumn by turning to a deep maroon. Later on, they progress to a bright cherry red. Sometimes they finish off with a yellow-orange blend. Fall color is rare in a shrub as tough and reliable as the dogwood.

PLANT AS A HEDGE
No shrub makes a better informal hedge to mark off the edge of a yard than the Bergeson Dogwood. Its rich green foliage can also work to disguise propane tanks, gas meters and other unsightly mechanical features.

Bergeson Dogwood as well as all bare root trees and shrubs can be purchased out of the cold storage building at Bergeson Nursery. At Bergesons we offer our customers bare root trees and shrubs or easy planting and care. The time to plant bare root trees and shrubs is now!

The green secret to life

What's the secret to health and happiness? Look out your window for the answer. Caring for your lawn is an opportunity for exercise, fresh air and stress relief that results in a great-looking yard.

But keeping your yard beautiful means maintaining your equipment – from the lawn mower to the person using it!

Here's a checklist for taking care of your mower and yourself:

1. Clean the engine. Exercise and visit your health professional. An engine has to run smoothly for a machine to work at peak performance. Keep your personal engine at its peak through exercise and regular appointments with your health professional. Walking behind a push mower and doing yard work are great exercise.

2. Inspect belts for wear and adjust tension. In other words, take stock and relieve your tension. Stress can affect both your mental and physical health. Adjust the tension in your own life by taking time to relax and smell the flowers and grass.

3. Replace spark plugs. Put a spark in your life. We all need a little spark of something new to keep life interesting. Expand your horizons, whether it's a trip to a ballgame, a local museum or a new restaurant.

4. Replace air filter. Get some fresh air and sunshine. Mowing the lawn is a chance to be outdoors. But don't forget the filter – when spending lots of time outdoors, be sure to use sunscreen and wear a hat on those hot summer days.

5. Check battery voltage and continuity. Examine your power source: your diet. Everyone and everything needs a power source. A mower needs a charged battery. Charge your own batteries with the proper diet and the correct nutritional balance.

6. Change and dispose of oil and replace filter. Get rid of those negative thoughts and thank those who help your day run smoothly. Oil makes all the parts run smoothly together. Take a moment to thank all the people in your life for the little things they do that help you get through your day.

7. Grease axle and mower spindles. With your gaze forward, turn back and reflect. A little grease makes these parts turn round – do a little turning yourself. Reflect on where you've been in your life, how far you've come, and where you still hope to go.

8. Test operation of brakes, carburetor, transmission and safety systems. Stay safe. Are you taking any unnecessary risks in your life? Safety is always important, from buckling your car seat belt to safe handling of your lawn equipment.

9. Sharpen and balance mower blades. Hone your skills and keep life in balance. Dull blades shred the grass and should be sharpened regularly. Just as learning is a lifelong pursuit, having a balance among all elements of your life – home and work, family and friends – is important.

10. Clean built-up debris from the mower deck. Get rid of the excess stuff in your life. A good mower does one job and does it well – cutting grass. Both literally and figuratively, get rid of the stuff in your life that you don't need. Clean out your closet or garage. And if you've taken on more commitments than you can handle, pick ones that are the most important.

11. Change transmission fluid, engine coolant and hydraulic filter. Keep cool. Keeping an engine cool while it's working is a must; staying mentally cool and relaxed is a must for everyone, even on the busiest days. In those patience-trying situations, take a breath and count to ten. You'd be surprised how much better you'll feel.

12. Check tire tread and pressure. Give your feet (and the rest of you) a well-deserved rest. We all need a break. Instead of being constantly on the go, sometimes the best way to spend an afternoon is in the hammock.

So help keep yourself and your lawn mower running like well oiled machines by staying on a well-manicured – and well-maintained – path to happiness.

Don't drown plants, nurture them with micro/drip irrigation

Now that spring is here, garden centers across the country are once again bustling with activity. There are houseplants, fruit trees and vegetables as far as the eye can see, and they all look great. So how do you keep them looking that way once you get them home?

"The secret is in the way you water them," says Susan Thayer, who is an expert in landscape irrigation. Thayer owns and operates the Southern Citrus Nursery in Dundee, Fla., as well as Mister Landscaper, a company that specializes in low-volume landscape irrigation.

"When my family started in the citrus business 95 years ago, we relied on hand watering and rain. Then came overhead sprinklers, but they presented problems. They not only use more water than needed, they tend to water undesirable areas, promoting weed growth in the orchards and groves," she said.

The Thayers started experimenting with ground-level watering about 30 years ago and found micro spraying – a low-flow method of irrigation that directs a fine mist of water spray at the trees' root zone – to be the best option. "It allows us to direct the water exactly where we want it, while at the same time preventing plants from being over watered," said Thayer.

The method is also environmentally friendly. It uses approximately 10 gallons of water per hour (GPH) compared to a sprinkler that uses 120 GPH; and since the water flow is slow and steady, it is easier to absorb, thus reducing plant stress. Micro Spray and Drip products meet most drought restrictions, therefore municipalities across the country are now using and suggesting that their residents use this valuable tool to help conserve water and save money on their water bill.

It was soon after starting to use this technology on citrus that the Thayers saw great improvement in theirs trees' health and growth, as well as increases in fruit yields. This success led them to develop similar products for ornamental nurseries and commercial landscapers, and eventually home gardeners. Their Mister Landscaper products started showing up in home improvement stores in 1991.

There are now two kits available that make garden irrigation easy for the do-it-yourselfer. The Micro Sprinkler kit is for vegetable and flower gardens and areas where trees and shrubs grow. It comes with a 50 foot roll of half-inch poly tubing and all the accessories needed to mist up to a 250 square feet of growing space. The Patio Watering kit includes all the hose and accessories you need to water up to eight potted plants.

Most plant nurseries across the country use some form of drip irrigation. Thayer said it's only natural to provide plants with the same watering method they've become used to once you get them home.

"Micro irrigation is our future and will conserve tremendous amounts of water for years to come. Education is the key to getting this message out," said Thayer.

The environmental clean machine: Your lawn

What if there was a miraculous item that helped the earth, the air and our water supply all at the same time? In the United States, 53 million households have one, yet may underestimate its environmental benefits. What is it? A lawn. You're probably thinking, "My lawn's too small to do any real good." But think again. How powerful is your lawn?

Atmosphere

• A well-maintained, average-sized lawn (about 10,000 square feet or just under a quarter of an acre) releases the oxygen requirements for 16 people per day, the same as four 100-foot trees.

• One acre of grass absorbs hundreds of pounds a year of carbon dioxide, hydrogen fluoride, peroxyacetyle nitrate and fossil fuel-created sulfur dioxide, lessening global warming and the greenhouse effect.

• Grass areas trap some 12 million tons of dust and dirt from the air annually.

• A well-maintained lawn keeps your home cooler, reducing surface temperatures by 30 to 40 degrees compared with bare soil, and it's 50 to 70 degrees cooler than streets and driveways.

• An average lawn provides the cooling-effect equivalent of around nine tons of air conditioning, more than double the three- to four-ton capacity of the average home air conditioning unit.

Soil

• Turf organisms help decompose organic waste and pollutants like hydrocarbons, leading to soil improvement.

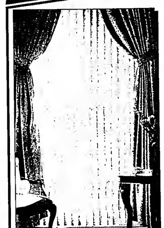
• A lawn continually makes topsoil by developing, dying off, decomposing and redeveloping.

• Grass cycling (allowing grass clippings to decay naturally on the lawn) reduces landfill waste, since 25 percent of landfill areas contain lawn debris.

• Sod retains sediment up to 15 times better than man-made erosion control materials and 10 times better than straw-covered areas.

Water

• A dense lawn is six times more effective than a wheat field and four times better than a hayfield at absorbing rainfall.



• Grass roots and soil microbes act as a filter to capture and break down pollutants, purifying water.

• An average lawn absorbs more than 6,000 gallons of rainwater without noticeable runoff.

Nothing to whoop about...
Pertussis or whooping cough reported in TRF

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

Seven cases of pertussis or whooping cough have been reported at Franklin Middle School (FMS) in Thief River Falls. On Wednesday, parents of FMS students were sent letters about the pertussis cases and were made aware of the symptoms of pertussis.

All of the cases were confirmed in a laboratory, according to Anita Cardinal, public health nurse and director of Inter-County Nursing Service.

Pertussis symptoms include a runny nose, mild cough and possible low-grade fever. After a week or two weeks, the coughing becomes persistent and occurs in bursts. A high-pitched whooping sound may also be heard at the end of those coughs, and the infected person may vomit. Those coughing attacks, which are usually prevalent at night, could occur for four to six weeks.

Pneumonia may result from pertussis, especially in infants. Brain inflammation, seizures and death are rare complications from the illness, according to the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH).

Once pertussis has been diagnosed, patients will be on antibiotics for five days. After an infected person has taken the antibiotics for five days, the disease is no longer contagious. Antibiotics are the most effective when they are taken early.

However, until the patient's lungs are healed, he or she will continue to cough. "It can last for months – the cough," Cardinal said.

Pertussis is passed among people through droplets released when someone has coughed or sneezed. A person in close contact with an infected person may become infected with pertussis.

That close contact would mean being within three feet of an infected person for 10 hours per week, Cardinal said.

After a person becomes infected with pertussis, his or her illness may not be noticeable for seven to 10 days. Yet, in some people, it may take three weeks for the illness to be noticeable.

Inter-County Nursing Service reminds parents to take children to healthcare providers if the children have been coughing for at least seven days, have severe coughing spells and/or vomit after coughing.

A child may be immunized against pertussis, but that doesn't mean the child cannot become infected with the illness.

"All the cases that we've seen in Pennington County and statewide have been in fully vaccinated people," Cardinal said.

MDH indicates that protection against pertussis starts to decrease three years after a person has received the vaccine. As a result, kids who have had pertussis vaccinations can become infected with a milder case of pertussis.

Currently, pertussis vaccinations are encouraged for children 15 to 18 months old, 2 years old, and 4 to 6 years old.

There were no cases of pertussis last year in Pennington County, Cardinal said. There were 1,350 pertussis cases statewide last year.

MDH recommends the following ways to prevent pertussis:

• Make sure children get their pertussis vaccinations on time
• Avoid close contact with those who are coughing or ill.
• Wash your hands
• Stay at home when you are ill.
• When coughing, cover your mouth with a tissue or cough into your sleeve.
• Seek medical attention if you have symptoms consistent with pertussis.

Polaris eliminates 60 positions

Roseau - In unexpected corporate maneuvering last Tues.y, Polaris eliminated 60 existing salaried positions, 34 of those held by employees at the Roseau facility. The action was taken without any prior notice.

Polaris attributes the snowfall accumulations over the last seven years, rising costs in manufacturing and gas, and other necessary adjustments to the reduction in the areas affected by the terminations. - Roseau Times-Region, May 7, 2005, by Timothy Holmseth

City extends incentive plan to new homes on any lots

Warren - Warren's housing incentive plan was extended to new single-family residences constructed on all buildable lots in the city as a result of action at Tues. night's council meeting.

Council member Dave Conley said the idea of the change was to keep the city from unfairly pushing its own lots to the detriment of lots owned by others.

The housing incentive program makes city-owned lots available free to anyone building a qualifying home within two years. Several other benefits are also provided, including free utilities for a time, a waiver of building permit fees, and a free family swimming pool pass. With Tuesday's change, all the same incentives are available to someone building on a private lot except the part about the free lot. The city will not pay for the lot, city leaders stressed. - Warren Sheaf, May 11, 2005

Donations were order of the night at Baudette City Council meeting

Baudette - A few worthy causes made out reasonably well at Mon. night's Baudette City Council meeting.

Almost before the meeting got started, the council voted to donate $5,000 toward the second phase of the new skateboard park at Timber Mill Park in East Baudette.

Then the council voted to transfer the $2,000 it had budgeted for fireworks for the Fourth of July over to the Baudette/Lake of the Woods Chamber of Commerce to help pay for those fireworks.

Later in the meeting, the council voted to contribute $8,000 for new fencing for the softball fields at the new Timber Mill Park. - Northern Light of Baudette, May 11, 2005, by John Oren

Jean Olson retires from teaching after 34 years

Fosston - May 26 will not only mark the last day of school for students in Fosston this year, it will also be the last day of teaching for Jean Olson. She has been teaching since the fall of 1971 and will have 34 years of teaching under her belt at the end of this school year.

Jean has taught in Fosston for all of those 34 years, but she hasn't always taught first grade. In fact, at one time or another, she has taught all of the elementary grades from first through sixth, except for second grade. She taught first grade during her early teaching years and then came back to it about five years ago.

Jean has volunteered to teach Friday School at Kingo Lutheran Church next year. She also plans to stay involved at the elementary school, volunteering with helping kids to read and listening to them read. - The 13 Towns of Fosston, May 10, 2005, by Tessa Balstad

Lincoln High School's Choir Concert will provide listeners with an interesting mix of choral and orchestra music, as well as a performance from a trio of former members, now calling themselves "Seeing Daylight." The concert will be on Sunday and Monday, May 22 and 23, in the high school auditorium. The concert begins at 7:30 p.m.

LHS Choir Concert set for May 22 and 23

Lincoln High School Choir under the direction of Darcy Reese will present its spring choral concert entitled "A Soulful Celebration and a celebration is exactly what it is," Sunday, May 22, and Monday, May 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lincoln High School Auditorium. Tickets, $5 for adults and $3 for students and children, are on sale at Kezar Music. Doors to the school will open at 6:45 p.m., and any tickets left will be sold then.

"These 185 singers have been working very hard to put on a show that not only consists of quality choral music but also quality vocal jazz charts, superb instrumentalists, talented young composers. Additionally, a special set from three former and present choir members, 'Seeing Daylight,' will entertain the audience with some oldies and some originals," said Reese.

"My goals for this concert was to show our audience the variety of talent that is within this superb group of young people. I know that many people saw 90 of these students in the 'Blast it' musical revue last March which consisted of all pop Broadway style singing. The students will prove to their audiences that they can do it all from pop to jazz, from original pieces to oldies done with taste and style. They will also feature the choirs' Latin pieces 'Cantate Domino' and Vivaldi's 'Gloria.'"

The vocal jazz group "Swingsations" will open the show with accompanist Kristi LaSalle on piano. They will then be joined by Ben Willis on bass and Andy Holmaas on percussion. Charts, such as "Another Op'nin', Another Show," "I Could Write A Book," "Take Five," and "Seasons of Love," will be the featured pieces of this 14-voice group. Scott Rakozy and Andy Yaggie will also take their turn at the piano to accompany the singers.

Roseau man faces sexual conduct, assault charges

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

A Roseau man faces felony charges of criminal sexual conduct, assault and malicious punishment of a child.

Kevin Ray Buley, 23, has been charged in Roseau County District Court with first degree criminal sexual conduct, two counts of third degree assault and two counts of malicious punishment of a child.

The charges stem from an April 29 report to Roseau County Social Services from a mandated reporter after a male under the age of 5 had been brought to the Roseau Area Hospital Emergency Room on April 28. The child allegedly suffered injuries after he fell down one or two stairs.

The criminal complaint indicates a doctor who examined the child said the boy had loose and bloody teeth as well as bruises and other signs of injuries. According to the complaint, the child had a bruise under his left eye and a small scab outside of his eye. The complaint also alleges the child had three or four bruises on his head and a large, tender, swollen bruise on top of his head. The doctor allegedly told police the child had more bruises "than would be explained by a fall from the stairs," the complaint stated.

A computed tomography (CT) scan was also taken. It allegedly found the child had brain swelling.

Emergency Room records also indicated the child had been brought there April 25. At that time, the child allegedly had the bruise and scrape around his eye.

On March 26, the child was also brought to the emergency room for a reported diaper rash. The doctor who examined the boy allegedly found that the boy's penis was bruised.

Police interviewed Buley about

LHS grad leads Red Lake baseball to first victories since 1996

by Scott DCamp
Reporter

United by this spring's tragedy, the Red Lake High School baseball team has accomplished something this season that it failed to do in the previous nine – it won a game.

Actually the 2005 edition of the Red Lake Warriors baseball team has tallied two victories. The first victory came on May 5 against Nevis, an 11-10 nine inning thriller. The team's second victory came Tuesday, a 22-9 win over Kelliher.

Jason Niemi

Led by third-year coach and Thief River Falls native, Jason Niemi, Red Lake entered the 2005 season with little hope of ending what the team called "the streak." A combination of low participation numbers and the March tragedy in Red Lake, led school officials to consider canceling all spring sports at the school. Instead, spring sports have provided a fellowship when Red Lake students and the community needed it most.

"Our kids have bonded a lot more this year, than in years past," Niemi said, commenting on his team's improvement while dealing with the tragedy. "If someone makes a mistake, someone's there to pick him up."

Niemi is a 1993 graduate of Lincoln High School. His parents Robert and Sandra are still Thief River Falls residents. He briefly attended Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) after graduating from high school, before earning a physical education degree from Bemidji State University (BSU), in 1998.

Niemi originally sought a criminal justice degree from NCTC, but decided to transfer to BSU to pursue a teaching degree after a severe ankle injury ended his participation in competitive sports. He credits Challenger Elementary School teacher Tom Schafer with inspiring

RxConnect helps patients and the state save money

by David Hill

Need help with the high cost of prescription medication?

Would it help if you could get your prescription drugs free from drug manufacturers?

Most citizens recognize the fact that prescription drugs can be very expensive - so expensive that the cost of prescription medication has become a major news story and public health issue.

Public initiatives addressing the high cost of prescription drugs have attracted considerable attention, and Minnesota has developed its own plan to address citizen needs and concerns. RxConnect™ offers a variety of programs including the "prescription drug manufacturer patient assistance program." It's one way Minnesotans in need can get assistance without having to cross the border, and it's offered in northwestern Minnesota.

For individuals who meet income and asset guidelines in Minnesota, a $35 per month co-pay will cover the cost of their prescription medications. Not surprisingly, the program has cost the state millions. The state's response was to offer the prescription drug manufacturer patient assistance program.

From her small desk at the front entrance of Dakota Clinic - Thief River Falls, Tracey Ebertowski, a specialist with the Northwest Regional Development Commission (NWRDC) Area Agency on Aging, has been helping citizens, who meet income and asset guidelines, find free prescription drugs from drug manufacturers.

In its first year of operation in all areas of Minnesota, the prescription drug manufacturer patient assistance program has saved the state of Minnesota over $1 million. Ebertowski said that in Thief River Falls she was able to save the state of Minnesota $8,000 for just one person. (The RxConnect service is administered by the Minnesota Board on Aging and the Senior LinkAge Line®.)

How does it work?

RxConnect describes the program as a partnership or team effort between doctor, pharmacist and health clinic. In Thief River Falls, the Area Agency on Aging facilitates this partnership by helping citizens fill out the necessary forms.

The office located just inside the front entrance of Dakota Clinic - Thief River Falls, is open on Wednesday mornings. Appointments scheduled in advance by telephone help expedite the process. RxConnect and the Senior LinkAge Line can be reached at 1-800-333-2433.

RxConnect suggests that when a qualified patient visits their physician and gets a prescription, to ask for a sample and then ask about the number of refills allowed. If patients take this information to Ebertowski, she will complete most of the necessary paperwork that may help the patient save a considerable amount of money.

Ebertowski is becoming an expert at filling out the different forms from the over 100 drug manufacturers in the nation that offer discounts and free prescription medication to qualified patients. Ebertowski and the computer software at her disposal, does most of the work. All the applicant has to do is sign the forms.

Ebertowski keeps track of her success rate, and is very pleased with how well it's working and how

Tracey Ebertowski, specialist for the Area Agency on Aging visits with a friend at Dakota Clinic - Thief River Falls. Ebertowski helps patients who meet income and asset guidelines navigate the paperwork necessary to obtain free prescription medication from drug manufacturers in the United States. Ebertowski is at her small office just inside the entrance every Thursday morning, but through RxConnect and Senior LinkAge Line can be reached at 1-800-333-2433.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere – [email illegible]

Today's recipes are from the Oak Ridge Lutheran Church cookbook from 1991.

This is a popular favorite salad - great for graduations. Add maraschino cherries and/or bananas for a fancy dessert:

COOKIE SALAD
Vanessa Appel

1 package coconut cream instant pudding
1 cup buttermilk
1 package vanilla instant pudding
1 cup crushed pineapple
Bananas (optional)
Cherries (optional)
1 (8 ounce) container frozen whipped topping, thawed
2 cups crushed fudge-striped cookies

Mix puddings and buttermilk. Add pineapple, bananas (if desired), cherries (if desired) and whipped topping. Before serving add the crushed cookies.

Something special made with strawberries is always good:

STRAWBERRY TAPIOCA SALAD
Sherry Page

2-1/2 cups water
2 packages tapioca pudding
1 (8 ounce) strawberry gelatin (maybe this should be 6 ounce?)
1 package frozen strawberries, thawed
1 (8 ounce) container frozen whipped topping, thawed

Bring water to a boil. Add gelatin and pudding mix. Bring back to boil and boil for 3 minutes. Cool completely, then add strawberries and whipped topping. Refrigerate until set.

(This dessert would be pretty topped with fresh strawberries - leave the stems on and dip the bottoms into a little whipped topping or powdered sugar for a special effect. I think the 8 ounce package of gelatin might be a typing error, so go with the 6 ounce package - it works just fine.)

Cranberries are good for you - eat them all year round:

CRANBERRY CREAM SALAD
Ruth Ranum

1 box cherry gelatin
3 tablespoons sugar
1 cup boiling water
1 (8 ounce) can whole cranberry sauce
1/3 cup chopped celery
1/3 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup sour cream

Dissolve gelatin and sugar in boiling water. Add cranberry sauce and chill until thickened but not firm. Add remaining ingredients.

Pour into 8 inch square pan and chill firm. Cut into squares and serve on greens, if desired.

Call this dessert or call it salad - it is still a tasty treat:

PRETZEL DESSERT
Eleanor Bradley

2 cups crushed pretzels
1/4 cup melted butter
1 cup sugar
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 (8-9 ounce) container frozen whipped topping, thawed
2 (3 ounce) packages raspberry gelatin
2 cups boiling water
2 small packages frozen raspberries

Mix pretzels, butter and sugar and spread in 9x13 inch pan. Bake 8 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool.

Mix cream cheese, powdered sugar and granulated sugar and then fold in whipped topping. Spread over completely cooled crust.

Add raspberry gelatin to boiling water and stir to dissolve. Add frozen raspberries. When mixture is syrupy, pour over cream cheese layer. Refrigerate until firm. Serve with dollop of frozen topping.

Another dessert/salad that would taste great with sandwiches or anything else.

ORANGE-PINEAPPLE DESSERT
Jeannie Lane

2 package orange gelatin
2-1/4 cups boiling water
1 (15 ounce) crushed pineapple
1 (6 ounce) can frozen orange juice
2 (11 ounce) cans mandarin oranges
1 small package instant lemon pudding
1 cup milk
1 cup frozen whipped topping, thawed

Dissolve orange gelatin in boiling water. Add pineapple and frozen orange juice.

Drain mandarin oranges and mix with gelatin mixture. Pour into 9x13 inch pan and chill until set.

Combine pudding and milk and beat smooth. Mix in frozen topping and spread over layer in pan. Chill until well set. Cut into squares to serve.

Make a pretty molded salad to dress up your party table:

CHERRY COKE JELLO
Vanessa Appel
Bonnie Smsky

1 can cherry pie filling
1-1/2 cups water
1/2 cup sugar
2 (3 ounces) packages cherry gelatin
1 can Coca Cola (1-1/2 cups)

Bring pie filling, water and sugar to boil. Add gelatin and stir well. Remove from heat, add Coke and pour into mold. Chill until set.

Deadlines announced for Crop Disaster Program

The federal regulations for the 2003-04 Crop Disaster Program (CDP) were published March 29. The regulations established the deadlines for completing applications as well as quality testing. The deadlines are as follows:

- The deadline for filing CDP applications for low yield and/or quality is Aug. 1 or such other date that may be announced by the deputy administrator.
- The deadline for having quality tests completed is May 28 or the next business day.

Producers who draw their own samples from farm-stored grain will be subject to random spot checks. When Farm Service Agency (FSA) officials are measuring bins, they will randomly sample bins to ensure program integrity.

Producers with qualifying losses will have to choose between crop year 2003 or 2004. Production losses must be in excess of 35 percent or 20 percent for quality losses. CDP covers all crops as follows:

- Insured crops – crops insured by either catastrophic coverage or buy-up crop insurance
- Uninsured crops – crops for which crop insurance was available but not purchased; and
- Noninsurable crops – crops for which crop insurance was not available.

For crops that were insured under a multi-peril crop insurance policy, FSA will receive loss record information from the Risk Management Agency. For crops that were not insured or did not qualify for crop insurance indemnity payments, producers will need to have actual production evidence to support their applications.

Producers are reminded that if they have quality affected crops, they will need documentation substantiating the quality of the production, which include grading receipts from a commercial lab test, sales receipts providing the grade of the crop and/or sales receipts showing disposition to a secondary market due to poor quality. Falling numbers below 300 for wheat are now eligible for quality. This was a change from below 250. Quality affected production that contains only price information and no grade or value determining factors will not be eligible for compensation.

Barley growers who planted a malting variety that did not make malting may also qualify for quality payments based on grading factors. Producers will be required to provide seed receipts that they planted a malting variety and will also have to have the grain tested.

Quantity for quality affected production must be recorded by crop insurance officials for measured and quality documented production or pay FSA to measure the quantity. Producers may draw their own samples. Each sample tested must be documented with the location of where the sample was drawn from, along with the crop year of the commodity. Grain samples may be sent to Northern Plains Grain Inspection Service, P.O. Box 13217, Grand Forks, ND 58206. Northern Plains' phone number is (701) 772-2414.

Producers are reminded to contact their local FSA offices as soon as possible to request measurement service for their farm stored quality affected crops. Quality portion of the program is for all crops with qualifying factors.

TRF man's condition is upgraded

A Thief River Falls man's condition has been upgraded after he suffered massive head injuries May 1 in Minneapolis.

Brady Anderson, 23, was upgraded to serious condition, according to a Hennepin County Medical Center public relations specialist on Friday morning.

Anderson was found unconscious at about 2:10 a.m. May 1 on a sidewalk along South Hennepin Avenue in Minneapolis. No one has been charged with the crime and no one has been arrested, said Capt. Rich Stanek with the Minneapolis Police Department. However, he said the investigation is progressing well.

Arc Headwaters to host Guardianship for People with Disabilities program

Arc Headwaters is sponsoring a workshop on "Guardianship for People with Disabilities." This workshop will be held on Monday, May 16, at the Beltrami Electric Community Room, beginning at 7 p.m.

Sandra Moore from the Minnesota Disability Law Center will present information for parents of youth with disabilities and for others who are interested in learning more about guardianship. Information will cover who needs guardianship, what is the process, how is it paid for and what are the guardian's duties.

For more information, or to register for this free workshop, call the Arc office in Bemidji at 218-759-0097, 1-800-450-7338, or e-mail arcw@paulbunyan.net

Weil Family to present gospel-bluegrass style concert

The Weil Family will be presenting a concert at the Roseau Community Church in Roseau on Sunday, May 22, beginning at 7 p.m.

The Weil Family will perform a gospel concert, combining southern gospel style vocals with bluegrass "pickin'." They have been featured in Bluegrass Unlimited Magazine, have appeared on PBS and Christian Cable Television and have recently performed pre-shows for various groups at the Ryman Auditorium in Nashville, including Blue Highway, Mountain Heart, Ricky Skaggs and Kentucky Thunder.

Bethlehem Lutheran Church clean-up day

The annual clean-up day for Bethlehem Lutheran Church of New Solum Township (Newfolden) will be held on Saturday, May 21, starting at 9 a.m. Also, the church and picnic shelter need to be painted this summer. Volunteers are needed to help with the painting projects. Any church member who is available to help may call John Roseland at 874-6263.

DEATHS

Leona Myers, 87

Erskine - Leona Myers, 87, of Erskine, died on Wednesday, May 11, 2005 at First Care Hospital in Fosston.

Memorial Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, May 14 at the Erskine Methodist Church, with Rev. Lois Ball officiating. Visitation will be held for one hour prior to the service on Saturday at the church.

A complete obituary will appear in the next edition of The Times.

CORRECTION

Poppy Days in TRF May 19, 21

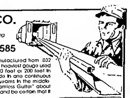
Observance of 2005 Poppy Days in Thief River Falls began April 19-23 when representatives of American Legion Auxiliary, Ecklund Holmstrom Post 117, distributed poppy cards to businesses. May 19 and 21, American Legion Auxiliary volunteers will distribute the familiar red, handcrafted poppies honoring America's war dead.

Planned to coincide with the Memorial Day holiday, the annual event pays tribute to all of America's veterans of five wars and two conflicts. It also honors the veteran with all proceeds from the distribution invested in local programs for the benefit of the veteran and his or her family.

Each nine-piece poppy is made by veterans in Auxiliary-sponsored poppy shops that supplement physical and psychological therapy needed by hospitalized and disabled veterans. The Auxiliary provides the materials and the volunteers. The veteran makes the poppy and is paid a small amount for each one. For some, it is their only income.

No matter what the cost of maintaining and supplying poppy shops, the memorial poppy is never sold, but given in exchange for a contribution.

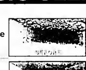
The poppy program has been part of Auxiliary programming for more than 70 years. It has been estimated that approximately 25 million Americans wear the poppy to honor America's war dead and all veterans, contributing over $2 million for rehabilitation and welfare programs.



Eileen Horejsh is the local chairman of this year's event.

The poppy

The American Legion was the first national organization to adopt the poppy as a memorial flower. This action was taken at the national convention held in Cleveland, Ohio, on Sept. 27-29, 1920, and the American Legion Auxiliary adopted it as its memorial flower at the national convention held in Kansas City, Mo., in October 1921.



It is the only poppy handmade by hospitalized veterans who are paid for each poppy made. All proceeds realized from the distribution of poppies are used only for the Veterans Affairs and Rehabilitation work and for the families of veterans by both the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary.

In this program, the public is given the opportunity to join with the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary in thanking the veterans who survived, in remembering those who gave their lives for the security of this nation, and giving aid to those veterans and their families who have a need by wearing a memorial poppy.

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre-painted aluminum. The heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.
Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two man crew, saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that got damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

For those who need a hand on Opener

Nineteen years ago, on the first "Opener" that I had a trip on Lake of the Woods, I struggled to find fish. I remember, at the end of the afternoon, a couple of small walleyes, a few less than appropriate perch, and one 24-inch northern drowning randomly in the ice at the bottom of an embarrassingly oversized cooler. Worse than the limited number of walleyes in the cooler that day, however, was the fact that I had to watch Joel Pagnac, a guide in another boat, slowly pick his way to a rather successful outing. Joel had ego, which made things tough, but he also had angling ability, which pretty much spelled my demise.

Joel and I had agreed to be an exploratory team that opener, and we leap-frogged our way across Deepwater Bay and up the Tug Channel in search of walleyes. I'd pick a likely bay or shoreline and Joel would jump ahead a turn or two and drop a jig until I passed by. After three or four of these hops, we'd pull our boats together and discuss the results. By 10 a.m., I was mildly amused by his "luck." By noon, it was obvious that my instincts weren't going to keep pace with his. And by 3 p.m., I was ready to sell my soul to the devil and change my last name to Pagnac just for a couple of fish to add to my cooler.

"What are you doing?" I asked in frustration, after learning that his last quick-stop had produced two more keeper-sized fish. "You've got 15 over there and I'm still looking for number two."

"Warm water," he said smugly, "you're fishing the cold stuff."

"I'm fishing pretty much the same water that you're working. South facing shorelines, dark rock and sand, a little bit of runoff here and there, everything that's going to contribute to temperature, and it's just not happening!"

"But you're not fishing the warm water," he replied, even more smug than before, "you need to get to the warmest water out there."

Now, once again, we're talking about an opener nearly two decades ago. Depth finders were a cutting-edge phenomenon, owning a 25 hp outboard was akin to Hell's Angels membership, and the only thing that effectively registered temperature was a rectal thermometer. I pointed this all out to Joel in as undiplomatic a fashion as possible, suggesting something to the effect that he could take his smug smile and stick it alongside his rectal thermometer. He sensed my unhappiness and set his ego aside for a moment.

"Put your hand in the water and see how it feels," he said. It's cold, isn't it?"

I leaned over the gunwale and placed my hand, wrist-deep, below the water's surface. This was the 12th of May and there were certainly no surprises. It was cold. Bitterly cold. I yanked my hand out of the water, nodded dumbly, and suggested that he get to the point.

"Now, let's go a little further over there, back to where I caught the last two fish," he said.

We trolled our way toward shore and a hundred yards later were in the farthest back corner of the bay he'd just fished.

"Now put your hand in the water, again."

Same lake, same bay, same water. I rolled my eyes skeptically as I dunked my arm again and braced for the icy response. And then I hesitated. Yes, it was cold. And, yes, it would probably qualify as bitterly cold to most. However, it wasn't quite as cold as that spot a hundred yards away. The difference was not just perceptible, it was obvious. I tried not to look impressed, but I was. And, unfortunately, Joel noticed and quickly jumped back into his smug role.

"This is early fishing season," he explained. "You can't rely on simple, general fishing knowledge to find fish. Not all the walleyes are active yet. They haven't got into big schools. Not all the water is warm yet. The winds haven't had a chance to mix it up. You've got to be specific. Find that little pocket of warmer water and the two or three fish that are using it. Then move on and put your hand in a bunch of different spots until you find the next warm pocket. That's what makes the Opener fun. The good fishermen catch fish."

I was impressed with the way he passed information on to me and simultaneously patted his own back. And as hard as I've tried to overcome that butt-whipping 19 years ago, and as far beyond the rectal thermometers as technology has progressed since then, not an Opener passes when I don't think of Joel Pagnac and stick my hand over the gunwale into the icy waters of Lake of the Woods.

Registrations no longer accepted for Greenbush All School Reunion

The Greenbush All School Reunion Committee has announced that registrations for the Greenbush All School Reunion can no longer be accepted. Response to the event has been overwhelming with 1,100 alumni and staff registered to attend the July 2 event at the Greenbush-Middle River School. The committee made its decision based on space limitations of the school, even though it will be erecting tents to accommodate the large crowd.

The committee is thrilled with the response and regrets the need to cut off registrations. It also announced that pre-registration is required for admission to any events at the school on July 2.

"Your reunion name tag is your ticket to get in the door," said Marcia Folland, registrations chairperson. The committee is convinced it must limit attendance in fairness to those who pre-registered by the April 15 deadline and as a safety issue of crowd capacity at the school. The committee would like to remind alumni that a number of classes are planning individual gatherings during the reunion weekend, and encourage all to join their classmates at those events even if they are unable to attend the All School Reunion at the school.

The All School Reunion Committee encourages attendance at other centennial events that are planned for July 1 to 4. The Centennial Committee is offering an immense variety of opportunities to gather with family and friends, to be entertained, and to celebrate "Greenbush: The Place We Call Home."

Producers reminded of quality testing deadline

The Kittson County Farm Service Agency (FSA) reminds producers that the deadline to test for quality losses on 2004 disaster affected crops is May 28.

The 2003/2004 Crop Disaster Program (CDP) reimburses producers for qualifying crop losses resulting from damaging weather or related conditions. The damages must be in excess of 35 percent for the loss of production or 20 percent for quality losses.

Sign up for CDP has been going on for over a month. The FSA office has been processing production loss applications. Producers with quality losses who still have not marketed the crop need to draw samples from each storage structure for testing. Samples must be submitted to a state approved lab for testing. All samples must be drawn and submitted for testing no later than May 28 to determine if eligibility thresholds are met. Producers can contact the FSA for quality loss thresholds for various crops.

The Minnesota FSA Committee recently changed the falling number quality loss threshold for wheat to include anything with falling numbers below 300. Previously, falling numbers had to be below 250. The change will result in a significant number of producers qualifying for quality loss payments.

Producers with questions regarding quality loss provisions are encouraged to contact the FSA.

TRF city leaders to begin review of Comprehensive Plan

Thief River Falls City Council members, along with Planning Commission members, will begin reviewing the city's Comprehensive Plan on Monday, May 16.

That public meeting will be held during the Planning Commission meeting at City Hall. The commission will begin its meeting at 7 p.m., and the Comprehensive Plan will be discussed at 7:30 p.m.

The Comprehensive Plan is an advisory document used by city leaders to help them plan for the future.

Snorre Lodge #70, Sons of Norway, will meet at 7:00 p.m., Wednesday, May 18th at the Heritage Center in Thief River Falls. There will be a presentation on the Hardanger Fiddle, a penny march and a door prize drawing. Lunch will be served. All members and prospecive members welcome.

World press freedom?

In 1993, the General Assembly of the United Nations established May 3 as World Press Freedom Day, a day to encourage and develop initiatives in favor of freedom of the press. It is a day to assess the state of press freedom worldwide. It is a day to remind governments to respect their commitments to press freedom. It is a day to alert the public and to increase awareness of the importance of freedom of the press.

A study released by Freedom House, a non-partisan and broad-based organization, released a major study, "Freedom of the Press 2005: A Global Survey of Media Independence," revealed some gains in press freedom worldwide, but had the following comment for press freedom in the United States. "While the United States remained one of the strongest performers in the survey, its numerical score declined due to a number of legal cases in which prosecutors sought to compel journalists to reveal sources or turn over notes or other material they had gathered in the course of investigations. Additionally, doubts concerning official influence over media content emerged with the disclosures that several political commentators received grants from federal agencies and that the Bush administration had significantly increased the practice of distributing government-produced news segments."

Sometimes we forget how important freedom of the press is. A search of Internet sites provided us with the following comments. Though these words are interesting on their own, they're also interesting because of where they come from - UNA - Canada: "Press freedom is considered to be a cornerstone of human rights and a guarantee of other freedoms. It encourages transparency and good governance and it ensures that society enjoys the rule of true justice. Freedom of the press is a bridge of understanding and knowledge. It is essential for the exchange of ideas between nations and cultures which is a condition for true understanding and lasting cooperation."

- For Your Information -

Government Data. Minnesota Statutes 13.03 states that all government records are public unless the law specifically classifies them otherwise.

Law Enforcement Data. The arresting agency is required by law (Minnesota Statues 13.82) to disclose the following information immediately: the name, age, sex and last known address of any adult (the age and sex of any juvenile) arrested, cited, jailed or held; the time, date and place of the action; any resistance encountered; any pursuit engaged in, whether weapons were used by any party; the charge, warrant or other legal basis for the action, and other information.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Open government is important at all levels

The words and actions of our federal government set the tone for local governments all across the nation, according to a survey of American newspaper publishers, editors and senior press association executives.

"When secrecy in government becomes the fashion in Washington, D.C., it turns into a de facto mandate for state, city and county governments across the nation," says Mike Buffington, president of the National Newspaper Association (NNA) and editor of The Jackson Herald in Jefferson, Ga.

Some 97 percent of those surveyed believe that federal openness (or lack thereof) affects state openness.

Despite familiar rhetoric and history of states' rights across the land, the survey indicates that federal trends in the Freedom of Information Act and sunshine laws affect the environment for public access to public records at the state and local level.

According to the survey, 53 percent of respondents believe the concept and practice of open government has declined at the state level during the last decade. Just under 50 percent also believe the same is true of local government. An overwhelming majority stated that encouraging public information in government is a part of the mission of their newspapers. And 99 percent of the survey respondents believe that open public access laws and policies are critical or very important to the functioning of an informed citizenry.

"Public access to the actions and decision-making process of government – at all levels of government – is the cornerstone to participation in our democratic process, a process our government has made a priority in Afghanistan, Iraq and elsewhere around the world," says Buffington. "Shouldn't we demand a free and open democracy at home as we fight and die for it outside our borders?"

Editors were asked how they explain the importance of open government to their readers.

"Hey, it's your company," Larry Jackson of the Journal-Spectator in Wharton, Texas, responded. "You own it. You are a stockholder. So don't you think you ought to know how it's run?"

Nathaniel Barrows of the Castine Patriot, Castine, Maine, concurs: "Freedom of information benefits all; openness in government means you're getting the best bang for your tax buck and you know what's happening. This is especially important in small, rural communities such as ours."

"These are just a few of the reasons that the NNA supports Sunshine Week and the strengthening of the Freedom of Information Act," Buffington said. NNA is a co-sponsor of Sunshine Week, which began March 13. Member newspapers are encouraged to use their editorials and advertising columns to explain open government to readers.

NNA also is a supporter of S. 394, a bill introduced in February by Sens. John Cornyn, R-TX, and Patrick Leahy, D-VT, to strengthen the federal Freedom of Information Act. A hearing on the need for a tightening of the FOIA will occur in the Senate March 15.

NNA represents 2,500 community newspapers across America. More than 60 million Americans get essential information about their local, state and federal government actions from community newspapers every week.

The survey was sent to approximately 650 publishers, editors and senior press association executives. Some 139 responded, a return of 21 percent.

Badger teen to explore career in medicine

Amanda Rositas of Badger recently enrolled in the National Youth Leadership Forum on Medicine (NYLF/MED), taking place in Phoenix/Tuscon, Ariz., from June 19 to June 28, 2005.

Rositas will join 350 other high school students from around the country who demonstrate academic excellence, leadership potential and an interest in a career in medicine.

Throughout the 10-day forum, NYLF/MED will introduce Rositas to a variety of concepts in public health, medical ethics, research and general practice and will include site visits to medical facilities and clinics. Students will engage in a simulation using problem-based learning, an educational method in which students will be presented a fictional patient's case history and must diagnose and develop a treatment plan for the patient.

"Amanda Rositas may very well be the face of the future of medicine," said NYLF executive director Donna Snyder. The NYLF/MED creates a virtual classroom with hospitals, clinical facilities and health-care professionals. By shadowing key personnel, these students will have a great opportunity to gain a behind-the-scenes perspective on a medical career. Timing is critical as young people explore their career paths, just prior to immersing themselves in college work.

In addition to visits to cutting-edge medical schools and clinical facilities, Rositas will have the opportunity to hear from and interact with leaders within the medical field. Students have up-close and personal contact with physicians, surgeons, researchers, scientists and medical educators as they go behind the scenes to view these professionals at work.

Nominate an outstanding employer of older workers

"This year's theme of Older Americans Month is Celebrate Long-Term Living, and if you haven't done so, there is no better time to nominate an outstanding employer of older workers," said Jean Bennett, regional director for Experience Works. "Businesses need the expertise of seniors, and working seniors have proven to be significantly healthier than their non-working counterparts."

Experience Works, a nonprofit organization that helps low-income seniors get the training they need to find jobs in their local communities, is currently accepting nominations for outstanding employers of older workers. Recognition of outstanding employers of older workers is part of the Experience Works Prime Time Awards Program's national effort to raise awareness of the contributions made by older individuals and to break down barriers associated with the hiring of older workers. Past employer honorees have had model senior employments that recruit, train and retain the older worker.

The program is a yearlong effort that recognizes outstanding employers, outstanding older workers from all across the country, and America's Oldest Worker. The program is funded by private contributions and sponsorships, and receives support from many organizations interested in workforce development, seniors, aging issues, technology and many other topics related to older people.

Completed applications are due July 23. Nomination forms are available online at the Experience Works Web site (www.experienceworks.org).

Agassiz Refuge to celebrate the reopening of Headquarters Fire Tower

Ever wondered what the landscape looks like from 100 feet up in the air? If so, attend the Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge (NWR) open house celebration Sunday, June 5 from 1 to 5 p.m.

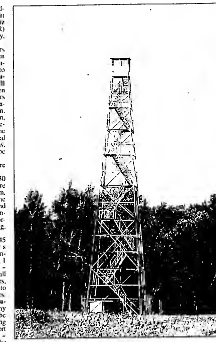
The Agassiz Headquarters Fire/Observation Tower has been closed for the past two years to complete necessary refurbishing work to meet safety standards. The dedication of the tower reopening will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the green quonset building at Headquarters with a fire tower history presentation given by David Quam. Immediately after his presentation, there will be a ribbon-cutting ceremony at 2:30 p.m. at the base of the tower. Other activities are scheduled throughout the afternoon. Hot dogs, cookies and refreshments will be served during the celebration.

The following activities are planned during the open house:

• Indoor activities: 1:30 – 2:30 p.m. – U.S. and Minnesota Fire Tower History by David Quam, Minnesota Chapter director of the Forest Fire Lookout Association and Itasca State Park Fire Tower presenter; 1 to 4 p.m. – Children's coloring contest in the Office Building. Prizes will be awarded.

• Outdoor activities: 2:30 – 2:45 p.m. – Headquarters Fire/Observation Tower Ribbon-Cutting by all those in attendance; 1 to 1:30 p.m. and 2:45 – 5 p.m. – Bird Bingo. This is a game for all people whether they are beginners, experienced birders, or just want to get to become better bird identifiers. Bring binoculars and bird identification books. They will play as many games as time allows. Prizes will be awarded to winners. Bird watching is the fastest growing outdoor sport in the United States ; 3 to 5 p.m. – Frog, Toad and Marsh Bird Calls: Refuge Manager Maggie Anderson will play calls and show pictures of these fascinating wildlife; 1 to 1:30 p.m. and 3 to 5 p.m. – Whose Nest Is This? Test wildlife observation skills and match bird nests with bird species.

Also, from 1 to 1:30 p.m. and 3 to 5 p.m. – Nature Games; 1 to 5 p.m. – Check Out the Wildlife in the Back 40: The interior roads on the east side of the refuge (North Gate Road) will be open to the public, weather permitting, to drive personal vehicles. Gates will be open on both ends of the road. Bring binoculars, spotting scopes and cameras with to get closeup looks and pictures of wildlife.



Normally, Agassiz NWR has its spring celebration one to two weeks after International Migratory Bird Day (IMBD), so that the last migrant birds arriving are available for observation. Due to reopening the 100 foot tower and schools still being in session, the celebration was delayed to allow more people to attend.

International Migratory Bird Day is Saturday, May 14. This year's theme is "Collisions – Clear the Way for Birds." It is estimated that one billion birds are killed each year by flying into windows, power lines, communication towers and being hit by vehicles. Solutions to reduce collisions with these structures include hanging an item in front of or on the exterior part of windows or putting something close to the inside of the window to make the window visible; burying power lines or placing marker balls on above ground lines; placing towers out of high bird migratory routes and slowing down vehicles along roads in high concentrated bird areas. Most of the organized activities on June 5 will pertain to birds.

During the celebration, items that will be given away as long as supplies last include IMBD posters, bird tattoos and stickers, "Collisions – Clear the Way for Birds" and "Exploring Habitats-Special Places for Birds" eight-page fact brochures, book markers and already made bluebird houses.

In the event of a hard falling rain during the day, all outdoor activities will be cancelled except for the Frog, Toad and Bird Calls.

Directions from Thief River Falls to Agassiz NWR Headquarters are 12 miles north on Minnesota Highway 32 then 11 miles east on Marshall County Road 7 (22996 290th St. N.E.). For further information, call (218) 449-4115, extensions 214, 211, 213 or 210.

A spring open house will be held June 5 from 1 to 5 p.m. at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge near Middle River. This tower, which has been closed for the past two years for refurbishment, will be dedicated at 1:30 p.m. during the open house.

The family of Tena Nelson would like to say thank you to the staff at the Warroad Care Center and the staff at Sheltering Oaks Manor and to Dr. Herseth for the tender loving care given to our mother. We are grateful to Pastor John Barkman and Pastor Jim Field for their comforting words. Thank you Gloria, Linda, Harry and Bonnie for the beautiful songs and music. Thank you to the casket bearers: Shannon Nelson, Milo Cleven, Jeffrey Nelson, Ernest Nelson, Rocky Loken and Gastin Kriel, the United Lutheran Church of Gatzke for the wonderful meal they served and to Johnson Funeral Service for support and guidance with Mom's funeral arrangements. We thank you all for the many lovely cards, prayers and memorials. Your support has been a great comfort.

Section 8AA True Team track meet held in TRF...

Lakers, Cardinals win titles

It was wall-to-wall athletes stretched across the floor of the Multi Events Center building as participants tried to stay warm between events during Tuesday's running of the 2005 True Team Section 8AA boys and girls high school track meet at Lowell T. Swenson Field.

Athletes, coaches, fans and meet workers had to contend with cool temperatures and high winds throughout the afternoon/evening competition. A plus: thick clouds that threatened to add rain to the mix did break up as the day wore on.

Thirteen schools were on hand for Thief River Falls' second year as host for the event that is awarded on a two-year rotating basis. The meet will move to Wadena-Deer Creek in 2006.

Detroit Lakes girls and Staples-Motley boys went home with team trophies. The Lakers and Cardinals will compete in the Minnesota State High School Track Coaches Association True Team state meet May 20-21 at the National Sports Center in Blaine.

While the True Team format places emphasis on the team concept of track – points are awarded to every finisher – the meet did feature some individual standouts. A half-dozen athletes (three boys, three girls) were double-event winners.

Boys who doubled up in the win column were David Krueger of Perham, 800, 1600 meters; Eric Asleld of Wadena-Deer Creek, 110 hurdles, 300 hurdles; and Brady Herndon of East Grand Forks, shot put, discus.

Girls winning two events were Jacque Peterson of Staples-Motley, 100, 200, Hanna Ginnaker of Detroit Lakes, 800, 1600; and Macey Bentley of the Lakers, 100 hurdles, 300 hurdles.

Thief River Falls efforts featured a second in the boys shot put by Ryan Brummond, a third in the boys 400 by Scott Rakozy and a third in the girls 200 by Kathryn Walrath.

Scott Rakozy took the baton from Aaron Langen to begin the final leg on the Thief River Falls boys 4x200 relay during Tuesday's True Team Section 8AA high school track meet at Lowell T. Swenson Field in Thief River Falls.

TRF has new girls hockey coach

Katie Anderson will be the new Thief River Falls girls high school head hockey coach, it was announced Thursday by Jim Sims, Director of Student Activities for School District 564.

Anderson is a graduate of Bemidji State University who served as assistant girls hockey coach at Duluth Denfeld in 2004-05.

She played on the Bemidji State NCAA Division I women's hockey team, earning Western Collegiate Hockey Association all-academic honors, and also played on the BSU Division II softball squad.

Anderson, who will teach health-physical education at Franklin Middle School, succeeds Tim Magnusson as Prowlers coach. Magnusson resigned at the end of the 2004-05 season.

Thief River Falls' girls varsity hockey program began with the 1999-2000 season. Magnusson and Troy Hanestad served as co-head coaches for two years. Hanestad stepped down following the 2000-01 season, with Magnusson then being re-assigned as the sole head coach.

The Prowlers were 2-17-1 last winter.

Anderson's appointment, noted Sims, is pending school board approval.

TRF girls meet one goal

Thief River Falls was 1-for-2 in the goal department Tuesday at the East Grand Forks Invitational girls high school golf tournament.

Crookston won the team title with a 388. Second place Fosston had a 402. Thief River Falls finished third in the 11-team field with a 411.

"The girls played okay," reported Thief River Falls coach Gary Lindley. "We set a goal of shooting 400 or less and didn't quite achieve it. But we also wanted to be in the top-three, which we did achieve."

Kristi Lucken of Fosston was medalist with an 82. The Prowlers were led by Ashley Evans' 99.

EGF Invitational

■ Team totals - Crookston 308, Fosston 402, Thief River Falls 411, Warroad 415, East Grand Forks 416, Roseau 427, Red Lake Falls 433, Norman County 437, Win-E-Mac 500, Mahnomen 533, Fertile Beltrami 541

■ Medalist - 1. Kristi Lucken, Fosston, 82; 2. Kristi Roltmoler, Crookston, 92; 3. Ashley Hangslaben, EGF, 94

■ TRF scores - Ashley Evans 99, Ashley Jury 102, Briana Knott 105, Chelsea Daley 105, Michelle Parish 114, Laura Hoschko 121.

Bemidji 3-2 softball winner

Three second inning Bemidji runs stood up for a 3-2 Section 8AAA high school softball win over visiting Thief River Falls Tuesday.

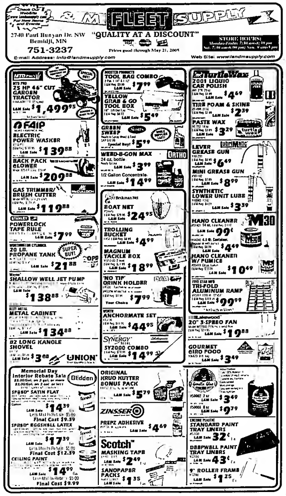
It was the second win of the 2005 season over the 10-4 Prowlers for the 9-5 Lumberjacks, who won a 6-1 game when the two teams met in the finals of the May 7 Alexandria Invitational.

The Bemidji second started with Courtney Nohre and Lindsey Gullickson lifting singles behind third base. A walk loaded the bases with one out.

The Prowlers had the lead runner picked off third, but an error on the rundown between the bag and the plate made it a 1-0 game.

Another throwing error on stolen base attempt off a first-and-third situation plated the second run. An RBI single by Alyssa Wagener produced the 3-0 spread.

"We had a chance to get out of the second inning when (catcher) Kindra Trontvet caught the runner at third leaning towards home, but we did not execute the hot-box and threw it away," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Matt Okeson. "We also botched a first-and-third for the second run."



Bemidji gave one of those runs back in the fourth inning when Amanda Timm reached base on an error, moved to second on wild pitch, reached third on a ground-out and scored on another wild pitch.

The Prowlers made it a one-run game in the seventh on a single by Trontvet, a ground-out and an RBI single to left by Allyson Helling. But the Lumberjacks ended the game by getting a strike-out and ground-out.

A steady drizzle fell throughout the contest.

Bemidji finished with a 7-4 base hit edge, and the Prowlers had three

TRF Baseball Association Cal Ripkin practice is set

First Thief River Falls Cal Ripkin baseball practice for 10-12-year-olds will be held Wednesday, May 18, from 6 to 7:30 p.m. at Franklin Middle School.

Thief River Falls Baseball Association registration forms can be turned into the coaches at the start of practice that night, or they can be dropped off at the Genereux Realty office, 304 South Riverside Avenue.

Registration forms can be picked up at the Challenger Elementary and Franklin Middle School offices.

Thief River Falls Baseball Association officials reminds all interested Babe Ruth, VFW and American Legion players should also be competed at this time.

NCTC summer basketball leagues to start June 6, 7

Summer basketball leagues for boys and girls who will be in grades 9-12 in the fall of 2005 will be offered at Northland Community and Technical College.

Boys will play Monday nights, June 6-July 11. Girls will play Tuesday nights, June 7-July 5.

All participants should attend the first night of play to receive league schedules.

Cost of the program is $45 per player. Register by sending the participation fee to NCTC Summer Basketball League, c/o NCTC, 1101 Highway One East, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. Registration deadlock is June 1.

Players can sign up individually, or as a team.

The leagues will be coordinated by Northland men's basketball coach Rick Nikunen and Pioneers women's basketball coach Missy Majerus.

Northland girls basketball camp planned June 13-16

Northland Community and Technical College Girls Basketball Camp will be held June 13-16.

The camp is designed for girls in grades 9-12, the camp will focus on individual skills, position-specific skills, development of shooting skills, man-to-man defensive skills and motion-offense concepts.

Northland women's head basketball coach Missy Majerus will be the camp director.

Cost of the program is $65.

To register, or for addition information, contact Majerus at 218-681-0812.

of the game's four errors. Thief River Falls pitcher Megan Berg struck out eight and did not walk a batter while being tagged with the loss.

"Bemidji let us play right with them," explained Okeson. "They stranded lots of runners and did not get the big hit".

Okeson gave praise to his battery – Berg and Trontvet. "Megan and Kindra kept us in the game, and that's what seniors do at this time of the year," he said.

The Prowlers started the year 7-1, but they dipped to .500 ball heading into the final week of the regular season schedule. "We have not made the non-routine plays to help ourselves out of innings," pointed out Okeson. "We need to step it up this last week and make a diving catch or a double play – things that should come naturally."

Pioneers, Spartans split doubleheader

■ NCTC is at state softball tournament

It seemed like a good idea at the time when coaches at Northland and Fergus Falls figured they would give their regular season-ending college softball match-up a different look by moving the Tuesday doubleheader from a normal 3 o'clock start time to a 6:30 p.m. first pitch to play "under the lights" at the Multi-Events Center.

But instead of a pleasant spring night, they were met by finger-numbing temperatures and bone-chilling winds – both heightened when what little comfort the afternoon sun did afford disappeared as the hours wore on.

Northland coach Kathy Huschle doubted the "innovative" time slot will be used again any time soon.

When the half-frozen players and coaches finally left the field in search of warmth, the books showed a twinbill split. The Pioneers won an 8-run rule 12-4 five-inning first game and the Spartans held on for a 10-8 Game 2 victory.

The results put Northland at 23-13 heading into 2005 Minnesota Community College Conference state tournament being played today (Saturday) and Sunday in Brainerd.

Northland combined eight walks with 11 hits in the Game 1 win over Southern Division champion Fergus Falls. The Pioneers' Shannon Olson did not walk a batter – nothing new for the freshman pitcher from Bagley whose outstanding control has resulted in just 10 walks in 113 innings of work this year.

The second game included an extended delay for attention to an injured player and a seven-run seventh inning that made a long night even longer.

Fergus Falls scored three times in the top of the seventh to push its lead to 10-4, and Northland came back with four runs in the bottom of the inning. The Pioneers' rally was cut short, however, when, with the tying run on base, the final out was a pick-off play at third.

"Winning the first game was great, and coming back like we did in the second game was fun," said Huschle. "But we were kind of left hanging by the way it ended."

LHS grad leads Red Lake baseball team to first victories since 1996

him to get into the teaching profession.

Niemi continued to study at BSU after earning a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1998. While working towards an Emotional behavioral disorder/learning disability certification that he earned in 2003, Niemi taught at two Bemidji schools, Riverside School for two years and later for one year at Northern Elementary.

Niemi still resides in Bemidji with his wife, Jessica and 9-month-old son, Ashton. He accepted a position as the EBD resource room teacher at Red Lake Middle School in July 2002; a special education position where Niemi works with children that have emotional behavioral disorder. He also accepted the varsity baseball coaching job.

"When I came to Red Lake, the baseball program was way down," Niemi said. "When I was offered the position I asked the superintendent to give me three years to build up a nucleus of players. This would give me enough time to sell the program to the kids and to evaluate the talent."

Red Lake Schools closed immediately after the March 21 tragedy and did not reopen until April 11. During the school's closing, Niemi was informed that the season would likely be cancelled.

Two weeks after the tragedy the school began receiving calls from parents about the fate of its spring sports, including baseball.

"Enough parents wanted the kids to be active, so the school board reinstated the season," Niemi said.

With the season reinstated, Red Lake baseball players only had three days to prepare for the team's first game. Niemi said he was concerned early in the season that the team would suffer from a lack of player attendance for both practices and games. But that has not been the case for Red Lake, which fields a team of up to 17 players for games, including a core of 10 players who never miss a practice.

He understands the difficulties facing players currently, and only asks that they call on a given day when they can't make it to a practice or game.

What really impresses Niemi is his team's ability to fight through injuries, thus keeping a competitive team on the field. He said his team has a good sense of humor, something that helps players keep a positive attitude.

"One of our kids hurt his knee at home plate and had to leave the game in an ambulance," Niemi said. "He came back in the sixth inning with his pants cut up. The team joke was, 'you can't let them cut up your pants on this school's budget.'"

Niemi said he is also impressed with his team's ability to handle adversity, like dealing with all of the questions that the team is greeted with when traveling.

Niemi uses a respectful and educational approach when coaching his team, something he learned from Thief River Falls head football coach Jeff Mumm.

"I just kind of picked up his coaching style, being patient with the players and respecting them," Niemi said. "[Mumm is] the coach I look up to most."

Following each season, Niemi takes team members who stuck around for the entire season to a Minnesota Twins game – something he feels is both rewarding and educational for players who work hard for an entire season.

Niemi also uses rewards to motivate his team. He told his team from day one that he would shave his head when the team won its first game. Following the May 5 victory against Nevis, the locks came off thanks to a three-run seventh inning rally that tied the game at 10. A run in the ninth gave Red Lake its first victory in nine years.

"It's been a weight on our shoulders that we've been trying to get off for years," Niemi said. "Winning this one game was like winning the state tournament for them," he added, noting that players mobbed each other after the win. The team even managed to dump its water cooler over Niemi's shoulders during the celebration.

Earlier this week, the team continued its winning ways, disposing of Kelliher 22-9. After that victory the team demanded Niemi shave his eyebrows – something he hasn't agreed to yet.

Niemi now feels the Red Lake baseball program is on the right track, but admits that there are road blocks keeping the team from being successful.

"Our biggest problem right now is, there is no summer program," Niemi said. He added that softball is big in Red Lake and because of their softball background, most players are good hitters. What the team struggles with, according to Niemi, is base running and defense.

Niemi said there is one traveling summer team for the under 12 age group that plays its games in Bemidji, but no other opportunities currently exist for youth baseball.

"A lot of these kids pick up a baseball a few months a year and that's it," Niemi said. "They need to get the basic skills when they are younger to have it come routine when they are at the high school level. That is when I believe our success will take off."

Niemi has been recognized for his efforts in the classroom as well. This past year, he was one of 10 Minnesota special education teachers to be awarded a $1,000 scholarship, being recognized as a young outstanding special education teacher.

Red Lake High School baseball coach Jason Niami said goodbye to his hair one day after Red Lake said goodbye to its nine-year losing streak. The team rellied to beat Nevis 11-10 on May 6, for its first victory since 1996. (Submitted photo)

LHS Choir Concert set for May 22 and 23

"Seeing Dayhght" is a three-person ensemble of past and present choir members. Chris and Ben Adamson and Bill Kezar are the three artists within this very talented group. Reese said she is very excited to have these performers as part of the production. "It's very exciting to see students putting their own pieces to work and creating other artistic works in the way these three guys do. I am very proud to say that they were a part of this program, and I will miss them all when they leave Minnesota to bring their music to the big cities. Good luck guys."

The Lincoln High School Music Department is part of the Northern Expressions School of the Arts, and with that honor comes the opportunity to work with young composers from within the walls of Lincoln High School. This year, Reese and Band Director Bruce Fell have worked with 10 very talented young composers. This group will be featuring two of their group pieces at the concert. Featured artists include: Scott Rakozy, composer and pianist; Tyla Pream and Josiah Northup, vocalists, Derek Dalen, Ryan Weisse, Zach Gerardy on guitars, Cole Bylander on violin; Derek Mosloff on viola; Robby Stenson on cello; Ben Willis on bass; and Andy Holmaas, percussion.

This section of the show is very exciting as it shows that these young people cannot only sing written literature, but they can write literature of their own and perform it at a very high performance level, said Reese.

Concert Choir will begin its section of the show with a very exciting spiritual entitled "Hark, I Hear The Harps Eternal." This soulful spiritual might even bring listeners back to last year's May concert, which focused heavily on the African-American spirituals. During this piece, the students will put to use everything they learned from Gospel expert Dr. Horace Boyer.

"Cantate Domino" is the second piece the choir will perform. This 28-page acapella choral piece features eight to 15 parts moving at the same time.

Bel Canto choir, which consists of 95 singers will join the Concert Choir for the grand finale of all finales - the performance of Vivaldi's "Gloria," a master choral piece for 185 voices, plus orchestra, piano and organ.

The choir has left no room for small sounds, therefore a real organ will be played for this huge work. The orchestra members include Derek Mosloff and Andrew Helgeland in violin I, Ben Willis on bass, Derek Dranse and Angie Blom, on violin II, Mark Campbell on cello, Cathy Hagen on piano, Kristi LaSalle on the organ. Soloists within the choral work include: Tyla Pream, alto solo, Kyla Lundeen, soprano solo and duet, Haeli Stokke, soprano duet. These young singers, said Reese, have worked overtime to make this performance of "Gloria" truly a colorful bouquet of gorgeous harmonies, dynamics and soulful passion of hearts.

RxConnect helps patients and the state save money

much money it's saving the state and the patient. In the last month, she said, more than a dozen individuals have utilized their services at Dakota Clinic. Since they started offering the service, they have helped thousands.

Generally, it takes four to six weeks to hear back from the drug manufacturer. Once that process is completed, the patient will generally receive a three-month supply of the prescription medication, and can re-apply for the programs.

Some people get the wrong impression. RxConnect offers a process to navigate a complicated system. It doesn't prescribe or get the medications.

Outside of Thief River Falls

Ebertowski has a nice arrangement with Dakota Clinic - Thief River Falls, which attracts patients from throughout the region.

Danica Robson of NWRDC Area Agency on Aging, said "we're very happy with this partnership. They've been very accommodating."

But Ebertowski does a bit of traveling outside of Thief River Falls so that she can reach more people. Once a month, she visits the communities of Baudette, Park Rapids, and Hallock. Once again, calling in advance can expedite the process. RxConnect and the Senior LinkAge Line can be reached in advance by calling 1-800-333-2433.

Roseau man faces sexual conduct, assault charges

the emergency room visits. He allegedly told police he had baby-sat the child at a residence in the 300 block of Main Ave. S. in Roseau prior to the emergency room visits.

Pertaining to the March 26 incident, Buley allegedly admitted to police that he had been angry with the child and pinched the child's penis after the child had urinated on him while Buley was looking for a diaper.

The complaint also alleges that Buley admitted to "shaking the child on three separate occasions" when he was angry with the boy.

About the April 26 incident, Buley allegedly said he thought the boy had tripped on a heater while Buley was not looking. Later, Buley allegedly admitted hitting the child, which knocked him off of his feet and caused the child to hit his head on a baseboard heater. The incident occurred after the child allegedly grabbed a plate, scattering food around a room.

About the April 28 incident, Buley allegedly told police that the child fell backwards down approximately five or six steps. The complaint alleges a police officer "noted inconsistencies in the explanations." Buley later allegedly said the child, who was sitting on a kitchen table, must have hit his head on the floor after he fell off of the table. Later, he allegedly admitted that the boy was screaming and Buley slapped him, knocking him off of the table and causing his head to hit the floor. As he was falling, the boy also allegedly hit a hockey stick.

The criminal sexual conduct charge carries a maximum penalty of 30 years in prison and/or a $40,000 fine. The third degree assault and malicious punishment of a child charges all carry maximum penalties of five years in prison and/or $10,000 fines.

The Northern Watch attempted to receive a mugshot of Buley, however, the Roseau County Sheriff's Department's e-mail system was not functioning.

SON Northern Lights branch to host Norwegian independence celebration May 14

Visitors are welcome to join the area Northern Lights (Nordlys) branch of Sons of Norway at North Star Apartments in Roseau at 6:30 on Saturday, May 14, for its celebration of Norwegian Independence a few days before Syttende Mai. The event will begin with a potluck smorgasbord supper including a variety of Scandinavian foods.

Those who can not come in time for the meal may wish to come at 7:00 for the program, which will feature slides of "Sweden - Coast to Coast."

Photographer-presenters will be Joe and Teresa McDonnell, Wannaska, who traveled throughout Sweden last year. (Please note that this choice of program on a Norwegian holiday is strong evidence that Norwegian-Americans continue to be very friendly with Swedish-Americans) Anyone interested in Scandinavian heritage is welcome at all meetings.

Members of SON enjoy nurturing and sharing their heritage at regular monthly meetings on second Saturdays September through May. They do not hold regular meetings during summer, but rather encourage participation in the Mid-summer Scandinavian Festival June 10-12 in Roseau and trips to Norse events in other communities. The planning committee welcomes volunteers to help with a variety of hosting duties.

Another special summer occasion will be a concert in Roseau on the evening of Aug. 10, by a touring choir from Sweden, co-sponsored by Sons of Norway and another local group. Anyone willing to act as hosts by providing free beds (one night) and a meal for two or four Scandinavian guests should call SON Co-chair Leanne Johnson.

Summer is also a good time for earning SON cultural heritage points, including sports/physical fitness and Norse literature. Members may find out more about this program on the Internet, in the organization's magazine or by asking one of the local officers.

Several simple service projects are ongoing – saving of canceled postage stamps, used telephone cards and product labels. These should be saved year round and delivered to any SON meeting. The stamps are donated to a rehabilitation hospital in Norway. Used-up telephone cards are also accepted. Next fall, all collected Campbell product labels (front only) and Box Tops for Education will be transferred to the Roseau Elementary School to help purchase equipment for student use. Members who live in other school districts are encouraged to deliver labels and box tops to their own schools.

UCare Minnesota to hold informational meetings in May

UCare Minnesota will hold informational meetings about UCare for Seniors, a Medicare Advantage plan now available in Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Polk, Pennington and Red Lake counties during the month of May. Members of UCare's sales staff will discuss the UCare for Seniors Grand and Superior plans, the two health plan options being offered in northwestern and other Greater Minnesota counties. The UCare for Seniors Superior Plan features comprehensive coverage plus coverage for prescription drugs, eyewear and hearing aids. The UCare for Seniors Grand Plan offers comprehensive coverage but at a lower monthly premium.

With more than 28,000 members, UCare for Seniors is one of the state's largest Medicare Advantage plans. Eligible individuals can enroll at any time. To register for a meeting or for more information, call 1-877-523-1518 (toll free).

Meeting dates

- Wednesday, May 18, at the Fairview Senior Center in Red Lake Falls, beginning at 2 p.m.
- Thursday, May 19, at the Four Season's Senior Center in Roseau, beginning at 1:30 p.m.
- Wednesday, May 25, at the Golden Link Senior Center in Crookston, beginning at 10 a.m.
- Wednesday, May 25, at the Fairview Senior Center in Red Lake Falls, beginning at 2 p.m.

NCTC-TRF announces assessment and registration dates

The Thief River Falls campus of Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) has begun its assessment and registration for students enrolling at the college this fall.

All students enrolling at NCTC are required to take an assessment prior to registering for classes. The assessment examination includes measurements of reading, writing and mathematics, and is used to insure that students have or develop skills necessary to be successful in college through placement in appropriate courses. Students will meet with an academic adviser to plan their course schedules following completion of the assessments.

Students do not need to take the assessment if they have already completed college-level English and college-level math courses elsewhere, have already taken an assessment at another college or university, or have received a minimum subset score of 24 in English and/or math on the ACT in which they would not be required to take the English and/or math segments of the assessment. In all cases, results must be on file at NCTC prior to a student registering for classes, and an appointment will need to be made with an adviser to register for classes.

Assessment and registration takes approximately three hours, and dates are filling up fast. Students must call the NCTC-TRF Admissions Office at (218) 681-0851 or 1-800-959-6282 to schedule assessment appointments.

Remaining dates for the assessment include May 16, 19, 23 and 26; June 6, 9, 13 and 20, July 14, 18 and 21, and Aug. 1 and 4. Assessment times range from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. depending on the date.

Embassy to hold Scandinavian smorgasbord

The Embassy Community Center in Fosston will hold its annual Scandinavian salad smorgasbord on Sunday, May 15 with serving slated from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. The menu will consist of assorted salads from some of the area's best cooks, ham, whole wheat mini buns, lemonade, milk and coffee.

The admission to the dinner will be of a freewill offering basis, with the day's receipts going to the Embassy's general fund, which will benefit all of the club's using the center's facilities.

Foundation Executive Director

Northland Community and Technical College is currently accepting applications for the Foundation Executive Director to provide leadership and management efforts of the NCTC Foundation including expansion of the Foundation to the East Grand Forks campus of NCTC. Additional information is available on the Internet at http://www.northlandcollege.edu about job openings.php Application procedure: Letter of application, resume, copy of college transcripts, and names of 3 professional references are to be forwarded to Northland Community and Technical College, Kristi Lane, 1101 Highway One East, Thief River Falls, MN 56701. Suits Your Needs to a T

MEET THE TOP AIR TA 1600 T-TANK SPRAYER

Meet the biggest member of the Top Air family — the TA1600 T-tank sprayers. The 1600's operational ease, maneuverability and trailability are the best in the industry, due to its independent suspension, low center of gravity and compact distance from hitch to axle.

A single-point quick fill, convenient command center, deep-tread sump and tank capacity of 1,600 gallons mean you spend more time spraying and less time filling.

TA 1600 T-tank sprayers can be fitted with compact, telescoping 90' to 90 foot front fold booms. The versatile 12 foot boom also folds to spray a 40 foot pattern.

Stop by your nearest dealer today to meet the entire Top Air family of sprayers! Pick the one that best meets your needs and make it part of your farming family. For more information, check our Web site at www.elfinecorp.com

Hay, Feed and Seed

CALCIUM-25
Calcium Mineral Supplement - Increases crops yields 20 to 40% & more over the past 24 years. Works equally well in both calcium rich and calcium deficient soils. Increases plants ability to absorb nutrients more efficiently. By foliar feeding the loamy plant, it increases the cell structure. By doing this it increases the growth & yields to the plant. I know I have proved it for 5 years with excellent results. Last year my soybeans did not freeze.

Warroad allows every-day kindergarten

Warroad - On May 9, the Warroad School Board held a special meeting with the parents of 2005-06 kindergartners. At Wednesday's meeting, the School Board presented three options to the parents – for parents to pay $1,500 for the first 25 students to go all day everyday and the rest of the students would go all day every other day, with a total budget savings of over $47,000; having two classes of all day everyday with parents paying $1,000 and one class all day every other day, with a savings of just over $24,000, and two classes all day everyday with parents paying $800 and one class all day every other day, with a savings of over $16,000.

After much discussion with parents and among School Board members, the School Board voted on option number one, where the first 25 parents who have already paid their deposit can have their children go all day everyday to school. - Warroad Pioneer, May 18, 2005, by Marlene Schmitz

Area crops need sunshine – notrain

Hallock - While it may be too early to determine the damage done to seeded crops this spring, the soggy fields tell a story of too much moisture.

Kittson County Farm Service Agency Director Kelly Turgeon said he's had reports from a lot of producers who were near completion with seeding wheat and now are waiting to see if the young seedlings will emerge undamaged.

While most of the seeding was done, Turgeon said, there were "pockets" within the county where excessive moisture from last fall limited fall field work and thus hampered spring seeding progress.

Growers are waiting for warmer soil conditions before beginning to seed soybeans. He said few producers have begun seeding soybeans and now the rain has kept them out of the field.

Corn growers are also playing the waiting game. - Kittson County Enterprise, May 18, 2005, by Cindy Stewart

Adopt-A-Grandparent Project helps kids

Warren - Thirty-six sixth grade students at Warren/Alvarado/Oslo Elementary School have an increased understanding and greater appreciation for the elderly as a result of their recent experiences in the Adopt-A-Grandparent Project.

As the name suggests, the partnership between the school and Marshall Manor Good Samaritan Center pairs students with a resident of the nursing home. This year, 32 residents were able to participate in the program, meaning a few students were selected to share a grandparent with another youngster.

The way it works today is the sixth graders make three visits to the nursing home on three successive Thursdays. This year's last visit to Marshall Manor was Thursday. The program also includes presentations by Marshall Manor Social Worker Carol Sedgeman at the school, so the children have a better idea of what to expect. - Warren Sheaf, May 18, 2005

Marine to lead Memorial Day service

First Lt. Colin Browning, Thief River Falls, will speak at the annual Memorial Day service in TRF

The Thief River Falls American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) posts will host the annual Memorial Day program Monday, May 30 at 10:30 a.m. at Greenwood Cemetery.

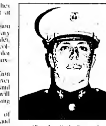
First Lt. Colin Browning, a Thief River Falls native, will speak at the ceremony. Browning currently serves as the executive officer for Headquarters and Service Company, 5th Marine Regiment, 1st Marine Division.

Following commissioning, Browning returned to the U.S. Naval Academy, where he taught in the Department of Professional Development. Browning attended the Basic School and was assigned to 3rd Battalion, 5th Marines as a platoon commander and immediately deployed to Iraq. Once there, he led his rifle platoon through counter-insurgency operations and the Battle of Fallujah (Operation Fajr). During this period, Browning integrated with Iraqi soldiers, trained and led them in combat operations. He became a principal instructor for the battalion, training Iraqi soldiers with his small squad of Marines.

Browning transferred to Headquarters Battalion, 1st Marine Division while in Iraq, where he served as the executive officer of Headquarters and Service Company. Following his tour in Iraq, Browning returned this month to the 5th Marines.

A member of American Legion Post 117 and VFW Post 2793, his personal decorations include the Purple Heart, Global War on Terrorism Service Medal, Global War on Terrorism Expeditionary Medal and National Defense Medal.

Browning graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy with the Class of 2003 and received a bachelor of science degree in chemistry. He is a 1999 graduate of Lincoln High School.



Browning's wife, Amanda, is an ensign in the U.S. Navy. An active duty Navy officer, she was assigned to the cruiser USS Mobile Bay and returned from the Persian Gulf in December. Browning's brother Nathan is a second-year cadet at West Point.

John Sampson, American Legion Post 117 commander, and Gary Pape, VFW Post 2793 commander, will preside at the program. The colors will be presented by the color guards of both groups and their auxiliaries.

Pastor Gary L. Johnson of Zion Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls will present the invocation and benediction. Diane E. Johnson will perform a musical selection and sing the national anthem.

Sharon Odegaard, president of the American Legion Auxiliary, and Seven Clans to host Powwow

Event set for Memorial Day weekend

Seven Clans Casino, Hotel and Water Park near Thief River Falls will host its first powwow Memorial Day weekend, starting Friday, May 27.

With over 2,000 participants from all over the United States, organizers say it will be one of the largest powwows in the area.

Organizers hope this powwow will offer Red Lake tribal members another opportunity to come together and continue the healing process that has begun following the tragic shooting at Red Lake Senior High. But the event will also provide area residents an opportunity to witness many different dancing styles and drum groups.

The event is free and open to the public. For the general public, one of the more interesting events may be the Grand Entries. Grand Entries will be at 7 p.m. on Friday, and 1 p.m. and 7 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

There has been so much interest in participating in this powwow that Seven Clans Hotel has been fully booked for three months now. Additional traffic has been directed to motels in Thief River Falls.

Barn Again opens June 10

In a few weeks, one of the most unconventional yet familiar exhibits to ever visit Thief River Falls will open "Barn Again! Celebrating An American Icon," a Smithsonian Museum on Main Street Exhibition will be on exhibit June 10 through August 21 at the Peder Engelstad Pioneer Village in Thief River Falls. The exhibit features something many area residents are very familiar with, but which still holds some surprises - barns. Watch the Northern Watch for more details and a list of activities.

Marshall Co. plans June 10 Relay For Life

Words can never adequately describe Relay For Life. It just has to be experienced. It's a combination of sights, sounds, and activities and an outpouring of emotions — hope, unity, perseverance, and triumph for so many cancer survivors. It is the tender memories of those that have been lost to cancer.

The Marshall County Relay For Life event is less than a month away. Held at the Marshall County Fairgrounds in Warren, the event will begin at 6 p.m. on June 10.

Relay For Life is a fun-filled overnight event designed to celebrate survivorship and raise money for research, advocacy, education and patient services programs of the American Cancer Society. During the Marshall County Relay For Life event, teams of people will gather at the fairgrounds in Warren and take turns walking or running laps. Each team tries to keep at least one team member on the track at all times.

Relay For Life represents the hope that those lost to cancer will never be forgotten; that those who face cancer will be supported; and that one day, cancer will be eliminated.

Participants are encouraged to become a part of the Relay phenomenon. It's been described as a life-altering experience, emotionally compelling and camaraderie at its best.

Relay For Life is the signature activity of the American Cancer Society. It unites millions of people in thousands of communities nationwide each year to raise money to help prevent cancer, save lives, and diminish suffering from the disease. Every dollar raised makes a difference to people whose lives are touched by cancer.

The Marshall County Relay For Life will begin with the Welcome and Opening Ceremonies at 6 p.m. on June 10. The Warren American Legion will be on hand for the Presentation of Colors. Invocation by Pastor Jenn Hermann will lead participants into the Story of

Syttende Mai

Where else would you expect these Norwegians and honorery Norwegians from Thief River Falls to be on Norwegien Independence Dey? For many years now, Northern State Benk in Thief River Falls has hosted a Syttende Mei celebretion. During the event, Sons of Norwey Snorre Lodge 1-070, Thief River Fells, serves Norwegian treats elong with coffee, of course. Helping serve up treets were: Clera Olson and Jeen Nelson; (beck row) Vivien Brekke and Gerry Nelson. According to e U.S. Census report, Thief River Fells is considered to be one of the most Norwegian cities in the nation, so there were plenty of visitors et the bank lest Tuesday.

Young entrepreneur

Sarah Zak buys Beautiful Beginnings Bridal & Boutique in Thief River Falls

by April Scheinoha
Reporter

She's one of the newest and youngest business owners in Thief River Falls. Sarah Zak, 20, became the owner of Beautiful Beginnings Bridal & Boutique on March 1.

Zak hadn't expected to own the business one-and-a-half years ago when she first started working there. Recently, her then-bosses Doreen and Renae Sigerud approached her with the option of becoming a partner in the business. Doreen Sigerud said it was "kind of a joke."

Renae Sigerud was moving to Minneapolis, and her business partner and mother-in-law, Doreen Sigerud, decided it was a large responsibility to run the business on her own. Plus, Doreen Sigerud said, she wanted to slow down a bit.

It may have been a joke, but Zak took it seriously. "That kind of blew me away and then they're like, 'Would you ever consider owning the business?'" recalled Zak.

When Zak told the Sigeruds her decision, Doreen Sigerud recalled their reactions. "We were just like, 'You're kidding,'" she remembered. Yet, she said they were thrilled that Zak, a "very, very good employee," was willing to own the business.

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere – email: [illegible]

Today's recipes are from "A Book of Favorite Recipes" by St. Pauli Church.

I know it's rhubarb time pretty soon - here's another good recipe for you:

ELLEN TORKELSON'S RHUBARB UPSIDE DOWN CAKE
Pat Swanson

1/2 cup butter
1-1/4 cups sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
Dash of salt
1 cup milk
4-5 cups chopped rhubarb
1/2 cup brown sugar
3/4 cup white sugar

Cream butter and 1-1/4 cups sugar. Add egg and beat. Add vanilla.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt and add to the creamed mixture alternately with milk.

Butter bottom of a 9x13 inch cake pan and add chopped rhubarb. Pour the brown and white sugar evenly over the rhubarb, then add cake batter, smoothing the top.

Bake at 350 degrees for about 45 minutes or until top is golden brown. Serve with large tablespoon of whipped cream on top.

(* I would like to use the recipe for Rev. Skildum's Rhubarb Cake in the cookbook, but I found the skim milk and powdered milk and buttermilk substitute a little confusing. If anyone can clarify it for me, I'd love to try the cake and maybe put it in Soupcon. Thanks. - Sherry)

Does anyone make spice cake anymore? It would be such a treat this weekend and this big recipe makes at least 54 cupcakes, so you can treat everybody you know:

SPICE CUPCAKES
Joan Nelson

1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup molasses
4 eggs
4-1/4 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon cloves
2 teaspoons cinnamon
2 teaspoons salt
2 cups buttermilk
1/2 cup chopped raisins
1/4 cup water

Cream sugars and shortening. Add molasses, then eggs, beating one at a time.

Sift flour, baking powder, soda, cloves, cinnamon and salt. Mix into creamed mixture alternately with the buttermilk.

Cook raisins in water until water has disappeared and then add to batter. Place in muffin tins and bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes. Frost with caramel frosting (follows). Recipe makes 54 cupcakes.

Caramel Frosting
1 cups brown sugar
1/3 cup milk
2-2/3 tablespoons butter
2-3 cups powdered sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla

Boil sugar, milk and butter for 2 minutes. Beat in powdered sugar until of spreading consistency. Add vanilla and spread on cooled cupcakes.

Sometimes we forget the old favorites. Here's a tasty recipe for pancakes you can make for Sunday breakfast:

BUTTERMILK PANCAKES
Kathy Alberg

3 eggs
3 tablespoons melted butter
1 tablespoon sugar
1-1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1-2/3 cups buttermilk

Beat eggs well. Add butter and sugar. Sift flour, soda, baking powder and salt and then add to egg mixture alternately with buttermilk. Bake on hot griddle or fry pan.

And we mustn't forget French toast - just right for a quick breakfast (or a light supper):

FRENCH TOAST
Dani Wilde

1 cup milk
1 egg
1/4 cup sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla

Blend together. Dip and coat any type of bread and fry in medium hot oil until golden brown.

How about a quick dish for supper any time:

TACO CASSEROLE
Sally Torkelson

1 pound hamburger, browned and drained
1/2 package taco seasoning
1 can chili
1 can kidney beans
Taco chips
Lettuce
Colby cheese

Mix browned hamburger, taco seasoning, chili and kidney beans. Place chips in bottom of casserole dish and add half of meat mixture. Shred lettuce over this. Add rest of meat and place more lettuce over this, top with shredded cheese. Place more chips around edge of dish and bake, uncovered, for 30 minutes at 350 degrees.

Red Lake County State Bank now Unity Bank North

Allen Bertilrud, president of Red Lake County State Bank, announced on Monday, May 16, that Red Lake County State Bank will officially become Unity Bank North on June 1, 2005.

"This is an exciting change for our bank," said Bertilrud. "It's a new name that will better reflect our strategy for bringing together the best banking for you. It's not a coincidence that the last word in 'community' is 'unity,'" added Bertilrud.

Bertilrud emphasized that the bank has not changed ownership. "We are the same bank with the same staff and the same commitment to responsive personal help. Only our name has changed."

The name change coincides with the bank's commitment to continually improve service and products for its customers. Among the latest services available are Internet banking and image bank statements.

Red Lake County State Bank has been serving customers since 1933, and has total assets of approximately $50 million.

Accelerated Reader summer program offered in Greenbush

The Accelerated Reader Summer Reading Program offers children in Greenbush a convenient and fun way to develop their reading skills during the summer. The program is made available through Renaissance Learning® Inc., (Nasdaq: RLRN), a leading provider of learning information systems and school improvement programs, including Accelerated Reader, for pre-K–12 schools. Renaissance reading solutions have been adopted in more than 64,000 schools.

Children need to maintain the skills they've developed during the school year by reading throughout the summer. Similar to Accelerated Reader, the summer program is set up for children to read books, take the corresponding comprehension quizzes, and monitor their results on a special interactive Web site complete with progress updates, motivational feedback, and quiz searching capabilities.

A quiz library of more than 80,000 quizzes is available, which allows students to choose from a huge array of books and because it is hosted by Renaissance Learning, it requires no local installations. The program is a unique summer reading opportunity that is fun and quizzes ensure that kids understand what they are reading.

Community programs will be managed by a coordinator who will organize quiz taking sites at convenient times and locations, such as a school, public library or local organization. The program will be available at Greenbush Public Library, Greenbush/Middle River Elementary School and Greenbush/Middle River Middle School.

Sign-up ends May 31 for wheat program

Sign-up for the 2004 Hard White Wheat Incentive Program (HWWP) ends May 31, leaving producers with little time to apply for incentive payments, according to Kittson County Farm Service Agency (FSA) Director Kelly Turgeon. Crop year 2005 HWWP continues until May 31, 2006.

The HWWP started with the 2003 crop year. The goal was to encourage U.S. wheat producers to grow more hard white wheat for export to Southeast Asia, where hard white wheat is used to produce noodles.

Producers growing spring or winter varieties are eligible for two incentive payments. "There is a production incentive of 20 cents per bushel for number two or better hard white wheat, up to a maximum of 60 bushels per acre," said Turgeon. "The second incentive is for planting certified seed, which is $2.00 per acre for each acre planted."

Sign-up for the 2004 crop year began Oct. 1, 2003. Sign-up for the 2005 crop year began Oct. 1, 2004 and ends on May 31, 2006.

Turgeon said producers who planted hard white wheat this year should contact the staff at Kittson County FSA Office to schedule an appointment before the end of the month.

North Valley Home Health to host foot care and blood pressure clinics

North Valley Home Health will hold foot care and blood pressure clinics on the following dates:

- Friday, June 3, at the Warren Summerfield Place, beginning at 9 a.m. Contact Deb or Kami at 218-745-5154.
- Monday, June 6, at the Newfolden Community Center, beginning at 12:30 p.m. Contact Lorraine Broten at 218-874-7137.
- Tuesday, June 21, at the Stephen Community Center, beginning at 9:30 a.m. Contact Yvonne Kazmierczak or Jan Anderson at 218-478-3092.
- Tuesday, June 28, at the Warren Landmark (Warren residents only). Contact Sandy Johnson, Landmark Center.

Please call the contact person listed to sign up. It is important to know how many are signed up so staff can be scheduled accordingly. Five people must be signed up to hold a clinic.

Nurses from North Valley Home Health will soak feet and trim nails. There is a $10 charge per person for foot care. Blood pressure checks are free of charge.

TRF to host 58 birdwatchers Memorial Day weekend

Thief River Falls will host 58 birdwatchers for three nights over Memorial Day weekend.

This group is coming here with Minnesota Birding Weekends, arranged by Kim Eckert with the Minnesota Ornithologists Union (MOU). According to Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce President Julie Olson, the community has hosted a group for the past several years. However, the groups have never stayed three nights here, and the number of attendees is larger this year.

A group of 15 birdwatchers from outside of this area will also take a bus tour of Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge Monday, May 23. This day trip is being offered in conjunction with the Detroit Lakes Birding Festival being held this weekend.

The Pine to Prairie Birding Trail was established in 1998, a collaborative effort of tourist agencies (in Detroit Lakes, Fergus Falls, Pelican Rapids, Roseau, Thief River Falls and Warroad) and the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service, Explore Minnesota Tourism, the Lakes Area Birding Club and the MOU.

Each site is described in a free four-color, 32-page birding trail booklet, and marked with distinctive green wren logo highway signs. In 2003, the group installed interpretive signs at 14 sites as well as 28 main highway logo signs and 43 smaller site logo signs.

For more information, contact the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce at (218) 681-3720.

Singles' Christian Fellowship held May 22

The May meeting of the Singles' Christian Fellowship will be held on Sunday, May 22 at 3 p.m. at the Embassy Community Center in Fosston. President Mae Johannessohn will preside over a short business meeting and will give out an attendance gift.

The special speaker for the day will be Rev. Gerald White with a topic on a Scandinavian vein.

A potluck supper will be served at 5 p.m. For questions regarding the fellowship, contact Mae Johannessohn at 435-1971.

Nominations open for human service awards

The McKnight Foundation is seeking nominations for the 2005 Virginia McKnight Binger Awards in Human Service.

Every year, the foundation recognizes 10 Minnesotans who have demonstrated an exceptional personal commitment to helping others in their communities but who have received little or no public recognition. Each receives $7,500 and is honored at a ceremony in the fall.

The foundation accepts nominations recognizing anyone directly involved in providing human services, especially those working to make organizations more responsive to the needs of poor or disadvantaged people in Minnesota.

Among the criteria:

• Nominees may be volunteers or service staff working directly with the community. Senior administrators and program managers are not eligible.

• Nominees (and the work for which they are being nominated) do not have to be associated with any organization to be eligible.

• The process is confidential; individuals are not to be notified that they have been nominated.

• Individuals may not nominate themselves.

• Nominees must be current residents of Minnesota.

• Nominees may be adults or young people.

A committee, composed of human service professionals and volunteers from throughout Minnesota, reviews nominations, checks references and recommends candidates to the foundation's board of directors. Award recipients are notified in September and honored in November.

Nominations for this year are due July 11. Visit www.mcknight.org/awards to submit a nomination online or to download a nomination form. Call (612) 333-4220 to request a printed form.

The awards, which were first presented in 1985, are named for Virginia McKnight Binger, the foundation's first board chairperson and the daughter of the founders. Although she passed away in 2002, these awards help the foundation remember Binger's enduring spirit of compassion, humility and generosity. Last year's recipients included Minnesotans who are fighting for affordable housing and human rights, helping ex-offenders rejoin their communities by finding jobs and housing after prison, and supporting foster children through an emergency youth shelter.

Johnson joins U.S. Army under delayed entry program

Joshua V. Johnson, the son of Gary and Carol Johnson of Hallock, has joined the United States Army under the Delayed Entry Program. The program gives young men and women the opportunity to delay entering active duty for up to one year.

The enlistment gives Johnson the option to learn a new skill, travel and become eligible to receive as much as $50,000 toward a college education. After completion of basic military training, soldiers receive advanced individual training in their career job specialty prior to being assigned to their first permanent duty station.

The recruit qualifies for a $19,000 enlistment bonus.

Johnson, a 2004 graduate of Kittson Central High School, Hallock, will report to Fort Sill, Lawton, Okla., for active duty on May 23, 2005.

Producers reminded to complete 2005 crop DCP by June 1

The Pennington County Farm Service Agency (FSA) reminds producers that they have until June 1 to sign-up for the 2005 crop Direct and Countercyclical Payment (DCP) Program.

Producers are encouraged to visit any FSA office to use FSA's efficient online DCP service to meet the June 1 application deadline. In addition to the electronic DCP service, FSA is expanding producers' options for completing their DCP contracts at FSA offices. Producers now have the option to visit any local FSA office in addition to their administratively-assigned FSA office as required in previous years.

The contracts are computed using the base acres and payment yields established for each farm, which are effective through 2007. Producers receive direct payments at rates established by statute regardless of market prices. Countercyclical payment rates vary depending on market prices.

For all years, refunds to FSA will be due from producers if there were a violation of eligibility requirements or in the case of countercyclical payments if the total of the advance payments exceed the amount actually earned.

The payment schedule for the 2005 DCP is as follows:

• Beginning December 2005: 50 percent advance direct payment

• October 2005: 50 percent final direct payment; first advance countercyclical payment (up to 35 percent of projected payment)

• February 2006: Second advance countercyclical payment (up to 70 percent of projected payment less first advance)

FSA will accept late-filed DCP applications through Sept. 30 if accompanied by a $100 late fee. Producers will be unable to apply for 2005 DCP payments after Sept. 30.

Producers with questions concerning DCP should contact their local FSA office or the Pennington County FSA Office at (218) 681-1612, ext. 2.

School-aged kids invited to participate in "Feelin' Fit 'N Fine"

The public health departments in Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Roseau and Red Lake counties are promoting an eight-week contest this summer to encourage healthy behaviors among children. The contest will take place June 13 to Aug. 5.

Each school-aged child will receive a scorecard with 24 squares on it. Each time they complete a qualifying activity, parents or personnel at scorecard sites can initial a square and specify the activity. Scorecard sites include summer recreation programs, pools, child care centers, camps or schools. Once all the squares are filled, students can bring their scorecards into one of the prize pick-up locations and pick out a prize. The scorecard will then be entered in a weekly drawing for a bigger prize. Additional scorecards can be picked up at prize pick-up locations. At the end of eight weeks, students from each of the five counties with the most completed scorecards will receive grand prizes. The prize pick-up location in Thief River Falls is Inter-County Nursing Service, 318 Knight Ave. N.

Activities include sports, bike riding, skateboarding, dancing, attending summer camps or school, watching no television in a day, wearing a bike helmet, wearing a seat belt, cutting out consumption of soda, gardening, eating five to nine servings of fruits and vegetables a day, participating in active games and mowing the lawn, to name a few.

Departments, along with Quin Community Health Services in Newfolden, recently surveyed area residents to find out their public health priorities. The assessment found that area residents are concerned about childhood healthy eating, physical activity and healthy behaviors in addition to other issues. One of the ways public health is addressing these concerns is to implement a contest for school-aged kids that promotes a variety of healthy behaviors while awarding prizes.

Community leaders "behind bars" to benefit MDA

Many business and civic leaders throughout the Thief River Falls area will be missing for several hours on Thursday, May 26. These notable "Most Wanted" citizens will be serving time for Jerry's Kids.

Currently, over 60 participants have agreed to serve their time between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. The apprehended people will be "arrested" by the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA) volunteer deputies and taken to the C'Mon Inn. While there, they will have their mugshots taken and be placed behind the bars of MDA's mock jail.

Each "jailbird," if they haven't already raised their $600 "bail," will be given approximately one hour to phone their families, friends and business associates to help raise their bail.

Funds from the "Most Wanted" Lock-Up will allow funding of local patient services for those living with muscular dystrophy in the Thief River Falls area. Such services include diagnostic testing and follow-up visits to clinic, purchases of wheelchairs and leg braces, and children's summer camp and educational opportunities.

For more information or to participate in the Thief River Falls Lock-Up, call the MDA District Office at (701) 235-1988.

Runaway Fisherman Trying to Avoid Cold Feet

Duluth, MN: A Duluth fisherman, reported missing by his angling party after he failed to arrive at a local boat ramp to participate in the Minnesota Walleye Opener early Saturday morning, was located late yesterday and returned to his home. Police responded to a tip Sunday from the owner of the No-Tell Motel, just south of the Duluth city limits, and dragged a screaming Jeffery Bankswill, 31, from his hiding place under the motel bed before bringing the man back to his downtown home.

"He kept screaming, 'You can't make me go! You can't make me go!'" Detective Bob Smith said at a press conference yesterday afternoon. "At first we thought he was talking about us taking him to jail or back to his wife. But when we saw the way he shuddered when he looked up at the dark, rainy sky and grimaced from the back of the squad car when we'd pass a lake or a river, we realized he thought we were going to take him back to the dock and make him go fishing."

Bankswill had spawned an area wide manhunt Saturday night as authorities and friends responded to a grim note found next to a slot machine at the Black Bear Casino. "I've been abducted by aliens. They're treating me fairly well and fed me northern and bass for lunch today. Don't look for me."

"We thought he was in desperate trouble when we read that note," Det. Smith offered, "because nobody can claim that fair treatment and eating bass and northern for lunch are one and the same. We figured that 'bass and northern' was fisherman's code for "get me the heck out of here!" The only thing that puzzled us, at first, was why the aliens would have taken him to the casino. I'm just glad we got the whole thing figured out."

When asked about the far-fetched details surrounding his disappearance, Bankswill initially continued to claim an alien abduction and provided authorities with convincing details concerning his captors and their spacecraft. However, after an extensive period of tough questioning, Wilbanks caved and confessed to police interrogators that he simply had no desire to go out on "Opener" and fish.

"C'mon, what would you do?" he pleaded to press and police. "I've been on over two consecutive decades of Openers and have yet to see even the sun, much less dry skies or temperatures above 30. How much do I have to suffer for the sake of Minnesota and its bone-headed cultural traditions? You saw that Friday night forecast - you'd have to be Leif Ericksun or some other nutso-Norsky macho-man to be able to look forward to doing anything outdoors in that. I'm not gonna do it anymore, even if it means I got to move to Iowa. I'm sick of it. Call me when the Opener is in July!"

When one reporter suggested that perhaps he was overreacting to a simple case of "coldfeet," Bankswill spat back, "Of course I've got cold feet, you boob. I own a leaky 16-foot Lund and the water in that lake is nowhere near 45 degrees. You go fish if it means that much to you! I'll even tell you all my hot spots, which would be none because I haven't boated a walleye for the last seven years either!"

Bankswill's wife seemed less than sympathetic when the ordeal had reached its conclusion. "Does this mean that last November when my mother came for a week he was actually in another hotel and Casino and not locked up by those little green guys like he said? Get those interrogators back here, I got a few more questions to ask, and he better start comin' up with some answers fast!"

As Bankswill ended his discussion with authorities, he was asked if all the trouble and concern he had caused was actually worth avoiding the Opener. "You tell that woman in Georgia that marriage is no big deal. Try 20 years of wind, rain, snow, and cold on this walleye thing and a lifetime of marital commitment looks like a walk in the park."

Hwy. 11 culvert replacements lead to detour

The Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) has moved up the starting date from June 6 to May 23 on a box culvert replacement project on Highway 11, east of Badger in Roseau County.

According to Shawn Groven, Mn/DOT project engineer, the box culverts will replace Bridge No. 8924 over Badger Creek and Bridge No. 8925 over Roseau County Ditch 13 on Highway 11.

Groven said a detour is required and will be put in place effective Monday.

Eastbound traffic will be routed from Highway 11 at Badger to Roseau County Highway 2 for approximately eight miles, then north on Roseau County Road 15 for five miles, then back to Highway 11. Traffic heading westbound will follow the same detour in reverse.

The work is expected to be complete by the end of June.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

What's our competitive advantage?

It began with a good question - what's the competitive advantage of northwestern Minnesota? Looking for what makes us unique, or gives us a competitive advantage over other areas of the state or region should give us a pretty good idea of how best to focus our economic development efforts. It makes sense.

Last week, representatives of Ingenuity Frontier told an economic development organization in Thief River Falls called Jobs Inc. that it would like to focus the region's economic development efforts on applied engineering. Their plan includes the introduction of educational programs in schools, creation of a resource and educational center called Center for Applied Engineering at Bemidji State University and a marketing campaign to brand the region as a hub of engineering talent.

The plan, which is more extensive than stated here, would solidify the region's advantage, and create, retain and expand job opportunities in the region, thus creating a new economy.

Our region of Minnesota is often admired for its wilderness and lakes, and is known for its agriculture. What people often forget is the fact that its residents are independent - to the point where they often create solutions to their own problems. In searching for examples, Steiger Tractors immediately comes to mind, but so does our snowmobile and ATV manufacturing plants. In fact, there are hundreds of examples out there. People of the region also have a strong work ethic. They don't believe in luck. They believe in making their own luck. As Ralph Engelstad said, "The harder I work the luckier I get."

These are all qualities, while not entirely unique, certainly provide us with an advantage. Ingenuity Frontier may be on to something. Of course, finding financial support for the project may be difficult, but the greatest challenge for Ingenuity Frontier may be getting all those independent-minded thinkers in the region to work together.

If you would like to find out more about Ingenuity Frontier, check their new Web site at www.ingenuityfrontier.com.

MN hospitals recognized for screening newborns

Gov. Tim Pawlenty and Minnesota Health Commissioner Dianne Mandernach are celebrating Better Hearing and Speech Month by presenting each birthing hospital in Minnesota with a certificate of appreciation for its work in screening Minnesota infants for hearing loss.

"The important work our hospitals are doing to detect hearing loss in newborns is helping to ensure a healthy start for all Minnesota children," said Pawlenty. "We applaud Minnesota's hospitals for their commitment to this important activity."

In less than a decade, Minnesota's voluntary program to screen newborns for hearing loss has grown from just four hospitals in 1997 to 111 hospitals this year. Newborn hearing screening is now a standard of care, and every birthing hospital in Minnesota has a program to voluntarily screen newborns for hearing loss.

Hospital screening programs are critical because hearing loss is the most frequently occurring congenital disability in newborns, and it is often invisible. Minnesota's birthing hospitals use both inpatient and outpatient programs, and many of them screen newborns before they are discharged.

Early diagnosis of a hearing loss and timely medical and educational interventions can prevent or reduce significant delays in speech, language, socialization and academic development that typically accompany hearing loss that is identified later in children.

About 70,000 babies are born in Minnesota every year. Evidence shows that about one in every 350 babies is born with a hearing loss. This means that about 200 infants born in Minnesota each year may be deaf or hard of hearing. Although the majority of Minnesotan newborns pass their first hearing tests, as many as 3,000 newborns may not. Because early diagnosis of a hearing loss and intervention are important, newborns should be re-screened as soon as possible.

"National Better Hearing and Speech Month is an opportunity to celebrate our successes, recognize the accomplishments of our hospitals and prepare for the important work that remains," said Mandernach. She encouraged health care providers to "seize the opportunity to talk to parents and expectant women about the importance of hearing screening and early intervention."

"My Child's Hearing Checklist" and other helpful information are available by logging onto the Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) Web site (www.health.state.mn.us/divs/fh/mch/umhs). For more information about MDH's Early Hearing Detection and Intervention Program, call (612) 676-5260.

Waters of the Dancing Sky Wildlife Festival offers family fun

Family fun is the focus for this year's Third Annual, Waters of the Dancing Sky Wildlife Festival, held May 26-28, at participating Lake of the Woods area resorts. Festival workshops, field trips, and seminars will offer children and adults an inside look at some intriguing wildlife. An action-packed schedule of events is on the docket for the festival, including:

• Thursday, May 26 – Registration from 5 to 8 pm with a social hour in the lower lounge area at Sportsman's Lodge in Baudette. The social hour will enable registered guests to meet and visit with the field trip leaders.

• Friday, May 27 – The South Shore Showcase will offer birders a chance to get a closeup look at the shorebirds along Lake of the Woods. This field trip will leave by boat at 6 a.m. from the dock area at Wigwam Lodge. Meet in the lobby.

How about a trip to the Top of the Nation? This tour offers participants a look at historic Ft. St. Charles on the Northwest Angle and will also include a stop to observe colonial nests at the Four Blocks islands. The tour leaves the Tourism Bureau parking lot at 8 a.m.

Join Lee Johnson at Zippel Bay State Park from 2 to 3 p.m. for a bird banding demonstration. Johnson has been banding birds for the Sand Bluff Bird Observatory for 25 years.

A "Hoot and Howl" will be offered by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) biologists at Norris Camp from 5 to 11 p.m. Those attending will learn how to communicate with local owls and resident wolf packs. An authentic, trapper-style dinner will be available beforehand to help build stamina for the program. Norris Camp houses the Historic CCC (Civilian Conservation Corps) camp; however, today the site is the headquarters for the Red Lake Wildlife Management Area. Join the staff as they hoot for owls and howl with the wolves. A car caravan to the "Hoot and Howl," at Norris Camp will leave the parking lot of the Tourism Bureau, in Baudette, at 5 p.m.

Dragonflies of the Rainy River Basin will be one of two keynote festival program offerings. Participants will ride in a car caravan to Kay-Nah-Chi-Wah-Nung, an American Indian burial mounds site, located in Ontario. The caravan will leave the Lake of the Woods Tourism Bureau in Baudette at 5:15 pm. Renowned photographer Bill Morgenstern will offer a field seminar that will let participants capture and identify some of the many dragonflies of the Rainy River Basin area. Morgenstern, who is also the president of the Rainy River Field Naturalists, will share his exquisite images which appear in a number of publications and on Web sites.

Morgenstern will also lead a field trip into the Red Lake Wildlife Management Area to find Connecticut warblers. The program will include a Native American meal featuring wild rice casserole and fry bread!

• Saturday, May 28 – Boreal birding will be a field trip into the boreal forest areas of the Beltrami Island State Forest. Expert birding guides will lead participants on a hunt for the elusive Connecticut warbler, black-backed woodpecker, and the three toed woodpecker. This field trip will be leaving the Tourism Bureau parking lot at 6 a.m. from Baudette. Lunch and snacks will be provided.

Anyone up for canoeing the Rapid River? Show up at the Tourism Bureau parking lot in Baudette at 8 a.m. and plan on paddling down the Rapid River until 3 p.m. Lunch, canoes and all safety equipment is provided.

Learn about the area's songbirds on a Warbler Walk guided by field biologist Lee Grim. The walk begins at the Interpretive Center in back of the Contact Station at Zippel Bay State Park. The walk is scheduled from 1 to 4 p.m.

Timber Mill Community Park in Baudette will be the site for another DNR program, Project Flying Wild, from 1 to 4 p.m. This program, which is free to the public, will turn participants into expert birders with hands-on activities for kids of all ages.

Mel Milne, a local photographer whose work is displayed in the Tourism Office and on its new Web site, focuses his camera on closeups of wildflowers and birds. His workshop introduces the essentials of nature-photography. His workshop will teach the essentials of lighting and composition, as well as getting to know subjects. This workshop will take place at Zippel Bay State Park from 1 to 4 p.m.

The Keynote Banquet and Walleye Shore Lunch Fish Fry will be held at Sportsman's Lodge from 6 to 8 p.m. The festival keynote speaker is Lee Johnson, one of the top birders in North America. He has a life list of 770 species. Johnson operates the Sand Bluff Bird Observatory in northern Illinois. His program features bird banding and will include photos of the birds he has banded. The public will be able to examine and use the banding equipment utilized at Johnson's banding station.

Garden Valley to hold 100th annual membership meeting

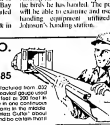
The 100th annual membership meeting of the Garden Valley Telephone Company will be held Saturday, June 11 in Erskine.

The business meeting is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. Members can register at 8:30 a.m. Reports will be presented on the cooperative's operations and financial status for the year ended Dec. 31. A video highlighting Garden Valley's 100 years of service will be presented as well.

Garden Valley's first annual meeting was held at Rind – the cooperative's original principal place of business – and was incorporated in March 1906.

Hwy. 59 resurfacing is underway, paving set for Monday

The Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) is alerting the public about a bituminous resurfacing project it began Thursday on Highway 59 from the junction with Highway 1 and 59 in Thief River Falls to Newfolden in Marshall County. The total length of the project is 17.2 miles.



Shawn Groven, Mn/DOT project engineer, said paving is scheduled to start Monday, May 23 and expected to take about three weeks with completion by June 8, weather permitting.

Motorists are asked to slow down and obey flagging operations in the construction zone.

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre painted aluminum: the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.
Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two man crew - saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

Spuds score early in 11-4 baseball win over Prowlers

Giving up five first inning runs and trailing 8-0 before you even get through the batter order once isn't the way to win games. Especially against quality opponents. Thief River Falls found that out Tuesday in an 11-4 Section 8AAA high school baseball loss at the hands of Moorhead.

On paper, it looked like a good match-up. The 11-3 Spuds had beaten the 11-4 Prowlers 1-0 on a sixth inning suicide squeeze in an April 26 game at Matson Field. But the 5-0 scoreboard spread in the top of the first inning made the rematch at the windy Multi-Events Center a 2-hour 20-minute dud.

All nine Moorhead starters reached base in some way, shape or form in the first. Two became force-outs. Only lead-off hitter Derek Hittle, on his second at-bat of the inning, was retired before first reaching base.

Hittle walked to start the game. Andrew Johnson bounced a single into left field and a sacrifice bunt attempt by Jake Krause went for a bases-loading single. A ground-out gave Brock Gnadt an RBI. Back-to-back hit-batsmen (Justin Pieterick, Chris Dahl) reloaded the bases and brought in a second run. Nick Stoltman singled to left to make it 3-0. A fielder's choice gave Chris Swenson and RBI and the fifth run scored on an error.

A two-out walk issued to Gnadt was followed by a home run over the right field fence by Pieterick for a 7-0 gap in the second inning and it was 8-0 after a double by Swenson and a single by Johnson in the third.

The Prowlers got on the board in the bottom of the third when David Lovly walked, stole second and scored on an Alec Holen single to right.

Lovly walked and scored again in the fifth when a wild pitch moved him to second and a base hit by Michael Benedict sent him across

Prowlers win third golf meet

Balanced scoring earned Thief River Falls a team title Wednesday at the Red Lake Falls/Fertile-Beltrami Invitational boys high school golf tournament.

Corey LaSalle, Lee Peterson and Travis Jung all shot 79 and Kyle Lunke turned in an 81 to produce the Prowlers' four-man 318 and a one-stroke victory margin over a strong Crookston squad.

Thief River Falls coach Dick Tyler said it was "steady play" that helped the Prowlers win their third tournament title of the 2005 season.

Medalist was Dustin Fanfulik of East Grand Forks with a five-over par 77. LaSalle, Peterson and Jung shared fifth place.

Variety keys TRF softball offense

Varied best described the Thief River Falls offense Tuesday as the visiting Prowlers notched a 5-1 high school softball win over Bagley.

The six-hit Thief River Falls attack featured singles from a half-dozen different players. Also figuring into the offense were three walks, three passed balls, three sacrifices, three stolen bases, two errors and a hit-batsman.

"This was probably our best hitting game of the year," reported Thief River Falls coach Matt Okeson. "We really hit the ball well. Lots of line drives and good bunting."

Meanwhile, Bagley batters mustered just three hits while striking out 14 times against Thief River Falls pitchers Megan Berg and Allyson Helling.

Thief River Falls scored a single run in the second inning when Helling was hit by a pitch, advanced to third on a sacrifice bunt by Jamie Hoglo and scored on a line drive single to left by Kindra Trontvet.

The Prowlers wrapped it up with a four-run third that began with a single by Chasity Johnson and two passed balls. Kjelsy Loeffler drew walk and stole second. A single by Amanda Timm scored Johnson and an error plated Loeffler. A perfectly-placed sacrifice bunt by Trontvet produced the final run.

Bagley scored an unearned run in the seventh and had the bases loaded before Helling ended it with two strike-outs.

"We still need to tighten up a couple of plays on the defensive side of the ball - pick-off plays and cut-off throws," noted Okeson.

The win improved the Prowlers' record to 12-4.

Marshall Co. Speedway season opener Sunday

Season-opener at the Marshall County Speedway in Warren is scheduled Sunday, May 22.

Hot laps start at 4 p.m. Racing begins at 5 o'clock.

Competition on the 3/8-mile fairground track will feature Missota Super Stock, NOPA Street Stock and NOPA Pure Stock classes.

Shara Guidry wins MIAC track title as a freshman

Shara Guidry, a University of St. Thomas freshman from Thief River Falls, won he discus competition at the 2005 Minnesota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference women's outdoor track and field meet.

Guidry won with a throw of 124-feet, 8-inches.

The meet was held May 13-14 at Macalester College.

St. Thomas women won their fifth MIAC outdoor title in the past six years by a 171-120 margin over second place Gustavus.

Guidry participated in volleyball, basketball and track for the Prowlers.

She also gained attention by playing football for the Prowlers as a junior.

Moorhead second baseman Nick Eldred showed some leaping ability when he went up to snare a high throw from catcher Derek Hittle on a second inning stolen base for Thief River Falls' David Lovly during Tuesday's high school baseball game at the Multi-Events Center. The Spuds beat the Prowlers 11-4.

TRF pitchers strike out 17 vs. KC/KCN

Thief River Falls pitchers Megan Berg and Allyson Helling combined to strike out 17 batters in the Prowlers' 9-1 Monday high school softball win over host Kittson Central/Kittson County North.

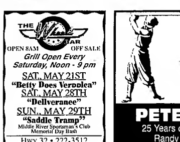
Berg pitched four perfect innings and struck out 14 in five innings of work for the win. Helling faced just six batters over the final two innings, striking out three of them.

Kittson Central/Kittson County North had just two base hits – both by Rachel Noel.

Berg had retired 12 in a row (11 of them on strike-outs) before Noel dropped a double between the Prowlers' left fielder and shortstop to lead off the fifth. After one-out walk, a double-steal plated the run.

Thief River Falls coach Matt Okeson figured Noel's fly ball could have been caught. And if that happens, Berg would have continued to pitch. "She could have gotten a perfect game today," he said. "That's something we don't see up here with the weather, walks and errors."

Noel also singled with one out in the seventh, but was caught on a game-ending double play off a line drive to shortstop Jenny Grove.



Thief River Falls scoring started with a pair of runs in the first inning when passed balls allowed Grove, who singled, and Amanda Timm, who reached base on an error, to cross the plate.

The Prowlers scored three more runs in their second at-bat. Chasity Johnson walked, DD Rambeck beat out a bunt single and Grove singled to load the bases with one out. Timm picked up an RBI on a fielder's choice force-out, Helling doubled home a run and an error allowed the third run of the inning to score.

Thief River Falls scoring was completed with a four-run fourth inning that started with Rambeck's

A tag by Thief River Falls first baseman Lucas Genereux caught Moorhead's Jay Thoreson on the elbow, but not before the runner reached the bag on a first inning pick-off attempt by the Prowlers' Jon Drees during Tuesday high school baseball action at the Multi-Events Center. Moorhead jumped out to an early lead en route to an 11-4 win.

MCC guards will play at Fergus Falls

Dustin Monsebroten and Jay Maurstad will continue to be basketball teammates. The senior guard duo that led Marshall County Central to its first-ever boys high school state tournament appearance this past winter will stay together in 2005-06 as members of the Minnesota State Community and Technical College College men's basketball team in Fergus Falls.

Long-time Spartans head coach Dave Retzlaff announced the signing of Monsebroten and Maurstad this week.

The 6-1 Monsebroten, who averaged 19.1 points and 7.1 assists per game in 2004-05, will be used as a point guard, according to Retzlaff.

The 6-3 Maurstad will play the role of shooting guard. He averaged 20.7 points and 6.1 rebounds per game last winter.

Between them, Monsebroten and Maurstad combined to score 2,559 points during their high school basketball career. Monsebroten is the school career scoring leader with 1,452 points while Maurstad, who set a school single-season record this year with 662 points, ranks No. 4 on the Nordics' career charts with 1,107 points.

The Spartans play in the Minnesota Community College Conference Southern Division. They edged Northland 88-84 in the 2005 MCCC state tournament third place game.

TRF offense generates 13 hits...

Prowlers beat Eagles 12-2

Michael Benedict was 3-for-3 and Alex Carlson went 2-for-2 with a triple and a home run as Thief River Falls banged out 13 hits in a 12-2 six-inning high school baseball win at Red Lake Falls Monday.

Drew Kjono also two hits in two at-bats for the Prowlers, who jumped out to a 4-0 lead in the top of the first inning and never looked back.

"We hit the ball well," reported Thief River Falls coach Shane Zutz. "A couple of guys have been struggling, so it was nice to see them get on track."

It was a home-and-home 2005 series sweep for the Prowlers, who beat the Red Lake Falls/Plummer/Oklee cooperative 11-1 in an April 18 meeting at the Multi-Events Center.

Prowlers have a tough time with course, wind

■ TRF boys golf at Moorhead Invitational

It was a tough outing for Thief River Falls Tuesday during the Moorhead Invitational boys high school golf tournament. With a busy schedule prompting head coach Dick Tyler to leave his 'regulars' in school for the day, the Prowlers struggled to a last-place 397 in a 12-team field headed by Moorhead Black with a 311.

"We could not handle the wind and links-style course at The Meadows," explained Tyler. "We had way too many penalty strokes."

the plate.

A three-run sixth inning right field home run by Jeremy Smith made it an 11-2 game.

Thief River Falls came up with the final two runs without the benefit of a base hit in the bottom of the inning when Russ Helling and Justin Brooks drew walks and Ryan Kruse was hit by a pitch to load the bases. An error on a double play grounder scored Helling and Brooks.

"We didn't come ready to play, and it really hurt in the first inning," admitted Thief River Falls coach Shane Zutz. "After that, we settled down and played well."

Kick'n Up Kountry and MeritCare Foundation partner

Kick'n Up Kountry Music Festival in Hallock has announced that it is teaming up with the MeritCare Foundation in Fargo, N.D. This unique and innovative partnership was recently created to fulfill the dreams of several children who are coping with life threatening illnesses. Kick'n Up Kountry and Merit Care Foundation are currently working together to find children in North Dakota and Manitoba, Canada, with terminal illnesses who are passionate about country music.

Ardell Larson, president of Kick'n Up Kountry, said, "One of our main headline performers, Terri Clark, has graciously agreed to be a part of this effort and is looking forward to meeting with several specially selected children at this fall's festival."

Children with life threatening illnesses, whose passion is country music, will be selected to meet Clark backstage and enjoy a special autograph and picture session with Canada's Female Artist of the Year (2004).

Traci Foss, vice president of Kick'n Up Kountry, said, "This is something that is extremely important to us and means so much to be able to put smiles on those children's faces. We are in the process of finding a total of five children from North Dakota and Manitoba, Canada, whose dream is to meet their favorite country music artist."

The idea to fulfill the wishes of terminally ill children was sparked last year when 13-year-old cancer survivor Brittany Wells of Larimore, N.D., had the experience of meeting her favorite country music star, Neal McCoy, at last fall's Kick'n Up Kountry Music Festival over the Labor Day weekend.

"Her time with Neal lifted her spirits in such a way that she still is on cloud nine today," said Larson. "We hope to repeat that dream for several more children."

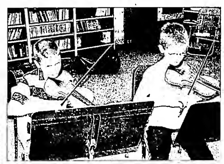
"Fun Run" on the Rainy River set for June 5

The Rainy River "Fun Run," will be on June 5th. This event includes a timed event for paddlers that will be hosted by the River Runners Canoe and Kayak Club on Sunday afternoon.

The route selected will be from the Vida's Access at Clementson, to the Peace Park's access off of the Baudette Bay in Baudette. Paddlers will be following the river's current for seven miles. Class divisions include: solo canoe, tandem canoe, solo kayak, tandem kayak. All first place winners in each division will receive a prize.



Registration for the Fun Run begins at noon at the Vida's Access site, located less than one mile east of Clementson Rapids, which is seven miles east of the city of Baudette. Turn north and follow the access road to the river. There is a nominal entry fee. Registrants will receive a map of the route and a number. Water will be provided for all paddlers. The Fun Run will begin promptly at 1 p.m. Minimum age requirement is 12 years old. Any participant under the age of 18 must have parental permission to paddle. Any 12-year-olds must also have an adult, or person who is at least 16 years of age accompany them in their canoe. Sound equipment and personal flotation devices are mandatory to participate in this event.

An awards ceremony will follow the event at the Peace Park with lots of prizes! For further information, call Penny at (218) 634-1722, or Jenny at (218) 634-1174, and plan on paddling in the, "Fun Run" on the Rainy River!

River Club cleans up river access points

Members of the River Runners Canoe and Kayak Club recently cleaned up the trail head and trail end sections on the Rapid River Canoe Route. Members brought rakes, mowers and chainsaws to spruce up the access sites of the county's newest recreational attraction.

Club members have been working on the trail's development, and thanks to the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR), Division of Forestry, and the Lake of the Woods County Commissioners, two sites are now available for the public to use that allows access the Rapid River. A new map of the canoe route is being produced, and is available from the Lake of the Woods Tourism Bureau. The map has the access sites identified, river miles indicated, and also tells about the history of the Rapid River. Just call (218) 634-1174, or stop in the office and pick up a copy of the Rapid River Canoe Route Map.

Lois Burstad, president of the VFW Auxiliary, will place the wreaths. The rifle squad of the Minnesota National Guard 2nd Battalion Co. B 136th Infantry will give a salute to the colors. Kenneth Poole, member of American Legion Post 117, will perform "Taps."

In the event of inclement weather, the program will be held at the National Guard Armory. After the program, a lunch will be served by the American Legion Auxiliary for those attending the program.

The American Legion, VFW and their auxiliaries are honored to host this service in tribute to their departed comrades and to all whose lives they remember and honor.

Disability Linkage Line opens site for northern MN

Disability Linkage Line™, an information and referral service for people with disabilities, has opened an additional service site in northern Minnesota.

Disability Linkage Line was launched a year ago by the Minnesota Department of Human Services (DHS). It has provided service to the entire state from three locations. The new fourth location, based in Bemidji, will respond to calls from across the northern part of the state.

"We have been committed to creating community sites for Disability Linkage Line, so staff can develop an intimate knowledge of community resources," said Shirley York, director of the DHS Disability Services Division. "They can also develop community partnerships and provide face-to-face service for many Minnesotans."

Disability Linkage Line can be reached statewide by calling toll-free 1-866-333-2466. A resource specialist will be available during regular business hours (8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.) to provide one-on-one assistance to help people learn about their options and connect with the supports and services they choose.

There is no wrong call to Disability Linkage Line. Inquiries include requests for information and referrals on disability benefits programs, home modifications, assistive technology, personal assistance services, transition services, accessible housing, employment, social activities and disability rights.

For people who prefer looking for resources over the Internet, Disability Linkage Line is a partner in the statewide resource database found at www.Minnesotahelp.info.

Disability Linkage Line providers are The Metropolitan Center for Independent Living and the Southeastern Minnesota Center for Independent Living. Both work in collaboration with Senior LinkAge Line®, a specialty information and assistance service for seniors. They also work with other local information and referral agencies to enhance effective and consistent delivery of disability-related information and assistance services.

New legislation waives the road for veterans

Effective Tuesday, military veterans have one less barrier to securing civilian employment in Minnesota. The bill, which was signed into law Tuesday, relates to the acquisition of a Minnesota driver's license by recently released U.S. military personnel. The legislation authorizes the waiver of road tests.

Discharged military personnel who possess a valid driver's license as recognized by their branches or units of the U.S. armed forces may have the requirement of a road test waived if applying for a comparable driver's license in Minnesota. This is especially beneficial to those applying for a commercial driver's license to drive tractor-trailers, where the prior requirement of a road test often presented a financial burden to any veteran who had to rent a tractor-trailer to perform the test. Veterans will still have to pass the written test, but the waiver of the road test will help many make a smoother transition into civilian life and civilian employment in Minnesota.

"On behalf of all veterans, I'd like to thank the Legislature and the governor for this important new provision for our veterans," said Clark Dyrud, commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Veterans Affairs. "It's especially appropriate that we're able to sweep away an unnecessary barrier to employment and enhance our status as a veteran-friendly state during 'Hire a Veteran Month' in Minnesota."

"This legislation recognizes the qualifications of veterans and removes a barrier that can unduly prevent some veterans from securing work in Minnesota," said Matt Kramer, commissioner of the Minnesota Department of Employment and Economic Development (DEED). "This is just one more step in making Minnesota a more veteran-friendly state."

State Rep. Dan Severson, along with DEED veteran representatives, were instrumental in passing this bill through the Legislature. "This is important legislation that is crucial to assisting U.S. military veterans in transitioning to civilian employment in Minnesota," Severson said.

Young entrepreneur

The opportunity may have come as a shock, but Zak said, "I considered it was a good opportunity, and it was something I didn't want to pass up."

Zak's parents, Allan and Naomi, purchased the building that houses Beautiful Beginnings. Zak rents the building from her parents and purchased the business.

The day before she took over as owner, Zak recalled saying, "Goodbye, boss" to Doreen Sigerud. The next morning, Doreen Sigerud said, "Good morning, boss" to her.

Despite their jobs being reversed, Zak said it's not really weird working together. She noted she and Doreen Sigerud work well together, and her former boss/current employee is a huge help.

Doreen Sigerud said it's been perfect working for Zak. She noted Zak is still learning about the business and she has been helping Zak in that regard.

Other employees include Sarah Kelley and Zak's mother, who was originally scheduled to work as an accountant and do paperwork for Beautiful Beginnings. However, given that it was prom season recently, she was drafted into service to help customers.

Zak can also be found helping customers at Beautiful Beginnings. She noted the former owners trained her well, which helped prepare her to take over as the owner.

"I never thought I'd run a bridal shop," said Zak, who noted that she became more interested in owning a bridal shop after working at Beautiful Beginnings.

Even though she hadn't anticipated owning the store, she said, "I knew I wanted to own my own business someday."

Zak had been thinking about taking classes in fashion design and working in the fashion/clothing industry. In addition to some fashion design and marketing management classes, she plans to take some business classes in the future.

Currently, Zak is juggling school and her business. She will graduate this May with a bachelor of arts degree in biblical studies or theology from Lion and Lamb Bible College in Thief River Falls.

Zak is also reigning as Miss Thief River Falls and in the process of preparing for the Miss Minnesota competition this June. She also takes piano lessons.

In spite of all of her activities, Zak is looking ahead to her business' future. She said there may be some remodeling at the store and jewelry and clothing lines may increase. Next year's prom floor may also be different.

Switching from an employee to the owner hasn't been without its stress. "I feel there's not enough hours in the day," Zak said.

At the same time, Zak said, it has been everything she wants it to be. She said, "It was something that was meant to be."

Area students participate in first-year honor band

On Saturday, May 7, 70 beginning band students from around the area participated in an honor band festival at Northland Community and Technical College. Minnesota Band Directors Association hosted the event. Thief River Falls was one of four festival sites across the state.

Students were chosen by their band directors based on their playing ability, their leadership in the band program, and their love for music. All of the students have been playing their instruments for less than one year.

The festival began with sectional rehearsals, where students had a chance to work with a specialist on their instrument. Section coaches for the festival were Pam Sweet - flute and oboe, Kathy Hagen - clarinet, Sara Klinglus - alto sax, Brad Thompson - trumpet, Heather Giammonatti - french horn, Don Langlie - trombone and baritone, Nathan Dalager - tuba, and Don Pochmara - percussion.

After spending time working in these small groups, the group rehearsed together as a full band under the direction of Bruce Felt. By working hard, students were able to prepare five pieces of music, which they presented as a concert at the close of the day.

Festival host Kristin Buckley noted that "the students were excellent musicians as well as hard workers. They were very focused during the rehearsals, and showed a real love for learning about music. Each one of them is a strong asset to their school band program."

Students participating included: Thief River Falls - Aaron Blacklance, Ashley Boen, Connor Hutton, Alexis Klemetsen, Sarah Kopp, Ben Olson, Karter Trontvet, and Bailee Walker.

Goodridge - Kember Anderson, Matthew Hanson, Kensie Haugen, Trenton Olson, Arianna Paulson, Katelyn Tharaldson, Brady Bakken, and Devin Drangstveit.

Tri-County - Christy Anderson, Ross Anderson, Megan Bjnstock, Laurel Brinen, Karissa Klegstad, Tanner Knutson, and Dustin Lofstrom.

Kittson Central - Paige Craigmile, Lacey Mitziga, Natalie Osowoski, Stephani Pastir, and Kailey Youngren.

Red Lake Falls - Sam Brule, Breanna Columbus, Mikayla Miller, Jennifer Nord, Garrett Schmitz, and Kyle Thibert.

Students from Moorhead, Norman County West, Hawley, Floodwood, Holy Rosary (Detroit Lakes), Dilworth and Glyndon schools also participated in the first-year honor band.

Marshall Co. plans June 10 Relay For Life

Survival by Honorary Chairperson Chris Boman. Several musical selections will be shared throughout the evening featuring local talent and artists.

The Survivor Lap at 7 p.m. is the hope and heartbeat of the relay. Dolores Dubore, Survivor Chairperson for Relay for Life, encourages all cancer survivors to register early and pick up their t-shirts on June 1, at 7 p.m. in the Bremer Bank's meeting room (in the basement) in Warren. Survivors are also welcome to register the day of the relay at the survivor registration booth.

As of this printing there are 18 teams and over 195 walkers registered for the 2005 Relay For Life event in Marshall County. The general public is encouraged to take part in all events. Those interested do not have to be on a team in order to attend this Community Event. The committee welcomes and encourages the entire family to come out and support the fight against cancer and also to cheer on the relay teams.

Golf carts will be available to transport community members, survivors and team members. Some of the evening events will include: silent auctions, food vendors, kid's coloring contest, Innland entertainment, cookie sales, games, karoke, the band Starving for Gravity and other musical entertainment too numerous to mention.

The lighting ceremony will be held at 9:30 p.m., in which every luminary bag that lines the track will be lit in honor or in memory of someone that has been touched by cancer.

The Closing Ceremonies at 5 a.m. on June 11 will conclude the 2005 Marshall County Relay For Life event. Anyone who is unable to attend the event, but would still like to contribute is encouraged to send a donation to Heidi Mischel or Joni Ranstrom, this years co-chairpersons of Marshall County Relay For Life 2005. Please make checks payable to the American Cancer Society. Cancer can be beat, one dollar at a time.
